

ON ANOTHER TACK.

The Thugs Make Two Attempts to Hold Up Cabs.

Will the Trustees Wipe Out the Dives, and Restore Peace to This Community?

It is now in order for cabmen to go "heeled." Two of the Gurney drivers yesterday applied for and were given permission to carry pistols for the protection of themselves and their passengers.

The reason therefor is that the thugs and highwaymen have not, as some have thought, been scared out of the city. They are still with us, and have added to garroting, pocket-picking and attempted murder the novelty of standing up cabs.

Between 11 and 12 o'clock on Saturday night, as a Gurney cab was being driven up K street to the residence of a prominent county official, three roughly dressed and equally tough looking men stepped into the middle of the highway, at Fourteenth street, and endeavored to stop the vehicle.

The occupant of the cab called out to the driver to whip up his horse, which he did, and succeeded in getting away.

Shortly afterward another cab was passing the same locality—the driver of which had not heard of the above-mentioned occurrence—and the same fellows attempted to stop it, but with no better success.

The affair was related to officer Gibson a little later, and he went to the place where it occurred, but the men had got out of the way.

Yesterday the manager for the Gurney Company applied to the Chief of Police for permission to arm his drivers.

Things have indeed come to a pretty pass when, in a community of homes like Sacramento, there should be permitted to exist a score or more of dead-end alleys known to be maintained as places of rendezvous for thugs and footpads—whose proprietors are in many cases jail-birds, and where ex-convicts congregate as soon as they leave the penitentiary, and lay their plans for committing depredations on the good people of the community.

And the worst of it all is that the people's officials make this condition of affairs possible by the indiscriminate issuance of licenses to persons to maintain these hell-holes where all this crime is bred.

The eyes of the community are on the men to-day who are charged with the maintenance of law and order and decency in this city. They can, by the authority vested in them, close these incubators of crime in twenty-four hours, and wipe out the disgrace that now rests on the fair name of this city.

MAGNANIMITY.

Rabbi J. L. Levy Speaks Thereon From a Jewish Standpoint.

On Friday evening at the Synagogue, the Rev. J. L. Levy, B. D., delivered, during the regular weekly service, an address on "Magnanimity." The Rabbi discussed the nature of this virtue, and endeavored his special point of how to deal with enemies, by referring to historical incidents and by introducing many apt illustrations. In concluding he made these remarks:

"The Jewish people have, during many weary ages, been the unfortunate object of oppression at the hands of the vast majority of mankind in contact with whom they have come. It is no exaggeration to say that during this long period like a lamb among wolves, like a trembling dove in the clutches of a hawk, like a small fish pursued by a voracious shark. During many centuries they suffered the most atrocious persecutions ever inflicted upon any people. For the sake of their faith they endured unspeakable agonies, indescribable miseries and shameful degradations.

"For the sake of the inheritance of Jacob" they performed on the stage of history a tragedy which their men were heroes, and their women admirable heroines. For many an age the world seemed to forget that the Jew had eyes, that he had hands, dimensions, and affections, passions; that he was fed with the same food, hurt with the same weapon, warmed and cooled by the same summer and winter as other men. If he was pricked he would bleed; if he was wounded he would die. Oh! if the Coliseum could give utterance to the agonizing cries of the Jews, how would they speak! Oh! if Narbonne, and Worms, and London could utter a word, how would they tell the tales they could tell. They would say that the words of Isaiah were sadly true in Israel: 'I was oppressed and afflicted. Yet he opened not his mouth; he was brought as a sheep to the slaughter, and as a sheep before her shearers is dumb, so opened he not his mouth.'

"Yet throughout all these ages the Jew, as a nation, displayed wonderful magnanimity. Said Jeremiah to his people, 'Seek the peace of every city, whithersoever ye are carried.' Said Rabbi Samuel, one of the greatest of the illustrious leaders in the Talmud, 'Pray for the prosperity of every government, wherever you be.'

