

LABOR-DAY DEMONSTRATION.

The Federated Trades Committee Continuing Preparations.

The Saloons Will Probably Close--Favorable Reports Coming In From All Sides.

The Labor Day Committee of the Council of Federated Trades held another special meeting Saturday evening at the Luscar Bldg's headquarters and proceeded with the arrangements for the big demonstration which takes place on the 7th of next month.

President Hantzman presided for a time and was then excused, in order that he might attend the contractors' banquet. Mr. Caverly then took the chair.

A communication was received from the granite-cutters of Rocklin informing the committee that they would accompany the quarrymen and tool-sharpeners to Sacramento on Labor Day, and would participate in the parade. They also stated that the granite men from Newcastle, Folsom and other neighboring places would accompany them and would also participate.

SALOONS WILL CLOSE.

President Hantzman reported that he had interviewed the president of the Liquor Dealers' Association with reference to the matter of closing the saloons during a portion of Labor Day during the progress of the parade. Mr. Dillman had said that he was one of the original knights of Labor in Sacramento and favored anything that organized labor might desire. He would close his own place of business on that day and would use his influence to have others do the same. He will call a meeting of the Executive Committee of the association to consider the matter, and says he has no doubt the saloons will close for at least a portion of the day.

The committee decided to mail in a formal request to the Liquor Dealers' Committee when the latter met.

THE POTTERY WORKERS.

Secretary Bauman was instructed to extend an invitation to the pottery workers of Lincoln to join in the parade.

A committee consisting of Messrs. Garrison and Jost was appointed to resume the canvass of the business houses, and requesting them to close their places on Labor Day. The committee attended to the railroad shops, freight sheds and wholesale and retail stores. The committee will confine itself to the retail houses.

Messrs. Tebbetts and Bauman were appointed a committee to visit on the butchers and endeavor to get them to close, so that their employees might participate. Secretary Bauman stated last night that several of the butchers had been secured already and they were willing to close. It is expected that the butcher boys will make a fine showing in the parade.

The committee decided to feel very much elated over the outlook. Every day word is received from labor organizations to the effect that they will participate, and the prospects are that the demonstration will surpass anything of the kind ever seen in Sacramento before.

CONTRACTORS AND BUILDERS.

Annual Banquet of the Association Saturday Night.

The annual banquet of the Sacramento Contractors and Builders' Association was held Saturday evening at the Restaurant de France, and, as usual, was a brilliant affair.

Nearly a hundred persons sat down to the banquet board. The viands served were the best the market afforded, and the big semi-circular table was literally loaded down with them.

Two hours were consumed in eating, and then President Elias Carle called for order. He said it had been a year since they had had the pleasure of enjoying each other's company at the banquet table. Since then, he was happy to say, there had been no association of contractors pulling together if they desired to turn out good work. When they were at loggerheads results were bad. In Sacramento, he was happy to say, all was harmony.

Chairman Carle then called upon James Seadler to respond to the toast, "The Architects." Mr. Seadler spoke of the necessity of the architects and contractors pulling together if they desired to turn out good work. When they were at loggerheads results were bad. In Sacramento, he was happy to say, all was harmony.

Other toasts were responded to as follows: "The Lumbermen," Wm. Cain; "Master Builders," A. M. Smith; "The Iron Interests," James McGuire; "The Hardware Interests," Wm. Schaw; "The Federated Trades," John Hantzman; "The Sawmill Interests of the Interior," J. McDonald; "The Fire Department," John W. Gardner; "Tom Scott's Victim," J. N. Larkin.

MORE ELECTRIC STREET CARS.

Things of Beauty and a Joy to Those Who Ride.

Yesterday the six new cars of the Central Electric Railway Company were delivered to the company's lines, and on J street, below Fifteenth, cars will hereafter pass every five minutes, instead of every seven and a half minutes, as heretofore.

On M street and on J, east of Fifteenth, cars will run every ten minutes. Crowds of people enjoyed rides on the new cars yesterday.

