

DAILY RECORD-UNION

ISSUED BY THE SACRAMENTO PUBLISHING COMPANY

Office, Third Street, between J and K.

The RECORD-UNION and WEEKLY UNION are the only papers on the Coast, outside of San Francisco, that receive the full Associated Press dispatches from all parts of the world.

San Francisco Agencies. This paper is for sale at the following places: L. P. Fisher, room 21, Merchants' Exchange, California street; the principal News Stands and Hotels, and at the Market-Street Ferry.

Weather Forecast. Forecast till 8 P. M. Monday: For Northern California-Threatening, with rain in the northern portion, extending southward to the San Joaquin Valley by to-morrow night; generally warmer; prevailing southeast winds, becoming high on the upper coast.

LAND-HOLDINGS IN SACRAMENTO COUNTY. The condition of Sacramento County with reference to large land-holdings resembles very closely that of Solano County. The tabular statement presenting comparisons heretofore instituted is as follows:

Table with 3 columns: 1880, 1885, 1890. Rows show acreage for 5,000 acres and upward, 100,000 acres and upward, and first 150 largest holders.

The holdings of the one hundred and fifty largest holders have increased, as above shown, from 327,854 acres in 1880 to 344,542 acres in 1890. The actual increase of population in the county in the ten years was 5,949. The population of the county in 1880 was 34,300.

LAND HOLDINGS IN SACRAMENTO COUNTY FOR THREE DIFFERENT PERIODS.

The following table shows the 150 largest land-holdings in Sacramento County for the years 1880, 1885 and 1890. We have for the purposes of more ready comparison, placed these years side by side in the table.

The table has also been subdivided by footings, showing, first, the acreage held in excess of 5,000 acres; second, the acreage held by the first fifty largest land-owners; third, the acreage held by the second fifty largest land-owners; fourth, the acreage of the third fifty owners, and in each case the values of such acreage, and the sum total:

Table for 1880 showing land holdings for 5,000 acres and upward, first 50 largest holders, second 50 largest holders, and third 50 largest holders.

Table for 1885 showing land holdings for 5,000 acres and upward, first 50 largest holders, second 50 largest holders, and third 50 largest holders.

Table for 1890 showing land holdings for 5,000 acres and upward, first 50 largest holders, second 50 largest holders, and third 50 largest holders.

NOT THE WHIPPING POST.

Elijah C. Foster in the Forum for December asks, "What would be the effect if human laws should decree that mad dogs should be whipped every time they bite a person, and then turned loose to bite again?" His question is just as sensible as the proposition advanced by a recent essayist to punish offenders against the laws by physical means, the lash and the like.

No man was ever made better by flogging. The discipline of restraint is beneficial, but the lash does not reform. When the criminal is incorrigible, the question may be worthy of discussion, whether he should not be put to death. But the incorrigibles are too few to yet to make that a serious question now.

Physical punishment as a reformatory agency is off of a piece with the rack, the pillory, the thumbscrews, the iron head-band and the bed of thorns. We have gravitated away from these horrors, and it is not pleasant to think that any one can now soberly plead for a return in that direction.

Because criminals are increasing in numbers, as is a fact, does not prove that prison systems are ineffective. In the first place, we have declared offenses to be crimes that a century ago were not catalogued for punishment. Our modern system of living has to a degree stimulated criminal instincts.

At any rate, no one is able to prove that whatever the increase of the criminal class-flogging, the pillory, the dunce, the rack or the torture-wheel will reduce it. On the contrary, the last census returns prove that in ten years the ratio of the increase of convicts to the increase of population gives us only thirteen more convicts in 1890 than in 1880 to each million of people, the total being 723 convicts to each million of inhabitants.

The decade has not, therefore, shown any alarming criminal increase-nothing whatever to warrant the inhumanity of the cat-o'-nine-tails and the abandonment of restraining and reformatory methods, which remove men from the opportunity to commit crime and teach them, by discipline, that they can live without indulging their passions.

