The recent Porto Rican arrivals at the Wailuku Plantation are giving good satisfaction.

Lesson given in Embroidery and Battersburg Lace. Mrs. James H. Painter, Kahului, Maui.

Maui has been favored this week with a number of April showers, some of which would have drowned a cat.

The counters and other interior fixtures are being put into the Maui Drug Co. building, and it will soon be ready for occupancy.

It is to be hoped that the legislature will make an appropriation to repair the Makawao roads, as they are sadly in need of much work.

Don't forget the grand ball at the skating rink tonight. It should be a pleasant and well attended function. Free trains to and from Paia.

The Honolulu Photo Supply Co. of Honolulu have by far the finest picture framing plant in the Hawaiian Islands, and deserve your patronage.

A large lot of fine script type has been received from the Coast, and the News is now prepared to do beautiful work on visiting and business cards.

WANTED.—Position on plantation as overseer of negroes, by man raised up among colored people and experienced in overseeing them. Reference given. Address

Heavy rains prevailed in Lahaina during the early part of the week, and the road from Olowalu to Lahaina is in bad shape. The pull road between Maalaea Bay and Olowalu is in passable condition, but needs some work.

The recent heavy rains have caused the water of Iao river, to wash out the earth under the buttments of the Iao bridge, and if not repaired before the next big freshet, the bridge will probably be rendered unsafe for travel.

Monday's Advertiser contained a notably good and full account of the wreck of the Rio Janeiro, accompanied by very good likenesses of several of the victims. The Tiser is still in the lead, although the MAUI NEWS extras are a close second.

Captain Keola received, by Wednesday's Claudine, the hats and leggings for Co. I, also a snare drum and bugle. Charles Brown has been appointed bugler and Alfonso Jackson will be the drummer boy. Goo Lip of Lahaina has the contract to make the uniforms for the company, and they will soon be ready for delivery.

The Lahaina Ice & Soda Co. has been incorporated, with L. Barckhausen, president, W. Henning, vice president and G. L. Scrimger, secretary. The company is capitalized for $10,000, and all the stock is taken. They have the machinery on the ground, and are erecting works on the road between the Pioneer Mill and Lahaina.

String Band Concert.

On last Friday evening, the music lovers of Wailuku were afforded a rare treat by the Wailuku String Band, under the leadership of Joaquin Garcia, the organizer of the band.

Courteous written invitations had been sent out, and when the hour for the concert had arrived, the grassy lawn of the native church yard saw the bulk of the population of Wailuku assembled. Chairs and benches had been provided for those who did not prefer to saunter about or recline on the grass. The night was an ideal moonlight one, and the air was soft and balmy. Promptly on time, Leader Garcia waved his baton, and the concert began. But a short interval elapsed between the pieces, and the intermission itself was short. Mr. Ben Bruns, the comedian, banjoist and soloist lent his services, and added much to the success of the evening. While the selections of the band were not of the most difficult order still they were full of music delightfully rendered, and evoked much hearty applause.

Too much credit cannot be awarded to the young gentlemen who have initiated these moonlight concerts, and they promise others every month hereafter. They still need some additional instruments, which the citizens of Wailuku will doubtless help them to purchase.

Wreck of the Rio.

The details of the wreck of the Rio Janeiro are now quite well known to the community. The first definite news was received last Sunday by wireless telegraph, and issued as an extra on Monday morning, by the News office.

Attorney Henshall, Chauncy Jacob, Angelo Gussoni and Cheong Young were all well known on Maui, which makes the loss seem like a personal one to the people of Maui.

The total number on board was 210, of whom 128 were lost and 82 were saved. The list of dead from Hawaii are William A. Henshall, Miss S. Rowena Jehu, Charles E. Jacob, Cheong Young, Dr. O. Kawahara, Mrs. O. Kawahara, Angelo Gussoni, Mr. Oda, Mr. Takata, Mrs. Takata, Mr. Sakurai.

Library Books For Schools.

School Inspector Keli'noi brought with him from Honolulu a case of books which will be sent to teachers who will make use of them in their school work.

Among some of the more important books are the following: "Principles of Agriculture," "Stories from Shakespeare," "Simple Experiments in the Schoolroom," "Eggleston's American History," "Jackman's Field Work," "Webster's Handy Dictionary," etc.

Teachers are requested to make their wants known early, and to be sure that they can and will use the books ordered.

Mr. Keli'noi wishes to have as many schools as possible prepare work for the Pan American Fair at Buffalo. Paper for the Fair work may be had by applying to him by mail or telephone.

FRATERNAL GREETINGS.

By Wireless Telegraphy.

On Thursday, H. E. Waity of Honolulu, D. D. S. C., K. of P., sent the following message by wireless telegraph to Geo. Hons, C. C. of Aloha Lodge, K. of P., Wailuku:

"Please inform Geo. Hons, Chancellor Commander Aloha Lodge, No. 3, K. of P., Wailuku, that H. E. Waity sends fraternal greeting by telegraph, and asks for answer."

