

THE OTHER SIDE.

Mrs. Ingalls Has a Very Different Story to Tell.

Her Husband Takes a Shot at Their Landlord for an Alleged Criminal Assault.

In reference to the item which appeared in the RECORD-UNION yesterday concerning a difficulty between the proprietor of a shooting-gallery on K street, between Seventh and Eighth, and his wife, on the one side, and the landlord on the other, there appears to be another side to the story. The item referred to and which was made on the statements of a Constable, his deputy and another official—stated that rumor connected the occurrence with an attempt at blackmail.

Mrs. Edward C. Ingalls, the wife of the proprietor of the shooting-gallery, called at this office yesterday to make a statement, and it was sufficiently plausible to throw a very different light on the affair. To be brief, she said that she on last Sunday evening, accepted an invitation to ride with C. Schindler, their landlord; that during the ride she partook of a glass of beer with him, and that she soon became helpless and believed she was drugged. Schindler, she says, drove back to his premises and dragged her from the buggy into his own room, and to the bathroom of the building occupied by herself and husband.

A short time after she managed to find her way out, and to get to her room, but she found her husband in her room, and she saw her husband lying on Schindler's bed and had gone for his pistol to shoot at Schindler, however, he assisted her back to their own rooms and put her to bed. He did not pursue Schindler that night, as he knew the latter was armed and feared he (Ingalls) would get the worst of it.

On Monday morning, according to Mrs. Ingalls' statement, her husband told her to summon Schindler upstairs to explain his conduct. When the latter presented himself, which he did soon after being requested by a Chinese servant, he and Ingalls had some words, and the latter drew his pistol and shot at Schindler. The bullet missed Schindler's head and buried itself in the wall, and he escaped.

"If we were trying to blackmail Schindler," said Mrs. Ingalls, "why didn't he have my husband arrested for shooting at him? He knows for what he was shot at."

Continuing, Mrs. Ingalls said that Schindler then threatened to sue for the amount of rent, a portion of which they had paid, but they took no receipt therefor, as at that time their relations were very cordial. Having no proof of having paid him the money, they realized that he had the best of them, and decided not to contest the attachment suit, but to leave the place.

Mrs. Ingalls says she and her husband consulted a lawyer about prosecuting Schindler for his assault upon her, but found that he was insured by the Mutual Fire Insurance Company. They then called upon the District Attorney, and he concluded that the proof would be insufficient to convict Schindler. Being without proof of having paid the money, they realized that they had to leave the place, and they decided to leave the place.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL INSTITUTE.

The Interdenominational Convention to be held in this city.

Beginning on Saturday, the 20th, at 8 p. m., and on Sunday evening, the 25th, there will be held in this city a Sunday-school institute, of which the conductor will be Rev. J. E. Gilbert, D. D., of Indianapolis, Ind., Superintendent of American Institute of Religious Education.

Dr. Gilbert is a master of the subject, and his whole time is devoted to the development of Sunday-school work in accordance with the most modern ideas. Teachers are requested to plan to attend to be present at every session, afternoon and evening, as it will repay any sacrifice of time and convenience that it may involve.

The first meeting will be a conference of workers, and will be held in the Seventh-street M. E. Church, on Tuesday, at 8 p. m. Excepting the mass meeting on Sunday at 3:30 p. m., in the Sixth-street M. E. Church, all the afternoon meetings will be held in the Congregational Church, on Sixth street.

All pastors, superintendents and Sunday-school workers are invited to attend the first meeting, on Saturday evening, and every Christian worker the grand mass meeting on Sunday afternoon. The first part of each afternoon meeting will be devoted to instruction in evangelistic work among the masses.

Most of the topics will be treated in the form of lessons by Dr. Gilbert, who will employ the aid of an excellent and experienced person present should be supplied with lead pencil and note book.

This course of normal lessons has been arranged with an especial view to furnishing Sunday-school workers with fresh and practical ideas and plans for conducting their work. All are assumed to know the details of a Sunday-school, and its success in all lines depends almost entirely on the qualification of the teachers corps. Teachers must be trained as well as in the public schools. It is the aim of this institute to furnish so much of the necessary training as will be of real value, and to stimulate a desire for normal training department in connection with each school. The order of exercises will be as follows:

Saturday, June 20th, 8 p. m.—Conference of Workers. Subject, "Our Condition and Needs." Each school in the city will present a verbal report through its Superintendent. Place: M. E. Church South, Seventh street.

Sunday, June 21st, 3:30 p. m.—Mass meeting. Subject, "The Sunday-school Idea." Place: Sixth-street Methodist Church.

Monday, June 22d, 3 p. m.—Subject, "How to Save the Boys." Place: Congregational Church, Sixth street.

