

WILL IN MYSTERY.

No Light Yet Shed Upon the Contents of the Basket.

The Joint Legislative Committee Hears Testimony, But the Paper Scraps Not Opened.

The joint committee of the Senate and Assembly appointed to investigate the matter of certain scraps of paper found in a waste-basket in the State Library, which were reported to contain evidences of transactions supposed to implicate members of the Assembly in some way damaging to their standing as members of that body, met last evening.

Chairman Voorhies called the committee to order and explained the purpose of the meeting.

Assemblyman Dibble asked the committee to permit E. F. Saloman to represent him, as he desired to attend the session of the Assembly.

The request was granted, and Colonel J. P. Jackson was permitted to represent Hon. C. N. Felton. F. M. Stone appeared as representative for Mr. H. De Young, and John S. Davis appeared on behalf of G. G. Blanchard.

Chairman Voorhies said the particular duty of the committee would be to arrange for the opening of the scraps of paper, and that their contents might be readable.

Attorney-General Hart appeared with the papers sealed in a package. He said the papers were delivered to him by a committee of citizens, including Senators and Assemblymen. The papers had been carefully sealed, and were now laid before the committee in the shape in which they were given to him.

He considered that he would not have done his duty had he allowed any person to examine or handle the papers before delivering them to a properly constituted committee of the Senate and Assembly. So far as he was concerned, he believed, no one does he now, that either Mr. Felton or Mr. De Young had used money, or authorized its use, in his behalf, and that he was not a party to the same as a prosecuting witness in this matter.

THE MYSTERIOUS PACKAGE. During all this time the mysterious package of scraps remained sealed on the table before the committee, and several persons remarked, solito voce, that perhaps the testimony taken might prove to have been useless when the contents were made known.

The committee decided, when Mr. Estee had finished his testimony, to open the package. When this was done a number of sealed envelopes were found within, with a memorandum showing the names of the persons who had sealed the package, and the names of Senators Heacock and Preston, Assemblymen Burt and McCall, Speaker Coombs, Colonel D. M. Burns, Mr. M. Estee and Attorney-General Hart.

It was suggested by some member of the committee that the envelopes be not opened until morning, which suggestion Mr. Saloman combated, claiming that it was only just to Judge Dibble and Mr. Marion that the contents be made known at once, as their names had been used in connection with the affair in a way to reflect upon their integrity.

Attorney-General Hart stated to the committee that the contents contained probably two hundred scraps of paper, and it would be a difficult matter, under the most favorable conditions, to match and paste together so that they could be read. The committee surely could not do it then and there, and he advised that the work be put off until morning.

The scraps were finally adopted, and the committee adjourned until 8:30 o'clock this morning.

DISSATISFIED HARNESS-MAKERS. An Alleged Reduction of Pay Causes the Trouble. There is trouble brewing between the harness and saddle-makers employed by A. A. Van Voorhies, and their employer.

According to the statement of one of the employees of the establishment, the men were lately told that they would be paid by piece work, instead of receiving a regular salary, and they made no objection, but a few days ago they received another reduction in the price of piece-work, which they did not think was proper.

Of the seventy-five harness-makers, about fifteen have quit work, and five of the fifteen saddle-makers have refused to labor at the reduced rates. Others are threatening to leave, and to-night there will be a meeting by the harness-makers for the purpose of forming a union. A general strike may be the result.

NOT COLLAPSED. Mr. Felton Says the Works at Carbonado are All Right.

The statement that the Carbonado enterprise had collapsed has considerably exercised the stockholders, most of whom are Sacramentoans.

"There is no truth whatever in the assertion," said W. R. Felton to a Record-Union reporter last night. "Now I think I can explain how this story came to get out. The old Carbonado Coal, Brick and Sewer-pipe Company, through mismanagement, got into some trouble. A new company was organized the first of the year under the name of the Carbonado Coal, Lumber and Improvement Company, and this company took charge of the plant and paid off all the old corporation's liabilities. It is now in a flourishing condition at Sacramento and will find out when it begins to reap the benefits pretty soon."

BRIEF NOTES. The river marked 20 feet 2 inches yesterday afternoon.

There will be an "owl" party at Y. M. I. Hall to-morrow evening.

An orange special of ten cars went East yesterday over the Central Pacific road.

