

Basket Ball Series Getting White Hot

Gym Team Still Holds Lead But Had Narrow Squeak With Cubs—Kahului And Gym To Play Tonight At Community House

On Friday, August 16th, the Maui Basket Ball League gave the public what everyone declared the best yet. This is not exaggerated, for the quality of games put up was number one. The game between Kahului and St. Anthony was very close throughout and was won by the former team by a score of 14 to 10. St. Anthony's gave Kahului a hard game, and should another series be played, as is anticipated, St. Anthony will make a great showing for themselves.

The second game, between Wailuku Gymnasium and the Cubs, was even more exciting. Till the last two minutes of the game the score was 16-10, but the Wailuku Gym team rallied, and made a total score of 14. These games were certainly worth while. A white heat of excitement prevailed and the basket ball fans were busy telling the boys what to do throughout.

Big Battle Tonight

The next game will be played at the Kahului Community House this evening. The public is invited to attend. The Kahului and Gymnasium teams are now the cup contenders and a hard battle is expected between these two teams at the coming stand.

Standing of the teams is as follows:

Team	Played	Won	Lost	Per.
Gym	4	4	0	1.000
Kahului	4	3	1	.750
Cubs	4	2	2	.500
St. Anthony	4	0	4	.000

BE CAREFUL WHEN ADDRESSING SOLDIERS' MAIL

Postmaster Costa has received instruction not to forward mail addressed to members of the regular army, national guard, or national army unless the envelope is addressed to the company, regiment or other unit to which the persons addressed belong. The letters should also bear the name and address of the sender in the upper left hand corner of the envelope.

of some of the capital stock of the company which was never paid in. The unsecured claims amount to some $25,000.

The holders of the $20,000 first mortgage, which was allowed by the bankruptcy court as a preferred claim and who were obliged to bid in the property to protect their interests, are also, barring the possible supreme court reversal, the owners of the hotel, free from incumbrance.

The original stockholders lose entirely their investment, regardless of who finally gets the property.

The Grand Hotel cost over $50,000 to build and furnish. It is estimated that, based on the present prices of materials and furnishings it would cost at least $75,000 to duplicate it now.

The boy or girl away at school will appreciate a subscription to the home paper as much as does the soldier boy in camp or battle front. Give us the address, we'll do the rest. THE MAUI NEWS, 1 year, $2.50, post paid; 6 months, $1.25; 3 months, 75 cents.

Passing Of Demon Rum Is Peaceful

give away, manufacture, transport, import, or export intoxicating liquors, except for medicinal, scientific, sacramental, or medicinal purposes, for which purposes the sale, gift, transport, import, and export of the same shall be under such rules and regulations as the Governor of the Territory may prescribe, and any person violating the provisions hereof shall be fined in a sum not exceeding $500 or imprisoned for a period of not longer than one year, or both; Provided, That at any general election of the Territory of Hawaii, held within two years after the conclusion of peace, the repeal of this Act may, upon petition of not less than twenty per centum of the qualified electors of said Territory at the last preceding general election, be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of said Territory, and if a majority of all the qualified electors thereof voting upon such question shall vote to repeal this Act, it shall thereafter not be in force and effect, otherwise it shall be in full force and effect.

Sec. 2. That the said petition shall be addressed to and filed with the Secretary of the Territory at least two months before the election at which the question is to be voted upon, and the person obtaining any signature to such petition shall make affidavit that he witnessed the signing of the name and believes the address of each petitioner affixed to his name is the true address of such petitioner. Such election shall be conducted under the laws of the Territory provided for general elections. Approved, May 23, 1918.

Governor Makes Rules

In the advertising section of this issue is a "by authority" publication of the new rules and regulations just approved by the Governor for the regulation of such traffic in liquor as is still permitted under the law. The same boards of license commissioners of the several counties are prescribed.

Here on Maui the commission consists of T. B. Lyons, D. C. Lindsay, D. H. Case, C. D. Laikin, and W. F. Kane. An informal meeting or two of the members has been held but no definite action taken as yet.

May Have No License Here

It is possible that the board will not license any person on Maui to sell the liquor needed here for medicinal, scientific, mechanical, or sacramental purposes, but will have such supplies ordered from Honolulu as needed. The board will appoint an inspector to approve prescriptions of doctors, o. k. orders of physicians and others entitled to have liquors, and check up the records of all such from time to time.

But this job, the commissioners believe, will be a simple one. They do not anticipate that there will be much liquor dispensed on Maui for all purposes permitted, and this through a very limited number of channels. No one has as yet been selected for the position of inspector, and there will probably be no great race for the job since the board thinks it will be in nature of a sinecure and as such call for but a nominal salary. It is even talked of not appointing an outsider for the job, but having the duties of inspector handled by one of the members.

End Of The Demon Peaceful

There was little ceremony on Maui to mark the passing of Demon Rum. The few liquor dealers still in business had practically sold out their stocks a day or two before, and there was little booze available for the waker had there been any such inclination.

The several hotels which had bars are all preparing to install ice cream and soft drink departments, and the proprietors appear to all be cheerful over the prospects. In fact they seem to feel a sense of relief as though the burden of an annoying and uncertain responsibility had been lifted from their shoulders.

Lahaina Games End With Honors Even

11 Inning Game On Lahaina Diamond Sets West Maui Wild—Will Try Again Next Sunday On Wailuku Grounds

The two games of baseball played at Lahaina last Sunday they were divided evenly between the two towns, Wailuku winning the first game with her first team and losing the second to her second team. The first game was won by a score of 12 to 6 and was full of pep and excitement. The second game went to Lahaina for 11-innings were played, the Lahaina team winning by a score of 10 to 9 with a single run in the last inning.

