Cabinet Vetoes "More Daylight" Plan

WASHINGTON.—Father Time has scored another victory. President Taft and his cabinet, after mature deliberation, have decided not to encroach upon his prerogatives or question his right to run the clocks of the government. Whatever distress may have been caused the old man by the suggestion that the government could regulate its clocks and run them without regard to the rising and setting of the sun was removed the other day when the cabinet formally decided that it would not attempt to interfere with the well established routine of affairs.

The federal clocks will continue to tick out standard time and Father Time, with absolute confidence, can depend upon their accuracy.

The federal employe will not be required to set his alarm clock to commence work with the rising of the sun, nor will he be free to gambol on the green during the hours of early afternoon. His allotted toil will be performed during office hours which have long been established.

While it was generally admitted by the president and his advisers that the welfare of the clerks and the business interests of the government could be promoted so far as the volume of work was concerned, by regulating the hours of labor according to the rising of the sun, it was found that the plans which have been advanced by organized movements in Cincinnati and other western cities and are to receive parliamentary consideration in England are not feasible short of a revolution which would disturb banking and commercial conditions generally and be widespread in its effect upon the railroads.

Advantages to be derived by permitting government clerks all over the country to commence work in the cool hours of early morning during the summer season and discontinue labors in the early afternoon, with ample opportunity to enjoy the sunlight in daily afternoon vacations, appended to the president. However, in view of the fact that the government could not compel financial and commercial houses to adjust themselves to the proposed change, and the further consideration that the business of the post office department would be vitally affected, entailing a change of schedules upon all railroads, caused the administration to decide not to attempt to encroach upon the prerogatives of Father Time and for the present at least there will be no change in the daily routine of the government clerks.

Job for Widow to Aton for Injustice

TO try to atone for injustice done to her husband by the United States, President Taft has ordered the appointment of Mrs. Nina L. Carrington to a position in the civil service without an examination.

Mrs. Carrington is the widow of the late Maj. Frank del Carrington, at one time an officer in the Twenty-first United States Infantry. Maj. Carrington was convicted by a civil court in the Philippines on a charge of misappropriation of funds. He was sentenced under the Spanish code to penal servitude for a term of 60 years.

This sentence was nullified by a decision of the United States supreme court, and Maj. Carrington was released after he had served several months. He lived for some time in Manila after his release. At his death he was survived by a widow and two daughters.

Maj. Carrington came under the jurisdiction of the insular courts as a result of his transfer for temporary duty from the Twenty-first infantry to the command of a battalion of Filipino scouts. He commanded this battalion at the time it was brought to St. Louis in 1903, to take part in the exposition.

The charges against him were based on financial operations which took place at that time. Many of his brother officers insisted that the difficulties in which he became involved were the result of carelessness rather than criminal intent. The evidence against him, however, was sufficient to cause his court-martial and consequent dismissal from the army. His conviction by the courts of the islands was followed by imprisonment in Bilahid prison.

During his incarceration, Mrs. Carrington and her daughters, through the efforts of influential friends, secured positions in some of the government departments in Washington. The order issued by the president places the widow of the convicted officer in the classified service.

Gun Play of Legislator Wins a Post

HENRY H. DENHAM, the man who knows the difference between a pocket gun and a shoe-butcher, has become an elevator conductor in the senate office building at Washington. He is a product of Kentucky, and one of Senator Bradley's most valued constituents. This is the first permissum the senator has been able to postle from the tree, even with the longest kind of a pole, and it was handed right over to Mr. Denham. It is worth only $1,200 a year, but that beats nothing all hollow.

Mr. Denham was a member of the Kentucky assembly from the counties of Monroe and Metcalf. He was critically ill with pneumonia when the fight came to overthrow Gov. Beckham, the Democratic primary nominee for senator, and elect Mr. Bradley, and every day at noon Mr. Denham was carried over to the statehouse on a stretcher and voted for Mr. Bradley. The contest was still in full swing when Mr. Denham was able to be out. It had become the practice to arrange pairs, and but few members of the legislature attending the routine proceedings, all waiting for something definite to develop.

Capt. Longmeyer, sergeant-at-arms of the house, one day drew a gun, and made some observations regarding the iniquitous practice of pairing. Mr. Denham quietly but promptly pulled a weapon from his own pocket, and said:

"Capt. Longmeyer, whenever the firing begins, remember that I am paired with you."

