WAILUKU, MAUI, T. H., SATURDAY, MARCH 20, 1915.

NUMBER 5.

REPUBLICANS ELECTED AT PRIMARIES

Seven Out of Ten Places as Good as Won—Bevins Wins Attorneyship By Big Majority—Kalama Will Again Be Chairman.

PROBABLY ELECTED.

Chairman Board of Supervisors—Sam. E. Kalama, (R).
Supervisor—David T. Fleming, (R).
County Sheriff—Clement Crowell, (R).
County Clerk—Wm. Fred. Kaae, (R).
County Auditor—Chas. Wilcox, (R).
County Attorney—E. R. Bevins, (R).
County Treasurer—L. M. Baldwin, (R).

NOMINATED BUT NOT ELECTED.

Supervisors—Republicans: R. A. Drummond, Philip Pali, J. N. Uahinu. Democrats: Pia Cockett, Jerry Burns, Paia Naki, and Dr. J. H. Raymond.

Unless the official returns from the Ulupalakua precinct, which will not be in until today, and a canvas of the total votes cast in a number of other precincts proves to be incorrect, all but four of the county offices were legally filled at the primary election held last Saturday. Three out of the four positions on the board of supervisors failed to receive a majority of the total votes cast, and the nominees for these places must make their final race at the regular May election. Good Vote Polled.

According to the present count 2053 votes were polled in the county out of a total registration of 2603. Under the primary law, a candidate for nomination receiving a majority of the votes cast is declared elected. Although Sam Kalama did not receive such majority, he is as good as elected, not having a democratic opponent in his race for chairmanship of the board.

E. R. Bevins, whose vote amounted to 1030, has only 7 votes to spare, according to the present figures, if he is to escape a contest with his democratic opponent, Eugene Murphy, for the place of County Attorney.

Wilcox for auditor and Baldwin for treasurer, had 1414 and 1415 votes respectively, and had no opponents. Clem Crowell beat Charlie Lake for sheriff by a vote of 1283 to 591; and William Fred Kaae defeated J. N. K. Keola, 1188 to 609.

Dave Fleming led among the supervisors with a total of 1081, with Drummond a close second with 995.

May Not Take Chances. It is possible that the candidates thus apparently elected, will not take chances on a number of ambiguous points in the law, but will regularly qualify and stand for the regular election, unless an opinion from the Supreme Court can be obtained in the meantime that is satisfactory. For instance there is uncertainty as to what is meant by a majority of the votes cast. Some hold that it means a majority of voters who cast a ballot. Others think that all ballots thrown out for cause must be deducted from this, which it is known would make a considerable difference. It is believed that the inspectors of election also experienced confusion on this point, so the 2053 given as the total vote cast, is far from certain. Inspectors Make Errors.

That the meaning of the law was not clearly understood is evidenced by the returns made in both the Puunene precinct and the Hamakuapoko precinct, notwithstanding the unobtainably high mental equipment represented on both of these boards of inspectors. In Puunene, under the head of "total votes cast" was given 2095, while the registered vote in the precinct is but 311; while at Hamakuapoko, under the same heading, the official return shows 1601 votes cast for a registration of 263.

Probably the biggest surprise of the day was the big majority secured by E. R. Bevins over Dan Case for county attorney. Up to the time the returns began to come in on Saturday evening, Case's friends were evidently sincere in their expressed confidence of his victory; and even his opponents were apparently surprised by the landslide when it started.

Central Maui Lost Out. A good deal of dissatisfaction is to be heard over the fact that the republicans on Central Maui failed to land a single nominee for the board of supervisors, while Lahaina district has two, Hana one, and Molokai one. For this reason it is asserted by some that there is to be a general non-partisan rally around Pia Cockett and Dr. Raymond at the regular election, in an effort to land them on the board as Democratic candidates.

George Weight, of Wailuku, by the returns last Saturday night was only four votes behind Uahinu, but later returns have increased the latter's majority to 65—all through the official returns from the Molokai precincts. Weight is considering contesting the vote, but has not yet decided on the matter.

