REMOVAL.

W. H. KING

H. Haneberg will succeed W. A. Schmidt, formerly of Wailuku, as head juna at Kaanapali.

Pioneer Mill has already started on its season's run, and Paia Plantation will "smoke up" on Monday morning.

Mr. T. B. Lyons has received the appointment of post-master at Wailuku, vice Mr. W. T. Robinson, resigned.

Hoffman & Vetlesen are displaying a choice selection of Christmas novelties. Call early and get your pick of the lot.

Gus Schumann has promised his Maui friends a visit early in January. A double column ad on our fourth page tells why.

The road board is doing some much needed work in leveling and regravelling Main Street from Hoffmann & Vetlesen's corner to Market street.

Attention is called to the "By Authority" notice in another column. Be ready to call round and see Mr. Bal early in January.

The road between Lahaina and Wailuku has been repaired so as to make travel on wheels between the two places fairly comfortable, but considerable work is needed yet.

Mr. W. G. Taylor auditor for Mrs. Alexander and Baldwin has returned from Hawaii after having gone the Company's plantation books, he is now at Spreckelsville busily engaged.

Capt. L. Ahlborn, of Pioneer Plantation, left Honolulu for the coast on Tuesday of this week. Mr. Barkhausen will take his place as manager during his absence.

Mr. D. O. Hamman, an "auld lang syne" friend of Billy Goodness of Wailuku, is running a "hand made" harness shop at 174 King street, Honolulu. Prices reasonable and work excellent.

The Hawaiian News Co., of Honolulu, have issued a very beautiful calendar for 1901. The artistic work is both excellent and original, palms and holly berries vying in gracefulness and beauty. No prettier memento could be selected to send home.

The election of Officers for Company, I First Regiment N. G. H. heretofore ordered to be held at Wailuku, on Thursday, Dec. 13th, 1900—at 7:30 p. m. as per General Orders, No. 10, dated Dec. 3rd, 1900 from these Headquarters, is ordered postponed to Thursday, Dec. 20th, 1900, at the same time and place.

Mr. P. S. Scales ass't postmaster and stenographer at Spreckelsville has resigned and left on the last "Mauna Loa" for Panalau, Pahala, Hawaii, where he will hold the position of head book-keeper. Mr. W. Sparkes from Paia has taken his position. Mr. David Meyers has temporary charge of the Kahului Rail Road Co's warehouse at Paia.

The Elite Candy Factory, Hotel street, Honolulu, is reaching out for a Maui mail trade in their delicious chocolates and confections. No choicer candies could be found in San Francisco than those turned out by this enterprising firm. Order a sample Christmas box, which will be sent to you freight or postage prepaid. See ad in another column.

Editor Maui News:—

An interesting incident took place on the 10th inst at Pukoo Molokai. There were two ladies led in to the Court Room on the above date with male companions all asprisoners and in less than ten minutes they all emerged from the Hall of Justice, two happy brides and two husbands. His honor J. H. Mahoe District Judge tied the knot in the Court Room. They had a marriage license ready for the event. Most people who witnessed the ceremony said that it was the best and neatest work which had been done in a long time. Rev. Kaai was in the room and was requested to perform the ceremony, but he made many excuses, such as having no coat and having left his glasses at home. One of the ladies spoke up and said she wanted no delay, so her wishes were immediately complied with, after which they their way rejoicing.

Mr. T. T. Meyers is acting manager of Kamalo Plantation. About 40 acres of cane are in cultivation for seed, and about fifteen laborers are employed. The late storm at did no damage at Kamalo except to stimulate the growth of lantana. At Kaunakakai, some of the new plantation houses were filled with mud from an overflow.

Mr. Eddie Rogers, a bright and popular member of the Wailuku police force was on Molokai on business recently, and discovered a Chinaman selling liquor without a license. He bought a red bottle of the liquor, and instead of drinking it, he marked it as Exhibit A, and had the Chinaman arrested and tried. The Chinaman and his witnesses all swore that no red bottles were used in Molokai liquor traffic, and that nothing but white bottles were used. This defense was considered conclusive, and the defendant was dismissed.

Personal Mention.

Mr. William Bailey, formerly of Wailuku, but now of southern California, accompanied by his son William Bailey Jr., visited Wailuku on Wednesday.

