Weekly Market Letter.

Eggs are scarcer this week and the price has advanced 2c. The price at this time last year was 5c less. There are large quantities of California eggs being imported but a great many of them are very unsatisfactory for table purposes.

All kinds of poultry in good condition are selling well with the exception of turkeys and geese which have been on the market for some time.

The condition of the green vegetable and fresh fruit market is very poor from the producer's and wholesaler's point of view but is very favorable to consumers. All kinds of green vegetables, string beans, cabbage, peppers & tomatoes and cucumbers are very plentiful and the prices extremely low. String beans are particularly plentiful and large quantities were sold for as low as 1c a pound. The poorer beans have had to be dumped. Cabbage which has been selling for 3c and 4c a pound has now dropped to less than 2c. New Island onions, a small shipment of which were received from Maui, are selling for 4c and 5c a pound. Due to the strike in San Francisco, Island Irish potatoes are meeting a very good sale at 2 1-2c to 3c a pound. A large part of the crop was rushed to the market in time to get these prices. As soon as the California potatoes begin to come in the price will probably drop to about 1-2 what it is now. If any farmer still has potatoes on hand he should ship them without delay. Island corn is also very scarce due to the strike and farmers who have either small or the large yellow corn for sale should ship it at once as there will be no more corn in the market for another two weeks.

Alligator pears and bananas are so plentiful that large quantities of them are going to waste every day. Steamers from Kona are bringing in such large quantities of alligator pears that they cannot be disposed of at even 20c a dozen. Isabella grapes are also cheap as well as watermelons. Limes, however, are scarce and good fruit brings as much as $1. per 100.

From reports received at the Division it would appear that the price of hogs is likely to drop. It has been reported that several people have hogs for which they cannot find a market. Dressed beef is selling at the usual price but it is expected that it will advance shortly. At the present time the icehouses are full of meat.

Mutton is still scarce and high. Due to lack of transportation facilities practically all of the feed stocks have been greatly reduced and what is left is selling at very high prices.

Marketing Superintendent.
