The Record-Union at the Summer Resorts. Subscribers to the Record-Union who visit the Sea Coast and Mountain Resorts during the summer, can have the paper sent to their address on the same terms as in this city.

Weather Forecast. Official forecast for the twenty-four hours ending at midnight, July 14th: Northern California—Fair, except partly foggy along the coast; southwest to northwest winds; stationary temperature, except slightly cooler in the Sacramento Valley.

OCTOBER SCHOOL CELEBRATION. The Record-Union has thrice set forth in detail the plans of the educators in the United States for a school celebration all over the Union on the 12th of October, the four hundredth anniversary of the landing of Columbus.

But the figures bear out Mr. Crocker's statement. In 1888 Mr. Cleveland ran behind the Democratic gubernatorial vote in these States—Alabama, Arkansas, Connecticut, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New York, North Carolina—while General Harrison ran ahead of the State tickets in Alabama, Connecticut, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire and New York.

These showings clearly sustain Mr. Crocker in the further estimate of Mr. Cleveland's election day popularity. "It is a popularity that I might describe as tumultuous, but not reducible to votes."

Truth, the official journal of the Christian Church in California, is published in San Francisco, and is reputed to have a very large and widely distributed circulation on this coast and in the East.

In this city there ought to be at least two, if not three, celebrations at the same hour in different parts of the city, since it will be impossible to mass all who will wish to attend and hear in one place.

Children's voices are not on such occasions sufficiently strong to be heard by all of a large out-door assemblage, nor would it be possible for all in a very large congregation to see all that takes place.

In New York City, for instance, there will be some fifteen distinct groups of the people attending such celebrations in widely separated sections of that metropolis.

So far as we can learn, no action in this matter has been taken by any schools in the interior valleys. In two weeks more they will all be dismissed for the long summer vacation, and most of them will not reassemble until October, when it will be too late to make the necessary arrangements.

In this city not one of the schools has yet named a committee or taken any steps towards preparation for the celebration. In Sacramento we ought to have one of the finest celebrations of any city.

We have school children admirably disciplined, competent teachers, hosts of active friends of the schools ready to aid them, and everything indeed for making the occasion referred to a red-letter day in the lives of the children.

We could have here at least two grand celebrations, out-door, and attended by not less than 5,000 people at each point. We could have two children's choruses of 500 voices each, and such ceremonial for the day as will gladden the heart, inform the intelligence and strengthen the patriotic sentiment.

The cost will be comparatively but trifling. Quite a little sum of money is now in the hands of one organization ready to be given over to the school celebration committees, and the two or three hundred dollars more necessary will be forthcoming when needed.

Let the teachers throughout the valleys bring this matter before their schools, have the scholars elect their committees from among themselves and add their choice of adults. Let the committees meet jointly at once and make up the order of exercises. In so far as possible let the children manage the whole matter.

them have perfect freedom in choosing the committees, only advising them to select those of their number who are of marked executive ability and special degree of character. Let them understand that all over the Union the school children will, on the 12th of October, celebrate, and that as nearly as division of time will permit the exercises will be held at the same hour.

THE SAVOY DISASTER. The fearful accident in Savoy, whereby two villages were destroyed by a descending glacier, illustrates anew that familiarity with danger negatives fear.

It advanced its moraine none, it is true, but the glacier itself, at its lower edge, has for ages shown a downward movement of from one to two inches a day, melting at its lower limit, however, and thus not really approaching lower levels.

But the moraine increased yearly by the grind, and the great body of ice and snow moved, so that the danger was always imminent of a slide of the land below the moraine, or of the broken rock itself, or, indeed, that the ever-forming glacier might send down a lower section bodily, as in past ages it has, as is shown by the marks it left in the path it made.

But this danger had lost its terror for the people dwelling below the threat. They simply "took the chances," to use an Americanism, and in the long run these chances have turned against them.

Yet, such is the tenacity with which fixed interests hold communities in one place, when the debris has been cleared away the wrecked village of Lafayette will be rebuilt, the watering place of St. Gervais will be renewed and tourists will presently relocate beneath the glacier's frown, and the warning given by the disaster of this week will be forgotten or disregarded.

ELECTION DAY POPULARITY. A good many of his friends run away with the idea that Mr. Cleveland is ever so much better than his party—which, by the way, the party does not accept as a compliment. In the Chicago convention Mr. Burke Crocker described Mr. Cleveland as a very popular man on all days except election day.

But the figures bear out Mr. Crocker's statement. In 1888 Mr. Cleveland ran behind the Democratic gubernatorial vote in these States—Alabama, Arkansas, Connecticut, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New York, North Carolina—while General Harrison ran ahead of the State tickets in Alabama, Connecticut, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire and New York.