Lahaina nor Wailuku being satisfied, they have decided to play another game this coming Sunday at the Wailuku grounds. The proceeds again are to be given to the Red Cross. The collection taken at Lahaina amounted to $21.00.

The coming games should have a large attendance. Lahaina certainly did well last Sunday in way of patronage, a very large crowd seeing the games on the new diamond that was recently filled in opposite the Armory. The chief drawback was the lack of bleachers or seats of any kind.

Awards Made By Accident Board

were rounded up during the past month for failure to have insurance for compensating their employees in case of accident. A number of these were apparently intelligent white men who however claimed to be in ignorance of the law which has been in effect for over three years. The fact that the board will probably impose the severe penalties within its jurisdiction in a number of these cases may have a salutary effect in spreading knowledge of the statute.

AT THE THEATERS

"The Widow's Might"

Clever Julian Eltinge, the well-known Paramount feminine impersonator, makes a very fascinating widow indeed in his newest production, "The Widow's Might." As to his gown—these are the very most gorgeous and fashionable of that well-dressed actor's feminine collection.

The story begins with Dick Tavish, a young city chap, deciding to move out West and establish himself as a cow-puncher, because he has heard that there is money in cows.

It is as a rancher that he meets and learns to appreciate Red, Cob and Pete, three fellow-ranchers. And it is one of them, Red, who accosts Dick to Coronado, the fashionable resort when they find they are being robbed of their money by Horace Hammer, a wealthy but unprincipled broker.

As it happens, Dick is more than glad to get to Coronado, for he has learned that pretty Irene Stuart, with whom he is in love during the long lonely watches at the ranch, is there also, and stopping at the same hotel as himself, the man they have come to see.

How they succeed in getting back the deed to their land, and how Dick finally marries Irene after numerous excitingly humorous adventures in which a baby figure prominently in a charming manner; and Inspector William C. de Mille has made "The Widow's Might" one of the most popular of the clever star's entire repertoire.

Dorothy Dalton in "Flare-Up Sal"

Dorothy Dalton returns to the screen in one of J. G. Hawks' stories of Western life, "Flare-Up Sal." It tells of the days of the "forty-niners," and a more action-packed Western drama would be hard to find than this late Paramount production under the direction of R. William Neil, and supervised by Thomas H. Ince.

In the supporting cast with Miss Dalton are Neen Thurston Hall, William Conklin, J. P. Lockney, considered by critics to be one of the best character men on the screen, and Milton Ross. "Flare-Up Sal" is a typical Western picture, and it has been given a regular wild and woolly production by Director Neil. He has taken his company into giant redwood section of California for the exterior scenes, and the interior scenes including the dance hall and gambling scenes are marvels for their exactness in duplicating similar scenes during the days of the gold rush to California.

Miss Dalton has the title-role. The Red Rider, a notorious outlaw, hears of her, and his curiosity gets the better of him, so he arranged himself in the garb of a minister, and visits the town and meets Sal. He has imprisoned the minister on his way to take charge of the parish of the mining town, and he is welcomed as the new minister. Sal plans to run him out of town, but falls in love with him instead, and they both leave and are married. The above is but a running outline of the story. There is action every minute, and Miss Dalton's

Picture Tells Story

Of General Houston, One of the most thrilling stories of American history is that which will be told on the screen of the Maui theaters when William Farnum makes his appearance in the role of General Sam Houston in the historical photoplay entitled "The Conqueror."

"The Conqueror" pictures the heroic life and romantic times of the "Liberator of Texas," who is one of the big, outstanding characters of American history.

In the making of the picture 8000 persons were employed. Among these 450 Sioux Indians from the Pine Ridge agency.

William Farnum, the Fox star, is peculiarly fitted artistically as well as physically for the portrayal of General Sam Houston and his interpretation of the role is a masterpiece.

"The Blind Adventure"

Edward Earle is to be seen on the screen of the Wailuku Orpheum in "The Blind Adventure," which for sheer mystery and suspense is one of the best photodramas ever seen.

The story was written by Earle, Derr Biggers, and appeared in the Saturday Evening Post.

Geoffrey West is the principal character and presented by Mr. Earle. West is breakfasting at the Carlton in London when Marion Larned and her father, an American Congressman, enter. West is attracted to Marion, and to get acquainted he inserts a personal in the daily paper. Marion, next morning, reads it, and sees a reference to her. She answers and a correspondence is started. West is fond of romance, and hits upon an idea. He writes a series of letters describing a murder in which he was the principal character. Marion believes in his story, but is unable to see him. The correspondence is kept up until the outbreak of the war.

West decides that he has carried the romantic side of his love affair far enough. Marion sees the joke, and explaining that she will meet him in New York when he has proved himself a "gentleman."

His Awed Listeners

An English scientist was in the habit of taking hunting trips in the north of Scotland. Here, when night came upon them, and he and his guides were sitting around their camp, he would become very communicative on scientific marvels, even narrating to his seemingly awed listeners things that he never confided to his colleagues at home.

One night the distinguished Englishman paused in his talk, and turning to one of his guides, asked curiously: "Sandy, what is it that you and your companions keep taking out of your pockets and eating while I'm telling you these things?" "Salt," replied Sandy calmly: "a grain at a time."