ELSEWHERE IN THIS MORNING'S issue we print copious extracts from a recent address by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction upon the system of overloading the common schools. The "crum" evil received extended notice recently by elaborate statements in the local columns of the views of Sacramento teachers and educational officers. The opinions gained were all parallel with that of the RECORD-UNION, that we are not only overloading the courses of study but dissipating the energies and mending the physical well-being of the children.

It is gratifying to find that the head of the educational bureau of this State is fully in accord with the best thought of the age upon this subject, and that he has the courage to announce his belief, and to declare that were it in his power he would radically reform the errors of the school system. We invite attention to the vigorous expressions of Superintendent Anderson.

IF AFFLICTED WITH SORE EYES see DR. ISAAC THOMPSON'S EYE WATER. Sold at 25 cents.

IF YOU WANT ALL THE LATEST NEWS at the most moment subscribe for the RECORD-UNION.

LAND HOLDINGS IN SACRAMENTO COUNTY FOR THREE DIFFERENT PERIODS.

The following table shows the 150 largest land-holdings in Sacramento County for the years 1880, 1885 and 1890. We have for the purposes of more ready comparison, placed these years side by side in the table.

The table has also been subdivided by footings, showing, first, the acreage held in excess of 5,000 acres; second, the acreage held by the first fifty largest land-owners; third, the acreage held by the second fifty largest land-owners; fourth, the acreage of the third fifty owners, and in each case the values of such acreage, and the sum total:

Table for 1880 showing land holdings for 5,000 acres and upward, first 50 largest holders, second 50 largest holders, and third 50 largest holders.

Table for 1885 showing land holdings for 5,000 acres and upward, first 50 largest holders, second 50 largest holders, and third 50 largest holders.

Table for 1890 showing land holdings for 5,000 acres and upward, first 50 largest holders, second 50 largest holders, and third 50 largest holders.

NOT THE WHIPPING POST.

Elijah C. Foster in the Forum for December asks, "What would be the effect if human laws should decree that mad dogs should be whipped every time they bite a person, and then turned loose to bite again?" His question is just as sensible as the proposition advanced by a recent essayist to punish offenders against the laws by physical means, the lash and the like.

No man was ever made better by flogging. The discipline of restraint is beneficial, but the lash does not reform. When the criminal is incorrigible, the question may be worthy of discussion, whether he should not be put to death. But the incorrigibles are too few to yet to make that a serious question now.

Physical punishment as a reformatory agency is off of a piece with the rack, the pillory, the thumbscrews, the iron head-band and the bed of thorns. We have gravitated away from these horrors, and it is not pleasant to think that any one can now soberly plead for a return in that direction.

Because criminals are increasing in numbers, as is a fact, does not prove that prison systems are ineffective. In the first place, we have declared offenses to be crimes that a century ago were not catalogued for punishment. Our modern system of living has to a degree stimulated criminal instincts.

At any rate, no one is able to prove that whatever the increase of the criminal class-flogging, the pillory, the dunce, the rack or the torture-wheel will reduce it. On the contrary, the last census returns prove that in ten years the ratio of the increase of convicts to the increase of population gives us only thirteen more convicts in 1890 than in 1880 to each million of people, the total being 723 convicts to each million of inhabitants.

The decade has not, therefore, shown any alarming criminal increase-nothing whatever to warrant the inhumanity of the cat-o'-nine-tails and the abandonment of restraining and reformatory methods, which remove men from the opportunity to commit crime and teach them, by discipline, that they can live without indulging their passions.

ELSEWHERE IN THIS MORNING'S issue we print copious extracts from a recent address by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction upon the system of overloading the common schools. The "crum" evil received extended notice recently by elaborate statements in the local columns of the views of Sacramento teachers and educational officers. The opinions gained were all parallel with that of the RECORD-UNION, that we are not only overloading the courses of study but dissipating the energies and mending the physical well-being of the children.

