THURSDAY MORNING, NOV. 12.

GUN-COTTON. Experiments were made on Tuesday at the War Department, says the Union, in presence of the President, upon the Gun-Cotton sent to him from Europe by one of the discoverers...

Professor Otto, of Brunswick, has, however, discovered the secret of preparing the Gun-Cotton, and refuses to take out a patent therefor, but proclaims it to the world.

He dips raw cotton well cleansed in highly concentrated acid of salt-petre, made by distilling ten parts of dried salt-petre and six parts of oil of vitriol or sulphuric acid, and then washing it well in fresh water, dries it thoroughly. It is then ready for use.

Mr. Robertson, says the Union, intends to prepare 25 pounds of Gun-Cotton in the most scientific manner, and the Government will cause experiments to be made upon it at the Arsenal.

We wait to hear, with some anxiety whether the results will come up to the expectation formed of this wonderful discovery in Europe.

From Monterey.—The mail of Tuesday evening brought New Orleans papers to the 2d inst. in which is a variety of details of news from the Army of Invasion. Our readers are informed that we should have laid these matters before them yesterday morning...

Had we received any of the New Orleans journals, but as yet we are without exchanges from that city. In a few days we shall be in possession of them when we will be able to publish all the Army news the moment it is received here.

The only intelligence however of moment by this arrival is the rumor that Santa Anna had arrived at San Louis Potosi and had ordered the Mexican army to evacuate Saltillo and to concentrate upon the former city. The region between Saltillo and San Louis Potosi is said to be barren and without water save what is collected in tanks which have been or will be destroyed.

It is said that Santa Anna had ordered Ampudia to retreat from Monterey but that the orders arrived after the battle.

A correspondence had taken place between Gen. Taylor and the Governor of New Leon in which the latter agrees to furnish any quantity of mules and corn General Taylor might desire at certain prices stipulated (the corn to cost $5 per mule load) and General Taylor promises to withdraw the volunteers from the city in order to prevent the recurrence of affrays and murders which had taken place.

Gen. Taylor was making active preparations for continuing hostilities. The Rio Grande was low, but still navigable. Recruits for the regular Army were coming in very rapidly at Matamoros, on their way to Monterey.

Flour market in New York yesterday up to 2 p. m. heavy; Genesee $6.06 to $6.12, nominal. Market tending downwards for every thing. Stock—a better feeling and improvement in the leading securities.

At Philadelphia yesterday, up to the same hour, Stocks firm but not active—Flour $5.50 to $5.62, no animation. Sharp (democrat) it was believed would be elected Governor of Delaware and Houston (whig) to Congress. State Legislature, whig.

The whigs give up the Members from Michigan to the democrats. The whigs have carried their Governor in Massachusetts by 15,000 majority and 500 over all.

On Monday last the Ohio river at Pittsburg had 5 feet water in channel. A GOOD HIT. The Louisville Journal remarking upon the rumor that some of the President's friends had sent him a present of a lot of superior domestic handkerchiefs, thinks that the President will not need any more favors of the kind, seeing that he had received so many wipes recently from New York, Pennsylvania, &c. &c.

Switzerland. On the 3d of October the minority of Geneva took up arms because the Council of State would not vote to dissolve the league of the Cantons unconditionally. At the last dates the war was waged with great vigor by both parties—the killed and wounded being over 150. There never can be a republic in Switzerland like ours, until the minority learn how to obey the laws enacted by the majority.

The Phil. Ledger's Washington Correspondent says, that the Administration has nailed its flag to the mast to stand or fall by the tariff law of 1846, and that it is not true, as alleged by some of the journals, that the Administration is willing to make peace with Mexico by taking the line of the Rio Grande, and surrendering all the conquests west of that boundary. From information on which we can rely we are enabled to corroborate these statements.

The navigation of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal will be resumed on the 15th. There were several breaks occasioned by the late rains according to the papers published in Cumberland, Williamsport, and Georgetown, but the breaches will soon be mended.

Evacuation of Monterey.

We have not seen so graphic an account anywhere of the Evacuation of Monterey as is contained in the following letter from the Picayune's correspondent, Mr. Haile, and we are sure that our readers will peruse it with pleasure.

MONTEREY, MEXICO, September 29, 1846.

