

MAUI TWENTY YEARS AGO

(From Maui News, April 27, 1901.)

Lahaina has an ice plant and soda water bottling works and expects soon to have electric lights.

Wailuku plantation store is about finished as to wood work and will go into the hands of painters next week.

The Ah Kee coffee house is practically completed and will open today selling coffee at 2 1/2 cents a cup.

Superintendent Bal of the Wailuku water works states that there are at present 150 connections with the Wailuku and Kahului mains and there are four applications for installations the first of the month between Wailuku depot and the soda works there are ten more applications which will be supplied as soon as the new main pipe is laid.

Word was received from Honolulu yesterday that the county bill had passed the senate changing the name of Maui to Liliuokalani.

The Maui polo club players met the Honolulu team and were defeated. Honolulu papers say the Mauilites were not so well mounted as were the Oahuans and the game was more a question of mounts than players ability.

High street between Main and Vine yard has been graveled and work is being continued down Vineyard to Market street.

Pioneer plantation has about finished its run for the season, the output of sugar being between 6000 and 7000 tons.

Lahaina has been declared a port of entry.

A writer to Maui News explains the county seat question thus: "Lahaina

Japanese Would Leave Islands in Thousands; Waiting List is Long

Approximately 4000 Japanese are making an attempt to get their affairs straightened out so as to leave Honolulu for their native land and this in spite of the fact that wages are low, prices high, and discontent rife in Japan, says the Honolulu Advertiser. Conditions in that country, as reported by businessmen who have represented large commercial houses of the United States there for a number of years, are in critical shape.

A large number of the agencies have been closed for a year or more and the expectation of the men in touch with the situation is that it will be from 10 months to two years before business is back on a footing that is anywhere near normal.

The local internal revenue office has been besieged by Japanese for the past several weeks who are coming in to pay their taxes and get their accounts with the United States straightened up so they can get passports out of the country.

It has been suggested that this migration may be an answer to the question of "Where are the laborers?" The internal revenue office has noted that a good percentage of the outgoing Japanese are women and children and that the men are somewhat in the minority. Incoming immigrants have fallen off in numbers to a considerable extent.

Reports from California would indicate that the same conditions are prevalent there, although farms and orchards have not been crippled by the loss. It is easy to find labor on the mainland to take the place of the Japanese, according to the reports.

Whole families are being transported from the United States to Japan and the incoming Orientals, who are fewer in number since the Alien Land law was passed in California, are mostly men without families.

A great influx of Japanese is reported in Mexico where they are being welcomed as colonists by the Mexican government. An Associated Press despatch from Mexico received here some time ago stated that one of the states of Mexico has agreed to give the Japanese land under a system similar to our homestead law and that hundreds of the rising sun nationals were pouring into the territory. It is also known that South America countries on the west coast are receiving increasing numbers of Japanese colonists who are taking up farming and vegetable raising for an occupation.

was the first in time to hold the seat of the second judicial circuit ever since the year 1859 and has had the honor of holding it for 42 years. Wailuku the next seat of justice so far as the circuit court is concerned, has held it only 29 years. The reason for the change was that Lahaina, at one time the rendezvous of the whaling fleet when there were comparatively few whites in the Islands, was the natural seat of government. With the passing of that fleet Honolulu snatched the laurels from the brow of Lahaina. But with the development of the sugar industry the bulk of the population of Maui shifted from Lahaina to Central and East Maui and Lahaina is now merely an outlying district boasting of two plantations while on Central Maui there are eight plantations and three fourths of the population. For years Lahaina has contended for one term of the circuit court and has had it at great inconvenience to the public. The whole business of the county must be conducted at the county seat and Wailuku is nearer the center of the greater part of the population.

Much sickness is reported among the Porto Ricans.

Telegraphic reports reaching London say that General French and 500 British troops have been captured by the Boers.

The labor situation in England is said to be growing worse daily.

The number of idle men left by the closing of the factories is causing great alarm in Russia.

The Standard Oil people completed a smelter combine and now control the copper and silver yield.

Specific provisions for the neutrality of the Isthmian canal are contained in the agreement reached between the United States and Great Britain in the report that has reached the New York World.

The Globe Navigation Company will be incorporated at Trenton, New Jersey, with a capital of $1,000,000 and will operate steam and sailing vessels from Seattle to Pacific Coast, Alaska, Hawaiian Islands, Australian, Japanese and Chinese ports. Three 3000 ton steamers have been purchased in Atlantic ports and will sail for Seattle within ten days.
