

FOR NATIONAL GUARDSMEN.

Preparations for the First Artillery's Encampment.

Some Bits of Advice to Those Who Intend Going into Camp--A Proposed Long Tramp.

Notes of preparation for the annual encampment of the First Artillery Regiment are observable about the military headquarters here, and there is a general overhauling of tents, cooking utensils, baggage, etc. The regiment will leave here on Saturday evening, August 8th, for Santa Cruz, arriving there early on the 9th. Quartermaster Maydwell, with the advance party, will have everything in readiness for the men and officers on their arrival in camp, so that regular duties may be entered upon immediately.

The is already a commendable spirit manifested to profit by the encampment, and to make it a success from a military standpoint. Altogether there will probably be 300 men in tents, including the band and Signal Corps. The Subsistence Department will be managed by the regiment, as in the past.

The officers and men of Battery B are seriously discussing the idea of marching to camp with the guns, caissons, baggage, etc., camping on the wayside every night. The distance by way of Stockton, San Jose and over the Santa Cruz Mountains, is in the neighborhood of 150 miles, and if the trip should be undertaken it is predicted that the men and horses will be pretty well used up. The experience gained would be of value, however, and if it is men have sufficient grit to undertake the journey, and the cost is not too great, there can be no objection to the tramp. If this is decided upon, the battery should start several days in advance of the regiment.

The Signal Corps will be under the immediate supervision of Lieutenant Robie. Major Sherman and Captains Sheehan and Dray, of the Brigade Staff, were ordered into camp also, their duties being to observe its workings generally and report to headquarters. All will be under the command of Colonel J. W. Greer, who will provide the sleeping accommodations.

Several members of the staff will be present during the week, and the Brigade Commander will pay a "semi-official" visit to the camp. No name has yet been given to the camp, but there is a disposition to name it in honor of General Allen if no other regiment has pre-empted the title. The Adjutant-General intends to visit every morning, and the boys had better make up their minds to attend to business while he is about. He does not believe in wasting the State's money.

SKIRMISH DRILLING. There is a pretty general feeling in the corps that more attention should be paid to the skirmish drill and the handling of companies in the streets of cities. The suppression of riots has prevailed here. The captains of the companies of our home regiment, including Captains Nihell of Nevada and Woodland of Nevada, have a very good knowledge of tactical evolutions, and if called out for general field business could be depended upon to keep their men in line, and in their proper places in line; but in the skirmish line and street order they would be failures, owing to the lack of practice and the impossibility of giving proper instruction in the confined quarters of an army.

There will be ample room in camp for the skirmish drill, and the street formation could be practiced in the streets of Sacramento on any moonlight evening during the summer months instead of going through the old stereotyped business now in vogue in the armories, and with which every captain is familiar.

Woodland and Nevada City the company commanders can also practice the street drill, and officers and men will be the better for it, while fitting themselves for the very business for which they are most likely to be called out.

When the new headquarters shall be fitted up it is the intention to set apart every Friday evening for general instruction in military topics. There will be no fines for non-attendance, but every officer in the brigade can drop in, and, perhaps, learn something new in the line of his duty in any emergency. This will be known as brigade night, and will not conflict with meetings of regimental officers.

NATURAL GAS.

What the Local Company Has Already Done.

The President and Directors Say Outlook is Favorable--The Outlook is Thus Far.

In the report of the President of the Natural Gas Company, prepared for the purpose of acquainting the stockholders with the operations of the company in its efforts to develop a gas supply, the following information is given. The directors feel encouraged by the prospects of success, and will push the well in the hope of striking an abundant supply. The report says: "We have had some bad luck in prospecting our country, but by any means as serious as some others who have had even more experience. The old gas company at Stockton have been engaged for weeks in actually drilling out a ten-inch sand pump which became stuck in the well at several hundred feet depth. While we may mourn over accidents which have retarded the progress of the results obtained worthy of annoyance and considerable expense?"

"A syndicate of our business men resolved to spend $200,000 in searching for natural gas and artesian water within our city limits. We have found both in satisfactory quantities. Natural gas was found at 54 feet, but its quantity did not increase materially until about 750 feet, since which it is constantly increasing in quantity, until it can now be lighted without gathering in sections. "Regarding the development of artesian water, the prospects seem to point to more important results than the discovery of gas, owing to the great benefit which this will have on this and the adjoining county over the river. We have made no definite tests yet as to the quantity flowing from the well, but it is probably will not until our well is completed; but we now know we are safe in boring for artesian water anywhere within the city limits. The well is now on a track that means up and down the river on both sides.

"It must be remembered that the volume of water now pouring out of the R-street well is only the quantity which flows itself through the joints of the pipe, and through a seven-inch aperture at the bottom of the last casing. The water is forced as fast as the hole is bored, shutting out both gas and water. "Another result of our experiment is the discovery of a new artesian well on the plains south of that place. One individual is being formed at Brighton for an experimental artesian well on the plains to contribute $1,000 if the well is bored on his place, and to pay the whole bill if successful. Another fruit-grower toward Colusa is preparing to put down a gas and artesian well on his premises. "To secure artesian water here the well should be at least 400 feet. The first rise of water can be secured at less than 400 feet, when the water at R street flowed six or eight feet above the ground, and has continually increased since in height and volume. A eight-inch pipe should be carried through the gravel bed first down and into clay, say 115 feet. Then a six or eight-inch pipe can be easily carried the balance of the distance. "The ten-inch would cost $15, and a seven-inch, $175, of No. 12 iron, say $300 for pipe and about $1,200 for boring--$1,500 total.

"We cannot close without drawing your attention to the power produced by an artesian well of small bore and standard iron pipe which does not leak. We feel the power generated by these wells has not been appreciated as much as it deserves until quite recently. In Aberdeen, Dakota, an eight-inch artesian well is run by an artesian well. In Jackson, Florida, the City Fathers utilize this force in pumping sewerage from a sewer to a higher land. In Waco, Texas, dozens of small industries are being operated by water power from artesian wells, among them being sawmills, gristmills, circular saws, planing mills and sewing machines.

"It would seem that an artesian well with a four-inch light for our houses, power for machinery and water for irrigation, should be recognized as a factor of very great importance in this section of the State, and that Sacramento gentlemen who have contributed toward the development of so important a matter are certainly worthy of some praise." The financial report shows: "Commenced operations with ninety-nine members. The first installment brought in $600, or $10 a share; the second, of $20, or $2 a share; the third, of $25, or $2.50 a share; the fourth, of $25, or $2.50 a share; the fifth, of $25, or $2.50 a share; the sixth, of $25, or $2.50 a share; the seventh, of $25, or $2.50 a share; the eighth, of $25, or $2.50 a share; the ninth, of $25, or $2.50 a share; the tenth, of $25, or $2.50 a share; the eleventh, of $25, or $2.50 a share;