WILL ATTEND FAMILY REUNION.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Lufkin will leave on the Manoa early next month for the Coast, to be gone for about two months. After taking in the Fair at San Francisco, they will go east, where they will attend the annual family reunion in celebration of Mr. Lufkin's mother's birthday, in Normal, Ill., on May 10. She will at that time be 90 years of age, and is still well and active. Mrs. Lufkin visited Maui in 1902, and although 72 years of age made the trip to the summit of Haleakala with great enjoyment.

Accompanying Mr. and Mrs. Lufkin to the coast will be Miss Macfarland and Miss Smith, who have been in Maui for the past year, but who are now returning to their homes in the east.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY DANCE.

The St. Patrick's dance on Wednesday night at the Gymnasium was an unusually pleasant affair, and well attended. Dancing was kept up by the enthusiastic ones until past midnight.

DEATH OF PROMINENT MOLOKAI LADY.

Mrs. Koleka Kapahaole, widow of the late A. P. Kapahaole, who was representative from Molokai for several sessions during the monarchy, died at her home at Halawa, Molokai, at 2 o'clock Tuesday morning, March 16, aged about 52 years. She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Moohila Kanikau, mother of Deputy Sheriff Joel Nakaleka, of Molokai, and Mrs. Mikahala Kiba, grandmother of the Misses Edith D. and Violet K. Keola.

A sampan was sent over to Lahaina where Miss Keola boarded it and proceeded to Molokai.

The deceased is a member of one of the oldest and most respected families on Molokai, and her funeral, held at Halawa valley on Wednesday afternoon, was very largely attended.

MAUI ELKS' ROUND-UP TONIGHT.

Maui Elks, of which there are some 20 or 30, will hold their annual love feast at the Maui Hotel at 8 o'clock this evening. The affair promises to be an unusually pleasant occasion.

Haiku Farmers Refuse to Back Kula Protest

Think it Bad Policy—Resolution Would Have Legislators to Keep Hands Off Marketing Division—May Reconsider Action.

On the grounds that it would be disrespectful to the law makers, and that the farmers have need of the local merchants, the Haiku Farmers' Association, at a meeting held on Wednesday evening, refused to back up the Kula Farmers' Association in resolutions recently adopted by the last named body. These resolutions, as published in full in last week's Maui News, protested against the action of the House committee on Agriculture in instructing the superintendent of the Territorial Marketing Division to cease making purchases of supplies for the farmers, as he had been doing.

There was considerable discussion over the matter by the members of the Haiku association, but a motion to endorse the resolutions was finally voted down. The meeting was a small one and it is intimated that the matter will be brought up again for reconsideration.

WHO WILL BE THE SACRIFICE?

If Fleming is declared elected by the primary vote, but three of the four places on the board of supervisors remain to be filled. But there are four democratic candidates nominated. Question: Which of the four is to get the ax?

Apparently there is no solution of this problem in the law. Also if the democrats dump Naki, their low man, it will strengthen Uahinu, the republican candidate, both being Molokai candidates. There is a good deal of speculation among the politicians as to how this tangle will be handled.

DEATH OF CAPTAIN ROBERTS.

James Roberts, captain of police at Lahaina, and for fifteen years connected with the Maui police force, died about 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the Malulu hospital, Wailuku, where he had been confined for several months. He was about 36 years of age, and is survived by a wife and three children. The funeral which took place on Thursday at Lahaina, was very largely attended.

The deceased was a native of Lanai, and had lived practically all of his life on Maui. He was considered one of the best officers on the Maui police force, and was universally liked. The illness which finally resulted in his death has been of long standing, and necessitated a number of operations, which however, were unable to restore him to health. The widow and children have the general sympathy of all.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE LEADER VISITS MAUI.

