

UNBALANCED MINDS.

Three Unfortunates Examined by the Lunacy Commissioners.

A Man Who is the Only Rival of John L. Sullivan--Wormy Brains.

Three persons of unbalanced minds were examined at the Court-house yesterday by Drs. G. L. Simmons and G. B. Nichols, and Superior Judge Catlin.

The first unfortunate to be examined was Miss Victoria Cash, a comely young lady who has for years lived on the San Juan grant with her parents.

The unfortunate young lady was adjudged insane by the examiners and was committed to the Napa Asylum.

William H. Hurley, a young man who was found wandering aimlessly on the streets recently, was next examined.

Hurley believes that he is the only flying animal of the world, and he is a pugilist. Upon being questioned by the doctors he said that he was waiting for Sullivan's arrival, as he expected to make a match with him.

"When do you expect him to arrive?" asked Dr. Simmons.

"Oh, he has arrived already. He's here now, but he hasn't seen me yet. I'll see him on the streets to-day, but he didn't see me."

"How was he looking?" asked it doctor.

"Oh, first rate. Not so badly as he used to be."

"You didn't have any trouble with Sullivan, did you?" asked Judge Catlin.

"No danger of that," replied Hurley. During the questioning the unfortunate complained frequently of "something hot" falling upon his head at intervals from the ceiling.

He was declared insane and committed to Stockton.

WORMS IN HIS BRAIN.

Squire Winfield, a colored man who recently arrived here from Southern California, was the next unfortunate. He said he was a native of Virginia and 30 years of age.

Winfield's mania is peculiar. His memory is splendid and it is impossible to mix him on dates. He talks intelligently on all subjects, except one. His one hallucination is that he has worms in his brain, and a human voice in his stomach.

"It's been going on for five or six months," he said to Dr. Simmons, "and it bothers me awfully. I don't know how it got into my stomach, but it keeps on talking all the time--sometimes way up into my throat and lungs. I can account for the worms if, by my head, but not the talking. I sleep with my mouth open, and the worms crawl in through it. But how the talking got in I don't know."

Judge Catlin and the doctors were doubtful as to whether or not Winfield's condition warranted his being confined in an asylum. He was not violent, and as he had expressed a wish to work on a farm, it was decided to discharge him.

EAST PARK.

Annual Meeting of the Stockholders of the East Park Association was held last evening at the office of W. P. Coleman, President, in the parlors of the L. L. Lewis, Secretary.

The following report of the Board of Directors was received and read:

"The Board of Directors in presenting an annual report to the stockholders of the East Park Association deem it proper to refer to certain facts connected with the formation and history of the corporation in order that a full understanding of the present situation may be had by those interested in the property.

"At the time of the formation of the association it will be remembered that this park, which was our very best and most beautiful, was about to be cut up and utterly destroyed. A special committee was appointed by our leading citizens and about 100 persons were organized sufficient to purchase and preserve and improve the estate, the idea being that at some future time the city would appreciate the advantages of a place of this nature, and our people would avail themselves of the necessary aids to the comfort and health of life in Sacramento. Soon after the purchase it began to be evident that little public interest was felt in the enterprise. The lessee complained of a want of patronage, and he liquidated the indebtedness incurred in the erection of the improvements in acres of the realty were sold at a low figure. About this time, also, a dissatisfaction was created among the stockholders by the circulation of rumors concerning the original cost of the property and the creation of the stock, and the fact that it showed an ownership of 225 shares of the park value of $100 each.

"In 1881 a lease was made with R. S. Carey for the long period of ten years, one of the clauses of which provided that regular communication by means of horse-cars should be maintained by the lessee. On account of a misunderstanding of the terms of the lease regular access by cars was soon interrupted. Dissatisfaction occurred among the owners, and some sold or gave away their stock, and for a number of years the place was not kept in a creditable manner. The trees and the buildings, however, grew handsomer each year, and it became evident that in a natural way the place was an attractive feature for our city. Realizing this fact, and knowing that Mr. Carey's lease would expire in 1891, a few of the public-spirited stockholders waited on nearly all the owners, and a large majority signed an agreement to give the valuable property to the city of Sacramento, provided the Trustees would agree to maintain it in a proper way for public use. This tender of a gift worth at least the price of the capital stock was not accepted by our city government, and in consequence of a failure to take advantage of the proposition the effort to make it a free public park failed of success.

