

ERRING SENATORS.

The Capital City Ball-Tossers Do Poor Work.

San Francisco Really Won the Game in the First Inning—How It was Done.

Yesterday afternoon about 1,000 people saw the worst piece of ball playing that was ever seen at Snowflake Park, in the game between the Sacramento and San Francisco. The first inning settled the contest, so far as the result was concerned. That inning gave San Francisco the game, and it is worth detailing just to show how and when Ginsberg's giants made their errors.

Sharp led off with a base hit; Sweeney knocked up a pop fly, and Hutchinson dropped it; Levy hit easily to Peoples, who made an inexcusable error, letting the ball roll by. Works got it and threw to Armstrong. The latter batted the ball to third to stop Sweeney, and Hutchinson muffed again, enabling the runner to score. Cartwright knocked out a clean hit, and Levy crossed the plate. Smith took first on balls and Cartwright stole third through the usual forgetfulness of the watching bases. Smith then started to steal second base. Spies threw to the bag, expecting Peoples to take the ball away, but the "Kid" was not in the play. The result was that Cartwright easily scored.

Clarke then hit to Peoples, who threw to third to force out Smith. Hutchinson muffed again, however, and the runner scored. Sweet took first on balls and Hassamer knocked up a pop fly which McIntirk caught.

But this was only the first put-out. Cobb waited and got his base on four balls. Sharp hit a fly to McIntirk, who muffed and Clarke scored. The batter was out, however, the fly being an infield hit. Sweeney then hit to McCloskey, who dropped it and allowed two men to score.

This was all San Francisco got in this inning, but it was enough. The team spent twenty minutes bating the ball about in that one inning. The Sacramento made six errors, Spies had a passed ball, France gave three men bases on balls and the batters knocked out two hits. The result was eight runs, three hits and six errors.

The game dragged on to the sixth inning, when the home team made six runs. Stapleton knocked out a three-bagger when the bases were filled, and Sunday and Works both knocked out home runs, the ball going over the right-field fence in each case.

The score stood 15 to 10 in favor of San Francisco when the ninth inning commenced, and the home team was as though it intended to tie the score. Three runs were made and Peoples came to the bat, with two men out and two men on base. A hit would have tied the score, but Peoples was not equal to the task. He knocked the ball straight to Sharp, who threw him out at first, and the game was over. The score was 15 to 13.

The hitting of both teams was hard, twenty-four base hits being made in all. Sunday knocked out the fence twice, but the first time preferred to remain on third base, in order to keep in the air and outfielders on their guard. Following is the score:

AT THE BAY.

Oakland Won the Morning and San Jose the Afternoon Game.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 25.—The Oakland and San Jose played a seven-inning game this morning at the Emeryville grounds, and Oakland won by a score of six to three. Summers pitched a strong game for the Colonels, and received good support. Harper was not batted hard, but the hits made by Oakland were effective and brought in runs.

At the afternoon game, in this city, San Jose turned the tables and won by a score of eleven to four. Baltz, who was in the box for Oakland, was batted freely, and owing to the poor fielding game put up by the Colonels the Santa Clara men found it easy to pile up runs.

In the latter part of the game Baltz was taken out of the box and Dale, the new recruit, did the pitching. He pitched a good game and kept the runs down. San Jose played a fine fielding game.

"COMICAL CUSSES."

The Fourth of July Mardi-Gras Promises to Be Good.

Arrangements Almost Completed—A "Jigadler Brindie" Already Selected—List of Prizes.

The young men who have taken upon themselves the task of amusing and entertaining the public on the evening of the Fourth of July are working with a will to make their mardi-gras display a success, and they promise that it will not be a disappointment.

Those who are engineering the diabolical scheme have had experience in that line, and should be able to give the public fun and pleasure for their money, as no doubt they will.

As there will be no public fireworks on that night, it is the intention to make that one of the features of the mardi-gras, and people along the line are expected to contribute their share of pyrotechnics.

The Mardi-Gras Committee met on Saturday and nearly completed arrangements for the display. It was resolved to have all the fireworks in the line of march possible with the means at their command. They proceeded to authorize expenditures on the basis of the collections made, and the sum appropriated by the general committee to cover those line they expect to all short some $100 or more.

J. E. Mayo was elected "Jigadler-Brindie." The contract for a band of music was not concluded, but will be at the next meeting.

The line of march is to be as follows: From 12th and Broadway to 10th and Broadway at 7 P. M. At that hour the line will move to Tenth and K, and thence to W street. On M street there will be a half, and the completion of the formation will be made and the illuminations of the line prepared. This will take an hour, and if the weather should be warm residents are kindly asked to bring along with them drinking water before the march is taken up.

As soon as it is dark enough, probably between 8:30 and 9 o'clock, the procession will move by a countermarch on W street sufficient to double the line, which will take it to Sixth street, thence up M to Tenth and Broadway, and thence to Tenth and the Plaza and dismiss.

Residents on this line are requested to illuminate their premises. Following is the list of prizes to be awarded to the winners in the various competitions:

Best float in line, $40; second best float in line, $30; third best float in line, $20. Best burlesque band, $25; second best burlesque band, $15.

Best group, ten or more, $30; second best group, five or more, $20; third best group, two or more, $10; second best group, one or more, $5.

Best local character, $10; second best local character, $5. Best sustained character, $10; second best sustained character, $5.

Best comical character with mule, horse or donkey, $10; second best comical character with mule, horse or donkey, $5. Best burlesque on business house in city, $12.

A WARM NIGHT. It Causes the People to Seek the Plaza and Open-Air Concert. An immense throng of people attended the open-air concert at the Plaza last evening, given by the First Artillery Band. It was a rare musical treat, and one that merited the appreciation that was expressed by the liberal applause.

The evening was warm, and it seemed as if the people of the residence portion of the city had nearly all assembled in the delightful Plaza to listen to the music.

A number on the program that greatly pleased and won deserved approval was "La Galeto Polka," composed by Miss Emma Gee of this city. Its harmony is perfectly correct, its movement spirited and full of grace, and its address strongly made to the correct taste.

Mr. Neale wrote the arrangement for the band. Miss Gee has composed much dance music, indeed it is a specialty with her, and she makes it her sentiment and reputation. "La Galeto" is the first of Miss Gee's writings that has been published. Arranged for the piano it is for sale at L. K. Hamner, as elsewhere announced. It is a piece that is of high quality, and promises well for other excellent publications by the same author.

There was a vigorous runaway on L street on Saturday evening. A horse attached to an empty buggy dashed furiously down that thoroughfare, turned a half-somersault on the sidewalk at Fourth street, and then resumed his way to K, turning down the latter street he was brought to a halt in some way. Neither horse nor vehicle were much injured.