It is gratifying to find that the head of the educational bureau of this State is fully in accord with the best thought of the age upon this subject, and that he has the courage to announce his belief, and to declare that were it in his power he would radically reform the errors of the school system. We invite attention to the vigorous expressions of Superintendent Anderson.

IF AFFLICTED WITH SORE EYES see DR. ISAAC THOMPSON'S EYE WATER. Sold at 25 cents.

IF YOU WANT ALL THE LATEST NEWS at the most moment subscribe for the RECORD-UNION.

LAND HOLDINGS IN SACRAMENTO COUNTY FOR THREE DIFFERENT PERIODS.

The following table shows the 150 largest land-holdings in Sacramento County for the years 1880, 1885 and 1890. We have for the purposes of more ready comparison, placed these years side by side in the table.

The table has also been subdivided by footings, showing, first, the acreage held in excess of 5,000 acres; second, the acreage held by the first fifty largest land-owners; third, the acreage held by the second fifty largest land-owners; fourth, the acreage of the third fifty owners, and in each case the values of such acreage, and the sum total:

Table for 1880 showing land holdings for 5,000 acres and upward, first 50 largest holders, second 50 largest holders, and third 50 largest holders.

Table for 1885 showing land holdings for 5,000 acres and upward, first 50 largest holders, second 50 largest holders, and third 50 largest holders.

Table for 1890 showing land holdings for 5,000 acres and upward, first 50 largest holders, second 50 largest holders, and third 50 largest holders.

NOT THE WHIPPING POST.

Elijah C. Foster in the Forum for December asks, "What would be the effect if human laws should decree that mad dogs should be whipped every time they bite a person, and then turned loose to bite again?" His question is just as sensible as the proposition advanced by a recent essayist to punish offenders against the laws by physical means, the lash and the like.

No man was ever made better by flogging. The discipline of restraint is beneficial, but the lash does not reform. When the criminal is incorrigible, the question may be worthy of discussion, whether he should not be put to death. But the incorrigibles are too few to yet to make that a serious question now.

Physical punishment as a reformatory agency is off of a piece with the rack, the pillory, the thumbscrews, the iron head-band and the bed of thorns. We have gravitated away from these horrors, and it is not pleasant to think that any one can now soberly plead for a return in that direction.

Because criminals are increasing in numbers, as is a fact, does not prove that prison systems are ineffective. In the first place, we have declared offenses to be crimes that a century ago were not catalogued for punishment. Our modern system of living has to a degree stimulated criminal instincts.

At any rate, no one is able to prove that whatever the increase of the criminal class-flogging, the pillory, the dunce, the rack or the torture-wheel will reduce it. On the contrary, the last census returns prove that in ten years the ratio of the increase of convicts to the increase of population gives us only thirteen more convicts in 1890 than in 1880 to each million of people, the total being 723 convicts to each million of inhabitants.

The decade has not, therefore, shown any alarming criminal increase-nothing whatever to warrant the inhumanity of the cat-o'-nine-tails and the abandonment of restraining and reformatory methods, which remove men from the opportunity to commit crime and teach them, by discipline, that they can live without indulging their passions.

ELSEWHERE IN THIS MORNING'S issue we print copious extracts from a recent address by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction upon the system of overloading the common schools. The "crum" evil received extended notice recently by elaborate statements in the local columns of the views of Sacramento teachers and educational officers. The opinions gained were all parallel with that of the RECORD-UNION, that we are not only overloading the courses of study but dissipating the energies and mending the physical well-being of the children.

It is gratifying to find that the head of the educational bureau of this State is fully in accord with the best thought of the age upon this subject, and that he has the courage to announce his belief, and to declare that were it in his power he would radically reform the errors of the school system. We invite attention to the vigorous expressions of Superintendent Anderson.

IF AFFLICTED WITH SORE EYES see DR. ISAAC THOMPSON'S EYE WATER. Sold at 25 cents.

