

THE STORM KING.

He Again Rides Rough-Shod Over the Country.

Rain and Wind in the Valleys, and Snow on the Hills—The Rivers Booming.

The farmers have ceased to pray for rain, and are beginning to experience some anxiety lest there should be too much for the good of their crops.

It was learned at the railroad offices last night that the storm raged all day on the Sierra Nevada yesterday along the line of the overland railroad, and snow fell as low down the mountains as Colfax.

The overland train due here this morning at 8:15 o'clock was reported two hours behind time east of Truckee, and this would cause it to arrive in Sacramento an hour or so late.

At the Summit yesterday the barometer reached the lowest point to which it has ever been known to descend. It registered 22.25.

The landslides on the Oregon road were all reported removed from the track yesterday, with the exception of the one near the Ninth Crossing of the Sacramento River, a short distance this side of Sims.

The crew which has been at work on the branch road between Knights Landing and Marysville, has cleared the debris from the side and help clear away the debris. They were working on the obstruction at midnight last night, and expected to have the track clear in short time.

The south-bound Oregon express, due here early yesterday morning, was waiting at Dunsmuir last night, and will probably arrive here about noon to-day.

This morning's south-bound train has encountered a landslide above Ashland, which may cause a detention of a day or more.

There will be no connection at Lathrop with the Los Angeles train for several days. A big washout has occurred in Soledad Canyon, and serious damage has been done to the track. Bridges have been washed away, and it is thought several days will be required repair the road.

The American river commenced to roll its extra volume of water into the Sacramento yesterday morning at 9 o'clock, and the latter stream rose steadily during the day.

The Signal Service reports last evening show a low, but rapidly-rising barometer. The lowest point reached in this city was 29.10 inches, at 8 p. m. on Sunday night, from which time it began rising, and read at 5 a. m. yesterday 29.31 inches, and at 5 p. m. of the same day, 29.45 inches.

The highest and lowest temperature during the storm was 54° and 44°, as against 45° and 32° on the same date last year. The highest and lowest one year ago were 48° and 36°, showing last year at this time to have been much colder than this year.

The total precipitation for this month has been 6.29 inches, which is almost one inch more than was measured during the month of February of last year.

The barometer at 5 p. m. last night read as follows for the Signal Service stations named: Olympia, 29.96 inches; Walla Walla, 29.46; Spokane Falls, 29.50; Fort Canby, 29.14; Portland, 29.24; Roseburg, 29.30; Red Bluff, 29.44; and Sacramento, 29.38 inches.

Judging from the barometrical readings and the direction of the wind, there appears to be another heavy storm approaching the land from off the ocean in the vicinity of Fort Canby. The temperature at 5 p. m. was for Olympia 34°, Portland 32°, Roseburg 32°, Walla Walla 32°, and Sacramento 30°, which is quite cool for 5 o'clock in the afternoon, and looks as though a cool wave might visit Central California to-morrow.

The precipitation for the twelve hours ending at 5 o'clock last evening was: For Olympia, .04 of an inch; Walla Walla, .06; Spokane Falls, .08; Fort Canby, .09; Portland, .08; Roseburg, .04; Red Bluff, .02; and Sacramento, .06 of an inch.

There was a very light rainfall during yesterday between the hours of 10 a. m. and 5 p. m. over the Pacific slope from Sacramento north to Olympia.

The highest wind velocity in this city yesterday was thirty miles per hour, from the south.

A press dispatch from Roseburg, Oregon, received late last night, says: "Southern Pacific train No. 16, which arrived last night from the north, was delayed here all day on account of slides at Roberts Hill, seven miles south of here. Bridge Superintendent Happerscott went out with a wrecking train and a large force of men, but did not get the track clear for trains till late this afternoon, then only by laying a temporary track around the slide."

Train No. 16 arrived from the south at 3:30 p. m.

A Winter Exhibit That Will Astonish Eastern Visitors.

The orange growers of Southern California are working enthusiastically in the matter of preparing for the State Citrus Fair, which is to be held at Los Angeles commencing on the 24 of next month.

In all the counties composing the southern citrus belt, committees have been appointed to collect and prepare exhibits of the citrus and other products of their localities, and the result will doubtless be the grandest winter exhibition ever held in the State.

The Northern California Citrus Fair, held at Marysville several weeks ago, was under the same auspices as will govern that of Southern California, and it was a revelation to all—even to the residents of this section of the State, who had not given their attention to the matter of citrus culture. The industry is but in its infancy here, but has already made wonderful advancement. In the southern counties it is the chief industry of the people, and therefore the State has achieved a national celebrity for its citrus products. Hence there is no reason why the coming fair should not be a grand one.