"When the present board came into office we accepted the position with the hope that by the time of the expiration of the lease arrangements could be made to have more regular communication with the city and means devised to add to its beauty and usefulness.

"A visit of inspection showed an insecure condition of the main hotel building and an unsafe condition of the bridges. To provide means to pay for necessary repairs a small assessment was levied, which was most promptly paid by the stockholders, and the collection of the assessment has enabled our office to correct the stock book and determine the names of the owners of the stock.

"During the past year the hotel building has been put in good order and thoroughly painted. The bridges have been made sound and other work done to improve the realty.

"As the time approached for the annual meeting an unexpected transfer of a large block of the stock prevented the consummation of a plan to most certainly secure rapid communication to the park, and under the circumstances we thought it best for the future of the property to secure from R. S. Carey a contract to so improve the driveway as to make it useful at any season of the year, and to embellish its borders by rows of the beautiful fan palms. The lease is hereby presented with the report, and should its full intent and terms be carried out we will secure one of the most beautiful drives of the Pacific Coast for the city of Sacramento.

"All of which is most respectfully submitted."

The stockholders then elected the following Board of Directors for the ensuing year: John T. Carey, J. W. Wilson, J. B. Wright, L. A. Cronch and Silas Carle.

Why the Plant Was Removed.

Members of the Improvement Association are wondering why the proprietor of the K-street shoe factory recently left the city.

The Record-Union is able to tell them it was because he could not get Sacramento merchants to buy his goods in preference to those made in the East and elsewhere, although he offered as good an article and as good terms as other manufacturers.

This is the reason the plant was removed. The proprietor said he was going to Seattle.

Knights of Honor.

At a regular meeting of Unity Lodge, No. 1488, Knights of Honor, on Monday evening, the following officers were elected for the ensuing term: Dictator, W. D. Crowe; Vice-Dictator, J. F. Bidwell; Assistant Dictator, A. Phelps; Reporter, L. G. Shepard; Financial Reporter, A. Atwood; Treasurer, L. B. Saffin; Chaplain, J. S. Orr; Guide, F. W. Saffin; Guardian, P. Brennan; Sentinel, W. Woods; Medical Examiner, Charles Meland; Trustees--G. O. Bates, J. S. Orr, A. Phelps.

Serious Runaway.

Some boys were flying a kite on G street, between Twelfth and Thirteenth, yesterday afternoon, when a lady with a little girl drove by in a buggy. The kite fell to the ground in front of the horse, and caused the animal to run away. The buggy was overturned and the occupants thrown out. The child, it is said, was seriously injured. The names of the occupants of the buggy could not be learned.

CLEAN ALLEYS.

Something the City Has Not Had For Years.

Health Officer Nichols Says They Shall be the Order, if the Courts Enforce the Law.

Douglas Gillis, W. R. Gallup, S. E. Carrington, W. F. Cutler and J. Mosier were called to appear in the Police Court yesterday to answer to charges of violating the health ordinance, by permitting rubbish and objectionable matter to remain in the alleys in the rear of their premises.

The complaints were sworn to by A. H. Starr, Sanitary and Building Inspector, and Gallip and Cutler demanded jury trials, and their cases were set for next Tuesday afternoon.

S. E. Carrington was not present, and his case was continued until to-day.

In the case of D. Gillis, Inspector Starr testified that the defendant was in the habit of maintaining a manure-pile in the alley near his stable on Eighth street, between I and J. Starr said he notified Mr. Gillis to allow no matter of this character to stand in the alley, and had him arrested because he refused to heed the warning. He had no prejudice whatever against Mr. Gillis, but was simply carrying out the orders given him by the Health Officer.

