

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES.

Frank Ruhstaller Accepts the Nomination for Third Trustee.

C. M. Harrison for City Auditor and J. M. Morrison for Fire Commissioner—Others Postponed.

The Democrats were unlike themselves last night at the convention. There was a lamentable absence of fire-and-brimstone speeches, points, order, questions of privilege and hotly-contested nominations.

Only twice during the evening did they rise above the semblance of an ordinary every-Sunday Bible-class meeting, and that was when a candidate was being selected for City Auditor, and when the name of Robert Hawley, the "Citizen's" nominee for Assessor, was proposed for endorsement.

And even on these occasions the excitement was short-lived. But, taken as a whole, the convention was one of the most decorous and orderly bodies that has transacted any political business in Sacramento in many a day, and everything as a rule appeared to be harmonious.

The Old Pavilion was well filled with delegates and spectators who, the time for convening arrived. The delegates' seats were thoughtfully arranged by wards in front of the rostrum, and this had much to do with facilitating the business of the convention.

BUSINESS COMMENCES. The convention was called to order by H. J. Kilgarriff at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Kilgarriff did not waste any time in speech making, but went right to work. He said the convention's first duty would be to elect a temporary Chairman.

John M. Sullivan placed Joseph W. Hughes in nomination for the position, and it was seconded by delegate Devine. There were no other nominations, and Mr. Hughes was elected by acclamation.

Mr. Hughes thanked the convention for the honor conferred upon him. He said the body had elected a temporary chairman, and Democratic bodies always performed their work well.

The Chairman then announced that the election of a temporary secretary would be in order.

M. J. Desmond was nominated for the position, and elected unanimously.

H. J. Kilgarriff moved that a committee of five be appointed by the Chair on credentials, order of business and permanent organization. The motion was carried.

J. M. Sullivan moved that a committee of five also be appointed on Platform and Resolutions, and this motion was also carried.

THE PLATFORM. After a short wait the Chairman announced the committees as follows: Permanent Organization, Credentials and Order of Business—H. J. Kilgarriff, W. A. Henry, J. W. Orth, P. Buckley and James Touley; Platform and Resolutions—J. M. Sullivan, E. S. Rogers, J. N. Payne, Joseph Hahn and Fred Cox.

At this juncture a recess of five minutes was taken in order that the committees might retire and prepare their reports.

When the convention reassembled, J. M. Sullivan, on behalf of the Committee on Platform and Resolutions, submitted the following report:

Resolved, That the Democrats of Sacramento City, in convention assembled, affirm the principles enunciated by the National Democratic Convention of 1880, and that we hereby pledge the nominees of this convention to administer the department of our municipal government with the greatest possible economy, and that our nominees will endeavor to reduce our city taxes to the lowest practicable limit.

The report of the committee was received with cheers, and was adopted unanimously.

The Committee on Credentials and Order of Business then submitted its report, which read as follows:

Your Committee on Permanent Organization, Credentials and Order of Business reports as follows:

First—That the temporary officers be declared the permanent officers of the convention.

Second—That the list of delegates as printed in the newspapers be the roll-call of the convention that precedes the adoption of the constitution.

Third—That the order of business be as follows: First, Chairman of the City Central Committee, to be elected by the convention; second, the selection of a committee of five from each ward, to be selected by their respective wards and ratified by the convention; third, nomination of Third Trustee; fourth, nomination of City Auditor; fifth, nomination of City Assessor; sixth, nomination of City Collector; seventh, nomination of Fire Commissioner; full term; eighth, nomination of Fire Commissioners for short term.

CITY CENTRAL COMMITTEE. In accordance with the recommendation of the Committee on Organization and Business, Chairman Hughes called for the election of the Chairman of the City Central Committee.

R. H. Singleton nominated H. J. Kilgarriff, and there were no other nominations, so Mr. Kilgarriff was declared the choice of the convention.

Another short recess was then taken, in order to give the delegates from the several wards an opportunity to agree upon the remaining members of the Central Committee.

When the convention reconvened the committee was agreed upon as follows: First Ward—M. J. Sullivan and J. M. Sullivan; Second Ward—R. H. Singleton and John W. Orth; Third Ward—Louis J. Nicolaus and George Hilbert; Fourth Ward—James Touley and Miles King.

