

ATTEND TO BURNS AT ONCE

Neglect Often Means That a Scar Is Left Which Means Permanent Blemish or Worse.

SMALL burns are too lightly regarded; though seemingly light, if they are not properly treated or if the blood is in bad condition they may fatally mar one's beauty.

A young girl dropped some hot fudge on the forefinger of her right hand. It did not pain very much, and after the preliminary scream little attention was paid to it.

The blister that was raised was allowed to break rather than be opened carefully with an antiseptic needle; poison got into it, the finger became infected and eventually had to be removed below the second joint.

Exclude air from any burn, however slight. This can be done in several ways. If no other remedy is at hand common kitchen soap applied in a thick paste helps remove pain.

Wrapping the burned place in a rag wet in baking soda or keeping it moist with witch hazel will quickly give relief, even to rather severe burns. A good proportion for the former is to use a heaping tablespoonful of the soda to a pint of water.

For deeper burns, that are yet not serious enough to call in a doctor, use oils. Carron oil is possibly the one most easily secured; indeed, a bottle of it should be kept convenient in the kitchen, where burnt fingers are prevalent.

This carron oil is nothing but equal parts of lime water and linseed oil, but it is most soothing and healing in its effect.

Do not neglect a burn as soon as the first sting is passed. Should there be the least sign of inflammation or of pus accumulating call in a doctor at once.

In case of bad burns it is sometimes necessary to wrap the victim in cotton to keep out all air. In such case the doctor would naturally be in charge.

VISITING COSTUME.

Satin is to retain their prestige throughout the autumn and winter, and manufacturers are launching several new varieties of this popular fabric. Satin directoire, marvelously soft and supple, is one of the best of these variations upon the satin theme, and is particularly designed to meet the demands of the clinging directoire models. This modish costume has a princess skirt of prune color cloth with satin casaque coat drawn slightly across front. As will be noticed, the sleeves are cut in one with fronts and backs. The braiding is done in self tone soutache and the buttons and gretlets are of black passementerie.

PROPER CARE OF THE NAILS

Adequate Attention Necessary for the Woman Who Would Have Her Hands Beautiful.

PRETTY nails are considered a great beauty. At the base there should be a white crescent, and the nails should be as rosy as the dawn. Beautiful nails are compared by the poets to onyx, and, in fact, in Greek onyx means nail. According to the mythological legend: "One day Love, finding Venus asleep, cut her nails with the iron point of his arrow and flew off. The clippings fell on the sands of the shore, and as nothing which comes from the body of an immortal can perish, the Fates carefully gathered them up and changed them into the quasi-precious stones which are called onyx."

The "art of manicuring" was originated by Stitts, who was Louis Philippe's pedicure. His descendants are still famous in France, and the Stitts method, which totally condemns the use of steel either under or around the nail, undoubtedly is the proper and scientific one. Madame Stitts says: "An orange-wood stick with a little French amandine will keep the nails perfectly smooth and clean underneath. Why roughen them with a piece of sharp steel or thicken them with an acid? And as for cutting and lacerating the cuticle around the outside of the nail, why, that was intended by nature as a selvage (lisiere), and if you cut it, you make it ragged just as you would the selvage on a bit of cloth. As well cut the border of the eyelid or ear."

The nails should be cut in a curve which follows the shape of the end of the finger. The surface of the nails should also be polished.

One hour a week spent in caring for the nails is sufficient to keep them in good order, if they are rubbed and cleaned carefully each day.

IN VOGUE

Fancy gilt and flowered ribbons are used as dally bag accessories.

The small three-cornered continental hat, or tricorne, revives among the straw shapes for spring.

It is a pretty fashion to add a frill of soft satin or very closely-plated chiffon to the lower edge of fur muffs. The soft Roman satins, woven with wool backs, are both lovely and economical, as they wear exceedingly well and need but little trimming.

The milliners are introducing flowers made of chiffon and in a more novel manner, though it is really quite old, composed of beads strung on fine wire.

Again flowers appear massed under the brim of the hat—a fashion not seen for some time. The brim is not turned up, but the flowers appear as if ready to fall off the under side.

Jet is lavishly used in millinery. The weight of these hats would be unendurable laden with ordinary jet, but the new jet is very light of weight. Large, heavy-looking cabochons of it weigh no more than a feather.

Persian Effects.