GENTLEMEN: We are at length in quiet possession of this place, the last division of Ampudia's army having marched out yesterday morning. The first division marched out on the 26th, the 2d on the 27th, and the balance on the 28th. I saw the two last, and was able to form a tolerable idea of the number of men in them. There could not have been fewer than 2,500 in each division of regular soldiers well armed and equipped. Add to these some 2000 horsemen who left the city in small parties, during the four days' fight, and at least 5000 citizens of the town who took up arms in its defence, and you have a pretty strong force for the defence of a place which nature and art have combined to render as strong as any in the world. How such an army, thus situated, could ever allow itself to be conquered by a force of less than 7000 men, will always appear strange to me. The cowardice of Ampudia is now established beyond a doubt. So careful was he of his person, that it is said he never once left his house when any firing was going on. What a pity that one of our shells could not have dropped into his bed room.

I felt perfectly satisfied, when I saw the Mexican troops pass out of town, with the arrangements which Gen. Taylor had made with them. To have taken all those men prisoners would have been useless. Their arms we did not want; their horses were worthless, with a few exceptions, and it would have been very expensive and troublesome to feed and guard so many men. And moreover, it would have cost many a valuable life to have carried the city at the point of the bayonet.

I rode out with the head of the column day before yesterday, when their second division left town.—That scene alone would almost have remunerated me for the long journey to Monterey. At the head of the column rode the commander of the division, with his staff, accompanied by Major Scott, of the 6th Infantry, with his Adjutant (Lieut. Deas,) and Lieuts. Hanson, Robinson, and McLaws. Col. Peyton rode by the side of the chief, and received a very affectionate embrace from him as we turned out to let the column march on, when the head had reached El Palace Hill.

And now was presented a scene that I can never forget. Two regiments of infantry led off, with colors flying, drums beating, and the trumpeters blowing with all their might. The fifers made all the noise they could. The men were all well armed, and the whole division seemed to be well appointed, with the exception of shoes, in lieu of which, most of the men wore sandals. Three pieces of artillery were in the centre of the column, one six, one nine, and one twelve-pounder. The line, marching four abreast, extended about one mile. The Army was accompanied by a great many females, officers' wives on horseback, their faces muffled and with hats on; soldiers' wives mounted on donkeys or on foot, some of them carrying burdens that I would scarcely think of packing upon mules; young women with short petticoats and hats, tripping lightly along; and young girls trudging along with their little valuables in their arms. I noticed one pretty little creature, about 9 years old, with a pet chicken on one arm and a parrot perched upon her hand. The ugliest woman I ever heard of was walking behind a poor little flea-bit donkey, belaboring him with a large stick.—The donkey was ridden by a young woman, a second edition of the old one. A precious pair, that mother and daughter. Most of the soldiers looked sullen, and their eyes gleamed with hatred, and a desire for revenge. One of McCulloch's horses, a valuable animal, which a man was leading out of the way of the Mexican troops, was seized and led off, the soldiers levelling their muskets at the hostler when he endeavored to recover his horse. The animal was promptly returned, however, on the circumstance being mentioned to the commanding officer.

Yesterday morning the last division was drawn out in the plaza next to the cathedral—that is, all that the plaza could hold—and Capt. Miles, who is stationed there with his regiment, (7th Infantry,) drew up his command and saluted the regiments as they passed him. I never heard a noise until yesterday morning. Pandemonium never contained as noisy a gang as these Mexicans are. It seemed to be the particular endeavor of every man to make all the noise that lay in his power. There must have been fifty buglers and as many fifers and drummers playing at the same time, and no three of them attempting the same tune.

I saw several regiments of fine-looking soldiers, men of good size, young, active, and athletic. The 1st division is encamped in the grove, three miles east of the town—one of the loveliest spots in the world, shaded by large pecan and live oak trees. This grove seems to be the only woodland in this region, and is resorted to by the citizens of Monterey as a place for holding pic-nic parties. The 3d, a volunteer division, is also encamped in this grove. Gen. Worth's division occupies the town. The citizens are beginning to return in great numbers, and appear to feel glad that the Mexican Army has left them.

That the case of an editor is not hopeless is evident. Mr. Haller one of the editors of the Frederick Examiner was married lately. We wish him much joy.

Ecclesiastical. Mr. William Love, late of Hagerstown, has received a unanimous call from the Presbyterian Church of Martinsburg and Harper's Ferry, Va., which he accepted. He was ordained Pastor of these churches by the Winchester Presbytery, at their late meeting in Frederickburg.