Mrs. Alice Parks, one of the leading workers for the Woman Suffrage movement in the United States, spent several days on Maui this week. Mrs. Park, whose home is in Palo Alto, has been in Honolulu for a month or more, where she has addressed various organizations on woman suffrage, on child welfare, and world's peace, in all of which movements she is prominently identified.

During her Maui visit she addressed a gathering of women at the home of Mrs. Howell, Wailuku, on Thursday afternoon, and she also held another meeting at Paia on Friday. She returns to Honolulu this afternoon. Mrs. Parks has been a life long worker for the enfranchisement of women. She is an able and interesting talker, and is thoroughly convinced that her work will see its full fruition within a very few years.

WHY CASE DIDN'T GET ELECTED.

"I've discovered the reason I didn't get elected," declared Dan Case, the day after the big March snow-slide, "and I'm dead sure it's right—I didn't get enough votes!"

Smith Just Simply Can't Stay Straight

Out of Jail, With Good Job and Friends to Help Him, He Jumps to Hilo With Other's Property—Pilikia For Him if He Comes Back

Fred L. Smith, who posed as Senator Warren's son and as such passed a worthless check upon the First National Bank of Wailuku some months ago, is likely to be in further trouble. Following his release from jail a few weeks ago, after serving his sentence, he was given assistance by a number of Wailuku persons, and finally landed a job with Enders' Garage. But in about two weeks he disappeared, and with him went about $28 in money which Mr. Enders had advanced him, besides a quantity of tools and a suit case.

It has been learned that Smith went from here to Hilo, and so far as is known, is still there. It has also come to light that the Rev. J. C. Villiers was also stung by Smith. The disappearance of a number of automobile tubes from the county garage, where Smith worked as a trusty during his incarceration, is also coincident with his leaving.

Smith is said to be a fair mechanic and a very handy man, but he isn't wanted on Maui. According to the police, he will probably not be disturbed unless he returns here of his own accord.

Tourist Agency Men See Big Asset in Maui

Philip C. Hall and L. R. Warner, of the Paradise Tours Company, of Honolulu, spent most of this week looking into the attractions of Maui. They left last evening exceedingly enthusiastic. It is their plan to conduct parties to Maui weekly, and they have mapped out a number of interesting itineraries and perfected the details of having their patrons looked after. "Maui certainly appeals to us," said Mr. Hall, "and we see big possibilities for our business here. We are doing splendidly in our new business, and Maui is going to be one of our big assets. We're leaving tonight, but we'll be back."

The Paradise Tours Company had the handling of the big Great Northern excursion a few weeks ago.

MAKAWAO LITERARY NEXT SATURDAY.

The next regular literary to be held at the Paia Community House, March 27, gives promise of being decidedly interesting. It is to be "A Night in Japan." A cordial invitation is extended to all friends to be present, and to come garbed in the quaint costume of Japan. An elaborate program has been arranged on which much painstaking effort has been spent, consisting of characteristic dances, including the famous ancient war dance, and a Lilliputian boxing exhibition. Decorations and dainty refreshments of a decided Oriental nature will add much to the evening's enjoyment.

CARNIVAL TIE WILL BE DECIDED.

According to J. Garcia, of the Maui Athletic Association, the committee to decide the tie between the All-Maui and the All-Chinese teams in the carnival series has not yet had time to act, and as far as the committee was concerned there never was any idea of not rendering a decision. The waiving of claim to the cup by the Chinese, he says, has no bearing on the matter whatever.

NEW DIRECTOR WILL TALK TO KUIAHA FARMERS TONIGHT.

J. M. Westgate, director of the Hawaii Experiment Station, will address a meeting of the Kuiuaha Farmers' Association at the Kuiuaha schoolhouse, this evening. This is Mr. Westgate's first visit to Maui since he arrived to take charge of the Honolulu station, some weeks ago. He arrived last night from a week's trip spent on the Big Island, in company with Prof. F. G. Kraus, and will probably spend several days in familiarizing himself with conditions on this island.