Gillis said Mr. Starr never spoke to him about removing the manure, but did order some of his hands to do so. The latter work was done. Mr. Gillis stated further that an Italian was in the habit of hauling away the manure, and shown that he allowed a pile of broken glass to stand in the alley in the rear of his store on J street, between Seventh and Eighth. The defendant explained that the broken glass company had placed some brush on top of the glass, and he was waiting for the company to remove the brush before he could clear away the broken glass.

Judge Craven declared both defendants guilty.

Dr. Nichols, the Health Officer, was present and addressed the court. He said he intended to find out if it were possible to have clean streets and alleys in Sacramento. "What he was appointed Health Officer he examined the ordinances and found that they were explicit enough, and only needed to be enforced. He could not do this for the purpose of persecuting anybody, but simply to find out whether the courts would uphold his action. He intended to show no partiality, and proposed to treat all alike.

These arrests being the first, he had caused the wealthier residents to be summoned to explain why they did not obey the law, and found that as a general rule, they were the ones who heeded the ordinance the least.

In conclusion, he asked the Judge to impose no fine, but to allow the defendants a reasonable time in which to have the objectionable matter carted away.

Judgment was ordered postponed until to-day.

A Neighborhood Quarrel.

Mrs. Louisa Behre swore to a complaint yesterday charging Mrs. Lena Behre with disturbing the peace. The alleged trouble occurred on Eighth street, between K and L.

From Eczema, Head Looked as if Scalded. Best Physicians. One Year Without Benefit.

Completely Cured by 3 Sets of the Cuticura Remedies.

I had a disease of the skin and scalp that the doctors here called eczema. My face was completely scalded, and my head, when I had my hair cut closely, looked as though it had been scalded. An Italian physician, who I received a copy of your treatise on skin diseases, I purchased a set of CUTICURA. After I had taken several of the CUTICURA, I felt better, and what I must tell you is that I was detaching with several of the CUTICURA in this country for over a year, and none of them seemed to do the least bit of good.

E. B. PERKY, Proprietor Elkhorn House, Ewing, Neb.

Breaking Out Five Years.

I suffered with a breaking out upon my breast for four or five years. I doctored with the family doctor for a long time, and seemed to gain no relief, when a friend of mine asked me to try your medicine, and I commenced taking it, and it did me more good than anything I ever tried. I took two bottles of the CUTICURA, and three cakes of the CUTICURA SOAP, and was entirely cured. I can say, thanks to you, that I am well, and my children and their founder. LIZZIE HANSELL, Oakland, Ind.

THE FASSLER TRAGEDY.

Testamentary Statement Made by the Dying Woman.

She Said Her Husband Used to Beat Her, and Wanted to Get Her Property.

On the day after Mrs. Fassler (or Spillner) was assaulted at her home at Twenty-first and Y streets her testamentary statement was taken in shorthand by Court Reporter W. J. Davis, before examination being conducted by District Attorney Ryan and in the presence of Dr. C. B. Nichols. The statement was yesterday made public.

On being asked as to the condition of her property, she said:

"I have a mortgage of $2,000, and want $10,000 for the property."

"To whom would you give the property?"

"My husband Spillner (her first husband, deceased); I promised Spillner I would give his son something. I want my first husband's son to have $1,000, but not to have it in his hands. It is to be stored somewhere so that he is a regular hoodlum and he shall not lean on anybody entirely. I have $10,000 in an adopted daughter) run away, and I don't know where she hides."

"Do you want her to have anything?"

"Yes, the same as my son's, so as to educate her. She is not fully 12 years. I want it put in the hands of Mr. Ryan--both thousands."

"Is there any other property?"

"Yes. At Twenty-third and P streets. I want to have it sold and give the money to my lady friend. I don't want it. Here the woman extended her hand to Mrs. Gehrig, at whose house she was then lying.

"Is there any other property?"

"Yes; the furniture. Sell it and put the money all together and give it to Mrs. Gehrig."

"Do you have any suspicion of your husband?"

