

THE ITATA'S ESCAPE.

No Further News Received From the Charleston or Itata.

THE ESMERALDA BELIEVED TO HAVE SECURED COAL.

Henry Z. Osborne of Los Angeles Appointed Collector of Customs for the Port of Wilmington—Charges of Incompetency Filed Against Tacoma's Postmaster—Minister Pacheco Cordially Received by the President of San Salvador.

Special to the Record-Union.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—Not a word of news of the Charleston or Itata has been received at the Navy Department to-day. A cablegram came from Admiral Brown, aboard the San Francisco, now at Iquique, Chile, but Secretary Tracy declined to say what news it contained.

Secretary Tracy said to-night that the Charleston could seize the Itata in Chilean waters, but declined to say whether she would or not. No more news is expected from the Charleston before she reaches Panama.

MAY REPORT TO DESPERATE MEANS. NEW YORK, May 19.—A special to the Mail and Express from Acapulco says: It seems now certain that the Esmeralda must have recourse to some desperate means to secure coal, for coal she must have if she is to get back to Chile. It is announced to-day that the Pacific Mail Steamship Company ordered its agent here not to sell the Esmeralda any coal under any circumstances. This order was communicated to the Esmeralda, and it is now thought extremely probable the Chilean vessel will take coal by force. This is thought more probable, as it is now almost certainly known that the Esmeralda's captain is now in command of the Itata, having boarded her when the two vessels met off this port on Friday night. Should the acting captain of the Esmeralda decide to take coal by force there is absolutely nothing to prevent him from hauling his vessel alongside the coal works at taking what he wants, for the forts are worthless as against modern ordnance, and the Esmeralda could, if molested, by Acapulco in half an hour. The Mexican authorities will hardly be likely to offer any opposition to a powerful ship like the Esmeralda, and thus bring a bombardment upon the town. There is intense excitement.

THE ESMERALDA LOADS COAL. CITY OF MEXICO, May 19.—A dispatch from Acapulco says: It is believed that the Esmeralda secretly loaded some coal and was to receive more to-day outside the harbor.

THE ITATA OUT OF REACH. CITY OF MEXICO, May 19.—Dispatches from the Pacific Coast seem to indicate that the Itata is already far out of reach of the Charleston. From these dispatches it also appears that the Itata passed outside of Acapulco on Friday last, and the Charleston reached port Saturday. The Esmeralda is still at Acapulco awaiting coal, which is said to have been ordered from the United States.

TEA CULTURE. Seeds Ordered Sent to the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—A communication to the State Department from Denby, Minister to China, says: "I have the honor to inform you that Mr. P. Fincher, of whom I made mention in a previous dispatch, has arrived at Peking. His object is to secure the consent of the Chinese Government to his scheme of establishing a model tea farm. He has secured the approval and co-operation of the Inspector-General of Customs, and it is probable that he will be successful in his mission. I have lately received from the Chamber of Commerce of Los Angeles, Cal., a request for the loan of tea seeds for the purpose of beginning the culture of tea near that city. I instructed Consul Andrews, at Hankow, to send on some tea seeds."

Minister Pacheco. WASHINGTON, May 19.—The State Department has received the following: "To-day the President, General Carlos Ezeta, of San Salvador, received Romualdo Pacheco of California, Ambassador Plenipotentiary of the United States, with all the dignity and courteous procedure to which a representative of any nation is entitled, and more especially in the case of a gentleman who arrives as a representative of a country renowned throughout the world for its wonderful advancement and its support of all liberal institutions."

Quarantine on Imported Stock. WASHINGTON, May 19.—Secretary Rusk issued an order to-day setting forth the fact of the quarantine established by the Act of August 30, 1890, on sheep and swine from European countries, etc., stating that as Canada makes no requirement for animals imported from Great Britain, it becomes necessary that all animals in said regulations, except cattle imported from Canada, be subjected to the same regulation as if imported from Europe.

