

RODGERS' CITIZENSHIP.

Judge Van Fleet's Decision Still the Topic of Conversation.

The Popular Wish is That Rodgers should be Appointed to Fill the Vacancy.

Superior Judge Van Fleet's decision annulling the election of John B. Rodgers as Chief of Police, continues to be the main topic of conversation on the streets. Everybody has an opinion, and all seem well supplied with alleged authorities to back up their opinions.

There are just two sides to the arguments that are rife at present—and they are whether or not there is a vacancy. The unanimous verdict seems to be that inasmuch as the people have expressed their preference for Rodgers at the polls, and as Rodgers is now thoroughly eligible, the City Trustees should not hesitate to appoint him to fill the vacancy.

THE ENCAMPMENT.

It Will Certainly be Held at Santa Cruz by the Sea.

The Entire National Guard of the State Will Meet There in August Next.

The matter of the location of the National Guard Encampment has been definitely settled. Santa Cruz has been named as the place, and orders to that effect will be issued in a few days.

The encampment will be the largest ever held in the State, as the amount of money to be expended indicates. It will be the first time that the entire National Guard has been brought together.

INHUMAN DRIVING.

Three Portuguese Drive Two Horses Nearly to Death.

D. Martins, a Portuguese, was arrested yesterday evening by Officers Ritter and Higgins, and a charge of cruelty to animals entered against him at the police station.

The three young men hired two single buggies at the Fashion Stables yesterday morning, and presumably drove over a large portion of the county during the day, winding up by coming into town about 6 o'clock by the Freepost road.

The horse driven by Martins was urged to the last stage of exhaustion, and last evening the poor animal was scarcely able to stand. He was considered a valuable animal by his owner, but he showed to a reporter last evening the horse had been blanketed and his legs bandaged, and he had been carefully attended, but was not recovered.

Both cases are fit ones for investigation by the Humane Society, and the brutal drivers of these poor animals should be taught a lesson to be remembered.

THE SECOND WARM WAVE

Another Turn of the Screw by the Standard Service Men.

The boat started on its return, reaching here at 8 p. m. The excursionists lunched on board the boat, and there was music at intervals, furnished by a string band. On the whole, the day was pleasantly spent.

REFORM DEMOCRATS

They Will Call a County Convention on July 24.

A very large number of Democrats held a meeting Saturday evening and discussed the political outlook. The meeting was the result of a quiet reform movement that has been going on for some time of late, and judging from the opinions expressed by those who attended the meeting the better order of Democrats are determined to loosen themselves from the old machine.

Numerous resolutions were made, in which statements were made to the effect that the party should repudiate the old methods and the old bosses, and begin over again.

This proposition was received with enthusiasm, and after a discussion as to the manner to proceed, it was decided to call a county convention on Saturday, July 24. Delegates will be present from all parts of the county, and a full county ticket will be nominated.

It was stated at the meeting that about 350 Democrats had signed a pledge to come to the convention and stand by the ticket to be nominated, and that there are a great many precincts yet to be heard from.

The Democratic County Central Committee—controlling the old party—announces that it will pay no attention to the new movement and will call the "regular" convention as usual.

Certainly Very Gratifying.

The fact was mentioned a few days ago of the delivery of a valuable scarf-pin within a few hours after the loss was advertised in the Record-Union. Now comes a letter from the owner of the pin, a San Francisco merchant, who says:

"The scarf-pin came safely to hand yesterday. I congratulate you on having a paper so largely read, and a community so exceptionally honest. An old friend and acquaintance of mine who was in Sacramento assured me that he had the most honest people in your city, and all that was necessary was to advertise in the Record-Union. The result has certainly been very gratifying."

Coins That Died on the Road.

While en route to New York six years ago, consigned from Rancho del Paso, died at the following points: At Ogden, Utah, a gilt by Hidalgo, dam Felicity, and a filly by Joe Dan, dam J. J. King, by King Dan; at Laramie, Wyo., the Mariposa, by Ben Ali, and the Darbin, by Ben Ali, dam Libina, and a filly by Ben Ali, dam Libina, by Prince Charlie.