"What breadth of mind did Moses Mendelssohn show—he who had been blacklisted as a candidate for membership in the Berlin Academy, who had been denied the rights of citizenship in ungrateful Germany, when he urged the Germans to develop their own individuality, and not to ape their French neighbors. Napoleon's conqueror for the magnanimous conduct of the Jews towards France. Gladstones will show whether he has failed to display this virtue towards England, and even the Czar should not forget the magnanimous actions of Poliakoff, Harkavy, Rubinstein, Paehmann and hosts of others who have added to the list of these officers: President, W. M. Simmons; Vice-President, W. E. Osborn; Secretary, Miss Anna Luther; Treasurer, Miss Mattie Johnston; Marshal, W. E. Norris.

OFF FOR THE SUMMER.

Deputy Sheriff Costello, of San Francisco, lodged two felons at the City Prison last evening, and registered them as "en route to Fern." One was a Chinaman named Tom Sun, who was convicted of robbery at the metropolis and sentenced to eight years' imprisonment. The other was Louis A. H., who is to serve three years for grand larceny.

feel he has committed against those we love. "I do not completely understand the service that pain, misery, disappointments, suffering and death perform in the economy of the world. They are to me as many mysteries. But I agree that they tend to make the sufferer more kindly disposed towards others, more tolerant, more feeling, more generous, than he was before. Let us hope that it will be so in this case. Let us hope that the heart of the Czar may be moved in kind towards suffering Israel. Let us hope that the mental anguish and anxiety he has just endured may help him to realize the needless misery he is heaping on thousands of innocent Jews, whose old men and tender babes drop dying on the high roads—driven from their homes to their eternal home.

ROBERT ALLEN'S ASSAULTS.

Gordon is as Dumb as an Oyster About the Affair. Chief of Police Drew returned yesterday morning from Marysville, whither he went to take charge of the man supposed to be Jack Haley, one of the cowardly footpads who assaulted Robert Allen.

As stated in the SUNDAY UNION, when Chief of Police Drew returned from that city had arrested, he was satisfied that he was not the man wanted. But not desiring to take any chances on being mistaken, he concluded to bring the prisoner to this city for a more thorough inspection. Upon the arrival of the Chief and his prisoner, yesterday, several persons who know Haley were brought to City Prison, and they immediately declared him to be the wrong man. The Marysville Haley resembles the one wanted, and has also "done time" in State Prison at about the same time that the other was there, having been sent from Marysville for robbery. He returned to Marysville yesterday afternoon.

Chief Drew and Captain Lee took Haley, the well-dressed ruffian who wielded the hammer that came so near ending Allen's life, from his cell yesterday and put him with him. The young fellow, however, is a crafty rascal and uttered not a syllable that would tend to implicate him in the assault. Of course the chief did not believe in a conspiracy with Casey, Haley and another man to rob Allen, and denied that the money found upon him was Allen's. He admitted, however, that he had been shortly before the robbery, but declared that he left for San Francisco Sunday morning.

The police are still searching for Haley, and hope to have him in custody before long.

AMUSEMENTS.

Geo. R. Wendling, one of the finest orators of the day, will lecture this evening before the Sacramento Lecture Association, at the Congregational Church. It will be the closing lecture of the association season. A gentleman in whose judgment we have all confidence, who has been lecturing in San Francisco last week, tells us that he has heard no man who possesses in higher degree the true elements of oratory. He thinks Mr. Wendling is a man of a higher order, and he certainly is a gifted speaker—one, indeed, who possesses the rare art of moving an audience at will, and holding it for hours by the charm of his delivery and the beauty of his language.

Announcement is made of the engagement for the Metropolitan Theater for May 20th of Professor Herrmann, the dealer in modern magic. Herrmann, has appeared here repeatedly always in a refined entertainment and with tricks of the first order, and always has drawn full audiences. He has made a deep study of the senses a life-long study, and has more mystified humanity than any other conjurer who has ever appeared in this city. He has three new deceptions, "Strobiska," "Florine, Child of Air," and "Le Cocoon," which are pronounced by those who have seen them to be the most wonderful things ever seen in this city. He will present also almost an entirely new lot of lesser tricks, not a few of which mediums declare are the result of natural powers. The box office for the reservation of seats will open to-morrow.

BRIEF NOTES.

A glee club is now being organized at the residence of the Young Women's Christian Association.

Sacramento sportsmen will take notice that fishing is improving at Donner Lake, and a number of good catches have been made. The fish are commencing to bite the spoon.