The new cars have the latest improved running gear, which makes scarcely any noise. Another desirable feature in their construction is the sides, which effectively prevent the possibility of any person getting caught between the cars as the latter pass, while the seats are placed the same as in the open cars.

The windows are strictly removed in dry weather, leaving the cars open and airy, and in their stead are separate curtains that can be drawn down to exclude the ancient rays of the summer sun. In all respects the new cars are a great acquisition to the electric lines.

SUCCUMBED TO THE HEAT.

Death of Frank A. Butler Near the Becho del Paso.

Frank A. Butler, a farm hand who of late has been employed at the rancho del Paso and other neighboring places, died suddenly while working in a field near the grant Saturday afternoon.

Butler had been drinking heavily for several days, and being in a weak condition was unable to hold up under the burning sun. He was overcome by the heat and died before medical assistance could reach him.

Coroner Clark took charge of the remains and they are now at the morgue. The deceased was about 40 years of age and leaves no family. He formerly lived in Virginia City.

BOLD BURGLARY.

Undertaker Miller's Residence Entered in the Daytime.

There is evidently somebody in the city who is bent on the sneak-thief plan. At noon on Friday, while the family of John Miller, the undertaker, were at their lunch, at their home, 122 K street, a man entered the house, went upstairs and ransacked the room of the servant girl. The contents of her trunk were emptied out upon the floor and scattered about.

While the burglar was at his work a little son of Mr. Miller started to go upstairs, when the fellow bolted from the house. As he passed the front door he grabbed the key and took it with him. A purse containing twenty-five cents was found lying upon the bureau, having been overlooked by him in his haste.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

Miss Annie Davis, formerly of Hicksville but now of San Francisco, is visiting Miss Blanche Gear of Courtland.

Miss Sophia Comstock, daughter of the Mayor, has returned from a two weeks' visit to the bay and coast watering places.

Manager Charles P. Hall of the local theaters and of the Bush Street Theater in San Francisco, came up from the bay last night.

Noisy J. Fitzpatrick was arrested last night by Officer Simmons while making speeches to imaginary audiences on K street. Fitz was very noisy, and continuing his interrupted remarks after he was locked up.

E. J. Devlin of the Bee's reporter staff is winding up his summer's outing. He is spending the week at the Hot Sulphur Springs in Sierra Valley--the most delightful resort on the coast. The youthful scribe is just learning the true secret of promoting health and getting the most beneficial results in the pursuit of pleasure.

W. P. Harlow has just returned from a trip to Sierraville, which he went to in order to see the scenery and to enjoy the glorious view of the neighborhood. While in Sierraville he engaged a day's glorious snipe shooting, another in hunting trout with a shot-gun, and still another in judging a series of horse-races and making the misera of a rural beach. He has serious intentions of buying the valley with all its tennements, hereditaments and appurtenances.

Helman, George W. Solomon, W. E. Miller, St. Louis; A. H. Nattager, Riverside.

BRIEF NOTES.

The air-pump shaft on the Stevens pump broke on Saturday morning.

The Hicksville people are having erected a fine new school building.

John Andrews of Elk Grove has made arrangements to buy all the wine grapes in that section.

Professor A. Lindemeyer of this city has been engaged as instructor by the Newcastle brass band.

On the way to a band of 15,000 sheep were driven through Folsom, on their way to Grand Island. They came from Oregon.

Grand Marshal Hantzman has announced his appointment of Colonel E. H. McKee as his Chief Aid for the Labor Day parade.

The Rocklin stonemasons will take part in the Labor Day parade in the new castle band will accompany them.

Sacramento fishermen complain that a Kanaka is violating the law by stretching a seine entirely across the Sacramento at a point just above the mouth of the Feather.

The Folsom Telegraph says it is expected that half a million carloads of grain will be shipped from around there within the coming year. Every day of the week from sixty to a hundred car loads are sent to Sacramento for use in making street improvements.

The Trustees of the Alder Creek public school have been making a number of changes in the schoolhouse and the premises connected therewith. The next term of the school will begin on Monday, the 7th of September. The services of Mrs. L. F. Gould, formerly teacher of the Orange Vale public school have been engaged.

