AMUSEMENTS.

The Metropolitan Theater contained a good audience last night. The New York Garden Theater Company presented two plays, the first Jerome's charming one-act comedy, entitled "Sunset," a story in one chapter, witty, tender, clean and balanced with good moral sentiment. The piece was presented, but it could be wished that the two principal female characters had been personated by ladies who had a keener appreciation of the art.

Leutenant Schwatka Speaks of His Travels and Discoveries. DES MOINES, Nov. 20.—Leutenant Frederick Schwatka, the Alaskan explorer, has returned from his recent trip into the interior of that country, and is spending a few days with his friends in Des Moines.

After ascending the mountain peaks in the interior and taking a number of observations of peaks never before seen by white men, the descent of the Copper River was made in canvas boats for nearly 100 miles. The Lieutenant was then descended the Newberry River for 150 miles, game being plentiful in this region.

Royal Baking Powder.

A cream of tartar baking powder—Highest of all in leavening strength.—Latest U.S. Gov't Food Report.

ABSOLUTELY PURE. Established by Government Tests the Standard Baking Powder. The very Giant of leavening agents. Has a larger use than all other cream of tartar baking powders combined.

Prof. HAINES, of Rush Medical College, Consulting Chemist Chicago Board of Health: "I find the Royal Baking Powder superior to all the others in every respect."

Dr. H. A. MOTT, U. S. Government Chemist: "The Royal is undoubtedly the purest and most reliable baking powder made."

Prof. PALMER, University of Illinois: "I find Royal Baking Powder invariably composed of wholesome ingredients, entirely free from adulteration or impurities of any kind."

SAN FRANCISCO BOARD OF HEALTH: "In our judgment it is impossible to make a purer or stronger baking powder than the Royal."

The N. Y. STATE ANALYST: "The Royal Baking Powder is superior to any other powder which I have examined."

THE MINNESOTA STATE CHEMIST: "I consider the Royal one of the best baking powders made."

WISCONSIN FOOD COMMISSIONER: "Royal Baking Powder is of high and uniform strength and quality; its ingredients pure and wholesome."

INDIANA STATE CHEMIST: "Royal Baking Powder is perfectly free from any deleterious or injurious substance."

Avoid all baking powders that require larger cans than the Royal to hold an equal weight. This is sure evidence of their adulteration.

FOOD TO BE GIVEN IN SICKNESS.

Directions Which Will Be of Assistance to Nurse and Patient. Only a small portion of food should be offered to any person with a delicate appetite. It is very much better that such a quantity should be devoured and the appetite craved which can be so easily prepared, rather than that an excessive supply—especially if not attractively presented—should spoil the little appetite, and send the whole away with loathing. No food or drink should be allowed to stand in the sick room. Aside from the danger of unwholesome absorption from the atmosphere, which is often the case, the constant presence becomes an offense to the eyes, and often leads to loathing and sickness.

Another danger comes from excessive seasoning. For a weak stomach it is desirable sometimes to have just the right degree of spicing to gently stimulate, but it is even more important to avoid an excess, or that which will do injury. Pepper should not be used, and there is danger of being too generous with salt. It is very liable to irritate, causing thirst, and gastric disturbance may be aggravated by it. Following protracted illness a nutritive and gentle stimulative diet should be taken. This may properly include nearly all albumens and mucilaginous substances—fish, game, beef, mutton, poultry (young), eggs, peas, asparagus, baked potatoes, etc., with a proper proportion of cooked fruits as an offset. Apples, sweet ones preferred, baked with an unbroken skin, are excellent. Add no more sugar than just to make the fruit palatable. Oranges are excellent eaten at the beginning of the meal, especially in the morning. Hot milk is regarded as one of the very best stimulants. It must not be boiled, but heated, as hot as it can be comfortably taken, and should be sipped, not drank; it is more digestible if taken slowly.

Arrowroot is a reliable food for the sick room, and many can eat when little else that is available can be taken. One good way to prepare it is to take a teaspoonful of the powdered arrowroot, moisten it with a teaspoonful of cold water, rub it smooth and add a teaspoonful of warm water, then pour on boiling water and stir till transparent. Sweeten slightly, and add a little sugar and other flavoring if desired, or another way, and as preferred, is to boil half a pint of milk, mix two teaspoonfuls of arrowroot with a little cold milk, and gradually add it to the boiling milk, stirring carefully so that there may be no lumps. A little sugar or salt should be added, but care must be taken not to overflavor. Use only the best arrowroot, as there are inferior kinds in the markets.

There are 156,773,573 watches in use.

SUPERIOR COURT.

Mary Ennos vs. Cathin, Judge. Department Two—Van Fleet, Judge. People vs. August Fournon—On hearing.

The Regulation of the Lobby. The lobby is so universally recognized as an evil, and yet politicians seem so commonly to agree that it is a necessary part of the machinery of government, that any efforts for its regulation are regarded as a violation of the patriotic Americans. The recent experiments in this direction in Massachusetts are described in the November Forum by Josiah Quincy, the Democratic leader of the lower house of the Legislature in that State, who had a large share in preparing the Act in question. Though the principles upon which the law are based are quite novel in American legislation, and though it met with violent opposition, it has been amply justified by its results. In Mr. Quincy's opinion, we may expect similar Acts to be passed in other States before many years have gone by. Among the evils which the law completely does away with the levying of blackmail on corporations by professional lobbyists.