A Toast. "Old Bachelors! like sour cider, they grow more crabbed the longer they are kept; and when they see a little mother, then turn to vinegar at once."

The Boonsboro "Odd Fellow" will have it that the earthquake was a real Washington County affair. We suppose the folks in Jefferson county, Va., will claim a share of it too.

DID NOT ARRIVE IN TIME. The Western cars for Baltimore were detained on Tuesday evening in consequence of a man falling from one of them in a state of intoxication. He received no serious injury; the train had to return nearly a mile on his account. He had a bottle of the greatest enemy of man in his pocket.

EFFECTS OF DRINKING. A gentleman just arrived in this city from Ohio relates the distressing story that while he was travelling recently in Wisconsin, in crossing a prairie he discovered the body of a man nearly devoured by the hogs, lying near which was a jug of ardent spirits.

THE FUNERAL. Com. J. B. Nicholson was buried yesterday. His remains were attended to the grave by two companies of volunteers and twenty-one carriages in the procession. The President, many of the Heads of Departments, and several of the Navy Officers were in the cavalcade.

PARTY ISSUES. We learn from the Union of Tuesday evening, that it regards Mr. Webster's speech in Boston and Mr. Clayton's letter to the people of Delaware as distinct avowals of two of the great issues, which the whigs are determined to make with the Democrats before the country, and which are—

- 1. The unconditional restoration of the tariff of 1842.
2. The absolute condemnation of the Mexican war.

The Union announces that the Democratic party are ready to go before the people on these issues with their opponents. It is evident that the war of the two parties are hastening apace, and for the next two years our republic will be shaken to its centre in the strife for the Presidency.

Iowa. The St. Louis New Era gives it as a reason why this State has gone for the Democracy, that the people are for the improvement of the Mississippi, which washes its eastern border, and have taken this method of rebuking the President for vetoing the Harbor and River Bill.

Galabran's European Hotel, we learn, is soon to be re-opened by R. C. Nichols, late of the Troy House, New York.

There were 9 feet of water in the channel of the Ohio at Wheeling on the 9th instant. All the western rivers were rising at last date.

Flour in Cincinnati on the 7th instant $4.12. N. O. Sugar 7 1/2 to 8c. At St. Louis flour on the 4th was $4—wheat 60c.

ANOTHER GONE. John Phillips, a rifleman of the Revolution, died at Abington, Pennsylvania, on the 5th of September, aged 109 years. He witnessed the massacre of Wyoming Valley, and was with Gen. Washington in all his campaigns.

THOSE OLD COONS. The whig papers of the North come to us ornamented with wood cuts of five of those old coons that figured so largely in the country in 1840. Two are dancing the Polka, and the other three are playing on a Kent Bugle, a Violin, and a Flute, respectively.

REMOVALS. It is said, says the St. Louis American, that Mr. Hagner, the 3d Auditor, and Mr. Pleasanton, the 6th Auditor of the Treasury Department, are to be removed. They have been in office about thirty years.

These able officers are still at their posts, and if the last rumor about them be true, they are not likely to be disturbed.

GEN. TAYLOR AND THE PRESIDENCY. The Louisville Journal, speaking of Gen. Taylor and the next Presidency, holds the following language:

"No one can apprehend that the old hero of Monterey will push himself forward as an aspirant after political honors, for he is content, as well he may be, with the glorious laurels already clustering around his brow. He never thrusts himself forward except when his country's enemies are in front. Then he is ever ready and rough.

Yet Gen. Taylor, if called on by his party, may reluctantly permit himself to be considered a candidate for the Presidency, and, if so, who of the aspirants can withstand him! General Cass! He would beat back Cass and his followers as he beat back the British at Fort Harrison. Mr. Buchanan! He would route Buchanan and his followers as he routed the Indians on the Wythlococoochee. Mr. Wright! He would put the Mexicans to flight as he put the Mexicans to flight at Palo Alto. Mr. Allen! He would thrash Allen and his followers as he thrashed the Mexicans at Resaca de la Palma. Col. Johnson! He would overwhelm the Colonel and his followers as he overwhelmed the Mexicans at Monterey."

There is a new paper to be established in New York to be devoted to philosophy and wit. It is to be called The Judy—a very significant name!