In reply, Mr. Hons sent the following message:
"Please inform H. E. Waity, D. D. S. C., K. of P., that Geo. Hons, C. C. of Aloha Lodge No. 3, of Wailuku, on behalf of the members of said lodge, begs to extend to him sincere thanks for his kind message of fraternal greeting."

NOTICE.

Any one wishing to renew his subscription or to join the Wailuku Book Club will please forward name, $4.50 and the title of one or more desired books to Mrs. C. B. Wells before the 20th of March.

The Only Common Ground.

Perhaps Wailuku has seen before something like Sunday night's occurrence,—certainly not often. People are aware that every Sunday a small band of Japanese meet in their church and it wouldn't surprise many of the residents of Wailuku to hear that Chinese and Hawaiian congregations meet in their respective churches; but on what basis can they all meet and have a joint service with any profit?

The following account is the answer. Of course the drum had something to do with the number of people who came up to Kaahumanu Church, and the "Salvation Army" is always back of the drum,—in this instance reinforced by the Evangelistic quartette, distributed as to their functions in this wise: One beat the "bass", one the "snare", one jingled the tambour and the last carried the light. A rabble of boys that followed contributed their part by singing "Salva-tion is the best thing in the world", in several keys.

Then the people came,—through all the mud, too,—though the house was nigh filled when the Army contingent arrived. Haoles and Hawaiians largely filled one side, and Chinese and Japanese the other, while Kalaia's choir of children and young people occupied the choir seats.

Following is the programme. After prayer by the Rev. Leadingham the quartet sang "Brightest and Best." Then followed some very hearty singing in a song service led by Mr. Kalaia, with Mr. Richards at the "baby" organ. "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name" was the song everybody could sing, each in his own language, and the Name was honored by a fine volume of voices.

On the platform were Rev. Leadingham, Rev. G. Tanaka, Capt. Bambrery, Rev. Mr. Thwing, Mr. Ali Lin and Mr. Poepoe, and after the singing, these gentlemen led a very impressive scripture reading in the four languages, each reading the same three verses in the fourth Chapter of Ephesians.

After a song in Hawaiian, Mr. Poepoe made a short address on the subject of "Christian Unity", after which the Quartette effectively rendered the gospel invitation, "Come Unto Me", in English and Hawaiian.

Then came Mr. Thwing, who astonished the Chinese with the fluency of his speech in "Cantonese." More than that, he was able to touch them by the power of his appeal on the brotherhood arising out of a common faith. After a song by Mr. Kalaia, Rev. G. Tanaka took the floor. It was curious to hear the word "Jesus Christ" running through his energetic talk, and the Japanese numeral "hi-tot" (one), showing the unity of thought.

A stirring address by Capt. Bambrery and a benediction by Rev. Thwing closed the exercises.

Thereupon many people surprised each other by shaking hands, who had never so done before. And why not? Surely in such a place—at such a time and in praise of such a name—people might even forget that one works in the cane field another draws dividends from the same and another washes the clothes for both. Wailuku can afford to have such services repeated.

Personal Mention.

Attorney James Coke, and Wm. Goodness of the Bismark Stables, returned from Honolulu this week.

Two travelling shows and an amateur concert have made things lively in Wailuku for the past week or two.

Mr. Rogers, one of the proprietors of the Preserving Paint Company arrived this morning on the Kinau from Hawaii, and will remain on Maui for some time.

Mr. A. Toms, formerly butcher at Spreckelsville, has been employed by the Kahikini Rancho Co. to run the City Meat Market at Wailuku. He took charge on last Thursday morning.

Leutenant Olaf Hellesath, from Koloa, Kauai, will arrive on the "Claudine", in Lahaina, Tuesday night, March 12, and will remain on Maui to assist Capt. Bambrery in the work.

Mr. W. H. Field of the Maui Drug Co. goes to Honolulu today to superintend the final purchases and shipment of the furniture and fixtures of the hotel which is to be run in connection with the Maui Drug Store.

Theo. Richards and Rev. J. Leadingham are still continuing the series of services at Kaahumanu church. Mr. Richards will deliver a very interesting lecture tomorrow evening on the dispensary question. All should hear it.

Dr. Frear, the dentist, a brother of Judge Frear of Honolulu, will come over to Maui on next Wednesday's Claudine on a professional visit. He will be the guest of Mr. Beckwith at Paia, where any one desiring his professional services can find him.

Mr. James Sanderson is on Maui this week delivering copies of a work which he has published, on the Islands. The book is full of very short stories, and there is scarcely a man of any prominence on Maui who is not alluded to in the volume. The title of the book is "The Directory of Hawaii."