And now Black moved that all nominees before the convention be requested to endorse the platform adopted by the convention. The motion was received with cheers and cries of "Good!" and it was unanimously adopted.

The Chairman then declared the next order of business to be the nomination of candidates for the office of Third Trustee.

Joseph Hahn placed in nomination Captain Frank Ruhstaller, and the proposal was received with cheers.

There were no further nominations, and Mr. Ruhstaller was nominated by a unanimous vote.

There were loud cries for Ruhstaller, and when that gentleman moved toward the platform he was cheered enthusiastically.

Mr. Ruhstaller spoke briefly. He said he had been importuned by his friends to take the nomination, and although he at first felt inclined to decline, his loyalty to the Democratic party asserted itself, and he accepted. He endorsed the platform and retired amid prolonged applause.

Nominations for City Auditor being next in order, R. D. Stephens took the floor and stated that he desired to place in nomination for the office a young gentleman who, he felt confident, would carry victory before him. He was young man who had been reared in Sacramento. He nominated Maurice H. Sheehan.

Fred Cox seconded the nomination of Mr. Sheehan.

W. A. Gett, Jr., in a neat speech nominated C. M. Harrison. He referred to Mr. Harrison as the friend of labor and the representative of labor. He was sure the Democrats would win with Mr. Harrison on their ticket.

Jerry Payne seconded the nomination of Mr. Harrison, and heartily endorsed the remarks of Mr. Gett.

The candidates were then called before the convention. Both heartily endorsed the platform and each stated that he felt confident that he would win on the ticket he would win on an election day.

The roll was then called and resulted as follows: Harrison 42, Sheehan 40.

Mr. Harrison was accordingly declared the choice of the convention.

On motion of R. D. Stephens, Mr. Harrison's nomination was made unanimous.

Nominations for the office of City Assessor were declared the next order of business.

CLOUDS GATHER. Fred Cox took the floor, and after a few colloquistic remarks, placed in nomination Robert Hawley, the "Citizen's" candidate.

Andrew Black jumped up and said: "Mr. Chairman, I have a resolution on the table that will dispose of that matter. This convention has adopted it."

The Chair ruled that the nomination would have to be postponed.

Mr. Black then moved that the duty of nominating a candidate for City Assessor be referred to the City Central Committee.

The motion was quickly seconded, but before it could be put delegate Harding from the Fourth Ward got the floor, and opposed the motion vigorously. He said Mr. Hawley was as good a Democrat as any of the delegates present, and the fact that he was a Democrat was not a recommendation of his fitness for the office. Mr. Hawley, he said, was a young man for whom the vote would be cast, and he would be an honor both to the city and the Democratic party.

Mr. Sullivan raised a point of order and Mr. Harding was not permitted to make his remarks to the motion that was pending.

Harding insisted upon talking, and also made a point of order, saying that he would be glad to have the convention endorse the principles of the Democratic party.

"Let us hear from this young man," cried Mr. Gett, "give him a chance to say something for himself, and we can soon tell if he is right or not. We don't have to nominate everybody who is proposed here to-night unless we see fit to do so."

"Hawley! Hawley! Speech!" came from all parts of the hall.

But in the midst of their voices answered, Mr. Hawley was nowhere to be found. That settled it.

Chairman Hughes stated that he would rule that a motion to refer to the City Central Committee was in order at all times. A vote was taken and the motion was carried.

The next order of business will be the nomination of candidates for City Collector," shouted Chairman Hughes.

Delegate Devine moved to refer again, and moved that this nomination be also referred to the City Central Committee. It sounded something like sarcasm. But the motion was seconded, just the same, and was carried before Mr. Harding could get back into his chair.

THE CHAIRMAN. The chairman then called for nominations for Fire Commissioners. Long term.

Delegate Harding popped up again and nominated John Weil, but as Mr. Weil was not in the hall, and could not, therefore, endorse the platform, the nomination was declared out of order.

After some talk this nomination was also referred to the City Central Committee.