IF YOU WANT ALL THE LATEST NEWS at the most moment subscribe for the RECORD-UNION.

LAND HOLDINGS IN SACRAMENTO COUNTY FOR THREE DIFFERENT PERIODS.

The following table shows the 150 largest land-holdings in Sacramento County for the years 1880, 1885 and 1890. We have for the purposes of more ready comparison, placed these years side by side in the table.

The table has also been subdivided by footings, showing, first, the acreage held in excess of 5,000 acres; second, the acreage held by the first fifty largest land-owners; third, the acreage held by the second fifty largest land-owners; fourth, the acreage of the third fifty owners, and in each case the values of such acreage, and the sum total:

Table for 1880 showing land holdings for 5,000 acres and upward, first 50 largest holders, second 50 largest holders, and third 50 largest holders.

Table for 1885 showing land holdings for 5,000 acres and upward, first 50 largest holders, second 50 largest holders, and third 50 largest holders.

Table for 1890 showing land holdings for 5,000 acres and upward, first 50 largest holders, second 50 largest holders, and third 50 largest holders.

NOT THE WHIPPING POST.

Elijah C. Foster in the Forum for December asks, "What would be the effect if human laws should decree that mad dogs should be whipped every time they bite a person, and then turned loose to bite again?" His question is just as sensible as the proposition advanced by a recent essayist to punish offenders against the laws by physical means, the lash and the like.

No man was ever made better by flogging. The discipline of restraint is beneficial, but the lash does not reform. When the criminal is incorrigible, the question may be worthy of discussion, whether he should not be put to death. But the incorrigibles are too few to yet to make that a serious question now.

Physical punishment as a reformatory agency is off of a piece with the rack, the pillory, the thumbscrews, the iron head-band and the bed of thorns. We have gravitated away from these horrors, and it is not pleasant to think that any one can now soberly plead for a return in that direction.

Because criminals are increasing in numbers, as is a fact, does not prove that prison systems are ineffective. In the first place, we have declared offenses to be crimes that a century ago were not catalogued for punishment. Our modern system of living has to a degree stimulated criminal instincts.

At any rate, no one is able to prove that whatever the increase of the criminal class-flogging, the pillory, the dunce, the rack or the torture-wheel will reduce it. On the contrary, the last census returns prove that in ten years the ratio of the increase of convicts to the increase of population gives us only thirteen more convicts in 1890 than in 1880 to each million of people, the total being 723 convicts to each million of inhabitants.

The decade has not, therefore, shown any alarming criminal increase-nothing whatever to warrant the inhumanity of the cat-o'-nine-tails and the abandonment of restraining and reformatory methods, which remove men from the opportunity to commit crime and teach them, by discipline, that they can live without indulging their passions.

ELSEWHERE IN THIS MORNING'S issue we print copious extracts from a recent address by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction upon the system of overloading the common schools. The "crum" evil received extended notice recently by elaborate statements in the local columns of the views of Sacramento teachers and educational officers. The opinions gained were all parallel with that of the RECORD-UNION, that we are not only overloading the courses of study but dissipating the energies and mending the physical well-being of the children.

It is gratifying to find that the head of the educational bureau of this State is fully in accord with the best thought of the age upon this subject, and that he has the courage to announce his belief, and to declare that were it in his power he would radically reform the errors of the school system. We invite attention to the vigorous expressions of Superintendent Anderson.

IF AFFLICTED WITH SORE EYES see DR. ISAAC THOMPSON'S EYE WATER. Sold at 25 cents.

IF YOU WANT ALL THE LATEST NEWS at the most moment subscribe for the RECORD-UNION.

LAND HOLDINGS IN SACRAMENTO COUNTY FOR THREE DIFFERENT PERIODS.

The following table shows the 150 largest land-holdings in Sacramento County for the years 1880, 1885 and 1890. We have for the purposes of more ready comparison, placed these years side by side in the table.

