Maui Enchanted By Sweet Voice Of Hana's Son

Concerts in Kahului and Wailuku Are Triumphant Home Coming of Hawaii's Greatest Vocal Artist

Tandy Mackenzie, Maui's big boy, came home. Holding his audience spellbound until the last note of each of his renditions had long faded away into deep silence, the sweet voiced tenor sang to a house that long before the opening of the concert, had been announced completely sold out last night.

Maui paid tribute to her son, heartily and with a feeling of mingled joy and reverence. Laughter, as he rendered the Scotch number "Bonnie Sweet Bessie" was as suddenly changed to a feeling of sadness when following Mackenzie sang "Thank God for a Garden" and "Mary of Arzyle."

Long Training Apparent
Opening the concert with "E luce van le stelle" from "Tosca," Mackenzie gave his audience an inkling of the training he has undergone. Well rendered, the selection pleased, although it did not receive the applause that was given the older melodies that followed.

The second part of the program that came after a short intermission was made up of "Mother of Mine" by Tours and "If with all your hearts" the melody by Mendelssohn that has long held a place in the hearts of music lovers. A storm of applause was given the singer following those numbers and he returned to sing "Little Mother of Mine" a selection that was part of the program given at Kahului Saturday night.

The number, "I'll sing thee songs of Araby" was well received and it was in that selection that Mackenzie's ability to reach and hold without a waver the highest notes was shown.

Wonderful Hawaiian Melodies
Criticism has been heard on Maui of the singer failing to impress an audience while singing in his native tongue and melody. That criticism is unjust. Mackenzie's rendition last night of Keoloha's "Malani Kamakani" and "Mauna Loa" by King received an ovation, greater than was given to other selections. Especially was this true of the song "Malani Kamakani."

Unlike a majority of Hawaiian singers, Mackenzie can attain the high notes of the Hawaiian melodies without the peculiar jolting effect that is sometimes so pronounced among native singers of the Islands. Burst after burst of applause following his Hawaiian numbers was evidence enough of the universal chord he had struck in the hearts of his audience.

The last number on the regular program was Wood's "Roses of Picardy." It was beautiful, simply beautiful. Into the song was thrown the feelings of the real artist, the real master, that Mackenzie is. Deep silence reigned in the theatre for moments after the last notes had died away, speaking most emphatically of the way in which he had touched his audience that could have the greatest applause.

Audience Enthusiastic
Call after call brought the singer back and he repeated the song "Good-Bye" from Tosti that on Saturday night brought the entire house at Kahului to its feet. Lastly, and a fitting closing for the son of Maui, he sang "Aloha Oe."

Coupled with his wonderful voice Mackenzie is the possessor of a vastly pleasing personality which makes itself felt throughout the audience. No feigned feeling enters into his selections. It is Mackenzie himself that sings.

Mrs. A. A. Greene, an island girl came with Mr. Mackenzie from Hilo and was his accompanist in both his concerts.

- Better in Kahului
Saturday night in Kahului the house that greeted the greatest Hawaiian singer was not so large as the one he faced in Wailuku but it was no less enthusiastic and he was in even better voice there than last night. It will surprise most of those who heard him in Wailuku only, to know that he was suffering from a cold which made him change his plans, to go to Hana today and to give up his Molokai trip for the present.
- His "Recondita Armonia" the opening number gripped his audience for him and he held them throughout the beautiful program that followed. Other numbers that especially pleased the Kahului audience were "Songs of Grussia" a queer Russian folk melody, "Little Mother of Mine," and "Ua Like No a Like."

Money For Witness' Fees Against Bevins Refused by Court

In a memorandum opinion handed down Friday by the supreme court, a motion by the attorney general's department for permission to subpoena, at the court's expense, certain witnesses to testify on behalf of the territory in disbarment proceedings brought last year against Elmer R. Bevins, Maui county attorney, is denied and the question is now raised as to what further action the attorney general's department can or will take in the matter reported in the Star-Bulletin of last Saturday.

On May 10, 1921, an information, sworn to by Attorney General Harry Irwin was filed in the supreme court charging Attorney Bevins with professional misconduct, the information containing six specific allegations. Several hearings were held and a number of continuances were granted. The matter is now set for hearing before the supreme court on or about Monday, July 24.

The attorney general's office has no funds from which to pay witnesses who testify in its behalf in hearings before the supreme court. Witnesses who testify in behalf of the territory in the circuit courts are paid by the territory. With this in view, the attorney general's department wrote to the supreme court moving for permission to subpoena 11 witnesses to testify on behalf of the department in the disbarment proceedings against Bevins.

The cost of summoning the witnesses, which includes their statutory witness fees and mileage, is $284.50. The list of proposed witnesses includes Attorney Eugene Murphy of Wailuku, Maui; George Freeland, district magistrate of Lahaina; Phillip Pali, former district magistrate and now deputy sheriff of Lahaina; F. P. Rosecrans of Paia; P. Maurice MacMahon, former circuit court reporter at Wailuku and now circuit court reporter at Hilo; J. M. Ambrose of Lahaina; M. S. Dupont of Paia; John H. Waiwai of Wailuku; C. H. Wilcox, Maui county auditor; Walter A. Engle of Wailuku and Clement Crowell Maui county sheriff.