Nominations for the short term Fire Commissioner did not go the same way. Delegate Devine, from the Third, after an enthusiastic speech, placed in nomination J. M. Morrison. There were no other nominations. Mr. Morrison appeared before the convention, and endorsed the platform, and then he declared the unanimous choice of the convention.

This finished the business, and the convention adjourned sine die.

The City Central Committee will meet to-morrow and complete the ticket.

SPORTING NOTES.

A Celebrated Bicycle Rider in Town—Edwin Conners.

D. J. Canary, who is known throughout the United States and Europe as the cleverest of fancy bicycle riders, and who holds the American championship for that specialty, arrived in Sacramento yesterday, and will remain here a few days.

For ten years or more Mr. Canary has given his marvelous exhibitions on both continents, and won fame and dollars for himself. But late in the afternoon he has attracted much attention to his profession, as he is traveling for an Eastern bicycle-manufacturing establishment. Mr. Canary is the individual who created a sensation in Washington last year by riding on a bicycle down the immense flight of stairs leading up to the National Capitol.

He stated last night that he felt considerably disappointed at not finding a big flight of steps connected with California's Capitol building, as he was desirous of keeping himself in practice.

As he has already been in the city, arrangements have been completed for a glove contest between Charles Turner, the famous colored boxer of Stockton, and Willie Brown, the local glory champion. It was decided yesterday to have the contest take place next Wednesday evening at the Grand Opera House.

There is no doubt but that the contest will be a good one. Hall has been defeated once by Turner, but that was when the latter was a scientific pugilist, and he is at present. Even in that contest it took Turner twenty-one rounds of hard battle to quiet the local man.

Another boxing match is also on the tapis. It will be between McAuley and Bishop, the middle-weights, and will take place shortly after the Turner-Hall affair.

PLAYING TAN.

The Penalty Imposed Upon a Chit, aman by the Police Judge.

Judge Craven fined King Gaw $40 in the Police Court yesterday, for conducting a tan game on I street.

James Kernan, charged with disturbing the peace, forfeited a deposit of $25 rather than stand trial.

The cases of Al. Charley, Miss Johnston and Dan Cummings, charged with being vagrants, were continued until today.

Frank Kelly, Thomas Sweeney and Robert Meyer were tried by a jury, on a charge of disturbing the peace. Kelly was found guilty and the other defendants were discharged.

The case of J. H. Rogan charged with stealing a pair of diamond earrings from Kittle Crowley, was partly examined yesterday and the further hearing was postponed until today.

Had Lived a Hundred Years.

Estevan Rubio, the aged Mexican who was killed on the railroad a few days since, was, it appears, a centenarian. A gentleman who had known him for many years states that the deceased was 103 years of age, and a native of Sinaloa, Mexico. He was a man of the most kindly nature, and held in high esteem by the Mexicans residing here.

Sent to Stockton.

The physician who examined Thomas Baltz, alias English, the young man who shot Joseph Morrow, his step-father, near Elk Grove several weeks ago, held another conference yesterday with Superior Judge Catlin, and it was decided to send Baltz to an asylum for the insane.

Judge Catlin made out the commitment for Stockton.

Country House Robbed.

The house of Fred Heiderick, on the south end of the American River bridge, was entered by thieves Thursday. They stole two shotguns, two pairs of blankets and a few other articles. Entrance to the house was effected by breaking open a door.

Resignation Accepted.

The resignation of Lieutenant-Colonel Frank McLaughlin, of Oroville, as Aide-Camp on the staff of Governor Markham, has been accepted. His successor will be appointed shortly.

FATALLY WOUNDED.

A Little Boy is Shot in the Head and Fatally Injured.

A Sad Affair, that Should be a Lesson to All Who Carelessly Handle Firearms.

Ylopa Sesma, the little son of Ramon Sesma, a Spaniard who gains a livelihood for his family by doing laboring work whenever he can secure employment, was brought to the Receiving Hospital yesterday afternoon with a bullet in his brain.

Reports as to how the little fellow was shot differ, some claiming that it was done accidentally, and others believing that it was intentional on the part of the boy who was with the Sesma lad when the affair happened. The former story, however, would seem to be the more plausible, since both boys were friends, and in the habit of rambling about together.

