THE "OLD DOMINION."—The Silver Prince ledge has been traced into Bradshaw Basin, a distance of over three miles, and quite an excitement occurred there last week when the fact that an old locator, formerly known as the "Iron Clad," but which had only been prospected for gold by the original locators, was really an extension of the present Silver Prince, and that it is rich in silver. Dan Martin has given us a history of its original and present discoveries together with the names of the present locators and the order of their locations: Beginning at the Prince, Doc. Smith & Co. have the Black Warrior, McKennon, Opdike & Co. and Frank Shultz and Dud Moreland each have extensions, which was supposed to be the extent of the lead running south, until this late discovery, which they now call the "Old Dominion." Jim Fine & Co. have the extreme southern claim of 1,500 feet on what was, in old times, called the Lizzie. Then comes Gerge Zachie and D. Grab, running north 1,500 feet; then J. C. Otis and Orrick Jackson, 1,500 feet; Tom Waters, 1,500 feet; McKennon Bros., 1,500 feet; Frank Shultz, 1,500 feet; Buck, Bradshaw & Wilson, 1,500 feet; Jesse Jackson and ———— Donohue, 1,500 feet; and George Carr, 1,500. This runs it north to Dud Moreland's claim and forms the line between the Prince and Old Dominion. We may have missed a few locations in this enumeration, but this is as near correct as our informant can recollect. This showing covers a distance along the lode of over twenty thousand feet, and should it prove as good as the Prince all the way, it is the richest and most extensive mine in the world. This, however, is yet to be tested.

The lot of ore mentioned by us last week as being on the way in from the Silver Prince arrived before the paper was off the press. There were four tons and a half of it, and the following are the assays of six samples taken at random by the men while filling the sacks. The assays were made by Mr. Howard, and furnish to us by D. R. Houghtelin: $3,715.08; $991.20; $428.25; $630.40; $1,080.82; $944.20. The average, according to the above assays, which may of course be above or below the true value, is $1,386.33 per ton. When it comes to be sampled and assayed by the buyers, it is as likely to go over as under these figures. As no selections were made other than to take the rock as it happened to come. The total assay value of the 41.3 tons is $6,273.44.

THE SKULL VALLEY ROAD.—We interviewed Lieut. Thomas yesterday, and learned that the military road between here and Skull Valley will be finished to-morrow afternoon. He pronounces it the best mountain road in Arizona, and thinks when the people of the upper part of the Valley get a little used to it, and forget the disappointment of not having it run in by the upper route, they will think so. As there appears to be a difference of opinion with reference to the merits of the road, we propose to go and run our practiced eye over it one of these days and make a true report like a sworn commissary.

THE LOST MAIL.—Ben Baker, and the mail-carrier who was shot and had his horse killed last week, went out a few days ago to try to recover the mail, which the rider hid in the brush at the time he was shot. They found the dead horse, stripped of saddle, bridle, etc., but no trace of the mail. From the number of moose tracks in the vicinity Ben is convinced that the shooting was done by Indians who must have watched where the mail was hid and taken it. The only queer thing about it is that they didn't eat the horse.

SOUND THE LOUD TIMBREL.—That modern Moses, A. W. Callen, has successfully led his people from the Egypt of Kansas through the wilderness of Colorado and New Mexico to the Canaan of Arizona; more favored of the Lord than Moses of old who was only permitted to view the promised land from the top of Mount Sneh. Mr. Callen crossed the Mogollons and preceded his followers to Jericho, where, unlike Joshua, he made no war upon the people, nor Newmans' horns about the citadel, but assimilated with the Canaanites and made common cause with them in the development and building up of the country. Selah.

A letter received this morning from Chas. H. Wells, Supt. Arizona and N. M. Express Co., dated San Francisco, Oct. 25th, says he has abandoned the Caliente route and will start his stages from Whitewater in San Geronimo Pass, and run via Ehrenberg. He hopes to make the time to San Francisco in less than five days, but five at the furthest. F. W. Blake will be here by December 1st to take charge of the office.