The memorandum opinion of the supreme court says, in part: "The motion is denied on the following grounds: (1) It would seem to be inappropriate for this court to add either party to the above entitled matter in paying the expenses of its witnesses; (2) The appropriation made by the legislature for expenses of the supreme court was not, in my opinion, intended to defray the expenses of summoning witnesses under these circumstances; and (3) even if the statutory appropriation just referred to could properly be construed to authorize this expenditure, nevertheless the unexpended balance is so small as not to permit of this expenditure."

Play is Founded On Story From Kohala

In the concert which is to be given by the L. D. S. Mission, Saturday evening, July 15, in the Territorial Building there is to be given in tableaux and pantomime "Honeskala." It is a romance built upon a true story of a happening in Kohala some years ago.

A Hawaiian youth falls in love with a Hawaiian maiden. Of course there is the villain who comes along at the proper time and leaves his shoes on the maiden's door step. When the infatuated youth comes to pay his nightly tribute to a Honeysuckle lei the plot thickens and—but one must see the performance.

There are to be other musical numbers and a prize waltz dance afterward.

The cast of "Honeskala" will be: The Youth.....J. H. Waiwaiolo The Maiden.....Mrs. Waiwaiolo The Old Man.....Moses K. Ekau Two Little Girls.....Sophie Waiwaiolo and Blanch Kamahale.

New Aspect Put On Booze Case

Evidence in Rebuttal Indicates That There May Have Been "Moral Coercion" Upon Defendant Before Search

Both sides rested their cases in the Territory vs Nakagawa in the district court before Magistrate Mossman this morning and there had developed a new aspect to the case, whether moral coercion entered into the permission of Nakagawa for the officers to enter his kitchen.

Attorney Murphy closed his case by calling Mrs. Nakagawa who corroborated the testimony of her husband. Then he closed and County Attorney Bevins called Tom Clark and Enos in rebuttal. They testified they did not enter the main dwelling of Nakagawa but called him to come out and that Crabbe commanded him to open the kitchen door which was unlocked and which the defendant did. The witnesses in rebuttal said Nakagawa's admission that he was making rice beer was after and not before he had opened his kitchen on command.

Attorney Murphy then renewed his motions for the striking of evidence, the elimination of all connected with the kitchen and he quoted the case of U. S. vs Slusser at length. Magistrate Mossman then called on the prosecution for arguments relative to whether or not Crabbe's demand was to be considered coercion in the light of court decisions.

At the close of arguments Magistrate Mossman said he would render his decision Thursday.

Two witnesses were called by the defense in the case of the Territory vs T. Nakagawa in the Wailuku district court on Friday afternoon when the hearing was resumed before Magistrate Harry Mossman. Then the case went over until this morning with a probability of being further continued until Thursday.

On the witness stand the defendant told a very different story from that of the officers. He said they forced their way into the house and "pushed him from behind" toward the kitchen. Defendant said that he knew them to be officers and was afraid to resist. He gave practically the same testimony as his allegations in his suit for damages for trespass in the case except that he said he did not see any pistols displayed, that he knew them to be officers and so presumed they had pistols and "saw swellings on their hips."

The other witness was officer Coelho, called by the defense, to testify on how rice beer is made. The prosecution had made him an "expert" in the morning to show that the liquor was a "beverage fit for human consumption." Attorney Murphy called him to show how much of an expert on the subject he was.

It is expected that Nakagawa's wife will be put on the witness stand later to substantiate what her husband said about the officers "forcing" their way into his place.

BUFF LOSES TITLE TO FORMER HOLDER

(ASSOCIATED PRESS)

NEW YORK, July 11—Joe Lynch must part with nearly $10,000 from his own pocket for the privilege of wearing the bantam weight crown again.

Last night's gate was $9,150 short of the $30,000 guaranteed Buff if he lost the title. Authorities said it is the first time in ring history that a fighter won a title without receiving a cent to say nothing of paying such a huge sum to a loser.

Plaster Ceiling Of Honolulu Theater Falls On Spectators

(ASSOCIATED PRESS)
HONOLULU, July 8—Nineteen persons were injured, none seriously, when the plaster of the ceiling of the Star Theater in the Kahili district fell here today during a matinee performance.

Building inspector Louis Cain, who inspected the theater following the mishap, said holes bored in the ceiling for ventilation might have caused the plaster to fall. There were 197 persons in the theater at the time and there was no panic. Manuel Callua, owner of the theater, said an investigation would be made before the theater was reopened.