Never Missed a Meal.

Mary Reid, who runs the Home Restaurant, yesterday swore out a warrant for the arrest of J. D. Daniels, a whom boarder, whom she charged with fraudulently obtaining credit "by absconding without paying his board bill."

A telegram to Truckee resulted in his arrest, and an officer will go after the gentleman.

Child Reported Lost.

Yesterday the police were notified that a four-year-old boy named Joe Ruth was missing from the Western Hotel. The child was last seen in a navy blue suit, and wore a light cloth hat.

DREYFOOS' FAREWELL.

HE DEPARTS, BUT LEAVES A STARTLING LETTER.

A High-Roller Gets Into the Financial Soup, But Prefers Pedro to Suicide.

N. Zomansky was somewhat startled on Saturday at receiving the following note by mail from one of his clerks, who had been in his employ off and on for the past ten years:

FRIDAY, August 22, 1891.
Mr. N. Zomansky--DEAR SIR: I am sorry to inform you that this is my last day on earth, as I am in torment about my poor debt, which is so heavy that I cannot pay. I blame me, as God only knows how I have suffered in the past few years. I am going to leave my home in the Sacramento River. Please do inform my wife as gently as you can of the fact. I am, for the last time, very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
N. Zomansky.

Although the letter indicated that it was the intention of Dreyfoos to end his life, yet Zomansky does not believe he would do such a thing, and thinks it may be a dodge on the part of the writer to escape payment of his creditors for a time at least.

Dreyfoos was continually besieged of late by collectors, and almost invariably turned them away with their demands unsatisfied. He had borrowed large sums from several parties, and the fact that he had about $80 in his pocket a day before he left the city leads his friends to believe that the letter is a "blind."

Dreyfoos has a family, consisting of a wife and four children, residing on F street, between Eighth and Ninth, and they are left to believe that he would take his life.

A gentleman of this city, who was in Courtland on Saturday, last night informed a Record-Union reporter that he saw Dreyfoos in that hamlet, and that the time he was in Congress in a gang of pedro in a saloon. He does not believe it will probably be in beer.

THE CITY JAIL.

It Will Probably be Located in the Old Wells-Fargo Building.

At the conclusion of last week's session of the City Trustees an informal discussion ensued among the members relative to the matter of securing temporary quarters for a city jail, and the present one might be abandoned.

Mayor Comstock deprecated the fact that Chief of Police Drew and Police Judge Craven, his colleagues on the Board of Police Commissioners, had not been able to agree upon any of the places that had been suggested, the latter favoring the old Wells-Fargo building on Second street, and the Chief opposing it.

"Well, what's the matter with you and Judge Craven, if you are in a pinch," asked Trustee McLauglin, in his blunt, straightforward manner. "You're a member of the board, and two are a majority, ain't they?"

"Yes," replied the Mayor, "that is true--perhaps we can agree upon some place for a police headquarters and jail."

It was reported that an agreement had been arrived at by the Commissioners, and that the Trustees to-day be asked to accept the proffered lease of the Wells-Fargo building for five years.

WARM WORK.

How the Weather Affected the Rifleman Yesterday.

Quite a number of Company G's men were out at the range yesterday, despite the hot weather. Several fired a couple of shots and then left, claiming that the weather was altogether too warm. The following scores were made:

Sergeant Korn, 45 Priv. Mohr, 43
Sergeant White, 41 Priv. Gledhill, 39
Corp. Simpson, 44 Priv. Guth, 35
Corp. Bennett, 40

In the pool-shooting these scores were made:

W. A. Mott, 42 G. W. Johnston, 39
J. L. Hughes, 42 J. D. Gledhill, 39
F. R. Cook, 41 W. H. Benteen, 31
T. W. White, 39 J. J. Douglas, 30
T. W. White, 39 J. J. Douglas, 30

Sergeant Dorman, 39 Priv. Compton, 38
Corp. Fields, 40 Priv. Morton, 36
Corp. Farns, 39 Priv. Stover, 35
Priv. E. Hughes, 32 Priv. Gledhill, 31
Priv. J. Hughes, 41 Priv. Frickie, 27
Priv. Miller, 44

ARRIVAL OF THE HUSSAR MEDAL.