HOW IT HAPPENED. Ylopa Sesma lives with his parents on Fourteenth and V streets and is eleven years old. He was playing on V street yesterday afternoon about half-past four o'clock, when a playmate named Cyrus Meyers, a lad 13 years of age, came along. The Meyers boy had a cheap pistol in his hand, and said he was trying to shoot some of the mud-dirt in the gutter near that vicinity. The boys talked together for a few moments when (according to reports) Cyrus handed Ylopa a live bullet weapon to the Sesma boy. The latter was about to catch hold of it, when the pistol was discharged and the bullet struck him in the middle of the forehead, ranging straight back and lodging in the brain at the back of the head.

PROBABLY FATALLY INJURED. The City Physician was summoned as soon as the boy arrived at the Receiving Hospital.

The wound was examined and two or three pieces of bone were taken from the brain, but the bullet was not recovered. The little fellow was unconscious from the time he was shot, and at last accounts he cannot possibly recover, and his death was momentarily expected early this morning.

It is said that an eye-witness to the affair claims that the Meyers boy deliberately stood off from his companion and fired at him. There was no powder marks on the Sesma lad's face, and this story may possibly be true.

When officer Wagner went out to the home of the boy who did the shooting, he was refused admittance at first, but finally persuaded the family to open the door. Young Meyers was taken to the police station and locked up in one of the cells.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Metropolitan Theater was crowded last night in every part and so much so that the ordinance forbidding seats in the aisles was ignored. Corinne was the attraction.

She is a young, not unattractive and very capable dramatic actress. She is not yet fully matured. Five years added to her age will lighten her stature, strengthen her voice and give maturity to her acting. It is to be regretted that young Corinne has everything to be proud of in her achievements. She is now the one of the most winning dancers on the stage. Last night she played a burlesque on "Armen," had a Spanish ballet, and gave them with an abandon, grace and spirit altogether satisfying. She was modest withal; there was nothing whatever of the suggestive in her dancing. It was the poetry of motion, involving the supple and graceful movement of the whole body as well as the feet and limbs. Her dancing is an offense none, because they are the symmetrical attitudes one can fancy a free child of nature in the dances of Spain. If for nothing else, her dancing, Corinne is very successful in her entertainment. Her voice, as yet immature, is contralto in quality, and has a mezzo. She does very well with it for one so young, and if it is not strongly musical it is full of feeling, and she wisely does not attempt to overact it, but the auditor is not made uncomfortable by efforts beyond natural powers. There is dramatic ability in the young woman, and flashes of it were manifest in her rendition of jealous anger, and the threat of hot-tempered love to the object of its devotion. But they were only flashes, for the piece called for a more sustained effort. Corinne costumed handsomely, and with charming taste. To the audience she is expected something of the faro-comedy and oddity display business from Corinne she will not be satisfactory. To those who look with pleasure upon the development of young artists, and discern its possibilities Corinne is pleasing. Her company is an excellent one. No troupe has put upon the stage here such an array of talents and gifted women in chorus. The men are up to a good standard also, and both men and women sing with a lung strength that is surprising, and yet we included a few evidently laggards find no place in Mrs. Kimball's corps. The people of her troupe are entitled to praise, earnest and unstinted. Meritally the burlesque is a clever singing travesty upon Bizet's popular opera. The humor is rather heavy and the wit not pungent, but it is clever. What saves it from dragging and gives it snap and "go" is the troupe that handles it, and notably the fine burlesque of the "The Three Kings" of four, and the tenor of three, with the provoking low comedy work of Charles Postelle, nesting in the burlesque, and "The Smugglers" of Jas. Sturges and Tony Williams. Postelle is indubitable in his imitation of famous dancers, and a fine burlesque as well. Sturges and Williams are rich in low comedy without buffoonery. The scenery shown was all neat and handsome, and the costumes of the burlesque were dainty and at times, and always handsome. To-night "Monte Cristo," which with Corinne in a boy's part, in which we fancy, she will appear to excellent advantage, will be presented.

