

FIGHTING OFF DEATH.

Police Officer Arlington Still Lives But is Unconscious.

Little Hope for His Recovery—Annie Manning's Will—Result of the Autopsy.

The terrible tragedy in which Police Officer William Arlington was shot by his mistress, Annie Manning, who afterward shot herself, was the talk of the city yesterday.

Everybody knew the popular officer, and all liked him. Despite the fact that the doctors pronounced Arlington's wounds fatal, he is still alive, and may live for several days yet.

City Physician Nichols said that while he considered that the wounded officer did not have ONE CHANCE IN A HUNDRED to survive the effects of the deadly bullet, yet there had been cases in his practice in which persons had recovered from just such wounds.

Of course, there is no hope of ever extracting the bullet, and if the officer recovers he will always carry the bullet in his brain.

Hosts of the wounded officer's friends called at the police station yesterday with the expectation of seeing him, but in each case they were denied admission into the hospital, the doctor having left strict orders in this regard.

The sufferer has to be kept as quiet as possible, and there is no noise enough about the place caused by passing trains, without that which would be added by visitors.

A nurse is in constant attendance, and everything is being done to make the wounded man as comfortable as possible. He is still unconscious. At times he appears to rally and to recognize those about him, but he cannot speak.

ANNIE MANNING'S DEATH. The remains of Annie Manning are still at the morgue. Yesterday afternoon Dr. G. A. Williams, Dr. C. B. Nichols and G. C. Simmons, performed an autopsy on the body.

Dr. White submitted the following report of the autopsy to Coroner George Clark, and it will be produced at the inquest: "In the presence of Drs. G. C. Simmons and C. B. Nichols, I this day held an autopsy of the body of Annie Manning, deceased.

There was found a gunshot wound upon the right temple of the head, and upon the chin. The bullet which made the wound on the chin was felt beneath the scalp upon the opposite side of the head, and several fragments of bone, crushed out by the passing ball, were felt in the immediate neighborhood of the ball.

FRACTURED IRREGULARLY. "Upon raising the scalp the skull was found to be fractured irregularly in its entire circumference. The ball passed transversely through the two hemispheres of the brain, tearing away the upper part of the corpora striata.

The wound of entrance was irregular in shape, one and one-half inches in length by measurement. No powder-marks were observed in the skin, but powder discoloration was noted in the muscular tissue beneath, indicating that the muzzle of the pistol was placed against the temple. The great size of this wound was caused by laceration from powder explosion.

"The slight wound seen on the chin was probably caused by falling upon the corner of a mirror, or of some other hard object. No other wounds or abrasions were found upon the body. The wound was made entirely fatal and death must have been instantaneous."

THE WOMAN'S WILL. The will of Annie Manning was filed in the County Clerk's office yesterday for probate. It is a brief and simple document, in which she bequeaths to her mother, Mrs. William Meyers, of 121 Lafayette street, Stockton, Cal., the property, both real and personal, of every kind and nature, which I own, or may have or own at the time of my death, absolutely and unconditionally to her and her heirs.

The mother of the deceased is also named in the will as executrix of the estate without bonds. The will was drawn up just a year ago.

Accompanying the will is Mrs. Meyer's petition for letters of administration. She estimates the value of the estate at $5,000. It consists of a fine household furniture, jewelry and money in bank.

RIVER FLEET NOTES. What the Sailing Craft and Launches Are Doing on the Sacramento.

The strong breezes of the last few days have given the sailing section of the river yacht fleet excellent opportunity to spread its wings, and the numerous sloops have well improved. There are several fast sailers on the river front.

The steam launch Nerida has arrived at Colusa and is taking out excursion parties from that city. The steamer will remain on the upper river for some time. The vapor yacht Campanella, which has been on the ways for nearly a month undergoing complete refitting, was on Wednesday launched again and rechristened, this time her burgee being of the colors of the United States flag.

Since the change of ownership the Campanella yacht, the Canvasback frequently comes out of her slip and leads all the others in the fleet. It is well understood that she will be fitted with new motive power some time this summer.

The vapor launch Vidette, now that the Nerida is away, is the fleetest of the small yachts, with the Canvasback excepted.

The vapor yacht Miami, the smallest of the fleet, is being fitted with a flying awning and almost nightly makes short trips up or down the river. Her owners are not yet satisfied with her speed, but are steadily increasing it.

The steamer Naomi, the largest of the fleet, makes an occasional trip and gives her owners great satisfaction. It is the only wholly enclosed yacht on the river, her cabin covering the entire boat.

Captain Dalton's steam yacht has been recently brightened up and put in first-class order, and occasionally appears on the water front bearing pleasure parties.

EX-CONVICTS. The Police Will Henceforth be Provided with Their Portraits.

When a convict is discharged from the Folsom Prison hereafter his portrait and record will be in the possession of Chief of Police Drew, as Warden Aull has consented to furnish them. A better plan would be for the Warden to notify the police here when discharged convicts are put upon the cars, so that the officers may be able to identify the men.

Unless the photographs are taken at the time the men are released, it will in many cases be difficult, if not impossible to identify the men, as prison life works great changes in them.

There can be no doubt that most of the crimes committed here are the work of ex-convicts, and it certainly would be a great aid to the police to be able to identify each discharged prisoner that stops over here.

In the Police Court yesterday Ah Chung, a Chinese man who was caught in the act of giving a member of the chain-gang some opium, was ordered to pay

BASEBALL VALENT.

How the California Article Pleases Eastern Cranks.

Reitz and Roberts Jump Their Contracts at Rochester—Van Halstren Writes a Letter.

