

STUDENTS' JUBILEE.

A Grand Pow-Wow and Ghost Dance at Palo Alto.

Enthusiastic Celebration of the Baseball Victory Over the State University Veterans.

Last Saturday night at the Leland Stanford Jr. University will never be forgotten by the students of that already famous institution of learning.

It was a night made memorable by one of the most remarkable scenes that ever took place in any of the higher educational colleges, and patriotism prompted the affair from the start.

Stanford University being but a few months old and the youngest college on the coast, it would naturally be supposed that the students were not yet thoroughly enthused with home pride, but the condition of affairs is just the reverse.

A second victory. Ever since the Stanford football team went over to Berkeley and gave the State University boys such a severe drubbing, local pride among the students has been on the steady increase, until Saturday night it reached its highest pitch.

The Stanford baseball team walloped the "U. C." boys at Central Park by a score of 13 to 6, and when the news reached the boys at Menlo Park they were overjoyed and ready to do almost anything in order to welcome their team home that night in a fitting manner.

They had heard of Capt. W. H. Miller, Newson's good work behind the bat, Sheehan's handy "two-bagger" and the steady playing of the team as a whole, and they wanted to do something out of the usual to give prompt vent to their enthusiasm. Heads were put together, and it was decided to give some novel reception—and that's what was done.

The boys of the ball team were not aware of the fact that their victory had so stirred up the enthusiasm of their mates at home, and when they left Third and Townsend streets for Menlo Park at midnight Saturday, they had little idea of what the boys at the college had planned. Menlo Park was reached at 10 o'clock in the morning and the big bus was at the depot as usual, ready to take the students on their way to bed.

THE GUESTS WERE. There were no unusual incidents of the trip until the bus reached a point on the road within about half a mile of the University. Here the lights of the vehicle here noticed a hundred yards ahead and a few moments later human forms clad in white could be discerned.

The bus was soon in the midst of the ghost-like forms, which consisted of the University boys clad in their night-gowns, and each holding a lighted candle. There were about two hundred of them, and in an instant the college yard rang out from a great chorus of voices: "Hah! Hah! Hah!—Hah! Hah! Hah!"

THE ENTHUSIASTIC STUDENTS clamored into the bus from all sides, anxious to greet the members of their ball team and congratulate them on their success.

ABOUT THE GIRLS. They were profuse in their praises and the entire crowd escorted the players along the road to the museum building and thence to the dormitory of the young ladies. The cheers and the din on the outside soon awakened the girls and they were all at the windows peering out in amazement at the unusual scene.

FIRECRACKERS were exploding and cheers ringing as the van moved by, and after a grand ghost dance around a central bonfire, the crowd dispersed to Encina Hall, and each boy sought his bed, well-tired out.

FEDERATED TRADES. Preparation for Next Month's Labor Convention—State of Trades.

A meeting of the Council of Federated Trades was held last night, John Hantzman presiding.

The Hall Committee reported progress. The Executive Committee reported that the letter written to the Superintendent of the City Cemetery was presented to the Trustees at their meeting this morning, and the Superintendent was instructed to comply with the rules and work his men but eight hours per day.

The tailors reported that the store known as the "Wooden Mills" on J, between Eighth and Ninth streets, had signed the union schedule of prices. The Boston Store was reported as keeping "unfair shoes," and the matter was referred to the Executive Committee for action.

A committee of six was appointed to visit the different unions to arrange for the appointment of delegates to the Labor Convention, to be held May 29th in San Francisco.

All but two or three unions reported trade fair.

DON'T WANT IT. The Mongoose Not a Desirable Addition to California.

The following letter has been received by Governor Markham in relation to a threatened importation of the mongoose:

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, OFFICE OF SECRETARY, WASHINGTON, D. C., April 16, 1892.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the State of California, Sacramento, Cal.—Sir: I have the honor to state that the article which appeared in the press to the effect that this department was about to introduce the mongoose for the purpose of destroying pocket gophers and ground squirrels, was entirely untruthful. The strength of the article arrangements have been made by S. Ephraim, Manager of the National Fruit Growing Company of San Francisco, for introducing these animals from the Sandwich Islands.

The mongoose was introduced into January and has proved a great pest by destroying poultry and native birds. There is every reason to suppose that if it should become established in California it would do much more injury than the animals for whose extermination it is introduced.

I have the honor, therefore, to request your co-operation in preventing as far as possible the introduction of the mongoose into California. Respectfully, J. Rusk, Secretary.

C. P. HUNTINGTON.

He Will Dine With the Board of Trade Thursday Evening.

Collis P. Huntington, President of the Southern Pacific Company, has accepted the invitation extended to him by the Board of Trade of this city to be present at a banquet to be given in his honor, and a telegram was received from him yesterday to the effect that Thursday evening of this week would be most acceptable to him.

The Board of Trade held a special meeting last evening, and Thursday night was agreed upon for the event. A committee was appointed to attend to the invitations. The banquet will be given at the rooms of the Sutter Club. Covers will be laid for from fifty to sixty persons. The banquet will commence at 7:30 p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. Huntington leave for the East on Friday.

PELICAN SHOOTERS.

The Club Marksmen Had Rather a Poor Day of It.