Editor Osborne Secures a Position. WASHINGTON, May 19.—Henry Z. Osborne was to-day appointed Collector of Customs for the port of Wilmington, Cal. (Los Angeles), vice Downing, deceased. It was hoped that General Vandever would be taken care of. This was a good opportunity to provide for him, but Senator Stanford recommended the Los Angeles editor. It seems that General Vandever is doomed to disappointment on all sides.

Naval Cadets. WASHINGTON, May 19.—The Navy Department is much concerned over the small number of cadets nominated to appear at the Naval Department for examination. The majority of the members of the House of Representatives, who have the privilege of nominating these cadets, failed to send in the names of their candidates, and but twenty-six boys appeared at the Annapolis Academy for examination.

Tacoma's Postmaster. WASHINGTON, May 19.—Some Tacoma citizens have presented charges of incompetency against their Postmaster, and the department will take action in the matter when Senator Allen is heard from. Allen secured the appointment of the present Postmaster.

IT WAS KIDNAPING. The Supreme Court Holds That Constable Fick Was Guilty.

It Slightly Modifies the Judgment, but Not to the Extent of Ordering Him Liberated.

An opinion of the Supreme Court was rendered yesterday in the case of The People vs. Fick (appellant). Fick was indicted by the Grand Jury of San Joaquin County for the crime of kidnaping. On his trial the jury found him guilty. He was denied a new trial, and judgment was given that he be imprisoned in the State Prison for eight years. He appealed the case from this judgment.

It was shown on the trial that the defendant was, at the date of the alleged constabulary of the offense charged, a Constable in Placer County. On March 22, 1890, there was delivered to him a warrant, issued by a Justice of the Peace, commanding him to arrest one Toy Fong and bring her before him (the Justice), or before the nearest and most accessible magistrate of the county. The defendant arrested the woman, whose name was Toy Fong, in San Joaquin County. He took her to Placer County, but did not at any time bring her before the Justice of the Peace who issued the warrant, or any other magistrate. Instead, he left her at the house of one "China Molly," the person on whose complaint the warrant was issued.

Fick, in appealing, assigns as error various rulings of the court in the admission of testimony and in giving and refusing instructions.

The Supreme Court says: "The lower court did not err in admitting evidence that the general reputation of the house in which China Molly lived was of ill-fame."

It also refers to the fact that Constable Swift of Sacramento accompanied Fick to San Joaquin County and arrested the woman's husband, Go Suen, and bringing him back, kept him in jail for two days and then released him on bail.

The prosecution in the Fick case was permitted to show that Go Suen was innocent of the charge for which he was arrested, and in commenting upon this portion of the evidence the Supreme Court says: "The question of the defendant's good faith in what he did was fairly submitted to the jury, and his conviction was not made dependent upon the mere fact that he had not followed the authority given him by law, and the evidence was amply sufficient to justify the verdict of the jury. The appellate judgment appeared from the fact and the same is hereby modified by striking therefrom the words, 'And that he pay the District Attorney a fee of $25,' and being so modified, the judgment and order are affirmed."

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—U. S. Gov't Report, Aug. 17, 1889.

HE MADE A MISTAKE.

How Judge Starr Managed an Obstreperous Attorney.

A Sentence of Fine and Imprisonment, and a Subsequent Volume of Apologies.

By apologizing abjectly to Justice of the Peace A. H. Starr, Lawyer Downard saved himself from spending a night in the County Jail.

The Judge does not allow any nonsense in his court, and when Downard tried to be funny he was brought up with a jerk.

A restaurant keeper had sued a young man for some $36 for board, and as the young man did not put in an appearance, judgment by default was rendered, and the young man's wages were garnished. Neither the plaintiff nor the defendant were at the time represented by counsel.

But by some hook or crook Downard got hold of the young man who owed the board bill, convinced him that he had not been dealt with fairly, and succeeded in having himself retained, with the privilege of righting matters.