Persian effects are still good, and are conspicuous among the best members of trimming collections. One of the most charming classes of trimmings is the one in which the beadwork plays a large part. In these trimmings fine silk braids of exquisite weave furnish outlines and the beads a solid filling for the centers of motives and for borders. The loveliest greens, blues, rose colors, etc., are worked out in these braids and beads. The solid beadwork of to-day is not embroidered on a background, like Indian work, but is made in woven and strung patterns, the result of lighter effects.

WELL PLEASED WITH WESTERN CANADA.

GOOD CROPS, SPLENDID CLIMATE AND WELL ENFORCED LAWS.

Mr. George E. Hunter is a Maidstone, Saskatchewan (Central Canada), farmer, who writes to a Canadian Government Agent as follows:

"It was the first week in November, 1907, when we arrived here. There was very little snow or cold weather until after the holidays, then the snow and cold increased, but to no great extent. I think the coldest I heard of was 30 degrees below zero, but that degree of cold would not be felt here any more than 10 degrees below zero would be back home in Michigan, owing to the beautiful dry atmosphere of this country. There came a good thaw every month that settled the snow, the fields soon became bare, and on the 12th of April I commenced ploughing. The snow was then all gone and summer at hand. This last season was something more than an average year around here, with fine crops gathered from a large acreage. In parts the crops were less than average, but generally speaking they were above it. The price of wheat was quite good. Some fine yields sold at $1.10 per bushel, while some were marketed at much less, but hardly any went below about 60 cents a bushel.

"Oats started on the market at 35 cents a bushel, barley about 50 cents, and flax from 90 cents to $1.00 a bushel.

"As this was my first year in this country, it was a hard year for my horses, owing to their being eastern horses, and not used to the western climate, but they will soon get climacized.

"The soil on my farm is a black loam, about one foot in thickness, below that we find about six feet of clay, and below that again gravel and sand, with an abundance of excellent water. This was the condition of the ground as I found it when I dug a well. I can say that the water is as sweet and as free from alkali and impurities as I ever saw.

"My opinion is that the man who comes here with a little means can do no better than invest $500 or $1,000 in cattle, after locating a homestead adjoining or near some hilly part of the country where it will not be taken up as soon. There is plenty of grass and hay to be found in the hilly country and small lakes and sloughs will afford sufficient water for any amount of cattle. The bluffs with a few hay or straw sheds will make sufficient shelter for them. There is no need to worry about the market for cattle, as there is already a great call for stock of all kinds to satisfy the continued demands of the large packing house at Edmonton, established by Swift and Company.

"The dairy business should by no means be forgotten. It is one of the paying enterprises of this great west. The price of butter seldom goes below 25 cents and reaches as high as 40 cents a pound. Also the new creameries that are fast being erected along the lines of railroad are calling on the farmers for their cream.

"These creameries are greatly welcomed in all communities, because selling cream is better than making butter, even at an average price of 25 cents a pound. For a new country the railroad transportation facilities are good; not yet, of course, what they are in older countries, but the new lines are swiftly gaining as the country gets more settled and supplies them with produce to ship. It is hard to say too much in favor of this country. All one needs is a little money with grit and ambition. I have seen homesteads that were filed on a little over three years ago that the owners have refused $3,000 for.

"There is much more that can be said in favor of Western Canada, but I think my letter has been long enough."

A Substitute for Work.

"Physical culture, father, is perfectly lovely!" exclaimed an enthusiastic miss just home from college. "Look! To develop the arms I grasp this rod by one end and move it slowly from right to left."

"Well, well!" exclaimed the father; "what won't science discover! If that rod had straw at the other end of it you'd be sweeping."—Success Magazine.

For Memoranda

THERE are many ways in which our unused half sheets of rote paper may be utilized for making memoranda on, and our sketch shows a very handy little board, designed to answer this purpose. A stout piece of cardboard forms the foundation, and this is covered both back and front with dark green art linen and edged with a silk cord. On the left-hand side a pencil is attached by a fine silk cord, and there is a loop of ribbon at the top, by which the holder may be hung up by the side of the writing table or at some other suitable place. Through the upper part of the board two small holes are made, and through the upper part of the half-sheets of note paper two holes are pierced with a penknife, to correspond with the holes on the board. Through the holes in the paper and through the holes in the board, a fine silk cord can be passed and tied in a bow at the back of the holder, thus keeping the paper on the board firmly in its place.

A glance at the sketches will explain all this, and the sheets are easily torn off one by one after they have been used. A board of this kind is also very useful for shaving papers, and can be hung up by the side of the dressing table or over the post of the looking-glass.
