

THIRTY YEARS AGO.

An Incident of the Cholera Scourge in the Year 1850.

The War Spirit Raging All Over the Country—Patriotism of a Sacramento Miss.

Allison Ballard, now a wealthy citizen of Chicago and a member of the Association of Forty-niners of that city, was one of the early gold seekers in California. In a recent letter to the Placerville Democrat he relates some of his experiences in the vicinity of Sacramento during the cholera epidemic of 1850, which was quite interesting. After detailing his ups and downs in the mines of El Dorado, he says:

My partner's health failing him, he concluded to go home, so I accompanied him as far as Sacramento. I wanted up my tools and a chest, and was soon promoted to foreman for the contractor at $16 per day and boarded. Ready-made houses began to arrive from around the Horn. We purchased a lot of lumber and I started to build a house. I had just laid the foundation when the cholera broke out and things slackened up a little. Then it was I built the house for Latham and Graves three miles east of Sacramento—a sort of a hospital on the doctor's side, and a milk punch saloon on Graves' part. So between the two they got all a man brought to the place. One day a man building this house a man from the mines brought his partner there to be doctored. There was nothing the matter with him but the scurvy, but Dr. Latham was a Thomsonian doctor—he gave emetics and nothing else, no matter whether the disease was cholera or typhoid or typhus. The patient was laid on some shavings at the end of my work bench, and that infernal emetic was rushed down his throat. It was so hot that he could not work for you before he began vomiting, and I shall never forget the agonies of that man. I stopped work long enough to ask him his name and where his people lived. "You go back and attend to your business, as I understand this case; he has got to go through this before I can cure him."

DIVORCE PROCEEDINGS. One Separation Granted and Two Hang Fire.

Superior Judge Van Fleet's time was taken up yesterday in listening to domestic troubles.

The first case taken up was that of Mrs. M. E. Otto, who wants a legal separation from George Otto because the latter is a drunkard. Judge Van Fleet was not prepared to render a decision, and took the case under advisement for a few days.

Carrie M. Wright was the next to tell her tale of woe. She wanted to be divorced from A. M. Wright for various reasons. The judge postponed the case for a time and said it was common practice of his to love and kick her. But still she said she loved him, and thought she could live happily with him if he would become a temperance man.

Wright, who was in court, got up and said he did not care about having her live with him, but he would do as she wished.

The court said that the evidence presented was not sufficient to warrant him in granting a decree of divorce. He said he would postpone the case for a time and await further developments.

The suit of Annie Stortz for a divorce from Peter Stortz was next called up. The trouble in this case has been frequently brought to public notice, through the arrest at various times of the husband for beating his wife. Mrs. Stortz related the story yesterday, saying that she was in constant fear of her husband, who beat her because she would not lead a life of shame and support him. Judge Van Fleet granted her a divorce.

KAISER'S HOGS. They Cause a Row and a Battery Trial at Brighton.

District Attorney Ryan and Lawyer Jud. C. Brusie went to Brighton yesterday on legal business. The former represented the prosecution and the latter the defense in the case of William Kaiser, charged with battery.

Mrs. Capello was the complaining witness. The Capellos and Kaisers are neighbors, both owning ranches in the vicinity of Brighton. According to the testimony, Kaiser's hogs were in the habit of breaking into the Capellos' wheat field, much to the annoyance of the latter named couple. Finally, becoming impatient, Kaiser's hogs were driven into a barn and locked there in.

Mrs. Kaiser heard about it and tried to demolish the barn, but found it too much for her. When her spouse came to her assistance Mrs. Capello interfered, and according to the testimony, she was struck by Kaiser's hogs. She retaliated with a stick and succeeded in inflicting Kaiser's nose. Not satisfied with this, she hit him again with a stick, and he was driven to Brighton yesterday.

Justice Foster rendered a verdict of guilty.

THE DENNERY CASE. Judge Van Fleet's Decision Affirmed by the Supreme Court.

There was filed yesterday in the office of Deputy Supreme Court Clerk Gevan a decision in the insolvency case of A. Dennery, on appeal from the judgment of Department Two of the Superior Court of this county.

The appeal was taken from an order adjudging appellant an insolvent upon the report of the creditors.

It denures the proceedings because that in the case where his creditors consisted of a firm of copartners, the certificate of the court was filed, and in the case of the California Jewelry Company, one of such creditors, one member of the firm was not a resident.

The court was overruled by the Superior Court, and the Supreme Court has upheld the action.

The opinion is rendered by Justice Harrison, and Justice Peterson, McFarland and Beatty concurring.

Justice Harrison dissents upon the ground that insolvency proceedings are purely statutory and the statutes should be strictly construed.

The Weather Still Cool.

The Signal Service temperatures at 5 A. M. and 5 P. M. yesterday were 48° and 69°, while the highest and lowest were 76° and 48°, with fresh southerly winds and a partly cloudy sky.

The barometrical readings at 5 A. M. and 5 P. M. were 30.3 and 29.7 inches, showing an approaching low barometer, which should cause all persons interested in the weather to scan the indications as they appear in the papers of San Francisco, and is always to be found in this paper.

The highest and lowest temperatures one year ago yesterday were 62° and 62°, and one year ago to-day 88° and 64°.

The average temperature yesterday was 62°, being three degrees cooler than the normal for that date.

Pacific Coast Failures.