August Hess of the Hussars was the medal yesterday presented by ex-Captain Frank Ruhlstedt.

The new range is now being built, and will be ready for the next semi-annual shoot.

WHENCE DO THEY EMANATE?

False and Damaging Telegrams Concerning the Sacramento Climate.

There is somebody in Sacramento who seems to delight in using the telegraph wires for the purpose of endeavoring to give Sacramento a black eye. Last month, when the mercury reached 102 degrees during the heated spell, a statement was wired from here to the effect that it had gone up to 111.

On Saturday evening a number of Sacramento natives in Truckee from the lakes and other mountain resorts, homeward bound, when they learned that a telegram had been received there announcing that the mercury had that afternoon marked 115 in the shade.

Some of those whose business at home did not imperatively demand their presence faced about and sought the mountain again yesterday morning, while the others continued their journey only to learn that it was a vile canard.

The question is, who the "writer" that is striving so zealously to injure this city.

UNPROVOKED ASSAULT.

Thomas Bozie Will Have to Answer for It.

An unprovoked assault was made yesterday afternoon upon one of the employees at the swimming baths by a man whose name is understood to be Thomas Bozie. It appears that R. Dornier, an employe of the baths, was ejecting a boy who was infringing the rules when Bozie interfered and assaulted him in a brutal manner. Officer Chambers and the Superintendent rushed to the scene, but Bozie managed to make his escape through a window.

Dornier will swear to a complaint this morning and Bozie will be presented, as the managers of the baths are determined that their rules shall be respected and that there shall be no rowdiness on the premises. Two or three other men assisted Bozie, and if they can be identified they will also be arrested.

AN OLD TRICK.

How It Was Successfully Worked on Ed. Donovan.

A man who gave the name of Ed. Donovan, and said he was from San Francisco, entered the Police Station on Saturday, somewhat under the influence of liquor, and claimed that he had been robbed of $25 by one of the female denizens of lower L street.

The woman, he said, grabbed his hat as he passed by her door, and it was not a difficult task, after he had entered the den, for her to get what money he had. Donovan could not remember where the hat was, and the officers could not aid him.

A GOOD IDEA.

A Wise Precaution Taken by the Sutter Fort Committee.

The action of the Sutter Fort Restoration Committee in erecting a high-board fence around the old structure during the work of rebuilding was a wise one.

The idea is to keep out visitors until the work is finished. On Saturday while the workmen were engaged on the south wall a large portion of it fell and they narrowly escaped being killed.

Comedian Eugene J. Gregory was standing near by and warned the workmen just in time for them to save themselves. Mr. Gregory had a close shave himself, too.

AMUSEMENTS.

Russell's Comedians appear at the Metropolitan Theater this evening in a new edition of "The City Directory," a farce-comedy and musical extravaganza that was given in its original form in this city a year and a half ago. The company, headed by Eugene J. Gregory, is much stronger now. W. S. Mullaly, the well-known composer, and author of the music of the piece is the musical director.

In the cast are Bert and Beverly, Lottie Scholer, W. P. Sweetnam, Dan Daly, Julius Witmark (who first appeared here some years ago as a phenomenal boy vocalist--every one of them well known here as of superior character for low comedy). In addition are Amelia Glover, the new American skirt dancer; J. C. Scott, comedian; Fred and Lillian, Maym Kelso, Marion Weller, Joseph Jackson, Bessie Cleveland and Kate Vart. The piece has been entirely rewritten and many novelties introduced.

CITY FINANCES.

City Auditor Young makes the following report of the receipts and disbursements of the city for the week ending Saturday, August 22, 1891.

Table with 2 columns: Item, Amount. Total receipts: $2,028.10. Total disbursements: $1,156.38. Amount in City Treasury: $140,261.96.

APPORTIONED AS FOLLOWS:

Table with 2 columns: Fund Name, Amount. Total: $149,291.96.