In a recent letter from Philadelphia George Van Halstren has been writing to say concerning the California baseball players now with the Eastern clubs.

In regard to California players in the East, I will tell you what I know. Jerry Denny is in pretty hard luck, from what I hear his arm has been broken all spring, until finally New York either released him or loaned him to Cleveland, where he is now putting up a good game and well as his cash.

Fred Carroll is not batting in his old time form, and is fielding badly. His team (the Pittsburghers) are badly demoralized through discussions between the players, managers and directors.

Phil Knell, every one will be glad to hear, is pitching excellent ball, and it is principally through him that the Pittsburghers are as far up as it is. He recently retired the Louisville club with two hits in an eleven inning game.

Bill Brown is now playing with the Philadelphia League team, catching now and then, but playing first most of the time. New York released him to strengthen the former club. He is playing first very well, but is not hitting as well as his cash.

Tom Brown is the surprise of the season, as he is putting up a wonderful game in the field and batting thirty per cent, better than he ever did before. He is hitting bases out of sight. He leads the country in long hits, having thirty-two so far in two, three and home baggers.

John Johnson is putting up a great game for Washington, and he is installed a pet among the baseball admirers there through his willingness to do what is said to him. He is hitting first very well, and I don't speak well of him, I am sorry I didn't get him for Baltimore, but we have just secured Hardie and he is just as good.

Garry is also a pet among the Washington fans, and he has behind him all season. Dan Sweeney came within an ace of being the champion Philadelphia pitcher, but he needed a man right away, so signed Beecher, just released by Washington.

Henry Hurley has not been catching much for Cincinnati, but what little he had to do was done very well. As far as I know, Powers and Pete Sweeney are doing very well, but playing first most of the time. They are doing very well, and they sold their best catcher (Bowman) who played with Sacramento last year, to Chicago for $1,300. He wasn't good enough for the coast, either!

I see, according to the averages, that Dungan has a batting average close to .400. He will be a great player. Goodenough has turned out to be a great drinker of "German disturbance."

W. H. I. is not myself, I am not satisfied with my work at the coast. I don't appear to be very good, although I am second in the club at last accounts, having an average of .316. Worden, our big first baseman with .285, is doing very well, and he is playing left field again. I have been captain of the Baltimore since the 1st day of June, and am doing very well, all things considered. Hardie is going to play right field, when he joins us. We are in third place, Boston is first, Louisville second, and my pitcher, Healy, gets in condition we shall make a strong bid for the pennant.

Wise and Malhan are talking of spending the winter on the coast. I will be there myself as soon as the season is over, as I am anxious to see my wife and baby. Tom Sweeney also has a baby, one day younger than mine.

REITZ AND ROBERTS. The following from the Philadelphia Sporting Life will be read with interest by our readers, at the moment. One thing is sure, and that is, that the people will be without water some day, if they depend on that pump. I don't think the cylinder will be able to stand more than twenty pounds pressure in a year from now. We could put in a new improved cylinder for about $3,000, but I don't favor that proposition."

Engineer Kenwick, when asked for his views, said: "I don't think the cylinder is a bit worse off than it was before the crack occurred, but it is only a question of time when the pump will have to be abandoned. It is of old style, and causes the consumption of one-third more fuel than the improved pump of the same capacity. The crack is what is called a 'shrink crack,' and is not necessarily dangerous. The cylinder is thicker at that point, and the crack is caused by the iron on either side of the thick portion getting chilled more rapidly than the whole of the cylinder. I don't favor the idea of putting in a new cylinder. Besides, the whole concern would have to be taken apart to put the cylinder in place, and, in my judgment, that would require about six weeks' time. The Stevens pump can not be stopped for such a length of time, and this is how the matter stands."

Last evening Engineer Judd and Renwick stopped the leak and braced that portion of the cylinder with bands and clamps, so as to prevent any widening of the crack, if possible.

Meeting of Episcopalians. Rev. Carroll M. Davis, rector in charge of the Episcopal Church in this city, makes a call for all the members of the church to meet in the basement of the church this Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

It is said that matters of great importance are to be considered, especially the matter of filling the vacancy caused by the resignation of the late rector.

Residence and Furniture at Auction. At 10 o'clock this forenoon Bell & Co. will sell at auction, at their salesroom, 619 J street, the east half of lot seven, in the block bounded by Eighteenth, Nineteenth, L and M streets. The lot is 40x100 feet and has a good house of two large rooms and summer kitchen. Also at the same time will be sold all the household goods.

Dangerous Oils. At the next meeting of the City Trustees an ordinance will be submitted for regulating the storage of gasoline and coal oil in the city. The ordinance has been drawn by Newton Booth and W. A. Anderson.

It is said that there are large quantities of these oils stored in the heart of the business portion of the city.

The Festive Shepherd. Some queer things are credited to that eccentric class of individuals known as shepherds. One of them footed it from Mount Rose to Reno—about twenty miles—on the fourth of July, but arrived just twenty-four hours late. He lost his reckoning and thought the 4th was the 4th, and got to town Sunday morning.

In Court Again. James Rutherford filed papers in the County Clerk's office yesterday in a suit for divorce from his wife, Louisa. He charges her with desertion. Recently the wife instituted suit for divorce from Rutherford on the ground of cruelty, but when the case came on for trial she could not produce the testimony necessary, and he was granted a non-suit.

Last Evening's Concert. The concert at the Plaza last evening, by the "Lionel" Band, was listened to by the usual throng of people. The weather was pleasant, and the music unusually fine.

The next concert will be given by the "Lionel" Band on Sunday evening next.
