

AWAITING THE VERDICT.

Great Interest Felt in the Outcome of To-day's Elections.

A HOTLY-CONTESTED CAMPAIGN IN OHIO.

Hard to Determine Which Party Will Be Successful—The Most Exciting Off-Year Campaign in the History of Iowa—Each Party Exerting Their Utmost Endeavors to Bring Out a Full Vote—The Contest in New York Claimed by Both Republicans and Democrats.

Special to the RECORD-UNION.

COLUMBUS (Ohio), Nov. 2.—Never since the war has a campaign been waged in the Buckeye State which attracted so much general interest, was so hotly contested and so exclusively devoted to national issues as the one which closed to-night, with two of the ablest and most representative gentlemen of the State as standard-bearers of the respective parties. The country at large had been drawn upon and national leaders and recognized exponents of both parties summoned to expound the principles of Republicanism and Democracy. The joint debate of Campbell and McKinley will long remain historical. John Sherman talked finance, Roger Q. Miller endorsed the amended Cointage Act of the last Republican Congress, by which the entire product of the silver mines of the United States was added to the issue of the people's money. The Democrats denounced the demonetization of silver in 1873; demanded a reinstatement of a constitutional standard, both gold and silver, and the right of the people to free and unlimited coinage. The Republicans demanded a circulating medium of gold, silver and paper. The People's party, however, has been in sufficient volume to conduct the business of the country on a cash basis; favored Government loaning directly the people a rate of interest not to exceed 2 per cent, and unlimited coinage of silver.

Major McKinley having made frequent references in his speeches to the growing American industry of the manufacture of tin, a sharp controversy arose over the question as to whether there was any growing tin industry, or even any tin ore in the United States.

The outlook is not easy to determine. The opposition to Governor Campbell in his own party is pronounced, and his nomination that the Republicans had no thought of the possibility of his success, and favored McKinley's majority at Cleveland. The Democrats, however, progressed the voice of the opposition has been stifled, and the extent less and less apparent. As far as appearances go, the fight will not be decided by the People's and Prohibitionist parties. The Republicans assert, with confidence, a victory for McKinley, but the Democrats claim that the election will be decided by the People's and Prohibitionist parties. The uncertainties are the effect of the Australian ballot law, the strength of the People's party and the concluding issues which they have arrived at on the tariff and financial questions.

DES MOINES (Ia.), Nov. 2.—The most exciting off-year campaign in the history of Iowa closed to-night. For three months the war has been unremittingly waged, all parties exerting every effort to bring out a full vote. Four parties have candidates in the field—Horace Jones (present incumbent), Democratic candidate; William Miller (Republican), Wheeler, Republican; A. J. Westfall, People's; Isaac T. Gibson, Prohibitionist.

The three salient issues have been temperance, tariff and silver. The Democrats denounced the present prohibitory law, favored a local option, with a license of $500, demanded the repeal of the act and declared for free coinage of silver. The Republicans indorse the prohibitory law, denounce the Democrats for obstructing its enforcement, and favor the tariff legislation of the last Congress, and met the silver question by merely approving the present Cointage Act as an experiment out of which may ultimately come a wise adjustment of the financial question. Upon these questions the battle was fought, the question probably being the paramount one.

The result of to-morrow's election is difficult to predict, because of the intermingling of a State and national issue, and the many discordant elements that enter into the campaign. The Republicans are divided on the prohibition question, the Democrats are divided on the silver question, so that on the tariff question alone have party lines been at all tentatively drawn. The Democrats have striven to make the tariff the paramount issue, while the Republicans, hoping to absorb a greater part of the Prohibition vote, kept the liquor question well in the foreground.

Both parties coquetted with the silver question and have tacitly striven to postpone this issue until after the national conventions next year. Upon one question all parties are united, there will be a full vote to-morrow. The fact that the next Legislature will restrict the State census greatly to the interest of both parties, who are making strenuous attempts to capture the General Assembly, as well as elect their State officers.

The Republicans are confident that they will get the support of thousands of Prohibitionists, and claim that a great majority of the independent Republicans have gone back to their party. This claim is doubtless correct, as is especially so the Democratic claim that thousands of German Republicans and the liquor interests generally will support the Democratic ticket.

The very uncertain factor is the vote for Westfall, candidate of the People's party. He claims that he will poll at least 2,000 votes, and General Weaver says he will get 25,000, but the Republicans and Democrats do not concur in this estimate. They will probably come in about equal numbers from both the leading parties. The Prohibitionists are not expected to poll over 1,000 or 2,000 votes.

Chairman Mach of the Republican State Central Committee, to-night estimates that Wheeler will have a plurality of at least 10,000. The Republican Party," said he, "will certainly elect the whole ticket by a handsome majority."

The next House will be Republican by a fair majority, and the Senate will have a majority of the great two. Chairman Fuller, of the Democratic State Committee, places the probable Democratic plurality at 13,000, based on reports most conservative. He estimates, it is estimated, will run 4,000 or 6,000 ahead.

NEBRASKA. LINCOLN (Nebr.), Nov. 2.—The interest in the election in this State has seldom before been equalled in Nebraska. Not because of the high offices at stake, for only a Supreme Judge and Regents of the State are to be elected, but because it is to determine whether the Farmers' Alliance or Independent party is to gain political supremacy. In the present situation it is without parallel in the past thirty or forty years. The Democratic party is without candidates, allowing the State to go by default to the great two. They closed to-night, with the most remarkable when it is remembered that but one year ago their candidate, Boyd, was elected Governor, and only deprived of the high office on account of non-naturalization. The present Democratic party is due to the refusal of its nominee for Supreme Judge to make a full report upon his candidature for Regents alike withdrawn, and the field is left to the Republicans, Independents and Prohibitionists.

