Republican Campaigners

Their Success and Reception Through our the Hana District.

The Republican orators arrived at Keane on the 6th inst and after a bounteous luncheon of the various Hawaiian dishes no one felt the worse for wear. It rained quite a bit and then some more, but this is nothing to a man whose business is to reach the hearts and ears of his countrymen.

The party was headed by Sam E. Kalama, Campaign Manager; Philip Pali, the Military Governor of Maui with his luggage and an extra calabash of poi, who is running for the Senate. Sam Keliinoi, Geo. P. Cook, E. Waiaholo, Joe Cockett, Kawakoa and W. P. Hain as a body guard, ably assisted by Chas. Makekai, one of the best Hawaiian orators. Some hot shot was fired by the Hon. Philip Pali and after the bunch got through, Democrats were as scarce as hen's teeth, in Keane. The candidates were well received and made a good impression. Mr. Geo. P. Cook, a new man, Hawaiian born, made a very splendid impression amongst his hearers and received quite an ovation. His generosity to the Hawaiians at Molokai has preceded him here, and it goes without saying he will be one of the leaders on the ticket.

Joe Cockett and Ed. Waiaholo seem to be making a good impression also. They are good men and will undoubtedly pull a good vote. Sam Keliinoi is too well known to be commented upon; his former record in the lower house speaks for itself. Kawakoa, the Representative from Hana also spoke and was well received, he being the local man. Old man Hain, who is at present Supervisor for the Hana District was told to go home and stay home as Keane was solid for him to a man.

After a good night's rest the party came on to Nahiku. Here they received a royal welcome. The rubber people, Messrs. Anderson, Sylvester Jacobs and Austin outdid themselves to show how prosperous all the rubber companies were. They decorated the village, built a grand arch and gave a luncheon. The hall at Nahiku was decorated with that famous Republican banner presented by the Governor in 1903.

It was Nahiku that threw 30 straight votes for the Republican ticket in 1903 and as then, she stands again to a man to duplicate that former victory in 1910. The rubber managers, Mr. Anderson, John Austin, Jacobs and Sylvester were all present at the meeting and to these gentlemen is due the good feeling that exists there among the laborers who, by the way, are mostly Hawaiians. Next morning bright and early the candidates got an early start and came on to the village of Ulaiho. After a few short speeches they arrived at Hana at noon. Here to be met by the 1st Company of boy Scouts organized on Maui. The Hon. Sam Keliinoi, who is an officer of a Maui military company was completely taken by surprise, and was more than struck by the appearance of the lads and the fine wing they made going through the various evolutions. The Military governor, Philip Pali, of Lahaia, immediately saw the necessity of fortifying Kaniki hill. The lads put up a fine appearance. They escorted the Candidates to the various quarters and acted as a body guard for the rest of the day.

New Sheriff Appointed

Saffery Hands in His Resignation to the Board Which is Accepted.

The sensation of the week was the unexpected resignation of Sheriff W. E. Saffery, which was one of the very first matters brought to the attention of the Board of Supervisors, when that body met Wednesday afternoon. The board accepted the resignation, and elected Clement Crowell, the present deputy sheriff for Wailuku, and Republican nominee for county sheriff, to succeed Saffery.

The reason back of the action taken by Mr. Saffery, is surmised by many to be that when the party convention nominated another, the sheriff felt he was not wanted, hence the resignation. The true reason, however, is the same old sad one of a man tried and found wanting in the faithful performance of the numerous duties and responsibilities of his office.

Some time ago a Japanese living at Puunene came forward and accused Saffery of withholding some reward money due him for the capture of an escaped murderer from Hilo, Hawaii. Signed receipts were produced showing that the man had received the whole of the money, but he kept on protesting that he had not. Other accusations about money matters were made until examinations showed a very loose state of affairs in the office of the Sheriff. While the amounts involved are not very large, the principal is a very big one all of which will be a matter for the Grand Jury to act upon, next week.

up on the side with a Hain button and a ribbon "Kaulana o Maui ia Hana." Give old lady Hana her due for she is really a good old soul when it comes to receiving the Republican Party. Some disappointment was caused as a big crowd had congregated to receive Kubio—well the crowd went to the church to hear the speech making and it was more than a pleasant surprise to see how well each candidate's efforts were taken. The silver tongued Makekai of Lahaia is the hero of the hour and his wit and humor always keeps the crowd at its highest pitch. He is an orator of the first rank, Born Not Made, and it is to be expected with such speeches that the Republican ticket will be elected from top to bottom without an effort. Makekai speaks for all the Candidates and to show how well he has been received, he made the last speech Saturday night, and the crowd hung on his every word throughout the entire speech. Sunday at noon the speech makers of the party attended Puuiki Catholic Church in a body. After a sumptuous feed the party made speeches and the same marked success seemed to prevail. At 4 o'clock they were escorted in automobiles to Kipalulu for another feed with speeches in the evening. The poi and pig proposition is getting to be a little too often for Mr. Cook of Molokai. He has wired ahead to Molokai that the Candidates are to receive nice fat mutton for a change and good mullet.