The Rancheros. Rowan Hardin, of Kentucky, in a letter to his father thus describes the Rancheros of Mexico:

"The Rancheros are the people who live on farms. They are poor soldiers. By the laws of their government they are not allowed to have arms at home, and consequently do not understand the use of them. These people are not cowardly, but unskilled in the use of arms and without confidence in their rulers. Gen. Taylor esteems them a brave people; but they are not effective in battle because of their ignorance of the use of arms. Their defeat by Gen. Taylor on the Rio Grande, with such odds in their favor, has destroyed all confidence in themselves and they fight with no other expectation than to be whipped."

The Bomb Cannon. This terrible instrument of war, now on trial at Boston, is well calculated to destroy the castle at Vera Cruz, if all which is said of its power be true. Recently it was loaded with 25 lbs of powder and a 182 pound shell containing 7 lbs of powder, and filled with a 36 second fuse.—It was then elevated to 35 degrees and fired. The shell fell at a distance of 3 1/2 miles at Squantum, buried itself five feet in a rocky bed and exploded tearing out a pit 12 feet across. This gun would soon demolish the fort of San Juan d' Ulloa which seems to be considered by our government as impregnable.

The Secretary of War wrote to somebody on the 15th ultimo that it was not designed to call out any more of the Blue Hen's Chickens for the Mexican War.

The Troy Post remarks upon the fact that N. York for the first time, since the organization of the Whig party sends a majority of Whigs to Congress.

CAPT. GEORGE LITTLE. This interesting old gentleman has been in our city. His lectures on Saturday evening, at Ebenezer Church, and on Monday night at the Foundry, were attentively listened to by large audiences, and gave general satisfaction. Captain Little is an old sailor, and "twenty years at sea" has enabled him to possess himself with a rich fund of experience and an extensive acquaintance with the science of human nature. He is now entirely blind, and is conducted through the country by a guide. He has published two thrillingly entertaining volumes, written as he dictated, by his daughter, who, from the accounts given, is a sweet and amiable lady, and to him a ministering angel indeed, of whom he speaks with great affection, saying, "O how I should love to see her!" This however is a pleasure he will never enjoy on earth, for, to use the language of Milton,

"The sun to him is dark,
And silent as the moon,
When she descends the night,
Hid in her vacant interlunar cave."

Capt. Little depends, we believe, upon the sale of his books for the support of himself and family. The titles of the volumes are, "Life on the Ocean, or twenty years at Sea," and "The American Cruiser or the Two Mesmates, a tale of the last war." The price of each is One Dollar. He does not consider himself a beggar or as one seeking the public charity, but considers his books as a fair return for the money he may receive, which is just so, as every reader of them will admit. Capt. Little resides at Baltimore, but his books have made him known almost all over the country. He is an earnest Christian, and has many warm friends. May God's blessings ever attend the blind and aged seaman.

Mr. Clay's Statue.—Mr. Hart who has been engaged by the Ladies of Richmond to make a statue of Mr. Clay, is in Lexington Kentucky, and has completed a model in wood half the size of life in citizen's costume. He will repair to Italy in the coming spring to enter upon the work.

Mrs. Child, the true blue negrophile and authoress, speaking of the discovery of the runaway slave Selkirk having been discovered packed up in a box to elude the search of the authorities says, that in one of these suspected boxes was found the living gospel of freedom bound in black! For the discovery, that the New Testament and a negro slave are the same things, Mrs. C. ought to take out a patent forthwith.

Liabilities of Rail Roads. The Supreme Court of Massachusetts has recently decided, that the absolute responsibilities of a Railroad Company ceases when the goods carried by it, and ordered to be left at one of its depots, has been delivered according to order and the owner notified. After this, the liability of the company is that of common agents, requiring diligence only.

YANKEE DOOLE. The b'hoys in London sing:
"Yankee Doodle borrows cash,
Yankee Doodle spends it,
And then he mops his fingers at
The jolly flat who lends it."

The following item has gone the rounds of the papers—

CURIOUS LEGACY. Mr. Tustin, late chaplain to Congress, has had a call to the Presbyterian Church, in Hagerston, Md. Mr. Hugh Kennedy, who died some years ago, left a small annuity to that church on condition that they should sing nothing but the Psalms of David—when they depart from this they loose the legacy, which amounts to five hundred dollars per annum.