KANSAS. TOPEKA, Nov. 2.—The election in Kansas is not fraught with the general interest in this mercantile State usually inspires. Not only is it an off-year election, but an election at which there is not even a single State issue. Yet it must not be understood that it is without interest within the State. It has been one of the most hotly-contested off-year campaigns ever witnessed in Kansas. Both the leading parties are making a determined effort to break the strength of the growth of the Farmers' Alliance or the People's party. Practically the true of the Republican. But in some localities the Democrats, as a minority party, have thought it expedient to effect local success by nominating candidates.

With the exception of nine District Judges, the campaign is purely local, confined to the election of county officers. Both the leading parties are sending out a score of speakers into every nook and corner of the State. The Democrats are making a question of supreme importance that should be decided by the county elections, and thus say to the East and entire nation that the State will be once more safely in the Republican hands.

The Democrats are naturally not particularly anxious to see the Republicans elected, but they are anxious to see the People's party elected, and for this reason the Democratic State Central Committee at a recent meeting gave a quasi-indorsement to the People's party, and the People's party, in turn, has repudiated by many leading Democrats and several of the People's party leaders. This action of the committee, however, has been repudiated by many leading Democrats and several of the People's party leaders.

Particular interest in this election, therefore, is in the strength that will be developed by the People's party—the party that hopes to deliver the vote of the State for a third Presidential candidate in the electoral college next year.

NEW YORK. NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—The canvass in New York State is closed, and it only remains now to wait the verdict of the polls. No more active campaign has been conducted since the Presidential contest of 1888. The Republicans and Socialists contented themselves with making nominations, but the Democrats, by electing their own candidates, have been laboring for success with unremitting zeal. Their orators have been constantly on the stage, and every inch of ground has been contested with ardor and conviction. Success or defeat carries with it an influence potent for good or evil in the minds of the people.

JACOB SLOAN FASSETT, the Republican candidate for Governor, developed fighting qualities of the first order. He has spoken in every county and in all the chief cities. The keynote on which he rung all changes has been that the Tammany tiger must be slain, and the vicious influence of Tammany Hall, which, having conquered the State and nation in turn, must be slain. The Democratic war cry has been that "Pratt and his tool Fasset" were chiefly responsible for the failure of New York City to capture the Presidential vote in 1888.

Both parties profess confidence of victory in the main, and are confident that those selected will probably be in sympathy with the Alliance.

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—A close, exciting election day closed in this city. As if to inaugurate a new era, the main issue turned on the choice of three drainage commissioners. The handling of some $30,000,000 of money, and the question of making a canal from Chicago to connection with the Illinois River, for the purpose of irrigating the lands of the city, with ultimate use for commercial purposes. There are four tickets in the field—Republican, Democratic, Prohibitionist and Henry B. Ford (Socialist). The non-partisan Superior Court Judges will be chosen without opposition.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Six Congressmen will be chosen to-day. The Democrats make predictions of 5,000 to 23,000. The Democratic leaders even more confidently predict Flower's election by a majority of 10,000. Betting on the result has been very quiet here, with slight odds being given in favor of Flower.

The Assembly and Senate are also to be elected, and both parties are making a fierce fight for control. The Senate has thirty-two members. Of the present body, nineteen are Republicans. To create a tie, and thus give the Lieutenant-Governor the casting vote, the Democrats must make a net gain of three. Democratic candidates are to be elected to certain offices made by the Governor, as the Republican majority has for years refused to confirm Democratic nominations to certain offices now filled by Republicans whose terms expired years ago, but the present year are not suffering for a change in the political management of the State, and the Republicans are confident of maintaining at least one seat now held by the Democrats.

The Assembly now stands 82 to 60 in favor of the Democrats; they expect to retain control of this branch. But there are several districts in which last year returned Democrats which are likely to elect Republicans this year, so the Democrats must make a gain of new seats to hold their own.

Additional reasons for making an active canvass for members of the Legislature is that the present Senate will vote for a United States Senator in 1893 to succeed Hissco.

The State offices to be filled are: Governor, Lieutenant-Governor, Secretary of State, Comptroller, State Treasurer, Attorney-General, and State Engineer and Surveyor, eight Supreme Court Justices, thirty-two Senators, and one hundred and twenty-eight Assemblymen.

NEW JERSEY. JERSEY CITY (N. J.), Nov. 2.—State Senators will be elected in seven counties. They will vote for a successor to United States Senator Budget, Democrat. Four of these counties are always Democratic.

The Republicans hope to carry the other three. In the Assembly they expect to gain all but two members. They also hope to regain several members in districts which went Democratic unexpectedly last year. The next Assembly will, it is estimated, be in favor of the Democrats. Allen, McDermott, Chairman of the Democratic State Committee, is confident of electing all seven of the Senators, who will make a net gain of 10 Democrats and 6 Republicans.

MASSACHUSETTS. BOSTON, Nov. 2.—The election in Massachusetts to-morrow is for Governor and other State officers, and also for the Council and Legislature. Two amendments to the Constitution will also be voted on, one abolishing poll-tax as a prerequisite for voting, the other making a majority of the members a quorum in each branch of the Legislature. Five tickets are in the field for State officers, as follows: Republican, William W. Kimball; Democrat, John F. Pillsbury; Democratic Governor, William E. Russell; Lieutenant-Governor, John W. Corcoran; Secretary of State, Edward H. Allen; Lieutenant-Governor, William H. Hale; Treasurer, George A. Marsden; John W. Kimball; Auditor, John W. Kimball; State Engineer and Surveyor, John F. Pillsbury; Democratic Governor, William E. Russell; Lieutenant-Governor, John W. Corcoran; Secretary of State, Edward H. Allen; Lieutenant-Governor, William H. Hale; Treasurer, George A.