STARTED IN LIVELY. The first step taken by the newly-engaged attorney appeared to be to appear before Judge Starr, and move for a judgment set aside, on the ground that the defendant was a minor and was not responsible for the best interests of his client, he would not swell the bill of costs by making foolish motions and delaying the proceedings.

But Downard knew better. He notified the plaintiff of his intended motion, and, when the plaintiff responded by appearing in court, he read an affidavit showing that his client was a minor, and therefore not responsible. As Judge Starr had previously indicated, his motion to set aside the judgment was without merit, and of course he overruled it.

INSULTED THE COURT. Downard got mad. "You sir," he shouted, shaking his finger at the court, "have looked into my docket and through this case, and the plaintiff has perjured himself."

"Here sir, this is contempt. I don't allow any body to talk in my court. But Downard did not wait to hear the Judge out, and left the Court-room in high dudgeon.

Judge Starr is not the kind of a man who loses his head or gets unduly excited on occasions like this, and, seeing that no Constable was about, quietly sat down and did some writing in his docket or court record-book. When he had finished, he sent word to Downard that he wanted to see him. The defendant came with abundant smiles, and hurried into the Court-room and saluted his Honor.

"I just thought," began the Judge, in a friendly way, "that I would read this entry in my docket to you before going any further. I want to see if it is all right."

THOUGHT IT A PUNIC. The smiling attorney nodded, and with a wave of his hand bade the court proceed.

But when the Judge began to read that "one A. H. Downard, defendant, has perjured himself in the presence of this court whereby he was guilty of contempt," there was a grand, pathological gasp, and the chair occupied by the defendant fell to the floor.

To add to his misery the court exhibited a commitment addressed to the Sheriff, and instructing that official to take "such steps as may be necessary to insure the appearance of the defendant, twenty-four hours, and also until 'said fine of $10 is paid."

When the attorney regained consciousness he apologized and begged the court to be merciful. He did not mean to insult the court and must have been "talking through his hat."

The judge indulged. He gave the young man some very good advice, however, and wound up by warning him that the next time he got funny he would have to go to jail for the strength of the prior conviction.

Pimples. The old idea of 40 years ago was that facial eruptions were due to a "blood humor," for which they gave potash. Thus the old Sarsaparilla came into vogue as a most objectionable and drastic mineral, that instead of decreasing, actually creates more eruptions. You have noticed this when taking other Sarsaparillas than "o's." It is however now known that the stomach, the blood creating power, is the seat of all such eruptions. A stomach that is clogged by indigestion or constipation, vitiates the blood, results pimples. A clean stomach and healthful digestion purifies it and they disappear. Thus Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla is compounded after the modern idea to regulate the bowels and stimulate the digestion. The effect is immediate and most satisfactory. A short testimonial to contrast the action of the potash Sarsaparilla and Joy's modern vegetable preparation. Mrs. C. D. Stuart, of 400 Hayes St., S. F., writes: "I have for years had indigestion, I tried a popular Sarsaparilla but it actually caused more pimples to break out on my face. Hearing that Joy's was a later preparation and acted differently, I tried it and the pimples immediately disappeared."

THE ALLEN ASSAULT. Condition of the Victim—A Sure Case Against the Thugs.

There was little or no change in the condition of Robert Allen, the victim of the cowardly assault of footpads, at last accounts last night. There are strong hopes of his ultimate recovery.

The police are still actively engaged in working up the case against Gordon, the garrotter, as well as against McCaig, alias Caser, who was Gordon's partner and was one of the party of thugs who planned the assault upon Allen.

The search for Haley, who assisted Gordon in the murderous attack upon the victim, is being pushed vigorously, and the police feel confident that they will capture him, unless he has shipped from San Francisco on some whaler or deep-sea vessel.

Up the River. This evening the excursion of Sacramento Council, No. 27, Young Men's Institute, to the mouth of the Feather River by steamerboat, will take place. The steamer Governor Dunn and barge have been secured, and Captain Roberts will be in personal command.