Special days for localities have been arranged as follows: Wednesday, March 4th, Ontario, Pomona, Spadra, Monte, Savannah, San Gabriel and Alhambra; Thursday, March 5th, Santa Barbara, Ventura, Newhall, San Fernando, Burbank, Glendale, Tropic and Redondo Beach; Friday, March 6th, San Diego, Santa Monica, Santa Pedro, and Long Beach; Saturday, March 7th, Riverside, Redlands, San Bernardino, Highlands, Beaumont and Banning; Monday, March 8th, Santa Ana, Orange, Tustin, Westminster and Anaheim; Tuesday, March 10th, Lodi, San Dimas, Glendora, Azusa, Covina, Pasadena, South Pasadena, San Gabriel, and San Marino; Wednesday, March 11th, Downey, Whittier, Norwalk, Artesia, Buena Park and Rivera. The railroad companies have made special reduced rates to Los Angeles from all points.

During the week of the fair the Pacific Coast Bankers' Association will meet in Los Angeles, and many members, who are many prominent capitalists, will visit the fair and inspect the fruit. A large number of exhibitors from the East are to arrive in the city during that week. A special excursion from San Francisco is planned.

The fair will be formally opened by Governor Markham, who will be present with his staff, accompanied by several State officers and a number of members of the legislature. A delegation from the Sacramento Board of Trade will also visit the fair.

The premium list for the fair presents a total of $2,000. A total of $470 is offered for raisins, in nine separate premiums. The sum of $235, in thirteen premiums, is offered for miscellaneous semi-tropic products, such as figs, dates, Lavulins, etc. The sum of $400 has been offered by the committee, in five premiums, for artistic excellence of display.

A large audience witnessed the opening performance of Goodyear, Elich & Schilling's Minstrels at the Metropolitan Theater last night. The troupe is a thoroughly good one; it gives a clean, wholesome and every way enjoyable musical and variety entertainment, with of course some old jokes and witticisms, as much that is new. The four Bentley Brothers constitute a fine quartet, and as soloists and ballad-singers, Schilling is a capital mimic and an eccentric low comedian of dry humor and provoking drollery. Elich, Edwards, and Edwards are excellent comedians, and give old-time plantation songs and acts with exceeding close approach to the real. Olyette, the French shadow-graphist, is a capital mimic and a clever juggler. The Leander Brothers are splendid athletes and give statuesque posings of high merit. Al Leech is a good dancer, a mimicalist and a good mimic, and is rich in satin, silk, gold lace and other flashings. The first part is set in the midst of heavy plash haughtings, damask curtains and a heavy scenery, and is something novel in such shows, and certainly cost the company a very large sum. The orchestration is especially good, and the choruses sing with satisfaction, though there are no exceptionally fine tenor or basso soloists, the baritone being the best leading voice.

The capital and the orchestra were generous and deserved. A final performance this evening, between 12 noon and 1 o'clock to-day the band of the company will give a street parade, and about 1 o'clock will give an open-air concert in front of the Metropolitan Theater.

The invitation "ladies' night," which was announced to take place at the rooms of the Sacramento Athletic Club Thursday evening, has been postponed for one week.

There will be an "orange" entertainment at the Metropolitan Theater this evening by the King's Daughters, to consist of music, tableaux, etc.

Slater, the medium, has, by reason of illness, been compelled to cancel his entire engagement for this city.

Sidney Eldred is confined to his room with la grippe.

There was war among the waiters last evening, and as a result three of them slept in the city jail last night, and another held down a cot in the Receiving Hospital, with a couple of gaping wounds on his body.

It appears that the party were holding a sort of revel in what is known as the Fountain Saloon, on the south side of K street, near Sixth, during which—according to the story of a bystander—a quarrel arose between Frank Kelly and a fellow-waiter named Thomas Sweeney.

While they were at it Dan Jacobs intervened in Sweeney's behalf, and urged him to punch Kelly. The latter then turned on Jacobs, but received a lefthander on the nose, and he groveled in the sawdust. There was no referee, and his right counted out, but getting on his pins again resumed the battle. Jacobs then grabbed a billiard cue and chased Kelly out upon the sidewalk, followed by the rest of the waiters.

There was further scuffling outside, and the commotion attracted the attention of the police. Officer John and another officer, who ran to the spot. As they did so Kelly ran out into the street, and returning dashed up stairs over the saloon, where he was arrested.

The officers first secured Jacobs, Sweeney and Dick Meyer, and found that Jacobs was bleeding from two bad knife-wounds, which he said Kelly had inflicted. The officers then went to Kelly's room and arrested him, and all the men were taken to the police station.

