It was ordered that the clerk turn over to the Treasurer $125 in his possession, taking receipt therefor; also that the clerk immediately transfer all moneys to the Treasurer which he may receive for rent from the Chief Justice, and adjourned until to-morrow at 10 o'clock.

December 30. Board met as per adjournment. Full Board and clerk present. Bills of Supervisors for services, being legally audited, were allowed amounting to $109.

The Treasurer and tax-collector then made settlement to December 31, 1876, their accounts being found correct. The delinquent tax list, amounting to $2564.35, was then duly turned over to the Treasurer, duly certified and verified under oath, and the tax collector was relieved upon his bond. The Treasurer was ordered to refund $2.70 to the tax collector, taking proper credit.

It was ordered that following amounts be stricken from the delinquent list, viz: Zeckendorf Bros., $4000 and taxed at $90; Louisa Parra $100 and taxed at $2.25; Antonio Moreno, $125 and taxed at $2.81.

The district attorney was ordered to proceed legally against the owner or owners of 100 head of beef cattle branded D. S. on the hip, and which were not returned by the assessor on the tax roll and on which no taxes have been paid for 1876. Board adjourned without day.

The clerk was ordered to inform the sheriff of Pinal county that this county will take charge of one prisoner from Pinal county at the rate of $50 cash per month.

It was then ordered that the clerk notify all county officers that at the next quarterly meeting of the board, they must make a certified requisition for all articles needed by them for the ensuing quarter, and that unless such requisitions are made and confirmed by the board, accounts for purchases will not be approved or paid, but rejected as same.

M. O'REILLY who has dug more wells and done as much good in Pima county as any man in it, was in town last Tuesday. Mr. O'Reilly has started a brand new station at the Three Oaks some five miles south of Point of Mountain and three miles north of Croton Springs.

These he has made new and good roads east to junction with the old road to Bowie at a point some six miles this side of Ewell Springs, and a new road west to junction with the mail road to San Pedro. From San Pedro to O'Reilly's new station, which is called Central Springs station, is twenty-four miles. He has three springs of fine water, good accommodations for man and beast and says that travel and freight have already commenced to go by his place. Mr. O'Reilly has lately been prospecting in the Dos Cabezas mountains where he found and located several gold ledges and a silver ledge.

From one of the former, Mr. Briggs this week brought in a load of ore to take to the Ostrich mill to have worked. If after all his arduous labors Mr. O'Reilly meets with a bonanza in his mines and at his new station, he will get no more than his just deserts.

THE municipal election which came off on Tuesday last was a very quiet affair throughout, there being but one ticket in the field, and all the candidates thereon were naturally elected. We heard of no repeating and probably but little money changed hands. In fact the ticket was so good that no one opposed it and the following officers were elected:—Mayor, J. B. Allen; Councilmen, P. Drachman and J. S. Mansfield; Messrs. Leatherwood and Samuel Hughes, Sr., are the hold-over Councilmen; Assessor, George Foster; Treasurer, E. N. Fish; Marshal, A. G. Butner; Poundmaster, M. G. Gay.

M. MALONEY, at his ranch on the Sonora, lately killed a genuine panther. It had been picking out the best of his sheep, and Mr. Maloney, lying in wait, discovered, shot and wounded it. The beast retreated into the brush; Mr. Maloney followed and came upon it suddenly when the panther turned upon his pursuer. The latter struck the panther over the head with the stock of his gun and quickly dispatched the wild beast and set himself up in life as a mighty hunter. The panther yielded a large amount of fat.

THE first half yearly term, 1877, of the Public School commences next Monday. An increase of scholars is expected, the teachers, Mrs. Aguirre and Mr. Horton, are of the best and everything looks auspicious for our pet institution.

MANSFIELD has one of the finest pieces of inland work we ever set our eyes upon in the shape of a writing desk made by a genius of German nationality who lately came here from New Mexico,—we have not learned his name.

Railway Matters.

General Phineas Banning, a pioneer of Los Angeles county, and well and favorably known to the earlier settlers in Tucson, arrived by stage last Saturday. He comes as agent of the Southern Pacific railway in California to look after the interests of the company, and, as we believe, also for the interests of the people of Arizona. Following so close upon the visit of Mr. Rice, we can but conclude the Company contemplates an early rail connection to and through Arizona, and by the way take Tucson in. Gen. Banning is not authorized to settle the questions belonging to the engineering department, but he expresses a belief that the company's 324-parallel road will come through Tucson, and therefore asked the Village Council to grant title to certain land for depot and other purposes. Mayor Allen convened the Council at his residence on Wednesday evening, and invited the citizens generally to be present, to consider the subject, and many prominent citizens attended. After calling the Council to order and stating the object of the meeting, he introduced Gen. Banning in his representative capacity. The General briefly stated the object of his mission and offered to answer any questions put to him to the best of his knowledge. After some discussion, all being very strongly in favor of encouraging the Company, a vote was called for and every one present voted to approve the donation asked of the Council on behalf of the Southern Pacific road, which amounts to this, viz: Deed about 200 acres within the town limits to the Company on condition that the road be built and in good running order to or through Tucson within five years from the date of the conveyance, with a further proviso that within two years the Company must give a guarantee that the road will come through Tucson within five years, or release the land to the town. The meeting was very harmonious and its action entirely satisfactory to Gen. Banning, and the conveyance will be promptly made as stated. Our limited space prevents the full mention we would like to make of the proceedings.

MR. E. F. COLTON, who came in from Camp Bowie on Thursday, gives us the following Indian items: About the middle of last month, Lt. Rucker, Sixth Cavalry, was ordered by General Kautz on a scout in pursuit of some renegade Chiricahuas who had been committing depredations along our southern border and had lately driven off a number of horses belonging to Mr. Thomas Hughes, near Crittenden. Lt. Rucker at the time was already out on a scout but on receipt of the order repaired to Bowie and after fitting out his party left there with ten men of the Sixth Cavalry and some 40 Indian scouts. Reaching the vicinity of Crittenden he got the direction and soon found the cold trail of the Indians and stolen stock. With characteristic perseverance he followed this trail just where it led, over mountain, valley and canyon. He crossed the Huachuca, came into the White river country and beat up into the Steins Peak range, quite regardless of advantages of water or easy roads, and kept on as long as his supplies and allotted time to be out would allow. The trail led for a long distance northeasterly, then turned south or southeast, apparently to some old haunts of the Southern Chiricahuas. He found that the Indians gained in numbers and stock as they proceeded and at points had killed and eaten some of their animals.

He followed the trail over a hundred miles but he was so far behind that the most he could do, within his limit of supplies and time was to ascertain the probable locality of the Indians and return to Bowie for more men and fresh supplies. At the time Mr. Colton left Bowie Lt. Rucker had nearly and thoroughly refitted his new scout and would immediately start south and follow the trail wherever it led. And every one who knows him says he will do it.

A San Diego Union dispatch of December 29, from Washington, says there is no doubt that the late reported compromise between Scott and Huntington are correct. The plan proposed fixes the point of junction of the Texas Pacific and Southern Pacific roads at a point west of the Rio Grande, Scott to build from the Colorado to that point. A bill based upon this compromise and retaining the $100,000,000 subsidy will probably be prepared by the House Committee soon after the holidays.