The Ladies Relief Corps give a casearone party at Granger's Hall this evening, and it promises to be a very novel affair.

Morrisey and Mulholland. To-night at the Clunie Opera House the much-talked-of glove contest between James Morrisey, of this city, and George Mulholland, of Australia, takes place. Both are light-weights, and are very evenly matched as regards skill, reach, etc. Morrisey has defeated all comers in his class in Sacramento, while Mulholland has made a good record both in Australia and this country. It is understood that both men are after the large end of the purse, and an unusually good contest will no doubt be the result.

Democratic Caucuses. There was a joint caucus of the Democratic members of the Legislature last evening to consider the course to be pursued by them in the future of the Senatorial contest. It is said that several propositions were suggested and debated, but that no conclusion was arrived at, and another caucus will be held to-day. The Democrats say they are getting tired.

To Have a Deputyship. It is said that E. W. Maslin, late Secretary to the State Board of Equalization, will soon be appointed to a deputyship in the State Library.

Something About the Reorganized Undine Boat Club.

Reminiscences of Olden Times—Getting Ready for the Racing Season—A New Boat-House.

About ten years ago the Undine Boat Club of this city was reorganized as the foremost society and athletic organization in Sacramento, and its members were composed of the aristocracy of the town.

The club had its boats and boat-house on the river and many a merry hour was spent in the enjoyable and healthful sport of rowing. Afternoons in spring and summer and moonlight evenings found scores of young ladies and gentlemen gathered on the river bank watching the shells and barges race up and down the stream amid the songs of the merry crews.

But after a time, for some unexplained reason, the interest began to die out, and the boats were seldom launched from the house, and finally the club was almost entirely forgotten.

The boat-house at the foot of I street collapsed several months ago, and the news of its wreck seemed to rally on the members of the club.

RECALL PLEASANT MEMORIES. And to arouse the old-time interest. The members began to recite the exploits and adventures they used to indulge in when the club was in the prime of its life.

By invitation of one of the club members a Record-Union reporter visited the club yesterday where the apparatus is kept, and was shown the various boats. The largest of the club is a plunger presented by W. A. Anderson, J. J. Keegan, J. D. Young and other gentlemen, who used it as a pleasure boat.

It is 35 feet in length and 21 feet in width. The lap-stroke barge and pleasure boat is in good condition, and is painted in the colors of the club, blue and white.

THE OLD "UNDINE." The barge "Undine" is moored in the river and will be overhauled. It can seat ten rowers and nearly as many more persons in the bow and stern.

Besides these, the club has a canvas canoe and some single and double wherries and shells, all in excellent condition. One of the shells is a narrow, flat boat and one and a half foot long.

About thirty oars, straight and spoon-shaped, are also the property of the club. The members of the club intend to use the boats whenever they choose, and many take advantage of the opportunity on holidays and Sunday afternoons.

The club was formed by the next Fourth of July, and endeavor to induce the Celebration Committee to offer prizes for a regatta. The Stockton and San Francisco clubs will no doubt be willing to contest in some of the races.

CLUB OF FIFTY. Turner Hall was never so prettily decorated as it was last evening, the occasion being the closing party of the Club of Fifty.

The decorations were of Japanese style and most artistically arranged about the hall. There were banners, lanterns, fans, parasols and other designs so placed as to appear to the best advantage and to give a most pleasing effect.

The benches around the hall were removed, and the floor was carpeted with hoisted sofas, reclining and rocking chairs. Colored globes surrounded the electric lights and illumined the hall with a faint red glow.

The musicians, eight in number, were hidden from view in a lower of palms, evergreens and potted plants, and altogether the scene was enchanting.

Ten dances, given every other Wednesday evening, constituted the season of the club, which lasted until last evening was the last. The floor director was Gravelle C. Freeman, and the managers were H. Devin, Fred F. Broich, L. E. C. Jordan and John C. Ing.

The program of the evening was presented by: Misses Grace Hatch, Jennie B. Conn, Florence Barnett, Lena Davis, Ella Davis, Katie McQuinn, Mabel Lyon, Martha Jones, Mrs. A. Gilkey, Annie R. As stated in these columns several days ago, the woman was turned out of the shelter she had been living in because of non-payment of rent. She is not a fit guardian for the children, and Police Captain Lee stated last night that an effort would be made to have the little ones cared for at the orphan asylum.