Mr. Callen, general manager, and Daniel Mitchell, secretary of the Arizona Mining Association, called upon us yesterday. This is Mr. Mitchell's first trip into a mining country, and as yet he is quite unacquainted with the business but hopes to understand it better by and by. They both appear to be men of good business ability.

Francis Drake, late of Kansas, has purchased a lot, from J. M. Sanford, nearly opposite the corner of Dr. McChandless, on Montezuma street, and is preparing to erect a residence. He has also bought the Hill & McGill brick-yard from James Howie, and intends to go into the building business extensively.

Mrs. ENNA SMITH has received a fine stock of Fall millinery, velvet straw and felt hats of the latest shapes; a large and handsome stock of flowers, ribbons, laces and ornaments, with prices to suit all. Give her a call.

Look at the new advertisements. Hardy's Cuts; Kelly's Land Notice; Sale of Town Lots; Post Office Changes; Reward for Stolen Clock; Money and Thiel, and Dr. Bryan the Dentist.

THE BONANZA LUNCHEON HOUSE is now in full blast, at Lake & Co.'s Montezuma Saloon. Joe and Charley dish up fine lunches. Go there and see for yourself.

At the meeting of the Board of Supervisors, held Wednesday last, the resignation of A. O. Hayes as one of the Board was accepted, and Fred Williams duly appointed to fill the vacancy.

ARTION SALES.—There will be two auction sales to-morrow in front of the County building, one at 10 o'clock a. m., being the Bally Bueno property under execution, and another of Prescott town lots, commencing at 11 o'clock.

Sammy McKay and Dade Walker have located a coal seam and gone into the fuel business.

HEAD QUARTERS.—By which we mean the quarters of Parson Thos. H. Head, on the west side of Granite creek. We visited these quarters on Wednesday morning, and found Mr. Head, together with the carpenters, Wiley and Hughes, busy erecting a house for Parson Head 18x24, a story and a half high, with a one story ell 14x20, on the corner of McCormick and Willis streets. Near by the parson has built a residence which is not yet completed inside, where, for the present, he is living alone, but it is believed by the neighbors that these buildings are not merely built for show. One of the carpenters intimated that they were in the nature of a trap to catch a female immigrant, which may or may not be true. The parson is sly, says but little, and there is no knowing what he may have in contemplation.

We took a look at W. French's neat cottage, just across McCormick street from Mr. Head's. This is nearly ready to occupy and already has an air of comfort. Wiley & Hughes have built a carpenter shop on the next lot south of Head's residence where they make a specialty of sash, blinds and the like; addition to their present establishment, where they will put in machinery for making sash and blinds. This factory building will be 20x30 and also contracted to build a house on Gurley street, near McCormick, for Mr. Carpenter, the sheep man. The main building will be 23x24, with porches, additions, etc.

A little further up the creek, opposite Judge Fleury's mansion, Wiley & Casey, of the Clipper saw-mill, are establishing a lumber yard for the sale of lumber, shingles, etc., from their mill on the Hassayampa. Still further up the creek, and in the vicinity of McCormick and Goodwin streets, the colored man, Dave Harris, has erected a substantial and very comfortable looking cottage. We observed another new house near the creek, opposite Hathaway's old shop, but did not learn whose it was. "Fleuryville," is a name we hear applied to that side of the creek. Fleuryville, Head Quarters, West Prescott, or whatever name it may bear, does not effect the fact that it is growing with great rapidity, and is about the most pleasant suburb that belongs to Prescott.

Gabriel H. LaBerteu is building a nice cottage on Montezuma street, between the residences of Dan Thorne and E. S. Penwell. The remarks on Parson Head's ultimate designs will apply in this case.

