

LOCALS

The public schools will open next Monday morning.

Ring up Sam Kuula, Kihai, if you want a load of choice keawi wood.

The Maui Hotel now sports a billiard table and a ping pong outfit.

The Maui Alerts and Waikapus play ball tomorrow afternoon at Wells Park.

The continuous showers on central Maui give promise of a big sugar crop next season.

Letter heads, envelopes, visiting cards and business cards a specialty at the News Job Office.

The Republican District Convention meets on Monday to nominate candidates for the legislature.

The peripatetic Porto Rican boot polisher is becoming a very convenient fixture in Wailuku.

Don't miss the big republican ratification meeting at the Skating Rink on Monday evening.

Send your order for painting, paper hanging and interior house decoration to A. B. Naone.

Now is the time to subscribe for the MAUI NEWS, if you want to keep tabs on local politics this fall.

Hon. C. H. Dickey will doubtless be the Republican nominee for senator from Maui. He will be elected, too.

A letter from Bob Carille, on our second page, throws further light on the Black Bess-Maui Rose match race.

The morning Stars upheld the reputation of Wailuku last Sunday, by putting it over the Lahaina boys in the ratio of 2 to 5.

The Circuit Court will sit for naturalization of citizens at Wailuku on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday of next week.

Ned Kruger is now pitcher for the Morning Stars, and Jackson, who has been elected captain of the team, now plays third base.

CORN FOR SALE.—This year's crop. Telephone or apply to E. H. BAILEY, Makawao.

FOR SALE. A first class, high grade Remington typewriter, No. 7, of the latest make. As good as new. For particular, apply to the MAUI NEWS office.

D. L. Meyer of the Wailuku Saloon, who generally does the right thing at the right time sent up a couple of dozen of beer for the baseball supper, last Sunday night.

NOTICE.—There is still one store to let on the first floor of Pythian Hall building, and any one desiring to secure it should make immediate application to D. L. MEYER.

Dr. Geo. S. Aiken, D. D. S., will be at the Maui Hotel, Wailuku, on Wednesday and Thursday, where those who desire to avail themselves of his professional services can find him.

There is no question but what J. Kirkland of the Kahuluis and G. B. Robertson of the Wailukus were the two star players, no matter what envious detractors may say to the contrary.

Try one of the gasoline lamps for sale by Geo. S. Aiken of Paia. Those who have tried them say that they are all right. The Hamakua Store carries a large stock of gasoline especially for these lamps.

Mr. P. Paronzi will give an exhibition of the qualities of his different sizes of lamps on Market Street, Wailuku next Thursday evening, and those who wish a safe, cheap, brilliant lamp should witness the exhibition.

ANNOUNCEMENT.—Mr. George B. Schrader is now prepared to give lessons on the piano forte either at his residence or at residence of pupils. For terms and particulars, write or call at Wailuku Hotel, Wailuku Maui.

It is not likely that the Kahului married men will ask for a return game of baseball, but the Wailuku benedicts are ready to give them their revenge at ping pong, tiddy winks or any other game which they think they can play.

The Reduction Sale of the Kahului Store on their 3 Specials, Men's Clothing, Men's Hats, and Shoes, for Everybody, which was advertised for yesterday and today will be continued EVERY DAY next week, from Monday morning to Saturday night, making one of the grandest Bargain Weeks ever offered on Maui. This is a genuine offer. Call and see.

Wilcox Visits Maui.

It begins to look now as if there might be a considerable measure of truth in the recent statement of the Semi-Weekly Star that Bob Wilcox met a hostile reception in the Kohala District, Hawaii. Last Saturday morning as the News went to press, rumors were flying thick and fast on the streets of Wailuku that there were great doings in the Wilcox camp on Maui. It was stated that Col. Cornwall had been substituted for Bill White as senator, and that John Richardson, Thomas Clark and T. B. Lyons has been substituted as representatives for the original home rule ticket.

Efforts were made to discover the source and truth of these rumors, but no one seemed to have any definite knowledge on the subject.

At 5 o'clock on Saturday afternoon the cause of all the commotion became apparent. The Newsman was standing on the wharf at Kahului, watching the outgoing passengers on the Maui, when a tall, slim Hawaiian walking slowly and all alone with a bowed head passed him. Something familiar in the appearance of the man attracted a second glance, and it proved to be Robert Wilcox. No one accompanied him to the boatside and no one save Attorney N. W. Aluli and the Newsman bade him farewell.

It developed afterwards that he had quietly dropped over the steamer's side from Hawaii at Manaloa Bay the night before, and had been doing things during the next twenty-four hours, which had given origin to the rumors that prevailed during the morning. Thomas Clark has since openly boasted that he has Wilcox in his pocket now, which can of course only mean that Wilcox recognizing his desperate straits, had come to Maui and slaughtered his original representative ticket in order to save his own political life.

If indications are correct, the political star of Bob Wilcox has set on Maui, never to rise again. The home rulers are beginning to think and reason for themselves, and this of course will see the finish of Bob. Some of the prominent home rulers are beginning to openly complain at being bundled about by Wilcox, first into the republican and then into the democratic camp, at the whim of Wilcox. The action of Prince Cupid in refusing to be made a tool of by Wilcox is beginning to be understood by the Hawaiians on Maui, and the more they think about it, the clearer they see where their true interests lie, and from all present appearances, there is now beginning to be a landslide from Wilcox's idea of home rule to Cupid's idea of independent, intelligent and untrammelled Hawaiian suffrage.

