

INSTRUCTORS OF YOUTH.

Second Day's Proceedings of the Teachers' Institute.

Essays and Discussions on Various Topics—A Debate on Hobbies—To-Day's Programme.

Yesterday's session of the Teachers' Institute was, like that of the preceding day, largely attended, and the exercises were of an interesting character.

The first number on the programme was a piano solo that was well rendered by Miss Blossom Wilson.

Without presenting work thus beyond him, we cannot hope to attain the primary object of teaching reading, viz: to fit the student to higher plain thought and language, that he may enter with ease into the domain of knowledge.

To insure the conquest of the ever-recurring twin difficulties, thought and language, the work is divided into two branches equal in importance.

Under this head, each lesson is designed for study from any text-book, except the Reader, must be treated as a reading lesson.

State Superintendent Anderson next addressed the teachers. He spoke of his former work in the High School.

Mr. Campbell spoke a few minutes concerning the pension question.

A paper was then read by Miss Grace Bowen about "Natural Curiosities."

"During the summer vacation I spent some very happy hours gathering shells and sea curiosities.

"In many ways a natural curiosity may be treated so that it cannot fail to be instructive to the child.

"By these exercises they learn new words something of their origin and color the peculiar construction of earth's lowly and creeping inhabitants, and how the wants of even the most insignificant creatures are so provided for.

"One declares that he enjoys his 'Youth's Companion' and kindred literature more than ever before, because he meets so familiar in the reading exercises.

W. A. O'Conner's talk was about "Mental Arithmetic."

Mr. Fisher made a short defense of the late Matthew Cooke, who had been most unmercifully attacked on account of his fondness for entomology.