The Candidates are now leaving Kaupo for Kanaio and the Kula district. To say the very least Hana district has not seen a better bunch of men for many a long day, and she will do her share for the election of them one and all from Kubio down.

World's Champions

The Series Between the Two Big Leagues Will Begin at Philadelphia.

The flip of a coin decided whether Philadelphia or Chicago should have the first game of the World's Championship baseball series, and Philadelphia won. It has been decided that the series will start Monday, October 17.

The first series played between the two big leagues was won by Boston, American, from Pittsburg, National; the next year the New York Nationals won from Philadelphia. Then followed the series between the two Chicago teams when the Americans won. The Chicago Nationals put it over Detroit twice, and last year the Pittsburg Pirates repeated the dose. This year it is up to Philadelphia to retrieve the lost prestige of the American League, and as I said before I think they can do it. In Bender, Coombs, Krause and Plank, Manager Connie Mack has a string of pitchers that the Chicago manager cannot equal. Behind the plate Chicago has the best backstop playing ball today in Johnny Kling. The peerless Chance is on first for Chicago, and though the worries of management will hold him back some, still he will shine all the time. That is as far as the Chicago team individually will have any advantage over Philadelphia. Then again Chicago will lose the services of Johnny Evers who is injured, and altogether will be obliged to play at least three substitutes in the big series.

Both teams have developed team play to the highest point of perfection, and when Connie Mack gets busy with his score card, signaling to his men, the unexpected is sure to happen. Following are a list of the men eligible to play in the series:

Philadelphia Americans.

Atkins, Bender, Barry, Baker, Coombs, Collins, Donohue, Dygert, Davis, Derrick, Houser, Hartzel, Krause, Lapp, Livingston, Lord, Morgan, Murphy, McInnis, Oldring, Pladk, Thomas, Struck.

Chicago Nationals.

Archer, Beaumont, Brown, Cole, Chance, Evers, Foxen, Hofman, Kling, Kane, McIntyre, Needham, Overall, Pfeiffer, Pfeister, Richie, Reulbach, Sheckard, Steinfeldt, Schulte, Tinker, Weaver, Zimmerman.

Cornwell and His Affinity

Accused by Berkeley Man of Alienating Wife's Affections.

W. H. Cornwell, who it will be remembered, married the divorced wife of Carlos Long, who was formerly Miss Irene Buchanan, has again got himself in trouble over in San Francisco. Following is an account of the affair as given by the San Francisco Bulletin:

William H. Cornwell, a florist, was arrested in the Manx Saloon by Detectives Sullivan and Drolette on complaint of Archie Rice, and was charged with a felony. Cornwell is accused of alienating the affections of Rice's wife, Mrs. Mary Champlin Rice. A warrant for Cornwell's arrest was issued by Police Judge Shortall, who fixed bonds in the sum of $4000 or $2000 cash bail. The complaint alleges a violation of section 269 of the Penal Code.

Rice resides in Berkeley and has two little children. According to the information received by the police from Rice his wife met Cornwell in the early part of last May while visiting the latter's florist store to purchase an orchid. The police say that Mrs. Rice has subsequently lived with Cornwell in various apartment houses in San Francisco, during which time she has visited her home and children but once.

Cornwell's father was a Major on the staff of King Kalakaua, and was a man of considerable property. Young Cornwell was married eleven years ago on the Island of Maui and came to this city with his wife in 1906. He worked in interior towns, and last fall came here and occupied a flat at 1441 Hyde street. Last November Cornwell's wife mortgaged her property in Hawaii for $3000 and gave Cornwell the money to invest in the florist business.

After the meeting with Mrs. Rice, according to the police she lived with Cornwell at the Wellington Hotel, at the Montecalm Apartments and other places. The police allege that Mrs. Rice, who has an independent fortune, gave Cornwell $1000 in cash on June 11th and has given him presents of jewelry and apparel.

"If it was not for my children," said Rice yesterday, "I would have killed Cornwell. I have done everything I can to bring my wife to her senses, but without success. This man Cornwell has even been posing as myself and taking my name."

District Attorney Fickert is giving his personal attention to the case, and will, it is said, actively prosecute the felony charge against Cornwell.