"He has abused me many times, you bet. Did he ever try to get your money?"

"He was at me many times. He said, 'Mamma, when you die who will get the estate?' I said, 'Henry, I ain't gone yet, and I will deed it over to you. He beat me so many times.

"Did you deed it already?" he said. So on good terms, he said 'Yes.' He said, 'Where are the papers?' I told him when I give anything away nobody ought to be there. Am I right or wrong?"

"Do you think he had anything to do with trying to get you out of the way?"

"The divorce suit comes up next week."

"Well, do you think so?"

"No, hesitatingly."

"While he lived with you he beat you and wanted the property?"

"Yes. Three weeks after I told him I wanted the property he started to hammer me, and I ran away. I told him when I wanted to get me out of the road."

Mrs. Fassler said several times that she wanted Mr. Ryan to act as executor, and had charged of every thing she owned to him.

The testamentary statement is signed by Mrs. Eleanor Fassler, her cross; C. B. Nichols, M. D.; E. C. Hart, City Attorney; W. J. Davis.

POST-MORTEM.

The Physicians Declare Positively that It Was Murder.

Dr. C. B. Nichols and G. G. Tyrrell last evening made a post-mortem examination of the body of Mrs. Fassler. The result of the examination was that a very extensive fracture of the skull was found, extending from the front to the back of the brain. The judgment of the physicians is that the fracture was caused by a blow with some heavy, sharp weapon, presumably a hatchet, which they found also from contusions about the throat of the woman that she had been struck with a heavy weapon.

That she received the wounds in the head from falling down-stairs the doctors say is simply absurd. It would be impossible for her to have been in the kitchen in that way. On the contrary, the blow was given by a second party, and with a heavy, sharp weapon, wielded with strength and precision.

JOHN PERRY'S DEED.

The Coroner's Jury Listens to the Terrible Story.

Perry Laid in Wait for His Intended Victim--Miss Frates' Condition Is Serious.

An inquest in the case of John Perry, the young man who attempted to murder Miss Frates on Monday because she would not marry him, and who afterwards committed suicide, was held by Justice of the Peace Henry last evening in the absence of Coroner George H. Clark.

The first witness called was Manuel Frates, father of the wounded girl. He simply testified that he knew Perry in his lifetime. He was Perry's uncle. Perry was 22 years of age, and was a native of Rhode Island. All he knew about the tragedy was that Perry was madly in love with Mamie, and as she did not love him the witness supposed he became desperate. Some months ago Perry lived at the Mendocino house, but afterwards left for the witness' house, where he found employment. He returned from there Sunday evening. Perry did not come direct to the witness' house, but instead he hid himself in the barn. One of the children saw him and told the witness. Perry was then called into the house and given his supper.

NOTHING TO SAY.

Perry and Mamie conversed in the witness' presence that night, but they only said "how do you do." Witness did not know anything about the tragedy until one of his sons came over to the railroad and informed him. Since the shooting Mamie had told the witness how the shooting occurred. Perry had been lying in wait for her in the back-yard. Everybody else had left the house, and Mamie had gone up-stairs to change her dress. Perry slipped up-stairs--four feet and shot her. After shooting her he went into the front part of the house, and a man named Joe Perry (no relation of the deceased) attempted to come in, but the deceased warned him off, however, and Perry left.

VERDICT OF SUICIDE.

Police Captain Lee was the next witness. He told the jury upon arriving at the Frates' cottage, all of which was detailed in yesterday's RECORD-UNION.

Police Officer Gibson corroborated the testimony of Captain Lee.

The testimony of Dr. C. B. Nichols was the effect that Perry died from the effects of three gunshot wounds--two in the back of the right ear and one ranging upward through the brain from the chin. Any one of the three wounds would have caused death.

The jury rendered a verdict of suicide.

MISS FRATES' CONDITION.

It was reported last night that Miss Frates, the victim of Perry's insane passion, was very low, and very doubtful were entertained as to her recovery. It has been impossible as yet to make a thorough examination of the wounds, or to probe for the bullets.