Early Morning Blaze.

At an early hour Saturday morning a fire was discovered in the barn of Judge McKune, on H street, between Fifteenth and Sixteenth. The flames were extinguished before much damage was done.

Chief of Police Drew notified the proprietors of all dance-houses and saloons where alleged music is one of the usual charms, that they must close their places about 11 o'clock, and open them until Monday morning, under the penalty of being arrested. The order is said to have been obeyed.

One Day in Seven.

On Saturday Chief of Police Drew notified the proprietors of all dance-houses and saloons where alleged music is one of the usual charms, that they must close their places about 11 o'clock, and open them until Monday morning, under the penalty of being arrested. The order is said to have been obeyed.

Two New Suits.

A. Overgard of 127 Third street mourns the loss of two suits of men's clothing that were stolen from his place on Saturday.

Mr. Overgard should be more careful, and be especially so in his guard against the nimble-fingered gang.

Robbery at Brighton.

N. L. Drew reports to the police that on Saturday his residence at Brighton was despoiled of a lady's watch, to which was attached a chain about two yards long. The watch was away with a full set of amethyst jewelry.

Fell in a Fit.

Saturday evening a man dressed in laboring clothes fell in a fit on K street, between Sixth and Seventh, and a large crowd of people gathered around him. He revived in about ten minutes and was able to go to his home.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

The list of contributors to the "Popular Science Monthly" for September contains a goodly number of strong names. The leading article is by Professor Charles Fiske, on "The Doctrine of Evolution--Its Scope and Influence." An essay by Herbert Spencer on "The Limits of State Interference" is a strong argument against attempts by Governments to mold artificially the characters of citizens.

Dr. Andrew D. White continues his "Warfare of Science" series. Professor C. Hanford Henderson writes on "Glass-making." Dr. Charles W. Pilgrim of the "Eurasian" tells what "musical insects" are, and how they are bred.

Dr. Carl Russ pleads for the lives of our feathered creatures. A sketch is given, with a portrait, of the retiring President of the American Association, Professor George Lincoln Goodale. The editor writes on "The Warfare of Science" and "Individuality" by "Woman." New York, D. Appleton & Co.

The numerous exciting events in the yachting world, and the keen popular interest shown this season in the noble sport, make the paper on "New York Yacht Club" and "The Yacht Club of the People's Monthly" for September, peculiarly interesting and timely.

The illustrations include some spirited views of the wonderful yachts, the Commodore's flag, and a fine portrait of the late Edward Burgess, the lamented designer of the Queen's Cup defenders, etc. This number also contains a strong argument illustrated articles upon the "Mare Island Navy Yard," by E. J. M. Elliott; "Under Four Flags" (old Cahokia), by M. C. Williams; "The Yacht Club in War Time," by David Kerr; "The Short and Simple Annals of the Poor," by Humming Birds; by Nelly Hart Woodworth; the conclusion of Scott Campbell's serial, "John Maggs, Barbarian," etc., together with numerous short stories, sketches, literary and scientific, miscellany, and poems.

"Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper" for August 15th opens with a view in San Francisco's Chinatown. There is a picture of the Bennington in Monterey, and a full-page reproduction of Miss Davis' picture of "Weighed in the Old Mill." A portrait of Hon. J. Sloat is also given, one of Alfred, only, and one of Chief Justice Reed of the old Court. "Sketches of Ocean Travel" occupy a double full-page. There is a picture also of the Mail of the West steamer sailing close to Niagara Falls, a view of the Mines building proposed for the World's Fair, and three views of the latest post office building.

"The Literary Digest" the new eclectic weekly newspaper (Funk & Wagnalls, New York), is filling what was long a great want. It presents each week the fruit of the latest literary news from the more notable articles and parts of essays from the best of our magazines and reviews of Europe and America. It is an invaluable paper to editors and literary devotees.

"The Electrical World" (New York) continues to be the foremost electrical journal of the day. It leaves nothing wanting in the way of electrical news. It is certainly the most exhaustive and elaborate paper published anywhere upon progress and discovery in electrical science.