Miss Nina V. Lyon, announced as "the gifted child soprano" will give a concert at the Congregational Church Monday evening next, March 2d, assisted by the following well-known artists from San Francisco: Mme. Billoni Zifferer, Prima Donna; Mr. A. Herold Kayton, Violinist; Srer. Sigismund Martinez, Pianist. Tickets are for sale at Houghton's book store and Jelly's jewelry store. Nina Lyon will be remembered as the daughter of George V. Lyon, formerly of this city—we believe she was born here. When a very little child she appeared in this city in local entertainments and was noted by the musical society. After her family removed to San Francisco a short time ago, she was put under musical tutors who have been so pleased with her native talents that they propose to send her to Europe to complete her musical education if she will give them her services for three years in repayment. Her parents have declined the offer and will themselves forward the finishing of her education. She is represented by competent judges to possess extraordinary powers as a singer. Her concert here and elsewhere are given to realize funds to enable her parents to place her under the best instructors abroad.

The wind-up of the skating season takes place this evening at the rink, and the management has completed all arrangements for making the event one to be long remembered by lovers of the sport. A number of amusing and interesting novelties will be introduced, and during the evening concert music will be rendered by an excellent band. There will be half-mile and one-mile races between local and imported professional skaters, and one of these "laughable" "potato races" is also promised, besides other features.

The box-sheet for the "Ole Olon" engagement will open at the Metropolitan Theater this morning.

THE WEATHER.

Progress of the New Storm as Watched by the Signal Service.

The Signal Service reports show the rainfall in this city last evening up to 7 o'clock to have been .20 of an inch, making for the month 5.57 inches, and for the season 10.54 inches, no amount 27.67 up to the first day of March last year.

The highest and lowest temperature yesterday was 62° and 48°, being the warmest day this year, at the same time it was cold and snow falling at Redding.

The Signal Service reports as received at 5 P. M. yesterday, show the forecast to be lowest in Oregon and highest in California. Clear to cloudy weather prevailing in Oregon, and stormy weather with light rain in California.

The temperature, wind and weather at 5 P. M. yesterday was for Olympia 42°, Portland 48°, Seattle 48°, Walla Walla 20°, south and cloudy; Spokane Falls, 26°, south and clear; Fort Canby, 44°, south and clear; Portland, 30°, east and clear; Roseburg, 40°, south and cloudy; Red Bluff, 44°, northwest and raining; Sacramento, 68°, southeast and raining.

There is by the above report a cold wave in Oregon and the extreme portion of Northern California.

According to reports received at the railroad office in this city last night, a very light rain-storm was prevailing on the Sierra Nevada. Very little snow fell during the day, and it rained even at the highest altitudes. There was no wind. Both the Central Pacific and Oregon roads were clear, but the west-bound overland due here this morning at 8:15 o'clock was reported to be delayed by the east-bound Truckee. The Oregon express will arrive on time.

This afternoon a special train, carrying passengers who were unable to reach San Francisco by the Atlantic and Pacific route on account of the washouts, will pass through this city from Ogden.

BANQUETING NATIVES.

Sacramento Parlor Visited by Grand Trustee Hogan.

Henry Hogan of Napa, Grand Trustee of the Native Sons of the Golden West, paid an official visit to Sacramento Parlor last evening and was given a royal reception.

There was a large attendance of the members of Sacramento Parlor and also many from the other local parlors. After the formal exercises had been gone through with in the lodge-room, the company adjourned to the banquet-room, where a sumptuous repast was indulged in.

J. E. M. Bronner presided at the head of the table.

When the black coffee and cigars arrived, toasts were proposed and responded to as follows: "The Order," Grand Trustee Hogan; "The Pioneers," W. A. Gett; "The Munchers," J. Giamalli; "Our Wives," M. Henderson, Jr.; "The Ladies," Robert DeWitt; "Our Parlor," C. A. Root; "Our Mothers," Eugene J. Gregory; "The Grand Father," Mrs. J. E. M. Bronner; "The Physicists," Dr. Fowler.

The second trial of Daniel Gardner, charged with criminal assault, has been continued to the 28th.

John Hogan, who lives at Ninth and M streets, reports having been robbed of a watch.

The suit of Victor Williams vs. John Sullivan and others, has been dismissed in the Superior Court on motion of the plaintiff.