The following young persons will receive diplomas from the Sierra Normal College at their graduation on Friday evening: Normal Department, Miss Blanche Hawk, of Rocklin, and Miss Mary Hamilton and Ross Tebbis, of Auburn. Commercial Department, Camille Spomer, of Carson City, Nev.; E. Betton, of Auburn, and W. B. Nicholl, of San Pablo, California.

The Nevada County Narrow Gauge Railroad Company has well under way an observation car constructed on the line of the cars running on the Golden Gate Park and the House Railroad of San Francisco. This is to be used for excursions, and when the weather will permit, on the passenger train, thus affording a good view of the picturesque scenery along the line.

Something Like It.

The enterprising owners of the electric street railway, not content with the improvements and accommodations they have already furnished the public, are now engaged in doubling their tracks out of street. At present the double track only extends to Nineteenth street, but a new track, parallel with the single one, is now in course of construction, and has nearly reached Twenty-second street. It is thought the owners intend to double the car-stables, and eventually to the ball park.

Pioneers' Sons and Daughters.

There were a couple of errors in the list of officers of the Sons and Daughters of Pioneers, as published yesterday. The directors met a few evenings since at the residence of H. M. La Rue, President of the Pioneer Society, and elected these officers: President, W. M. Simmons; Vice-President, W. E. Osborn; Secretary, Miss Anna Luther; Treasurer, Miss Mattie Johnston; Marshal, W. E. Norris.

Excursion Down the River.

A party of ladies and gentlemen went down the river Friday in the steam launch Nerida, and had a most enjoyable time. It was the longest run of the boat has yet made in one day, nearly one hundred miles being traveled. The party stopped on Grand Island, where they partook of a picnic banquet.

Charged with Wife-beating.

L. L. Erhart was arrested by officer Shellers last evening on a warrant charging him with battery. The complaining witness is the prisoner's wife, who charges him with beating her.

The "Canvassback" to Be Sold.

On the 1st of June the pretty little bathing machine the "Canvassback" will be sold at auction in front of J. N. Porter's office, 1006 Fourth street.

DOWN! Went the Sacramento to the Bottom of the Ditch.

Dressed in Their Best Suits of Clothes—How They Got In and Wallowed.

There was a vast difference between the playing of the Sacramento on Saturday and their work yesterday afternoon. A stranger witnessing both games would have supposed that some "jay-tow" team had been hustled into Snowflake Park yesterday afternoon as substitutes for the Sacramento, to afford amusement for the audience. The home players, dressed in their new gray-and-blue uniforms, looked like a lot of strange men, and their playing was greatly changed—for the worse.

Something was up. Either the uniforms were a "hoodoo," or the absence of Sunday's canine, "Annie Rooney," caused the calamity.

The team could not hit the ball safely enough times to do any good, nor could Ward nor Hoffman play their positions without making disastrous plays of the inexhaustible variety. McGuirk made an error on a high thrown ball. He ought to have caught it, and yet Ward deserved half the error if the scorer were allowed to divide it into halves. Ward fumbled the ball in the first place, and in his hurry to head off the runner he threw a trifle wild, and—McGuirk muffed it.

Then France looked as though he was completely tired out, when in reality it was only the second game he had pitched in more than a week. It was supposed that the fine, warm day would thaw out his pitching arm, but it did not, and he failed if anything to make his warring more unsteady and less effective. He allowed only six hits, it is true, but they were bunched together, and three men less on balls in one inning, it could be imagined what a disastrous effect it would have.

In the seventh inning he gave Clark first base on balls, and then allowed Sweeney to make a single, Levy a double and Cartwright a three-base hit—all of which netted the San Francisco three runs.

The Sacramento team can never expect to win a game unless they bat harder than they did yesterday. Their batting did not count for much when the opposing team is doing good fielding work, and the San Francisco did not fail to take advantage of every chance they were given. Cobb was in his element, and took a great deal of satisfaction in watching his fielders pull down every fly ball, which they pulled down every time.

The game ended by a score of 8 to 0 in favor of the visiting club. The Sacramento claim, however, that they are entitled to one run on account of a wrong decision made by Sheridan. It was in the first inning. Hutchison reached first base on error on Sunday game, but was bunched out by the San Francisco to the bat and drove out on a three-base hit, and Hutchison ran around to the home-plate. Everybody thought a run had been scored, but when the San Francisco second-baseman got the ball and threw a second base, Sheridan called Hutchison out on the ground that in running he had failed to touch second base about a foot. Hutchison protested that he had touched the bag, but Sheridan declared that he had not, and ordered him to cease arguing the question.