If mathematics does not prevaricate, the above is the ratio between the Wailuku and Kahului married men when it comes right down to practical baseball.

The scheduled game between the two above teams was played at Wells Park Sunday afternoon in the presence of a large attendance, with the same teams as announced last week. The Kahului boys meant well, but Wailuku had far the better pitcher, and out-field with the exception of the right-field in which the Wailukus were decidedly outclassed.

At the conclusion of the game the two teams repaired to an up-town hotel and enjoyed a delicious dinner at the expense of the Kahuluis, during which the game and the vicissitudes were fully discussed, it being voted at the conclusion that no more jolly or enjoyable event is recorded in Maui annals.

It is said that the Lahaina married men, and also the Kula benedicts want a go at the Wailuku team, which stands ready to defend their prowess whenever called on to do so.

Monthly M. A. A. Meeting.

The regular monthly meeting of the Maui Athletic Association was held at Wailuku Court House last Monday evening.

The principal business of the meeting was the discussion of polo matters, although several minor matters were disposed of. A communication was received from the Makawao Polo Club, asking the appointment of a committee of the Makawao Club. Messrs Frank Baldwin, W. H. Cornwall and L. R. Crook were appointed as such committee, and a preliminary conference will probably be held at Sunnyside this afternoon.

CAUGHT A KAHUNA.

An interesting and illustrative case of kahunaism was on trial before Judge McKay of the Wailuku Court this week.

In March, Kanohokuauiwi, and his two sons Kalani and Kaiamui, were taken sick at their residence, near Waihee, and Neau (w.) was called in as kahuna. In a couple of weeks Kalani died, and according to the evidence, just before he died, he moved like a cat. This assisted Neau materially in the diagnosis of the case, and she asserted that it must have been he that had killed a favorite cat of her grandchild. She also added that all others who assisted in killing the cat would surely die. Now, by a singular coincidence, the other two sick members of the family, were the identical ones who had assisted in despatching the feline.

Of course the case was desperate and the wife of the sick man went to Neau and begged her to use her magic powers to cure her sick husband and son. Neau admitted that in view of the crime that been committed the task would be a hard one, but she agreed to buckle to and see what could be done. A pig was induced and eaten with mysterious rites and incantations to Waihinana, and other amakunas, then a second, a third and finally a fourth pig shared the same unhappy fate. But all was of no avail, and the father and remaining son both died.

Then the widow had Neau arrested for practicing witchcraft. Neau, an aged but vigorous looking Hawaiian woman, as she appeared in court, was an absolutely perfect picture of one of Macbeth's witches, the same jutting forehead, bright eyes, wrinkled face, and peaked, witch-like features, a resemblance which was added to by the cone-shaped hat running up to a sharp point, which she wore.

Dep. Sheriff Saifery skillfully brought out the whole story from the relatives of deceased who had been called on to assist at the incantations.

The case was argued and submitted on Thursday afternoon, and Neau was found guilty as charged and fined $125.

Death of James K. Saunders.

The News is pained to record the death, by dropsy, at the Malulani Hospital, on Monday evening last of Attorney James K. Saunders, a promising young Hawaiian of Maui.

Mr. Saunders had for a number of years been a resident of Maui, his home being at Keanae. He was at one time a teacher, but chose the profession of law, and became a hard student. He was admitted to practice by Judge Kalua, before the District Courts of the Second Judicial District, and located at Hana about two years ago, where he engaged in the active practice of his profession.

Some months since he was attacked with dropsy, which defied the skill of competent physicians, and for some days his recovery has seemed hopeless.

The remains were interred at Wailuku Cemetery, Rev. J. Nua officiating, in the presence of a large number of friends who will long treasure loving memories of the deceased, for his many attractive and manly qualities.

Arrested at Lahaina.

A man named John Gardiner landed at Lahaina from Hawaii on Thursday night, and his actions aroused the suspicions of Dep. Sheriff Lindsey who, at the suggestion of Sheriff Baldwin, sent a wireless to Hawaii and discovered that he was a confederate of Scovell, the embezzling book-keeper of Hawaii. Lindsey placed Gardiner under arrest, and he will be returned to Hawaii.

A warrant was out on Hawaii for Gardiner's arrest, in connection with the embezzlement of $7,000 by book-keeper Scovell of Paipaiouka Store.

PUBLIC AUCTION OF HORSES

STANDARD GAS LAMPS.

The Agent of the Standard Gas Lamp, Mr. P. Paronzi, is now on Maui. DON'T FAIL to see his lamps.

The Standard Gas Lamp is the simplest in construction of any lamp manufactured, and gives a better light than electricity, at a cost cheaper than oil.

Don't buy complicated lamps which are easily clogged. The agent of the Gas Lamps is not selling them by exhibiting catalogues, but sells them at night, by the light of these lamps, where their beautiful light and simple construction can be examined.

Perfectly safe, and approved by all leading Insurance Companies. The factory gives a written guarantee with each lamp.

See the lamps now in use at the office of the Bismark Stables Co., and at the Catholic Mission, Wailuku.

Give Mr. Paronzi your order and the lamps will be delivered at your own homes.