The Callen party, from Junction City, Kansas, fled through town on Wednesday afternoon, and went into camp on the Creek above. The cavalcade made quite an imposing display as Mr. Callen, in his buggy, went ahead, followed by fourteen wagons drawn by oxen. Each wagon had the name of the maker, "Murphy, St. Louis," on the sides, giving them a uniform appearance. The cattle, though somewhat thin, are in fine condition considering the great distance they have traveled and the heavy loads they have drawn. The Association, formed in Kansas for the purpose of mining in Arizona, consists of fifty-two men, each of whom has paid in a certain sum to form a Company fund to be expended in the development and working of mines, and the copartnership is to last two years. These facts we gathered from Kansas papers at the time of their departure from Junction City. A. W. Callen, the leader of the enterprise, having been here two years ago, is posted on the resources of the country and, we understand, owns some valuable mining interests in the Bradshaw district.

Quite a number of families and others accompanied the Association who have no interest in the common property or partnership funds; these swelled the number of the party to over eighty. We understand that their outfit of clothing and staple groceries are considered ample to sustain them for the whole two years. We had a short interview with Mr. Callen, on Monday, and it successful, as he hopes to be, it is his purpose to bring out his family and make this his permanent home, and many of the Association will do likewise.

District Court adjourned on Saturday last, having got through with the business of the term very smoothly. Judge Tweed left on Tuesday for Cerbat to hold the regular November term there, accompanied by Judge Rush, Capt. Hargrave and John W. Leonard, Esq., members of the bar. U. S. Dist. Atty. Pomeroy has returned to Tucson, where duties pertaining to his office called him. In the matter of Hathaway vs. Colyer, in the Court here, a verdict was found for the plaintiff, and defendant is preparing his case for an appeal to the Supreme Court.

An injunction was granted in the case of the War Eagle Mining Co. vs. the Palmetto Company, to restrain the latter from working within three hundred feet of the ledge of the former. Frank Shultz was admitted to citizenship.

William Isaac, whose card appears in the MIXER to-day, was formerly a resident of Salinas City, California, where the local paper speaks of him as a man of superior attainments, and perfectly reliable in every respect. He has settled with his estimable family in Peoples (or Antelope) Valley, where, in addition to his farming operations he is ready to answer calls for Surveying and Civil Engineering, and guarantee the correctness of his work.

Mayor Luke has been on a trip to Bradshaw and the Peck series and brings encouraging news from the mines in those localities. The Peck company have struck a six-inch strata of high grade ore, similar to that on the surface, in their veins cut at the bottom of their 30-foot shaft. As this ore goes over $2,000 to the ton, a summer seam is of much importance, though they expect to do much better when they get in on a line with the main pay streak.

Edward Dupish, late of San Bernardino, has opened a barber shop in the Montezuma Saloon. He has the reputation of being an excellent artist in his line.

Mr. Lamberson, of Walnut Grove, advertises corn meal in any quantity and of excellent quality.

Brooke & Linn, at the Plaza Stable, keep not only fine but gentle buggy teams, one of which we had the pleasure of driving over the Opdyke grades, a few Sundays since. It is a pleasure to ride behind such a turn out.

GRAY P. FOSTER, who left here several months since to seek medical relief in San Francisco from a severe attack of the asthma, returned by Bones' stage a few days since, in apparent sound health.

We were informed by C. C. Beck and Mr. Alex. Anderson, yesterday, that the Peck company have decided to take out about twenty tons of high grade ore, which is now in sight, and make a shipment at once. In the meantime they will continue work in the shaft and cross cut.

Our Devil having been located in the Old Dominion, last week, thinks of taking a trip to the Holy Land in the Spring, to strew some Arizona flowers and drop a tear or two on the grave of Adam.

Jim Bones arrived with his stage from San Bernardino on Monday, with a large lot of fruit and the following passengers: G. P. Foster, Mr. McKenzie, Mr. Lockwood, Mr. Sampson, H. Donohue, Jas. Stevenson and Mr. McCrea.