SUNDAY EVENING CONCERTS.

The Church-Going Public are Arrayed Against Them.

Chairman Martine of the Concert Committee Receives a Long Petition On the Subject.

A large number of the church-going people of the city who entertain a prejudice against public concerts on Sunday evenings, have begun a crusade in opposition thereto, and yesterday these concerts were made the subject of sermons in many of the churches.

Those who object to them—and they comprise several hundred church-going persons—say they are in dead earnest and propose to use every means in their power to discourage Sunday concerts.

In a conversation on the subject with General Martine, Chairman of the Concert Committee, that gentleman said yesterday, when asked what effect this opposition was likely to have:

"It will do me a family into which disunion has crept, and you will see that family will never prosper. This applies as well to our community, and especially so to this city. We have to-day a large percentage of our best people who are opposed to Sunday concerts, and they have a perfect right to their opinions. The question is not presents itself, whether or not it is good policy to have this feeling of strife between the church-goers on one side and the non-church-goers on the other, and whether it would not be a better policy to compromise the matter by giving the two concerts per week on week-day evenings."

"The church-goers have enough to contend with, the Lord knows, from the outside with jealousy and other causes, without pitting one class of her people against another, and at the expense of such a trivial thing as open-air concerts. On Saturday I was presented with a petition containing several hundred names and containing some of our most respected citizens, requesting that the concerts usually held on Sunday evening be changed to some other evening during the week."

The petitioners state that in their opinion the best interests of this city, both at home and abroad, would be subserved by this change, and that the ministers of every local pulpit would call up the subject at their Sunday services. I informed these good people that I was Chairman of the Concert Committee, and I was but one member, and that it would be arrogating a great deal to myself to assume to say what the committee would do in the matter until called together and the subject was discussed.

"Speaking for myself, however, and laying aside my connection with the management of these out-door concerts, I feel it entirely wrong to have a feeling engendered among our people on this account, and though I have endeavored as hard perhaps as any of the enterprising citizens who have done so much to make these concerts a success, still I never intended my efforts to be the cause of dissension between any classes of our people."

"And why should I? These concerts are for our whole people, and the merchants who contributed to sustain them so intended, and while Sunday concerts are, in my opinion, anything but an injury to the morals of our young people, still I have a respect for the opinions of others who think differently, and out of respect for the good people of this city who have labored so hard in building up our churches and laying the foundation for the Christian lives for those who come within their teachings, I think it but the right and just that the concerts in the future should be held during the week—on, say, as near the first of the week as possible, and that the concerts on Sunday evenings. This will give the working-classes plenty of time to attend, as they quit work at 5 o'clock in the evening and nothing will be lost by the change."

"These are my own sentiments," concluded Chairman Martine, "but it must be left with the Concert Committee to decide just what shall be done."

Amateur Bantams Matched.

The Board of Directors of the Sacramento Athletic Club met Saturday evening and completed arrangements for a special boxing match between Henry Kibenstein, the amateur bantam champion of the Pacific Coast, and George Johnson, a phenomenally clever young boxer who has developed at the local club in the last few months.

The bantams will spar eight rounds, and an elegant gold medal will be given to the winner. The bout was fixed as the date of the match.

He stole a saddle.

George McCarthy, the cripple, who with several companions, stole a saddle recently, appeared before Superior Judge Catlin Saturday. By consent of the District Attorney, the young man was permitted to withdraw his plea of guilty to the charge, but he was held in lieu of $100, and he was sentenced him to fifty days' imprisonment in the County Jail.

Claimed She Was Bartered.

A woman known as "Big Martha" appeared at the police station last evening, apparently under the "influence," she talked incoherently, and claimed to have been struck on the head by a watchman and one Haley. She cried bitterly, and between her sobs wanted a warrant issued for the assaultants.