HONOLULU, July 10—The official investigation Saturday afternoon and Saturday night, made partly through interviews with victims of the accident, uncovered the following points and allegations:

1. Assertion by a Honolulu contractor, who visited the scene of the accident with the fire marshal Saturday night, that the collapse was due to improper and inadequate methods of "tying" the plaster to the wooden cross-pieces designed to hold up the ceiling.
2. Assertion by this contractor that the steel-wire staples used in fastening the wire netting or "wire lath" to the wooden strips were not strong enough, and pulled out under the weight of the plaster.
3. Possibility that this pulling out process began last fall after heavy rains, when the roof leaked and some inches of water was standing above the ceiling.
4. Possibility that the ceiling was further weakened by jarring when holes were punched through the hard plaster to drain the standing water out.
5. Allegation that the ceiling began to sag or give way as early as last November, and that this sagging was not attended to.
6. Allegations that at least two of the exit doors of the theater were not only closed but barred, when the accident occurred. The barring of exits or any locking of the doors, is forbidden by law. Exits may be closed but the doors cannot legally be locked.
7. No building plans for the theater are on file in the building inspector's office—at least, they can't be found. The permit was issued September 27, 1917, and according to the records, was issued when Henry Freitas was building inspector.

Germany Desperate Over Her War Debt

(ASSOCIATED PRESS)
PARIS, July 11—Chairman Fischer of the German war debts commission and under-secretary of finance Schroeder informed president Duhols of the reparations committee that the financial situation in Germany is growing desperate and that cash payments of indemnity will soon be impossible. An informal request was made that the memorandum be made clear. The commission reserved its decision pending a formal request.

It is believed this afternoon's conference will be preliminary to the opening of the entire reparations question if the allies discuss the problem without representation of the United States. It is also felt that the United States will not participate in the consideration of the allied debts because of the approaching congressional elections.

Holstein Will Quit Legislature; May Go In For County Work

(ASSOCIATED PRESS)
HONOLULU, July 10—Henry L. Holstein, who has been speaker of the Territorial house of representatives since 1905, today announced that he will not seek reelection to the 1923 legislature. He said that he may seek election as chairman of the Hawaii County board of supervisors or as a member of that body from Kohala.

As result of criticism of the manner in which the affairs of Hawaii County have been conducted, especially in regard to financial matters and taxation, Speaker Holstein says that a number of his friends have "indicated their belief that a new leader in county government might be desirable and have asked him to stay at home and give his county the benefit of his long experience in political and governmental affairs."

It was reported by the Star Bulletin on Friday that efforts are being made to clear the way for John Wise's candidacy for delegate to congress so that he may have no opposition for the nomination. The article said it was planned that Norman Lyman should run again for the legislature and be selected as speaker. At that time there had been no announcement of his plans by Holstein. Some time since, however, Holstein had expressed his willingness to manage the Wise campaign.

Ten Year Building Program of Schools Now To Be Proposed

(ASSOCIATED PRESS)
HONOLULU, July 8—It is announced that the department of public instruction has prepared a tentative draft of a territory wide school building program covering the next ten years. This has been done in accordance with a suggestion made by Governor Farrington at his cabinet meeting last Tuesday.

Copies of the tentative program are to be sent to the chairman of the boards of supervisors, the county engineers, school commissioners and supervising principals with the request that they make recommendations for improvements in the plans or otherwise endorse them.

Superintendent of Public Instruction Vaughan MacCauley said the plans are a continuation of the program that has been in progress for the past two years for overcoming the shortage of school accommodations due to retardation of building operations during and immediately after the war.

County Clerk Kane said yesterday that no copy of the program had as yet reached his office and in the County Engineer's office there had been nothing of the kind received.

On Maui there has been a definite program laid out under which the new High School Building was erected and the new Punene school building is being constructed. Lahaina and Wailuku are next in order for concrete buildings. The Lahaina project has been held back on account of the question of site. It is now unofficially reported that the contention of the board of supervisors will prevail and that the school site will extend from the present Kamehameha III grounds towards the armory and take in all the land from road to beach.

Three New Branches County Library Open

Two new branches of the Maui County Free Library have been opened and a third will open today. Hamakuaoko and Punene on this island and Roosevelt on Molokai will enjoy the service.

Miss Marion Morse, the county librarian is carrying out the plans for extension of the services of the library she announced a month ago. Hamakuaoko Branch is operating and is located at the depot and post-office with Mrs. H. W. Baldwin in charge. It was proposed to locate that branch in the High School building but it appears that better service can be secured at the location selected which is regarded as central and convenient.

The Punene branch will be opened this afternoon in the old barber shop in the Punene Club House. It will be open Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday afternoons from 4 to 5 o'clock with Miss Anna Simons, district nurse.

Books were shipped from the main library on Thursday of last week to Roosevelt, Molokai where the branch will be at the office of Dr. E. S. Goodhue with Miss Dorothy Goodhue in charge. She will make her own arrangements as to hours.

Kaunakakai expressed a desire for a branch before Roosevelt but has not notified the county library of its proposed arrangements as yet, so Roosevelt gets its branch first. However a shipment of books will be sent to Kaunakakai as soon as the necessary information has been received from there.