Monday, June 22d, 8 p. m.—Subject, "The Supreme Need." Place: First Baptist Church, Ninth street.

Tuesday, June 23d, 3 p. m.—Subject, "The Teacher Preparing His Lesson." Place: Congregational Church.

Tuesday, June 23d, 8 p. m.—Subject, "The Home and the School." Place: Westminster Presbyterian Church.

Wednesday, June 24th, 3 p. m.—Subject, "The Teacher Teaching." Place: Congregational Church.

Wednesday, June 24th, 8 p. m.—Subject, "The Church and the School." Place: Calvary Baptist Church, 1st street.

Thursday, June 25th, 3 p. m.—Subject, "The Primary Class, Its Management and Instruction." Place: Congregational Church.

Thursday, June 25th, 8 p. m.—Subject, "Gathering the Harvest." Place: Congregational Church.

Officers Installed.

At the last regular meeting of the Catholic Ladies' Relief Society Past President Emma A. Hughes installed the following officers, elected for the year 1891-92: Nettie K. Leake, Past President; Eliza Wittenbrock, President; Nellie W. Ogden, Senior Vice-President; Nettie M. Hopley, Junior Vice-President; Louise Kaufman, Recording Secretary; Julia Swift, Financial Secretary; Etta Gorman, Treasurer; Mary Fitzgerald, Marshal; Evelyn Ryan, Guard. Board of Directors—Misses Susie O'Neil, Cora J. O'Neil, O'Neil, Mary McMans, Mary Morley, Rose Carolan, Lizzie O'Brien, Alice Heany and Mrs. J. W. Willem.

EVERYBODY'S COLUMN.

Under this heading the RECORD-UNION will publish short letters from correspondents on topics of interest to the general public. The matter in these communications will be understood to represent only the views of the writer, and will not be accompanied by the name of the writer, not for publication, unless so desired, but as a guarantee of good faith.—[E.]

A Practical Man's Ideas on River Relief and Reclamation.

ENS. RECORD-UNION: I see by the columns of your paper that there has been considerable talk by the different land owners of the tule basin, and other interested men of Sacramento, of reclaiming the Yolo tule lands, and thinking of the old saying that two or more heads are better than one. I thought I would ask the favor of expressing my opinion, suggesting what might be done, through the columns of your paper, as it is an interesting subject to a good many of us in Sutter County.

The breaking of the levees on the west side of the Sacramento River, anywhere between Sacramento, California, and back water in the tule basin north of Sacramento, the tule basin between Feather River and the Sacramento, and the backwater in the tule basin north of Feather River, almost immediately begin to fill. It seems to me that the river from Sacramento south has not capacity enough to carry the water to the sea, and the water is very high. If the river on the Yolo side was securely leveed so that it could not break out, I think in time of very high water it would be a great benefit to the country, and cause the back water to spread over thousands of acres of the best grain land in the State, and to the north of the river, on account of the best of the river being so much higher than it used to be.

Now, I think that to form a general system of levees, and to carry it out, nearly all the land subject to being overflowed by the rivers. There is a large canal being dug past Willows and down to the State Canal, and the purpose of taking water from the river somewhere above Jacinto for irrigation purposes.

It might be possible that the canal could be made so to take a large amount of water from the river in time of high water, and by running it along the west side of the Yolo basin, and on down to Suisun Bay, or whatever would be the best practical route (they could secure an outlet for the canal by running near the high ground on the west side of Yolo), they would have a better chance to catch or control all the creeks and small streams that come from the hills and mountains, and possibly could be used to an advantage to run canal boats on if sufficient water could be had in the summer time.

I think that persons owning land on both sides of the river, from Butte City to Knight's Landing, would be willing to pay a considerable sum of money toward the cost of such a canal, and to carry enough of the river to relieve them, as the river of late years has been breaking out on them considerably and has done a great deal of damage.

Another canal might be taken out of the American River, somewhere above Brighton, and run across to Walnut Grove, or the headwaters of Feather River, by running a canal from the Paine break, or somewhere near there, along the east side of the Yolo basin, and down the river to some good outlet below.

The tule basin north of Sacramento city to be reclaimed would have to have a levee along the Sacramento river, and a canal along the east side of the tule basin, and a canal to carry the water to the creeks that flow into that basin, and run them into the American River.

Such a canal, such a large undertaking would call for a large sum of money, but a general system of levees and canals of that kind would take in such a large territory of land in the State that it seems to me a very large sum of money could be raised, perhaps State aid obtained, and possibly an appropriation from Congress along the line of the water in that way. There wouldn't be many individuals leaving against one another. They would be working more in unison in trying to get the water out of the valley as fast as possible, instead of trying to confine it to crooked channels, where the water has got to run two miles in order to traverse one town, and in some places also causing the velocity of the current to be greatly diminished. H. F. M. Pleasant Grove, June 17th.

