TRUE GRIT.

What if yer licked? If still yer try,
With all yer dander up,
To black the other fellow's eye—
Yer
not licked!

What if yer licked? If still high
Yer mad ambition aims
To jest win out the game or die—
Yer
not licked!

What if yer licked? If still yer try
To lend yer friend a hand,
Not yet forget them others, why—
Yer
not licked!

But licked is he who once admits defeat,
Who once his banner furls,
And hopeless, counsels a retreat.
Then
yer licked.

New Puunene Mill.

The pride of Maui and the wonder of the world, the new 500 ton Puunene Sugar Mill is rapidly nearing completion. The structural work is practically all in place, and the roofing and siding is rapidly being put on. Within a month or six weeks at furthest, Miliken Bros. will have completed their part of the contract, which was to erect the building. In the meantime the machinery is being put in, so that a visitor can now form a very good idea of what the mill will be when finished.

It would be beyond the limits of an ordinary newspaper article to give a full description of the structure and machinery, when completed, but an idea can be formed of its proportions by remembering that over 5,000 tons of iron have been used in its construction. The building, when finished, will cover several acres of ground, and is three stories in height. Under the roof will be room for three separated mills of a capacity of over 150 tons each per day. Only one mill will be put in at first, and this will be ready for use by the first of January. It will be the first of February however before the mill will be started. As soon as started, the old mill at Spreckelsville will be moved to the new mill building, thus giving a capacity of over 300 tons per day, and when needed another mill will be put in which will give a total capacity of 500 tons per day.

The economy of the new mill will be apparent in many ways. In the first place, cane can be cut and ground as soon as ready, thus saving a considerable percentage of loss which occurs on many plantations at present, by not being able to handle the cane as soon as ready to grind. Then the economy of handling the output of three mills with one set of reducing machinery will mean a saving of several dollars on each ton of sugar produced.

The construction of the entire mill is under the personal supervision of Mr. J. N. S. Williams of the Honolulu Iron Works, a man in every sense of the word competent, and few men have had the opportunity of erecting a nobler monument than that of the Puunene Mill, a building which will keep his memory green for the full life of its usefulness, which will run far on toward the beginning of the next century.

There are several new and noteworthy features developed in the construction of the new mill. One is that the water to be used at the mill, which would be sufficient in quantity to irrigate 900 acres of cane, will be pumped back from the mill when used, and conveyed by pipes to the cane land.

The entire area of the floor will be of cement except the sugar room on the first floor, which will be of boards, for the reason that sugar piled on a cement floor has a tendency to "sweat." The sugar room extends the whole length of one side of the mill, with sliding doors at short intervals, opening on to a covered railroad track, so that sugar can be loaded on the cars without being exposed to the rain.

Personal Mention.

Senator H. P. Baldwin returned from Honolulu on Wednesday's Claudine.

It is rumored that Senator Billy White has secured a liquor license for Lahaina.

Mr. N. Campion of Kihel is at Lahaina, under treatment of Dr. Chas. Davison for a sprained leg.

Harold Hayselden, of David Lawrence & Co. cigar dealers, is on Maui stocking up his customers this week.

Engineer P. E. Lamar has about recovered from his lameness caused by wounding his foot while bathing at Waikiki.

Ira Sloper of Honolulu is at Wailuku preparing plans for an elegant residence for one of our prominent citizens.

Col. W. H. Cornwell and his daughter, Miss Kate Cornwall, returned from Honolulu on the Kinau of Tuesday night last.

C. Kaiser, the travelling man for Hyman Bros. crossed the pali from Lahaina yesterday and is selling central Maui today.

Judge A. N. Kepoikai of the fire claim commission visited Wailuku this week and returns to Honolulu on the Claudine today.

Mr. A. T. R. Jackson, of the Pacific Mutual Life came over on Wednesday morning's Claudine, and will remain for the next ten days.

Father Julian of the Catholic Church at Lahaina gave a successful and very enjoyable entertainment on last Saturday evening.

Professor Koeble visited Maui this week to look into the lantana blight and incidentally to look up the bug question generally on Maui.

Mr. J. P. Silva gave a charming and largely attended luau last Saturday night at his residence in Wailuku, to celebrate his 37th birthday.

Mr. Charles E. King, teacher of music and language at Kamehameha arrived from Hawaii on the Mauna Loa, and is visiting relatives in Waikapu.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Church, Mrs. George L. Bigelow and Mr. Lovell of Honolulu spent Wednesday morning in Iao valley, taking the Claudine at noon for Hana.

Mr. Chas. D. Lufkin of the First National Bank of Wailuku came over on Wednesday's Claudine, returning to Honolulu on Thursday night's Mauna Loa.

Mr. Jas. T. Taylor who is interested in the construction of the central Maui plantation railroads, paid a visit to Maui this week, returning to Honolulu on last night's Kinau.

Arthur Jones, representing the famous shoe house of McInerney, Honolulu, passed through Wailuku on Wednesday on his way to Hana. He returns on the to Honolulu today.

Nat Black, the Spreckelsville postmaster says that he still has a few shares of oil stock for sale at ten cents a share. It will be twenty cents on and after the first of September.

Mr. R. A. Wadsworth of the Maui Soda and Ice Works, accompanied by his wife and family, left for Hawaii on Tuesday night's Kinau, to spend ten days on the big Island, returning a week from today.

Matt McCann is building a fine residence on his hotel premises at Lahaina, and will also build a large dining room in connection. In other words, Matt is probably building the long looked for hotel in Lahaina.

Miss Kate Serlinger, sister of C. L. Serlinger of Lahaina, left for Honolulu on the Mauna Loa to be married to Mr. McGarvin, engineer of the Worthington Pump Co. They will be married in a few days and take a wedding trip to the coast.

Attorney Noa W. Aluli has opened an office at 32 Campbell Block, Honolulu for the practice of his profession. Mr. Aluli is a very bright competent young man, and will doubtless handle a large amount of Maui business at the metropolis.

Mr. D. C. Lindsay, the manager of Paia Plantation returned to Maui on the Claudine on Wednesday morning. He spent several very pleasant months in Scotland, and there met Mr. Nicoll of Hamakuapoko just before starting on his return. Mr. Lindsay will be cordially welcomed here for he is very popular both socially and in his business relations.