The table has also been subdivided by footings, showing, first, the acreage held in excess of 5,000 acres; second, the acreage held by the first fifty largest land-owners; third, the acreage held by the second fifty largest land-owners; fourth, the acreage of the third fifty owners, and in each case the values of such acreage, and the sum total:

Table for 1880 showing land holdings for 5,000 acres and upward, first 50 largest holders, second 50 largest holders, and third 50 largest holders.

Table for 1885 showing land holdings for 5,000 acres and upward, first 50 largest holders, second 50 largest holders, and third 50 largest holders.

Table for 1890 showing land holdings for 5,000 acres and upward, first 50 largest holders, second 50 largest holders, and third 50 largest holders.

NOT THE WHIPPING POST.

Elijah C. Foster in the Forum for December asks, "What would be the effect if human laws should decree that mad dogs should be whipped every time they bite a person, and then turned loose to bite again?" His question is just as sensible as the proposition advanced by a recent essayist to punish offenders against the laws by physical means, the lash and the like.

No man was ever made better by flogging. The discipline of restraint is beneficial, but the lash does not reform. When the criminal is incorrigible, the question may be worthy of discussion, whether he should not be put to death. But the incorrigibles are too few to yet to make that a serious question now.

Physical punishment as a reformatory agency is off of a piece with the rack, the pillory, the thumbscrews, the iron head-band and the bed of thorns. We have gravitated away from these horrors, and it is not pleasant to think that any one can now soberly plead for a return in that direction.

Because criminals are increasing in numbers, as is a fact, does not prove that prison systems are ineffective. In the first place, we have declared offenses to be crimes that a century ago were not catalogued for punishment. Our modern system of living has to a degree stimulated criminal instincts.

At any rate, no one is able to prove that whatever the increase of the criminal class-flogging, the pillory, the dunce, the rack or the torture-wheel will reduce it. On the contrary, the last census returns prove that in ten years the ratio of the increase of convicts to the increase of population gives us only thirteen more convicts in 1890 than in 1880 to each million of people, the total being 723 convicts to each million of inhabitants.

The decade has not, therefore, shown any alarming criminal increase-nothing whatever to warrant the inhumanity of the cat-o'-nine-tails and the abandonment of restraining and reformatory methods, which remove men from the opportunity to commit crime and teach them, by discipline, that they can live without indulging their passions.

ELSEWHERE IN THIS MORNING'S issue we print copious extracts from a recent address by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction upon the system of overloading the common schools. The "crum" evil received extended notice recently by elaborate statements in the local columns of the views of Sacramento teachers and educational officers. The opinions gained were all parallel with that of the RECORD-UNION, that we are not only overloading the courses of study but dissipating the energies and mending the physical well-being of the children.

It is gratifying to find that the head of the educational bureau of this State is fully in accord with the best thought of the age upon this subject, and that he has the courage to announce his belief, and to declare that were it in his power he would radically reform the errors of the school system. We invite attention to the vigorous expressions of Superintendent Anderson.

IF AFFLICTED WITH SORE EYES see DR. ISAAC THOMPSON'S EYE WATER. Sold at 25 cents.

IF YOU WANT ALL THE LATEST NEWS at the most moment subscribe for the RECORD-UNION.

LAND HOLDINGS IN SACRAMENTO COUNTY FOR THREE DIFFERENT PERIODS.

The following table shows the 150 largest land-holdings in Sacramento County for the years 1880, 1885 and 1890. We have for the purposes of more ready comparison, placed these years side by side in the table.

The table has also been subdivided by footings, showing, first, the acreage held in excess of 5,000 acres; second, the acreage held by the first fifty largest land-owners; third, the acreage held by the second fifty largest land-owners; fourth, the acreage of the third fifty owners, and in each case the values of such acreage, and the sum total:

Table for 1880 showing land holdings for 5,000 acres and upward, first 50 largest holders, second 50 largest holders, and third 50 largest holders.