The Bradstreet Mercantile Agency reports sixteen failures in the Pacific Coast States and Territories for the week ending yesterday, as compared with fourteen for the previous week, and seventeen for the corresponding week of 1890.

The failures for the past week are divided into the following classes: Three restaurants, one men's furnishing goods, one drug, one general store, one saloon, one hay and grain, one stores and this, and one hardware.

One hotel, one plumber, one builder, one clothing and one confectionery.

Gas Going to Waste.

The Directors of the Natural Gas Company have arranged to allow all who have either interest or curiosity in the matter to inspect the gas well at Fifth and B streets, this morning between 10 and 12 o'clock.

President Southworth says there is now considerable gas coming from the well—more than at any time since operations commenced.

New Voters.

Albert Adrian Burgin and Eugene Wadell, both of German ancestry, appeared before Superior Judge Van Fleet yesterday, and formally renounced their allegiance to Wilhelm II, in order that they might become subjects of Uncle Sam.

Charles Beckler and C. Treze testified that the applicants would make good citizens, and they were accordingly admitted.

The Executive Committee appointed to arrange for the celebration of the Fourth of July, 1891, was composed of the following-named citizens: J. H.

ON THE CARDS.

Carroll, A. Rollington, Louis Sloss, Jas. McClatchy, J. W. Winans, L. A. Booth, R. H. Allen, Paul Morrill, M. A. C. Monson, Edgar Mills, George Rowland, S. E. Herrick, P. J. Devine and William Shattuck.

Probably few of our citizens remember the fact that thirty years ago, and for many years afterward, Sacramento was a port of entry. On the 10th of May, 1861, L. H. Foote received his commission as Collector, which place he held for several years. The office was afterward held by James McClatchy until it was abolished.

Consternation in the Ranks of the Local Gamblers.

A New Operator Who Made Harrow—Judge Hornblower and the Turkeys.

"Well, it was a close shave for us, and no mistake."

"You bet."

"I tell you, old man, we can't be too careful in these enlightened times. We have practically been asleep here in Sacramento, while others of the profession have been getting on to new tricks. We are not in it any more."

"You bet."

Both of them belonged to the fraternity known as the "fancy"—in other words, they were well-dressed, gentlemanly gamblers, or short-card men. Their conversation was quite interesting, inasmuch as they were discussing a case that was partially known to the public.

One dark night, about a week ago, a Constable brought an intoxicated individual to the police station and lodged him there for the night. It appeared that some one who claimed to be a friend of the intoxicated man, had asked the Constable to do it.

Upon arriving at the station the man proclaimed himself as having been robbed of $1,500 before he had been in town two hours.

The police man a great scurry to find the supposed robbers. They learned that he had last been in the company of some of the "fancy," but inquiry showed that none of them had taken any money from him.

The supposed victim's name got into the papers, and he was at once pronounced a fool for losing so much money in so short a space of time.

But the pretty part of the story came in later.

The day after the supposed robbery the Police Captain Lee was informed that two well-known local gamblers had undertaken to "put up a sucker" at a quiet game of draw in the vicinity of the racetrack, but had been themselves fleeced of nearly $2,000. The Captain thought this was strange, and investigated. The gamblers did not know who their "sucker" was, but gave a description of him. They admitted that they had resorted to all the tricks they knew, such as "cold decks" and "packed hands," but their victim seemed to be possessed of a charmed life, and always had a hand to beat theirs when the game was over.

Before the Captain had recovered from his perplexed state of mind another sport accosted him, and asked him if he had heard "how Yolo Pook had been done out of a thousand at a dice game." Yolo Pook, when interviewed, described the same man that had played the poker man near the racetrack. That evening the Captain learned that several other "games" had been played with disastrous results to the local gamblers.

The beautiful spectacle and pantomime, "Kajanka," was presented for the third time, last night, at the Metropolitan Theater. The cloudy whirl and mingling of the Mariposa dancers, the fine acrobatic performances of the Marlins, the wonderful dancing of the little girl Bettendorf, the comic songs, the comedy and trick performances of the clown and satanic imps, make up a very attractive performance, full of farces, demons, gods, good and evil spirits, like the old-time Christmas pantomime. To-night there will be a final and special performance, at reduced rates, 50 cents and 25 cents, the former price including best reserved seats.

A Wonderful Machine.

At the Western Hotel agents show a wonder. Now, we freeze ice cream by packing around the cream machine, ice, turn a crank a half-hour, perspire, and—thus one must freeze a large quantity at once.

In the "Lightning Freezer," a small cylinder, turned by hand, contains a mixture of ice and salt, and in four seconds an automatic slayer, or "chop," like a Charles at 1235 1/2 A. M., will reach this city five minutes earlier.

The local second-class train from San Francisco will leave the latter place at 4 P. M. instead of 4:30 P. M., and arrive in Sacramento at 8:10 P. M.

REVISIT RAILROAD TIME-TABLE Soon to Go Into Effect.

Several changes are to be made in the railroad time-table shortly. It will not yet be definitely known when they are to go into effect, but it will probably be within a week.

The evening train which leaves this city now at 7:20 o'clock for Woodland, Knights Landing, Marysville and Oroville, will depart a half hour earlier, and arrive in Oroville at 11 P. M.

The local express, which now arrives here from San Francisco at 12:35 A. M., will reach this city five minutes earlier.

The second-class train from San Francisco will leave the latter place at 4 P. M. instead of 4:30 P. M., and arrive in Sacramento at 8:10 P. M.