The Pelican Gun Club took a shy at the birds Sunday, but did not have a good day of it. The birds seemed to fly badly, and besides the wind interfered greatly with the making of good scores. Following are the scores: King, B. J., 10; W. E. Gerber, 12; J. M. Morrison, 12; W. E. Gerber, 12; J. Gerber, 11; L. J. Nicolaus, 11; E. A. Nicolaus, 10; F. Gotlob, 11.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

A. P. Booth has returned from the Bay. I. Burk of Chico's among the latest arrivals.

E. A. Worthington and wife spent Sunday in Sacramento. Editor E. B. Price of Oroville has been visiting in Sacramento.

Mrs. L. A. Kelly of Oakland is visiting Mrs. M. H. Higgins of this city. E. M. H. Gregory returned from the San Francisco yesterday morning. Miss Clara Huber has returned from a visit to home, much improved in health.

Mrs. A. H. Rutherford of San Francisco is visiting Mrs. E. B. Carroll of this city. John Catlin returned yesterday from a prolonged sojourn at his Tehama County ranch.

Mrs. A. W. LaBasse has returned to Sacramento after a two weeks' visit in the foothills. Governor Markham has gone to Pasadena, where he will spend several weeks with his family.

Charles McLennan of Chico spent Sunday in Sacramento with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. K. McLennan.

Miss Dora Harvey of Weaverville, Trinity County, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. T. W. McAlpine of this city.

Cards are out for the nuptials of Alice, daughter of T. M. Lindley, to John Keith, Jr., at the Lindley residence, on May 3d.

AMUSEMENTS.

At the Clunie Opera-house this evening George Bidwell, the famous "Ticket-of-Leave" man, who perpetrated the most tremendous forgery known to history, and outwitted that great financial institution, the Bank of England, will lecture.

His subject is "Forging His Own Chain." His purpose is declared to be not to boast of crime, but by the telling of the story of his own life and that of his brother and associates in the forgery, to warn youth how it may be led into criminal paths and vicious ways by easy steps, and to make his own case serve as a warning in the hope that it may deter those who are tempted to do evil. He also claims to expose the inner life of Woking, Dartmoor, Pentonville and Chatham prisons. Bidwell is said to dwell with especial emphasis upon the temptations and dangers before young business men, who step aside, at first with no intention of doing wrong, and who excuse themselves to their own consciences by pleading the urgent necessity of the moment. Bidwell ruined his entire life, he says, learning the lesson that the way to crime is easy, and that each successive step is more dangerous and rapid than the preceding one. Bidwell's famous forgery, which was the finale of a long career of crime, tapped "The Old Lady of Threadneedle Street" for $500,000, and proved that at the time the bank's method of doing one kind of business was far looser than possible order. It is twenty years since George and Austin Bidwell, two Americans, and their associates started the financial world by their great swindle upon the Bank of England. They were captured and sentenced to life penal servitude. Four years or more ago a woman, a devoted sister, who spent fifteen years of her life in the work, secured the release of George Bidwell upon a ticket of leave; only a few months ago she succeeded in getting Austin Bidwell out of the same establishment. Their comrades are still the occupants of English prisons, and for their release the Bidwells are now working for what they claim to be a high and commendable purpose. Austin Bidwell's release, it should be added, was gained "because of his gallantry in saving a woman's life." George was released because to longer confine him would have been to kill him. But all this story the elder brother is to relate to-night, and the auditors must judge if the tale and its purpose justifies the claim made for its recital.

The sale of seats for the cake-walk and entertainment to-morrow night is being made at Cooper's music store, Seventh and J streets.

Lively Runaway. A team attached to a wagon belonging to the Sacramento Transportation Company started from the vicinity of the depot yesterday evening and ran rapidly down Third street to the stables of the company, between P and Q. A number of men undertook to stop the runaways without success, and by wonderful good fortune they reached their stables without a collision or material injury to the wagon.

Delegates from Siskiyou. The following gentlemen have been named to represent Siskiyou County in the coming Republican State Convention: T. F. Coburn, Yreka; H. W. Walbridge, Sisson; R. H. Campbell, Etna; A. B. Carroll, Fort Jones; J. L. Coyle, Hornbrook; L. M. Foulke, Gazelle; H. W. Wheeler, Mott.

Men's calf shoes $1 25 a pair, worth $2 50 at 615 J street, between Sixth and Seventh.

BRIEF NOTES.

A short, sharp shock of earthquake was felt at 4:25 yesterday afternoon, noticed by but few people.

Martha A. Pealer commenced suit for divorce against Charles Pealer in the Superior Court yesterday.

Yesterday afternoon the Treasurer of the Southern Pacific Company paid into the State Treasury $237,000, balance due the State for taxes.

R. H. Singleton, Superintendent of City Cemeteries, says that hereafter the men under his charge will be worked only eight hours a day.

The cases of Eli Mayo vs. F. D. Myers and F. D. Myers vs. Eli Mayo were consolidated by consent and the evidence heard by Judge Van Fleet yesterday.

The Directors of the Museum Association are to meet at the Art Gallery at 3:30 this afternoon. At this meeting arrangements will be perfected for the annual meeting of the association and the election, May 3d.

The Coroner's Jury found a simple verdict in accordance with the facts in the case of Michael Gorman, who was killed by Joseph Herman. The autopsy showed that the point of a knife-blade had been embedded in Gorman's skull by Herman.

A demurrer was filed yesterday in the Superior Court by Attorneys C. W. Baker and Clinton L. White, attorneys for the defendant in the case of William Jones vs. E. F. and Mary E. Ward, an action brought for the partition of real estate.

Press Committee Meeting. At the Sutter Club, at 7:30 this evening, the Press and Sociating Committees, jointly forming the Managing Committee for the reception of the National Editorial Association, will meet to lay out the plans, distribute duties and put all the wheels in motion for the honor of Sacramento County in the premises.
