The Harbor Commissioners.

It must seem strange to tourists and travellers passing through to see the papers filled continually with the petty squabbles of the different public bodies in Honolulu. A little while back it was the Board of Health, then the Loan Fund Commission, and now the members of the Harbor Commission are not only fighting among themselves like the proverbial Kilkenny cats, but they seem to be antagonizing the commercial interests of the other islands. Whether this is the fault of the board as a whole or simply that of the chairman of the board it is hard to say, though of late it seems that wherever you find Marston Campbell, there you will find trouble.

The Maui Chamber of Commerce had reason to believe that Mr. Campbell was not dealing fairly with them in the Kihei wharf matter, and a resolution to this effect was sent to Honolulu. This caused a belligerent reply to be sent from the commission as a whole in which they practically told the Chamber of Commerce to mind its own business.

This matter is the business of the Chamber of Commerce, and they are determined to see whether Mr. Campbell and the rest of the commission are prepared to carry out the will of the people, or whether they can sidetrack this matter, as Campbell is reported to have said they intended to do.

We predicted some time ago that Mr. Campbell was fooling with a buzz-saw when he tried to buffalo the Maui Chamber of Commerce, and our prediction has just about come true.

If the "youngest theatrical manager in the world," or some other of the managers of the local show houses, would engage Superintendent Marston Campbell for a lightning change act on the stage, he ought to make a great hit, a much bigger hit, in fact, that he has made in his official capacity. If Marston can change his clothes as quickly as he can change his mind and his face, he's a wonder.—Crossroads.

A novel entitled "A Green Vase," by W. R. Castle, Jr., and published by Dodd, Mead & Co., is out. A volume has been received here, and we hope to have the pleasure of reviewing it next week. Mr. Casele is a product of Hawaii, and no doubt his many friends here will ensure a large sale for the book throughout the Territory.

A persistent report is in circulation that Mr. W.G.Scott is out for the position of Sheriff of Maui. Mr. Scott has a very good job at present, and if he is wise he will stay there, because he would have as much chance of being elected sheriff, as a counterfeit dollar would have passing a sub-treasury inspector.

The beach road begins to look as though there was something doing in this burg. The poles along this road for the electric wires are nearly all in place, and the residents are looking forward in pleased anticipation to the time when the juice will be turned on, and the town no longer grope around in darkness.

Training Season Rapatee.

SAYS the leaguer to the busher as they limber up their joints, "Just keep your eye on me and you will get some inside points. About this game of baseball, so when Danny stops your eats You'll go back to the Punkin League and knock'em off their seats. You don't do badly for a kid. You're got the speed to burn, You sting the leather on the snoot, and all you're got to learn Is how to shoot'em down the groove, and how to waste'em, too, And how to field and how to slide, and just what not to do. So watch the way that I do, and who knows? Perhaps some day A Class D scout may come along and sign you up—he may."

Says the leaguer to the leaguer (which means unto himself). "I wonder if I'm really due to hit the 'has been' shelf? This kid is there a thousand and if I've slowed up a bit The day they tie the tin cans on, it may be that's 'it.' I'll start him pulling boneheads, and if he ain't queered by that, I'll find a soft spot on his knob and bump it with a bat."

Says the busher to the leaguer, "I have heard that stuff before. The Punkin League is full of guys who played up here of yore. But just get this into your dome, that I've come up to say, And any time you beat me out you sure have got to play A game that shows a little class. You may not know it, bo, But either you've gone back a lot or you were always slow. Just show me all you can, old top, and I'll be glad to learn, And maybe when they hand you yours I'll help you in return. You'll need a job this season, sure—I tell you what I'll do; I'll get my old bush manager to save my place for you."

Says the busher to the busher, with a confidential note, "I don't see why this guy is always trying to get my goat. It doesn't look to me as though I've got a chance at all, The way that he is fielding and a-sappin' out the ball. But I will bluff the season through, and tell 'em how it feels, When I get back to Punkinville, to be among the Seals."

W. F. Mossman Stricken.

W. F. Mossman, manager of the Hamakuapoko store, was stricken with paralysis last Tuesday. He was moved over to the Paia hospital, and Wednesday evening he had a second stroke. Mrs. Mossman, who was at Nahiku, hurried to his side, and his two sons were also with him.

Dr. McConkey, who was in attendance held out no hope for his recovery, and in fact his death was looked for all during Thursday. Early Friday morning the patient opened his eyes, and seeing the doctor bending over him, smiled and held out his hand. The doctor grasped it, and thus he passed out of this life.

Mr. Mossman was a mason, and he received a masonic burial, the funeral taking place at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon.

A brother, who was until recently in the stationery business died two weeks ago in Honolulu.

Mr. Mossman has had an honorable and useful career. He was for a time, Collector of Customs at Kahului, and for the past few years has filled acceptably the position of Manager of the Hamakuapoko Store.

Strike at Paia.

Last Saturday night, an incipient riot took place in the Paia camp. The camp is occupied by Okinawas a tribe of Japanese, who came from one of the many small islands off the northeast coast of Japan. The Okinawas were having a feast and becoming noisy, the camp boss went in to stop it. The result was a general mix up in which the camp boss was roughly handled. Not content with this, the laborers demanded that the plantation discharge the boss, but the manager refused. The laborers promptly went on strike. Their bluff was as promptly called, and about 300 of them were paid off and told to get out. This ended the strike, and everything is now quiet, with the strikers out of luck.

Von Hamm-Young Co.

Automobiles are coming into the islands so fast that one wonders where they all go to, but there still seems to be a ready market, not only in Honolulu, but throughout all the islands for the latest designs. The call for the latest thing, by those who can afford it, forces upon the market a great number of first class machines only slightly used. These machines are practically as good as new, though they must necessarily be sold as second hand.

The Von Hamm-Young Company are continually getting in these slightly used cars in exchange, and it is possible many times to get a bargain. Mr. Bodge, the manager of the automobile department of this company, is now on Maui, with a slightly used Packard, which he will be glad to show to anyone desiring such a car.

Philippine Mill Shares Going.

That there is a good demand for stock in the San Carlos Milling company and the subscriptions are coming in rapidly is a fact attested to by the appearance of the subscription list recently.

"We have passed the $20,000 mark, that is the half-way point," said A. D. Cooper, speaking of the progress made. "In addition to this I have been asked for short time options on upwards of $30,000 of the stock, the greater part of which I expect will be taken."

"Nearly all of the subscriptions so far received are from local people, that is residents of the island, but I expect substantial returns from the other islands during the coming week, by which time people there will have had time to give the matter consideration. In amounts subscriptions vary from $100 to $30,000."

BY AUTHORITY.

BOARD OF AGRICULTURE AND FORESTRY FRUIT FLY CONTROL.

RULE XV.

Rule and Regulation of the Board of Commissioners of Agriculture and Forestry, Concerning Horticultural Sanitation on the Island of Maui.

WHEREAS, the Mediterranean Fruit Fly has obtained a foothold in various islands of this Territory:

The Board of Commissioners of Agriculture and Forestry of the Territory of Hawaii hereby makes the following rules and regulations for the purpose of controlling, diminishing or eradicating said Mediterranean Fruit Fly and other injurious fruit flies and the larvae thereof, and preventing or diminishing the loss causable by them.

SECTION 1.