Table for 1885 showing land holdings for 5,000 acres and upward, first 50 largest holders, second 50 largest holders, and third 50 largest holders.

Table for 1890 showing land holdings for 5,000 acres and upward, first 50 largest holders, second 50 largest holders, and third 50 largest holders.

NOT THE WHIPPING POST.

Elijah C. Foster in the Forum for December asks, "What would be the effect if human laws should decree that mad dogs should be whipped every time they bite a person, and then turned loose to bite again?" His question is just as sensible as the proposition advanced by a recent essayist to punish offenders against the laws by physical means, the lash and the like.

No man was ever made better by flogging. The discipline of restraint is beneficial, but the lash does not reform. When the criminal is incorrigible, the question may be worthy of discussion, whether he should not be put to death. But the incorrigibles are too few to yet to make that a serious question now.

Physical punishment as a reformatory agency is off of a piece with the rack, the pillory, the thumbscrews, the iron head-band and the bed of thorns. We have gravitated away from these horrors, and it is not pleasant to think that any one can now soberly plead for a return in that direction.

Because criminals are increasing in numbers, as is a fact, does not prove that prison systems are ineffective. In the first place, we have declared offenses to be crimes that a century ago were not catalogued for punishment. Our modern system of living has to a degree stimulated criminal instincts.

At any rate, no one is able to prove that whatever the increase of the criminal class-flogging, the pillory, the dunce, the rack or the torture-wheel will reduce it. On the contrary, the last census returns prove that in ten years the ratio of the increase of convicts to the increase of population gives us only thirteen more convicts in 1890 than in 1880 to each million of people, the total being 723 convicts to each million of inhabitants.

The decade has not, therefore, shown any alarming criminal increase-nothing whatever to warrant the inhumanity of the cat-o'-nine-tails and the abandonment of restraining and reformatory methods, which remove men from the opportunity to commit crime and teach them, by discipline, that they can live without indulging their passions.

ELSEWHERE IN THIS MORNING'S issue we print copious extracts from a recent address by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction upon the system of overloading the common schools. The "crum" evil received extended notice recently by elaborate statements in the local columns of the views of Sacramento teachers and educational officers. The opinions gained were all parallel with that of the RECORD-UNION, that we are not only overloading the courses of study but dissipating the energies and mending the physical well-being of the children.

It is gratifying to find that the head of the educational bureau of this State is fully in accord with the best thought of the age upon this subject, and that he has the courage to announce his belief, and to declare that were it in his power he would radically reform the errors of the school system. We invite attention to the vigorous expressions of Superintendent Anderson.

IF AFFLICTED WITH SORE EYES see DR. ISAAC THOMPSON'S EYE WATER. Sold at 25 cents.

IF YOU WANT ALL THE LATEST NEWS at the most moment subscribe for the RECORD-UNION.

Ladies' Gloves. We guarantee all gloves which you have fitted on at our counters. The very best glove in the market for fit and wear is the MAGGIONI KID GLOVE. We carry a full line of colors in the following styles and prices:

- 1. 5-Button Dressed Kid Gloves, in black or colors, $1.50 per pair.
2. 8-Button Length black and colored Mousquetaire Gloves $2.20 per pair.
3. 8-Button Length black and colored Suede Mousquetaire Gloves $1.90 per pair.
4. 8-Button Length black and colored Suede Mousquetaire Gloves $1.50 per pair.

Ladies' fine grade gloves in the following styles and prices:

- 5. 4-Button Dressed Kid Gloves, in black and colors, $1 per pair.
6. 8-Button Length Mousquetaire Dressed Kid Gloves in black and colors $1.50 per pair.
7. 8-Button Length Suede Mousquetaire in tans 95c and $1.25 per pair.
8. Ladies' Fur Top Kid Gloves Lined. A splendid value for $1 per pair.
9. Ladies' Goat Driving Gauntlets with stiff cuffs $1.25 per pair.

A fine complete line of Misses' Gloves may also be found here.