We copy the following from the New Orleans Picayune to show in what estimation the editors of that journal held of one of the actors in the terrible drama that led to his death.

"Of Hoy's unmitigated guilt we think no reasonable man can entertain one moment's doubt. None, we presume, have pitied him, and none should. He escaped too cheaply. His miserable victims survive him, and it is hard to say who among them is most to be pitied. The simple existence of Mrs. Myers letters is enough to dispel all sympathy with his fate. To preserve those letters was one of those acts so ignominious that the grave ought not to protect him from abhorrence."

The Cumberland Civilian is now edited by Archibald Cary, and in our opinion is very much improved both in manner and matter.

Guerrilla Warfare.—The Mexican papers of the last dates urge the practice of guerrilla warfare upon our troops and the abandonment of the system of meeting us in pitched battles. They say that it is the only way to save the republic from falling into our hands. We think they will find that there will be two who can play at this game, for if the Americans excel in anything it is in the guerrilla mode of fighting.

A LADY'S REQUEST. One of our amiable female subscribers has sent us word that she would be pleased if we would publish a larger number of marriages in the DAILY FOUNTAIN. Some of the gentlemen complain that they cannot succeed in inducing their dulcinea to unite with them in holy wedlock, from which it would seem that it is the fault of the ladies that there are not more marriages. However, as we dare not put the fault in this matter upon the fair ones, we will give it as our opinion that the men are to blame. "Why don't the men propose?" is no doubt the anxious enquiry of not a few.

Flour is selling at Cumberland, Md., for $4 50 a$5 00; Wheat 80a90; Potatoes 37c.

FIRE AT CUMBERLAND, MD. On Saturday night last, the Cabinet Makers shop of Messrs. Newton was consumed. It belonged to Edward Armstrong of Baltimore, and was insured to the amount of $15,00.

The New York papers speak highly of Van derlyn's Picture of the Rotunda of the Capitol, which picture is now being exhibited in that city.—It represents Columbus at the moment of taking possession of the newly discovered country.

"How," said one gentleman to another, "do you accomplish so much in so short a time? Have you any particular plan?"
"I have," was the reply, "when I have anything to do, I go and do it."

[Correspondence of the Daily Fountain.]

Alexandria, Nov. 11, 1846.
The Commissioners having resolved to take no notice of the repeal of the resolution under which they were appointed, made at a subsequent and unauthorized meeting, commenced to hold an election to-day for three Commissioners before the Legislature at its next session. There is no excitement on the subject, and the voting is dull. Francis L. Smith, esq., Major Robert Brockett, and G. W. Custis, of Washington, will be elected by a majority there having been scarcely any opposition to them up to half-past two o'clock. You shall have full returns to-morrow.

Baptist Missions. From the Annual Report of the American Baptist Missionary Union, it appears that this body has under its direction, 16 missions, embracing 56 stations, and 87 out stations, 99 missionaries and assistants, of whom 42 are preachers; 150 native preachers and assistants, 82 churches, having more than 5,300 members, more than 600 having been baptized during the past year; and 20 schools, with about 2,000 pupils.

The Harmonious are now in Cumberland, Md., singing away as merrily as ever.

Maryland Coal is considered excellent wherever it has been used.

Unrehearsed Stage Effects. The Wheeling Times says a theatrical corps in that city were playing "Perfection," and when the lady acting the part of Susan said, "I'll marry the first likely fellow that offers," a six footer from Monroe county, Ohio, walked up to the stage and said, "Here is the boy for you, and there is the license," laying down a bona fide marriage license on the table of the orchestra.

Attempted Suicide.—A woman named Susan Mattingly was yesterday evening taken up and examined before Justice Smith on 8th street, charged with an assault upon some of the inmates of her house. This woman, it is said, made two attempts during yesterday to kill herself by taking laudanum, both of which failed to produce the effect intended. She was committed, after proper trial, in which several witnesses were examined and held to bail for their appearance at a future time. Susan was supposed to have been insane. Poor Susan!

CIRCUIT COURT.

Wednesday Nov 11th, 1846.—The case of Gustav vs. Lawson, noticed yesterday occupied the whole day.

A number of additional witnesses were examined, and the case, after speeches from Mr. Bradley for plaintiff, and Mr. May for defence was given to the jury at 4 o'clock.

No verdict was rendered at the adjournment of the court.

The Van Ness case was fixed for trial on Wednesday next.