Takes Active Part in Capital Affairs

MRS. JONATHAN P. DOLLIVER, wife of the senior senator from Iowa, whose recent attacks on the schedules of the Aldrich tariff bill in the interest of the "ultimate consumer" have caused more excitement than has the speech of any other senator, is, like her distinguished husband, well equipped mentally. She is a graduate of Wellesley college.

Before her marriage Mrs. Dolliver was Miss Louise Pearsons, and she held the chair of mathematics in Northwestern university at Evanston. She is a brilliant conversationalist, and the affairs which she gives at her home on Massachusetts avenue are regarded as treats by those fortunate enough to be invited.

Mrs. Dolliver cares little for the frivolities, but she entertains with the hospitality that is the secret of successful entertainment, and takes an active part in the serious affairs of the capital city. She is a prominent member of the Daughters of the American Revolution and has represented the state of Iowa in the continental congresses at the annual Washington meeting for years.

Mrs. Dolliver is essentially a home-loving woman. She superintends the education of her children and studies the public questions of the hour so that she can keep in touch with the interests of her husband, whose speeches in the senate are always attended by overflowing galleries. Not the least interested spectator at these times is Mrs. Dolliver, who understands as much of the present schedules and of "maximums and minimums" as does any woman in Washington.

BURDENS LIFTED From Bent Backs.

A bad back is a heavy handicap to those of us who have to work every day. Nine times out of ten, backache tells of kidney weakness. The only way to find relief is to cure the kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills have given sound strong backs to thousands of men and women. Mrs. Wesley Clemens, 311 Marion St., Manchester, Ia., says: "Constant work at a sewing machine seemed to bring on kidney trouble. The kidney action was irregular and the pains in my back and loins so severe I could hardly endure it. Doan's Kidney Pills made me feel better in a short time, and I took them until entirely free from my trouble."

Found a Cure in Cuticura.

"Our son, two years old, was afflicted with a rash. After he suffered with the trouble several weeks I took him to the doctor but it got worse. The rash ran together and made large blisters. The little fellow didn't want to do anything but scratch and we had to wrap his hands up to keep him from tearing the flesh open till the blood would run. The itching was intense. The skin on his back became hard and rough like the bark of a tree. He suffered intensely for about three months. But I found a remedy in Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. The result was almost magical. That was more than two years ago and there has not been the slightest symptom of it since he was cured. J. W. Lauck, Yukon, Okla., Aug. 28 and Sept. 17, 1908."

Obedience.

Prompt and unquestioning obedience is the corner stone of the foundation of success in life. No man can give orders properly who has not learned to take them, and "save he serve, no man may rule." It will be found that the men who have won their way to positions of power and responsibility have invariably been the men who did not reason or argue or even "respectfully represent," but who promptly did as they were commanded without questioning. It is the large man, not the little man, who recognizes a superior authority.

Well, What If He Didn't?

For many years Dr. Francis L. Patton, ex-president of Princeton university, wore side whiskers. Whenever he suggested shaving them there was a division of opinion in the family. One morning he came into his wife's room, razor in hand, with his right cheek shaved smooth.

"How do you like it, my dear?" he asked. "If you think it looks well, I will shave the other side, too."—Everybody's Magazine.

Laundry work at home would be much more satisfactory if the right Starch were used. In order to get the desired stiffness, it is usually necessary to use so much starch that the beauty and fineness of the fabric is hidden behind a paste of varying thickness, which not only destroys the appearance, but also affects the wearing quality of the goods. This trouble can be entirely overcome by using DeFiance Starch, as it can be applied much more thinly because of its greater strength than other makes.

Predatory Instincts.

The inherited predatory tendency of men to seize upon the fruits of other people's labor is still very strong, and while we have nothing more to fear from kings, we may yet have trouble enough from commercial monopolies and favored industries, marching to the polls their hordes of bribed retainers. Well, indeed, has it been said eternal vigilance is the price of liberty. God never meant that in this fair but treacherous world in which he has placed us we should earn salvation without steadfast labor.—John Fiske.

Sheer white goods, in fact, any fine wash goods when new, owe much of their attractiveness to the way they are laundered, this being done in a manner to enhance their textile beauty. Home laundering would be equally satisfactory if proper attention was given to starching, the first essential being good Starch, which has sufficient strength to stiffen, without thickening the goods. Try DeFiance Starch and you will be pleasantly surprised at the improved appearance of your work.

To Check Spread of Trachoma.

It has been reported that the disease known as trachoma, or granular eyelids, has been spreading rapidly among the Indians. To check this trouble congress appropriated $12,000, placing it in the hands of the commissioner of Indian affairs, for the immediate investigation and treatment of the disease and to check its spread.