For children's wear we are showing a neat line of Children's Irish Point Collars in new, pretty patterns. They range in price from 25c to 75c each.

HALE BROS. & CO., 825 to 835 K St., and 1026 Ninth.

Amusements. CLUNIE OPERA HOUSE. L. HENRY, Manager. ONE MORE APPEARANCE ONLY of the World's Champion, JOHN L. SULLIVAN

DUNCAN B. HARRISON. To-night, Saturday, December 26th, Their Latest Success, BRODERICK AGRA.

SKATING RINK. OLD FAVILION, CORNER SIXTH AND M Streets. Now open for the winter season. There will be special attractions and music every Wednesday and Saturday evenings.

DANCING CLASSES at Turner Hall, Gentlemen's class, Ladies' class, and children's class.

PROFESSOR O'MALLEY'S SELECT Dancing Academy. Y. M. E. Hall, 560 Broadway street. The best conducted academy in the city.

ASSIGNEE'S SALE. Entire Stock of Kilgore & Co. BELL & CO., AUCTIONEERS.

AUCTION SALE OF PERSONAL PROPERTY. BY ORDER OF THE SUPERIOR COURT IN THE matter of the estate of ELEANOR FANSLER, deceased.

FINE NEW Open and Top Buggies. M. MANASSE, 610 J Street, FOR SALE FROM $66 to $85.

CHEAP FOR CASH. SEWING MACHINES. THE LIGHT-RUNNING DOMESTIC. The latest feeling and sewing machine with self-acting attachment.

PRINTING. D. JOHNSTON & CO., 410 J STREET. ORDERS FROM THE COUNTRY PROMPTLY FILLED.

ASSIGNEE'S SALE. Entire Stock of Kilgore & Co. BELL & CO., AUCTIONEERS.

AUCTION SALE OF PERSONAL PROPERTY. BY ORDER OF THE SUPERIOR COURT IN THE matter of the estate of ELEANOR FANSLER, deceased.

FINE NEW Open and Top Buggies. M. MANASSE, 610 J Street, FOR SALE FROM $66 to $85.

CHEAP FOR CASH. SEWING MACHINES. THE LIGHT-RUNNING DOMESTIC. The latest feeling and sewing machine with self-acting attachment.

PRINTING. D. JOHNSTON & CO., 410 J STREET. ORDERS FROM THE COUNTRY PROMPTLY FILLED.

CARPETS, Furniture, HEATING STOVES. New and Second-Hand Furniture. CALL AND INSPECT OUR GOODS AT LOW PRICES. WE ARE THE LEADERS. L. JACOBI & CO., 820 and 922 K Street, n.e. 1/2 p.

CHRISTMAS CHORAL SERVICE. CENTRAL M. E. CHURCH, SUNDAY EVENING at 7:30, by the choir, assisted by other local talent. A cordial invitation is extended to all. [N. C.] 10

GOOD NEWS FOR THE MILLIONS OF CONSUMERS OF Tatt's Pills. It gives Dr. Tatt pleasure to announce that he is now putting up a TINY LIVER PILL which is of exceedingly small size, yet retaining all the virtues of the larger ones. They are guaranteed purely vegetable. Both sizes of these pills are still issued. The exact size of TATT'S TINY LIVER PILLS is shown in the border of this ad.

DR. LIEBIG'S WONDERFUL GERMAN NERVOUS INVIGORATOR. Dr. Liebig's Nervous Invigorator is a weak man and woman should use it. The greatest tonic for the brain and nerves, gives strength to the reproductive organs and cures nervous debility, impaired development in youth, premature decay in old age, seminal weakness, general debility, and all the ailments of the bladder and kidney, such as gonorrhoea, prostaticitis, the complication of gonorrhoea, etc. It is a powerful diuretic. To prove its merits a bottle being given gratis to all who send for it. DR. LIEBIG & CO., Specialists for Diseases of Men and Women, 275 Broadway, San Francisco.