Messrs. Grimwood and Richardson of Honolulu came over to Maui on Wednesday's Claudine, returning to Honolulu on the Mauna Loa yesterday morning.

Mr. M. McLane of Lahaina passed through Wailuku on Thursday on his way to Makawao.

Judge Copp of Makawao visited Wailuku on Thursday. He reports that the recent storms have shaken a large number of berries from his coffee trees.

Messrs. Sullivan and Zukerman representing two prominent wholesale San Francisco houses, have spent the week with Maui merchants.

W. E. Beckwith and Frank Alexander spent Wednesday night in Wailuku, on their way from Lahaina, where they have been serving their country as jurymen.

E. B. Carley and R. A. Wadsworth returned from Lahaina on Thursday.

Mr. Hogan representing the Vehicle Supply Company of Honolulu, came over on Wednesday's Claudine, and is placing many orders for leather and iron goods.

Dr. Rossi, representing the Italian government, is inspecting the Maui plantations this week, with the view of reporting to his government relative to the expediency of encouraging Italian immigration to Hawaii.

Mr. W. J. Lowrie and Mr. K. S. Gjerdrum returned to Maui on Wednesday, from Honolulu, where they had been attending a planters' meeting.

Sheriff Baldwin returned from Lahaina on Wednesday.

Rev. W. Ault visited Lahaina on Thursday.

Mr. Fred Armstrong, sugar boiler at Paia, returned to Maui on Wednesday's Claudine.

Mr. Cottrell, chief engineer of the Kahului R. R. Co., goes to Honolulu shortly to bring his family to Maui.

J. N. K. Keola returned from Lahaina on Thursday, and Attorney George Hons on Friday. Judge Kaiua is expected today.

W. H. Field left for a flying trip to Honolulu on the Kinau last night and will return on Tuesday next.

The December term of the Circuit Court closed on Thursday. This term will in one sense be historical, as it marks the initiation of the grand jury system. The following is the personnel of the first Maui grand jury:

F. W. Hardy, Foreman; W. A. McKay, Clerk; W. E. Reavis, H. B. Wilkins, H. Dickenson, R. P. Hose, W. L. Decoto, Wm. Kaluakini, E. Wainoholo, J. T. Aluli, T. M. Church, P. Cockett, J. K. Kahookole, Moses Kauhimanu, A. Fernandes, Jr., J. Kaluna, Alike Dowsett, J. K. Saunders.

Deputy Attorney General J. W. Cathcart represented the people, and the members of the bar in attendance were Hons & Coke, J. Richardson, Hon. Wm. White, and John Kaneakua. The other Court officers were Hon. J. W. Kaiua, presiding judge, J. N. K. Keola, Court Clerk, D. H. Case, stenographer, and Chas. Hopkins and Chester Doyle interpreters.

The grand jury found five true bills and threw out two cases. Two of the indictments were against Kaula, charging him with assault with a deadly weapon. He plead guilty to each charge, and was fined $75 in each case. Man Poon, who burglarized the Kahului Store, was indicted, and plead guilty, upon which he was sentenced to seven years at hard labor. Doyo, the Japanese who raided Attorney Hons wardrobe was indicted, and plead guilty, receiving a fine of $50. Fugimoto, the Japanese who led an assault on an interpreter at Spreckelsville, was fined $25 and $5.00 costs.

The case of John Medeiros, liquor selling, was continued on account of the sickness of an important witness. Frank Garcia was acquitted by jury of a like offense. In five cases, including that of the Japanese, Hirata and wife, charged with keeping a disorderly house, bail was declared forfeited.

There was but little civil business, most of the cases either being discontinued or continued to the next term. A. N. Hayselden, Chester Doyle and J. K. Saunders were admitted to practice law before the District Courts.

C. B. Loveland, a jurymen from Huele, failing to appear, a bench warrant was issued. The policeman appeared at Mr. Loveland's house at three o'clock in the morning and found him sick in bed. Loveland refused to get out of bed, and the exponent of the force lacked nerve to break down the door and hale him out, so returned to Lahaina without him. Court adjourned in the meantime, and Mr. Loveland escaped punishment for non appearance.