The crowd hissed the umpire severely, for everyone thought the run should count. Some claim that they saw Hutchison touch the bag, but they were certainly the nearest to the bag, being about ten feet away, and therefore was better able to judge than those in the stand. He may have been mistaken, however, in his decision.

Works made a magnificent catch of a long fly-hit into left field by Sweet, and was bunched out. Sheridan, for San Francisco, played a brilliant game at short base, and so did Hassauer at second. TWICE BEATEN.

The Oaklanders Were Not In Either of Yesterday's Games.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 17.—At Emeryville this morning all the scoring was done in the first inning. McGuiken went to second when Lou Muffed his single and, scored on Hanley's single and Spier's sacrifice. Hanley scored on Cartwright's double. Sheridan scored on the game. The game was pretty played, and the fielding was fine. Neither pitcher gave a base on balls. The Colonels' inability to hit League's curves led to their being whitewashed, the score being 2 to 0 in favor of San Jose.

NAPA, May 17.—An interesting game of ball was played at the Suisun ball grounds to-day by the Suisuns and Napas. The score stood 7 to 7 at the close of the ninth inning, which ended the game. Gilman and Farver wore the battery for Suisun, and Manasse and McHale for Napa.

The General Wants a Celebration.

Eds. RECORD-UNION: That day of all others which every true American loves to celebrate is almost at hand, and as yet nothing has been done toward its proper celebration.

Let our worthy Mayor call a meeting of the citizens to be held in readiness for the glorification of this great day, and let our next celebration be one worthy and befitting the spirit of this great State. There is plenty of time yet, and let us invite every town for miles about us to join in this celebration.

And in this connection we should step aside from our out-repeated street parades and have something new and novel, something after the style of New Orleans, which is the best of the Mardi Gras festival, which brings thousands to her city on these occasions.

There are many of our residents here who have visited New Orleans during these celebrations, and they could assist by their counsel in getting up something of the kind for the coming Fourth of July.

It is not that we have something else novel and striking, and in the evening we can have a grand concert in the Plaza or Capital Park, which in itself will be a great attraction. Any way, let us be up and doing and not lag behind till the last moment, and then almost break our necks to get there in time.

J. G. MARTINE.

WHY IS THIS THUS?

A Little Incident That Occurred in a Baseball Car.

"There now—there's a sample of woman's perversity for you," said the conductor, as he gave the bell-rope a couple of vicious jerks.

An electric trolley was speeding up J street toward the ball park. The first car was an open one, and was crowded, there being standing room only. The second car carried only a few persons, and there was seating room in it for fully twenty. Two women hailed the train at Seventh street, and after "giving up" both cars boarded the crowded one. Of course two men got up and gave them the seats which they had paid for the privilege of occupying.

"Oh that's nothing," said the conductor to the Record-Union man, "they do worse tricks than that every day. If the crowd had been in the rear car they would have boarded that one, and if there was no crowd on either car they would have waited until one came along that was crowded."

CAPTURED A CAR.

Police Officers Have a Tussle With a Drunken Portuguese.

Police officers Shellers and Maley were called upon yesterday afternoon to subdue a drunken Portuguese who had taken possession of an O-street car, and was making things lively generally.

He had run all the passengers out of the car, and when the driver interfered, he kicked him in the abdomen.

When the officers put in an appearance the Portuguese was still in fighting trim, and resisted arrest so vigorously that officer Shellers had to rap him on the head with his cane in order to quiet him. He was finally led to the police station, booked as "John Doe," and charged with disturbing the peace. To the day the car-driver will put a charge of battery against him also.

NEW BLACK SATEENS

These goods are so unlike the Sateens of past seasons that one hardly recognizes them as belonging to that well-known family. Indeed they now closely resemble very fine black wools, or dull finished silks. Some are all black, with narrow stripes made by reversing the twill in wearing; others have a smooth surface with brocaded figures all in black, and still others have a smooth surface strewn with sprigs of white and heliotrope. The goods are wide and the prices 35c and 40c per yard.

Seventeen colors in plain China Silks at 65c.

A NOVELTY.
