

"OLD ALFALFA," WHO DIDN'T WANT TOGA

Foster Dwight Coburn is another name for "Old Alfalfa." Foster Dwight Coburn rather astonished people when he declined the opportunity to take the seat in the senate relinquished by Joseph Burston. He gave as reason that he liked the work in which he was engaged very considerably better than mixing up with politics and politicians.

His work is that of state secretary of the board of agriculture, and incidentally proclaiming to the world at large the greatness, present and coming of the state of Kansas. "Old Alfalfa" believes heart and soul in Kansas, believes heart and soul in agriculture. Farmer and stockraiser himself, he has written voluminously on agricultural subjects and has done a great deal to promote agriculture—about 20 volumes have been published by the state of Kansas. Among the subjects dealt with by Mr. Coburn, are "Alfalfa," "Swine Husbandry," "The Beef Steer and His Sister," "Cow Culture," "The Plow, Cow and Steer," "The Modern Sheep," "The Horse Useful," "Cora and the Sorghums," "Pork Production," "Modern Dairying," "Railroads and Agriculture," "Agriculture and Home Making." For about six years he was editor of the Kansas City Live-Stock Indicator; has served several times as regent of the State Agricultural college, been president and vice president of the board of regents. At important fairs and expositions Mr. Coburn has been expert judge of livestock, was chief of the department of livestock at the Louisiana exposition. Many men struggle for a seat in the United States senate, Mr. Coburn is the rare instance of a man who had the senatorship thrust upon him. But other political honors had come his way and been rejected, and it seemed no difficult thing to let the latter go. "Old Alfalfa" might have been governor, congressman, secretary of the national department of agriculture, but he preferred residence in Kansas and direct labors with the Kansas farmer.

PRESIDENT GENERAL FEDERATION OF WOMEN'S CLUBS

Some persons considered Mrs. Decker a little too "advanced," a little too zealous in advocacy of woman suffrage and various "woman" questions, fitly to represent the large body of women included under the head of the General Federation of Women's Clubs; but when the time came for choice of the president for the federation Mrs. Decker was unanimously elected.

Mrs. Decker was re-elected, we should have said, which means previous administration must have been a success. She is described as a typical western woman, generous, broad-minded, of much common sense.

But, like many western folk, she was born back east. Holyoke, Mass., was her birthplace, she spent several years of her life on Long Island. Since 1887, she has lived in Denver. Mrs. Decker is a leading club woman of the country, has been president of the Colorado federation and has served both as vice president and president of the general federation. She is noted for her direct speech, her forceful way of presenting a subject, quite as much as for being an ardent suffragist.

Probably Mrs. Decker's reelection means, not that suffrage has become more popular among women, but that the president's popularity has proved so charming her popularity continues irrespective of positive views and utterances. For the newly elected president is reputed a woman also of such magnetism and charm, qualities that spell popularity.

ALEXANDER J. CASSATT

The Pennsylvania railroad system is a big system, Alexander J. Cassatt the biggest man that has been at the head of this system.

After a life-time devoted to railroad enterprises, on approaching the three-score-year-and-ten period, Mr. Cassatt suddenly finds himself brought up short by the suddenly-come-to-fashion "investigation" finds the air full of tales of big graft and petty graft in connection with officials and affairs of the road which stands at the head of the railway system of America. Not ours the place to enter into discussion of the graft charges, but to present a glimpse of the big railroad man.

A. J. Cassatt has absolute control over a railway system with 17,000 miles of tracks. President Cassatt is reported as being in closer touch with the details of this great system than any other railroad president with the particular system over which he is head. Frederick Boyd Stevenson, in a vivid presentation of the man and his accomplishments, says the minutia of every department of the vast system is an open book to the president of the Pennsylvania, and that 100,000 trained men do his bidding.

Mr. Cassatt has risen from an obscure position in railroad, but is not an instance of a very poor lad that has climbed to dizzy heights. His father was well-to-do, the son accompanied the father to Europe and for a while studied at Heidelberg. On his return home he took a course in the Polytechnic institute at Troy, and from that school was graduated as a civil engineer. After locating a railroad in Georgia he entered the employ of the Pennsylvania company as a rodman in the engineering department. He climbed steadily, in course of time we find him occupying the post of vice president, a position he unexpectedly resigned and for 17 years, though continuing as a director in the company, devoted himself to various outside interests, travel, the development of his great stock farm, to active outdoor life. But in 1890 he was persuaded to accept the presidency of the Pennsylvania railroad, and immediately set to work with tremendous energy and bold aggressiveness to make the system what it has become. To him belongs much of the credit of the magnificent Union station at Washington, the four-tracking of the main line of the Pennsylvania, the use of the river tunnels as means of entrance and exit at New York, the expenditures of vast sums in improving the roads. It was Cassatt that introduced the system of retiring an employe on a pension at the age of 70 years.

CHAIRMAN OF THE SENATE DEMOCRATIC CONFERENCE

When Senator Gorman, of Maryland, died the other day, all were asking who would take his place among the Democrats. We do not go so far as to say that Senator Blackburn is to take his place, but speak of the fact that Mr. Blackburn takes Mr. Gorman's place as chairman of the senate Democratic conference.