PURSUED BY BAD LUCK.

Phil Rich of Fresno meets with Another Mishap.

Phil Rich, the genial and affable boniface of Fresno, is having a streak of hard luck.

It was only a few days ago when the privacy of his bedchamber was rudely intruded upon by a midnight prowler, who ran away with Phil's pants and all the money that was contained in the pockets—something like $125. The garment was subsequently recovered on a neighboring levee.

That was enough bad luck to do any ordinary mortal, but it appears that Mr. Rich did not stop there. On Wednesday some young ladies, who were stopping at the hotel, admired some peaches that grew on a lofty tree in the orchard, and Mr. Rich gallantly proposed to bring some of the golden fruit down to them. Securing a long ladder he plucked the toothsome delicacies, the ladder slipped and he tumbled to the ground, striking with a thud. He was laid up for several days, and it was the wish of his ankles. He is attending to business yet, but has to use crutches.

Murray Will Contest.

A San Francisco paper states, in relation to Judge Cullen's recent decision upon the validity of the Ramie Culture Act, that W. H. Murray, State Superintendent of Ramie Culture, has announced his intention of taking an appeal to the Supreme Court, which meets in July in September next. The application received from different parts of the State for ramie plants cannot be filled.

The National Complaint.

Thomas J. Riley, 524 West Sixty-first street, New York, writes: "I had very severe attacks of dyspepsia, accompanied with wind and pains in the side and stomach. Everything I ate disagreed with me, and I lost flesh day after day. I commenced applying ALCOCK'S PLEASANT PLASTERS, one on the pit of the stomach and one below, just above the navel. In a few hours my pains very much abated. In two days my food agreed to again with me. At the end of a week I was nearly well, but continued wearing the plaster as a precaution. I have used altogether six plasters, and must say they are the cheapest and best medicine ever invented."

SOMETHING LIKE IT.

The New Officers' Headquarters at the New Armory Hall.

They Will be Neat and Serviceable—The First Regiment Camp-Ground Not Chosen.

Carpenters, paper-hangers and painters have been busy for the past few weeks fitting up the officers' quarters in Armory Hall. One of the large rooms in the third story of the brick building for armory proper has been handsomely fitted up and will be tastefully furnished. Sixteen lockers (or wardrobes) have been made, wherein the officers' uniforms can be kept. Each locker will accommodate two officers' trappings. The floor will be carpeted, and it is expected that the room will be ready for occupancy by the latter part of the month.

This clubroom will be a great convenience to the officers. It is so situated that privacy can be secured, and the records, uniforms, etc., placed where they will be safe. None but commissioned officers will be allowed in the headquarters, and it is the intention of the Brigade Commander to set apart one evening in each week when brigade officers can assemble for instruction. The rooms will be open on stated evenings, in the week, and an officer will be present to give information on subjects connected with the National Guard.

The officers in this city need not hereafter be ashamed to show visiting military men their headquarters, and it will also be convenient on the occasion of receptions to guests, as the room is quite large and there is a storeroom in the rear which can be used as a kitchen when necessary.

THE NEXT ENCAMPMENT. Col. J. W. Guthrie states that the Board of Officers of the First Artillery Regiment has not yet decided upon a camp-ground for the next encampment. It was announced in a general order that the regiment would go to Santa Cruz. It is probable, however, that if the people of that section object to the encampment to the regiment that they did last year the encampment will be held there.

OTHER MATTERS. The semi-annual practice shoot of the Brigade Staff and Signal Corps will take place next Sunday between the hours of 10 A. M. and 12 P. M., and every member should shoot his score. The order from the Adjutant-General's office calling on the State troops on July 4th has not been issued yet, but will be shortly.

OFFICER SIMMONS' WITNESS.

A Robbery Case Which Turned Out Wrong for the Defendants.

Several weeks ago John Ryan, James Smith and Joseph Lowry robbed a one-armed man named Maple in a Front-street saloon, and it was found out his pocket in order to get the money.

Police Officer Simmons did the detective work in the case. When the men were called up for trial in the Superior Court they demanded separate trials, and conducted themselves in a manner which indicated that they were innocent of the crime. The cause of their confidence was that the one-armed man had disappeared, and could not be found by the officers, and who, in fact, knew as much about it as the prosecuting witness.

Ryan's case was taken up for trial yesterday, and with the testimony of Williams and Lowry, who were found guilty by the jury after two ballots.

GARDENMEYER AGAIN.

Another Sad Story of a Sutter City Swindler.

