

SAMOANS IN REVOLT AGAINST GOVERNMENT OF U. S. NAVY OFFICER

HONOLULU, August 4—Much bitter feeling has developed in Pago Pago in American Samoa against Governor Terhune and the naval administration, according to advices brought to Honolulu today by the Oceanic liner Ventura. Two hundred of the Samoan chiefs are said to have signed a petition addressed to President Wilson and asking the government for an investigation of the Terhune administration. Rumors say that the feeling reached such a state that the governor's home was stoned.

Rigid restrictions were put in effect by naval officers when the Ventura put into Pago Pago and none of the passengers was allowed to go beyond the naval reservations.

According to C. W. Wenson, a marine engineer of San Francisco, one of the incoming passengers, A. A. Greese, son-in-law of Albert Falke of Honolulu, is under naval surveillance for his alleged actions in agitating natives against Governor Terhune. Lieutenant Commander C. H. Boucher, acting under Governor Terhune, is aboard the Ventura, having been recalled to Washington for his alleged part in the agitation against Terhune.

Professor A. G. Mayor, of Carnegie Institute, also was a passenger on the liner and has been in Samoa. He said the Terhune administration was efficient and the agitators were responsible for the trouble.

SUPT. M'CAUGHEY ISSUES STATEMENT ON PROGRESS OF SCHOOLS

HONOLULU, August 7—Superintendent of Public Instruction Vaughan MacCaughy issued a statement today called "Public School Progress," in which he recites the accomplishments of his department since April, 1919. These include reorganization and raising the standards of the Normal school, beginning of cooperation arrangements with the University of Hawaii and a new building for the Industrial Manual Training.

The statement says that the Federal School Survey marks an epoch in Hawaiian educational history. It recites the details of a systematic campaign, launched to inform the public of school needs, declares the new salary schedule compares favorably with that of the mainland, calls attention to the steady progress in building schools, securing teachers' pensions and the increase of free public kindergartens. It notes the Hawaiian Civic Club's voting unambiguously its confidence in the rehabilitation bill, and says Senator Wise has urged Hawaiians to send a monster petition to Congress supporting this bill.

A Territorial educational conference under the auspices of the Department of Public Instruction, with leaders of public and private schools attending, will be held in Honolulu on September 1, MacCaughy announced, and said he expected the foreign language schools would be discussed at that meeting.

BAMBOO FROM ORIENT FLOURISHES IN SOUTH

NEW ORLEANS, August 6—Eight years ago Edward A. McIlhenny of Avery Island was commissioned by the United States Bureau of Plant Production to experiment in the growing of Chinese and Japanese bamboo so as to determine the best varieties that may be grown in the South. He is now about to make his report to the government regarding his forests. The bamboo, Mr. McIlhenny says, sometimes reach a height of 60 or 70 feet in three weeks.

According to the experimenter, one of the most satisfactory growths have been the phyllostachys pubescens, valuable as timber and particularly relished for eating. The tender shoots when six or eight inches above ground may be eaten as a salad and are also used in other culinary ways. Another edible variety is the phyllostachys henryi.

Exclusively timber varieties include the phyllostachys puberula (Japanese hachiku) and phyllostachys quilloi (Japanese mandrake) both of which were found to thrive in Louisiana. They are said to be adapted for house timbers, telephone and telegraph poles and boat spars.

"The four varieties are hardy and do well in Louisiana and will stand a temperature of zero, growing rapidly to perfection in Southern alluvial soils," said Mr. McIlhenny. "In my opinion these four species of bamboo are destined to play an important part in Southern Louisiana agriculture."

GOOD RAIN AT KULA

About 2 inches of rain fell yesterday in the Waiakoa section of the Kula district, in the course of about 5 hours. The precipitation continued, but greatly reduced during last night. This is the first real rain that has occurred in Kula in several years, and although some damage is reported from washing, the results were generally beneficial.