Jacobs had a gaping wound on his left forearm, near the elbow, received by warding off a knife-blow aimed at his right breast. The other wound was in his right thigh, about midway between the knee and hip, and had the appearance of being a deep laceration.

The only weapon found on Kelly was a large jack-knife, and he denied having used it on any other during the row. Kelly is the man who was arrested at the 9th of January for cutting one Peter Yost, alias "Arkansas Pete," but escaped being prosecuted because of the complaining witness leaving the city.

BALL AND BAT.

The Bay Mariners Trying to Bulldoze Sacramento.

A Hust that Will Hardly Work—Hustin and Peeples Wanted at Spokane Falls.

Manager Ginsberg, of the Sacramentos, notified the Secretary of the California League Saturday that he could not go to San Jose on Sunday last, and consequently there was no meeting of the directors there. The Call says the bay managers "do not propose to concede everything to the Sacramento people in the selection of the schedule." Manager Harris is reported to have said that if he could not reach an agreement with the manager of the Sacramentos, he would proceed immediately to organize a team at Los Angeles to supplant the Senators. This rumor is regarded in this city, however, as an attempt to frighten the manager into accepting any terms that Harris and Robinson may name. Mr. Ginsberg declares that it will be better for him to throw up the franchise than accept a schedule that the Oakland and San Francisco managers will propose.

DIAMOND SMALL TALK.

Jim McDonald, the ex-Oakland shortstop, will be given a benefit next Sunday at San Francisco by his friends in the baseball profession.

Concerning Will H. Young, whom the Record-Union mentioned as the probable official scorer this year, the Call says: "President Mone could not appoint a more efficient or popular scorer than Mr. Young."

A TEXAS HUSTLER.

The correspondent of an Eastern exchange has the following to say of Manager McCloskey, of the Sacramentos: "In his last number, the Call says that he is the greatest hustler that ever put a foot on Texas soil—a man that has done more for baseball than any man in the State, and he is not even for his own good and energy I doubt whether we would have ever seen professional ball played in this country, had it not been for him. He has been a hustler since he was a boy, and I think every fair-minded person will agree with me, he did perfectly right. The game on the California coast is a most disgraceful thing, and the schedule is played out, whereas here, I am sorry to say, it is quite different. When I say this I speak by the authority of one who has been in Sacramento, wired acceptance, and in less than a week his ticket and advance money were stuck away, and in less time than it takes to get a big-headed boy on his way to his new home, and may good luck follow him."

It appears that a dispute has arisen which may result in the withdrawal of pitcher Hustin and shortstop Peeples from the Sacramento Club. Manager Barnes, at the Sacramento, has, it is reported to be incensed over the departure from the north of Peeples and Hustin, whom he claims were reserved for this year.

The Spokane reporter last evening said: "The truth of the whole matter is probably this: The players were signed by McCloskey, who is a Texas man, with the understanding that if Manager Barnes of Spokane would Sacramento would release all claim. Manager Barnes has duly howled, so the players named will either play for Spokane next fall, or not at all. Manager John Barnes informed a reporter that McCloskey had signed Hustin, McQuirk and Peeples. He has reserved a letter to that effect, but will not play in Sacramento unless I say so," said Mr. Barnes.

Manager Ginsberg, when seen by a Record-Union reporter last evening said: "We won't need to pay much attention to Manager Barnes' attitude. He will admit that Peeples and Hustin, as well as several other players who have been signed to play ball in the California League this summer, were reserved by the club with which they played last year, but Manager Barnes must remember that he reserved Hustin and Peeples under promise that they would play for him. He has since broken that promise, and he has paid a certain salary. Since the season closed, however, he has written to both these players, stating that he could not afford to pay them for the next fall, and upon receipt of this information, they resolved to play ball where they could draw good pay, and were induced to sign with the Sacramento Club by Mr. McCloskey."

A GAMBLER'S SUPERSTITION.

He Smokes Good Cigars When Losing and Poor Ones When Winning.

There is a well-known story whose origin is standing in the gallery of Chestnut-street, Philadelphia, who has been particularly benefited among his brethren of chance by the brands of cigars he smokes, says the Philadelphia Ledger. If he wins heavily on the track, or at his friends' table, or by the roulette wheel of the vile tobacco in his smokers. If he is a loser, he smokes the brand of cigars which he has learned to smoke from the wreaths of a fragrant Havana. What induces the follower of the goddess chance to thus curiously denote his financial condition never could be learned until a week ago, when the quality of his cigar he smokes, says the Philadelphia Ledger. If he is a loser, he smokes the brand of cigars which he has learned to smoke from the wreaths of a fragrant Havana. What induces the follower of the goddess chance to thus curiously denote his financial condition never could be learned until a week ago, when the quality of his cigar he smokes, says the Philadelphia Ledger.