Mrs. Wiemeyer, widow of the late Major K. F. Wiemeyer, called upon Justice of the Peace Henry yesterday afternoon and stated that she had just discovered that she was one of the many victims of the Sutter City boomlet.

She stated that in the latter part of last year, after possessing herself through a lottery scheme of several town lots in Sutter City, P. D. Gardemeyer, who aspired to be the duke of that district, persuaded her to purchase another lot in the heart of the "city" on "California street." She did so, she says, and paid Gardemeyer $200 for this valuable piece of property.

It was not long afterward, however, when she alleges, she discovered that Gardemeyer had sold the same piece of property to another person for $250 and the purchaser had had the matter rectified.

Mrs. Wiemeyer now wants the wrong righted, and upon the advice of Justice Henry has laid the matter before District Attorney Ryan. It is understood that Gardemeyer will be prosecuted.

POLICE COURT.

Patrick Riley and His Neighbor's Geese—Dias' Case Dismissed.

Patrick Riley, a bricklayer, was arraigned in the Police Court yesterday on a charge of petit larceny, preferred by Mrs. Spain. He is accused of killing four of the complaining witness' geese. Riley pleaded not guilty to the charge, and demanded a jury trial. The case was set for next Monday.

Henry Ambrose, charged by his wife with battery, had his trial postponed until to-day.

The case of Joseph X. Dias, charged with beating his wife, was dismissed. Mrs. Dias swore that all her husband did was to tap her lightly on the cheek, because she tried to take the baby away from him. Dias swore to the same state of facts, and the Court could not see enough in the case to warrant a conviction.

THE FISHERMEN.

Their Demurrer Overruled, and the Trial Set for Tuesday.

P. H. Holliday, "Kanaka Sam," Ed Glatz and M. De Kramer, the fishermen arrested by Chief Tunstead of the Fish Commissioners' patrol, were again in the Police Court yesterday to answer to charges of illegal fishing, in setting their nets for more than a third of the distance across the stream.

Isaac Josselyn appeared as counsel for the defendants and filed a demurrer, alleging that there was more than one charge in each complaint, and that neither allegation was sufficient to constitute a public offense.

Judge Craven overruled the demurrer, and a jury trial was demanded for each defendant. The cases were set for Tuesday, and bail fixed at $100 each.

How He Got His Wife. The marriage of O. S. Lower of Newcastle, Placer County, and Miss Ella Hustill of Kentucky took place here yesterday. Neither ever saw the other until the overland train arrived bearing the prospective bride.

The couple had become engaged by letter, aided by an exchange of photographs. When they met neither was disappointed, and they proceeded to a business-like way to carry out their agreement.

The groom is a prosperous fruit-grower in the foothill belt. He is 45 years of age, and his bride 30.

Capay Valley Lands.

A CAPAY COLONY.

IN THE SPRING OF LAST YEAR Robert A. and Neal D. Barker associated themselves with William McKay, all of Oakland, with a view of searching out a suitable location in which to engage in the profitable occupation of fruit-growing. After visiting many localities, they decided on the Capay Valley, Yolo County, and the Rhodes tract at Tancred.

Busy Fruit-growers in a Pretty Yolo Valley—Tancred and Its Adjoining Farms.

Negotiations were opened with the Capay Valley Land Company, owning the tract in question. With W. H. Mills, the General Agent of that company, they arranged for the purchase of about 220 acres of foothill land. This being more than they had thought of taking for their own use, they spoke to a number of friends about it, with the result that the tract was divided among the following people: B. L. Hickok, 40 acres; W. T. Barnett, 20 acres; N. T. Greathead, 20 acres; Mrs. L. Greathead, 20 acres; W. McKay, 20 acres; N. D. Barker, 20 acres; A. Barker, 20 acres; J. P. Brownlee, 20 acres; E. H. Hasselt, 10 acres; Frederick Kelly, 10 acres; A. W. Kelly, 10 acres; Joseph Barker, 10 acres; A. W. Kelly, 10 acres.

So far this had been merely a private venture of the gentlemen above named, but in talking up the question of dividing the land already purchased, it was found that so many more would like to join it that the area of the purchase would admit of that, it was suggested on all hands, "Why not get some more land and divide it up in the same way?" Then followed the idea of a stock company to take hold of a larger tract and arrange for the cultivation of the whole of it, after subdividing it according to the requirements of the subscribers. A provisional board was formed, a prospectus issued, and finally, on the 6th of June, 1890, the Western Co-operative Colonization and Improvement Company was duly registered and proceeded to business, with the following officers: President, William McKay; Vice-President, H. F. Brown; Directors—H. C. Ellis, Charles Brooks and R. A. Barker; Secretary
