BODY OF QUEEN IS SEALED AWAY IN ROYAL CRYPT

"Pau, Liliuokalani; pau, alihi!" wailed the old retainers of the queen yesterday, as the casket containing the royal remains was rolled into the niche reserved for it, and sealed behind a wall of solid masonry.

Every night last week, while the queen's casket rested on its bier in the mausoleum, awaiting final interment, those two faithful souls, Myra and Wakeke, accompanied and strengthened in their watch by Mrs. Lahlali Webb, have remained near the crypt, two of them always keeping the vigil, while perhaps one of the other three found a few hours' needed sleep on the grass under the trees. A policeman, too, has been on guard throughout the week.

Yesterday, just after sunrise, the active pallbearers, accompanied by Colonel and Mrs. Curtis P. Lauke, Prince Kalaniano'ole, Charles F. Chillingworth, Mrs. Lahlali Webb, Mrs. Mana and the two loyal old servants, followed by the undertaker, Henry H. Williams, and John Walker and his men, went down into the crypt. The casket was swung into the niche that awaited it, and with the work of the masons the wailing of the women began.

Queen Liliuokalani rests beside her husband, the late Governor John Owen Dominis. Immediately opposite are the tombs of Kalakaua and his queen, Kapiolani. Only three niches remain to be filled. It is over, the old regime, the old glory of old Hawaii.

"Pau, Liliuokalani; pau, alihi!"

ARMY-NAVY 'Y' FORMALLY OPEN TO SERVICE MEN

With its grounds, lanais and corridors made gay and colorful with the hundreds of Hawaiian and American flags that were used in its decoration, the old Royal Hawaiian hotel was formally turned over to the soldiers and sailors of the United States yesterday afternoon as a Y. M. C. A. Seats had been placed on the lawn and lanais for more than a thousand persons and practically every seat was occupied.

The music for the occasion was especially good, the U. S. Navy band, with Charles E. Douglas as director, rendering a number of delightful selections, which, with the singing of the Apollo club, and the beautiful solos given by Mrs. Charles L. Hall and Mr. George A. Brown, made the afternoon a musical treat.

James Wakefield presided and gave all praise to Honolulu for its generosity in making it possible to give the beautiful old hotel building to the army and navy. In his review of the work being done by the Army and Navy Y. M. C. A.'s throughout the country, Mr. Wakefield called attention to the fact that when a campaign was launched for $35,000,000 the people responded with a subscription for $49,000,000.

"Every cent of this money will be needed to finance the Christian work that is being carried on among the men who are fighting our battles," said the speaker. "And I will say, and say it deliberately, that this is not alone the Kaiser's war, but the war of the infamous German people. The Kaiser could not have started it, nor could he keep it up, if he did not have the solid backing of the Huns."

In the dedicatory address Fred B. Smith said that it was his firm belief that the Y. M. C. A. had been active in Russia during the past three years as it has been in England, France and America the Germans would still find plenty to keep them active on the eastern front. "It is not munitions of war that Russia has lacked," said Mr. Smith. "In Vladivostok, guns and equipment are piled high and solidly for a two mile stretch, but the solidity of purpose that is born of unified Y. M. C. A. work is lacking, and Russia is all split to pieces."

After the dedication services the people were invited in to inspect the building, when the numerous recreation and improvement features were noted, among them being a splendid piano, a phonograph, a large billiard table, chess, dominoes, magazines, books, writing conveniences and a kitchen where the best of food may be prepared.

The committee of management is as follows: James Wakefield, chairman; F. D. Lowrey, treasurer; E. A. Berndt, Arthur G. Smith, Dr. James A. Morgan and John Waterhouse, executive officers; W. A. Horn, supervising secretary; Howard N. Mosher, associate secretary; George A. Andrus and Thomas A. Fisher, assistant secretaries.

Excelsior Laxative For Elderly People

As we pass the prime of life the various organs of the body have a tendency to weaken, especially the bowels. Regularity in this important function is so essential to good health that old folks should be very careful to avoid constipation. The most effective remedy for constipation is a combination of simple laxative herbs with papain sold in drug stores under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It costs only fifty cents a bottle, is mild in its action, does not grip or strain, and brings relief quickly in an easy, natural manner. Get a bottle of it from your druggist, and keep it in the house; it is the ideal family remedy. A trial bottle can be obtained free of charge by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 456 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.