Senator Blackburn is a native of the state he represents in the senate, Kentucky; was born in Woodford county, Kentucky, 1838, is a graduate of Centre college, Danville. Mr. Blackburn studied law and practiced the profession of law in the city of Chicago until the civil war called him into the field. He served in the confederate army.

At the close of the war Mr. Blackburn returned to the practice of law, now making Kentucky his home. He also took an active interest in politics, and from 1871-5 was a member of the Kentucky legislature. The latter year he was sent to congress, for five terms served in the house of representatives. Since 1885 he has been a member of the United States senate.

Senator Blackburn is a staunch party man and has been prominent in the councils of his party for a number of years.

MAYOR EUGENE B. SCHMITZ

The mayor of San Francisco rose to his great emergency with great ability, and to-day far and wide are sung the praises of Mayor Schmitz. When the tremendous disaster befell the city by the Golden Gate, Mayor Schmitz proved himself a born leader; the municipal government in ruins, he immediately saw to the organization of a new government that should meet the needs of the distressed people, appointed a citizens' committee of 50, with ex-Mayor Phelan at its head; issued a proclamation directing the people as to precautions they must follow for the common safety, and warning that drastic measures would be taken with anyone caught in any outrage.

It was four years ago Eugene Schmitz came to public notice as a union labor mayor; the election to the mayor's seat of an active member of the labor unions, marking something new in the history of the great cities of the United States. This young man was without experience in political office, the opposition to the labor unions' candidate had waged war with much energy and bitterness.

The preceding summer in San Francisco had been marked by a most disastrous labor war, Eugene Schmitz' election was an emphatic labor victory.

The nomination of Eugene Schmitz came as a surprise, hitherto he had been practically unknown save as an enthusiastic member of the musicians' union, leader of the orchestra in a popular theater. He was elected over the lawyer-banker candidate of the Democrats and over the regular Republican nominee.

FACTS GUARANTEED

Neuralgia and Anemia are Cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

For nearly a generation the people of this country have known Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, during which time proof of thousands of cures by this remedy has been published and confirmed and not one person has been harmed in the slightest degree by their use. The pills contain no opiate, narcotic or stimulant, nor any drug which could injure the most delicate constitution.

"For over a year," says Miss Charlotte Van Salisbury, of Castleton, N.Y., "I suffered from neuralgia and palpitation of the heart. My brain was pale and salivary and I was troubled with dizziness, fainting spells and fits of indigestion. I was very nervous and would start at the slightest sound. At times a great weakness would come over me and on one occasion my limbs gave way under me and I fell to the sidewalk."

"Of course I was treated by our local physicians and also consulted a noted doctor at Albany, but nothing they gave me seemed to benefit me. One day I read in a newspaper about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People and I immediately gave them a trial. I soon felt much better and my color had begun to return. I continued using the pills and by the time I had taken eight boxes I was entirely cured."

"My sister, Sarah Van Salisbury, suffered terribly from anemia. She was pale and thin and we feared that she would become a victim of consumption. She tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People and in a short time she began to gain in strength and weight. She is now strong and well and we both heartily recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to all who are in ill health."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists or sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50, by Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N.Y. Descriptive pamphlets, free on request.

TORTURED WITH GRAVEL.

Since Using Doan's Kidney Pills, Not a Stone Has Formed.

Cap. S. L. Crute, Adj. Watts Camp, U. C. V., Roanoke, Va., says: "I suffered a long, long time with my back, and felt draggy and listless and all the time. I lost from my usual weight, 225, to 170. Urinary passages were too frequent and I had to get up often at night. I had headaches and dizzy spells also, but my worst suffering was from renal colic. After I began using Doan's Kidney Pills I passed a gravel stone as big as a bean. Since then I have never had an attack of gravel, and have picked up to my former health and weight. I am a well man, and give Doan's Kidney Pills credit for it."

A Frenchwoman was complaining to her husband that he was too much of a bookworm, that he retired too often to his study, leaving her to spend many evenings alone. "I wish," she ended, plaintively, "that I were a book. Then I might always have your company." "In that case, my dear," the Frenchman answered, "I'd wish you were an almanac. Then I could change you once a year."

"I hear you are contemplating matrimony, old man," said Green. "How about it?"

"It's a fact," replied Brown, "but the outcome of my contemplation depends on the widow's plight."

"How's that?" queried Green. "She might decide to marry me, and then on the other hand she might not," answered Brown.—Chicago Daily News.

Allen S. Olmsted Wins in Court—The Foot-Ease Trade-Mark Sustained.

Buffalo, N. Y.—The Supreme Court has granted a permanent injunction with costs against Paul B. Hudson and others of New York City, restraining them from making or selling a foot powder which the court declares is an imitation and infringement on "Foot-Ease," now so largely advertised and sold over the country. The owner of the trade-mark "Foot-Ease," is Allen S. Olmsted, of Le Roy, N. Y. and the decision of this suit upholds his trade-mark and renders all parties liable who fraudulently attempt to profit by the extensive "Foot-Ease" advertising, in placing on the market the spurious and similar appearing preparation involved in the case. This the court declares was designed in imitation and infringement of the genuine "Foot-Ease" trade-mark rights. Each package of the genuine Allen's Foot-Ease has the facsimile signature of Allen S. Olmsted on its yellow label.
