Tabernacle Cave.

A very interesting cave has been recently discovered on the west side of the Huachuca Mountains and about twenty miles from the military camp.

In addition to the reported resumption of work on the Grand Central mine, Tombstone, we learn that there is likely to be a vigorous prospecting of the Sidney.

Late work on the Rattlesnake, a claim lying to the eastward of the Contention lode, across the arroyo, has raised its value very much, in the eyes of owners and visitors.

GRAND JURIES often make good suggestions, even though they are seldom given effect.

Our Silver City neighbors have lately had a grand jury which recommended that Justices of the Peace keep a record of all deaths in their precinct and once a quarter report the same to the Probate Clerk.

THE Boston Economist combating the skepticism of the New York Times on the subject of mining enterprises incidentally remarks:

"Within the next five years, and possibly much less, Arizona and New Mexico will, in her estimation, come to the front with such a showing of mineral deposits as will put all others in the background."

THE Silver Belt says there will soon be a large shipment of first-class ore that will go from two to three dollars per pound to send to New York from the Silver Nugget mine, in Richmond Basin, and the ledge is cross-cut at forty feet, where it is ten feet wide and all pay ore.

Death of B. W. Reagan.

Following is from the Bulletin's Oakland items of July 28: B. W. Reagan, of Oakland, died yesterday afternoon from the effects of injuries received last Thursday afternoon...

Mr. Reagan was well known in Arizona.

He was an active, hopeful and liberal man. We met him but a few days ago in the enjoyment of health and in good spirits and expecting to visit Arizona this month.

It is proposed to send California fruits to English markets.

The success of the beef trade furnishes the inspiration.
