

DAILY RECORD-UNION ISSUED BY THE SACRAMENTO PUBLISHING COMPANY Office, Third Street, between J and K.

THE DEMOCRACY AND THE THIRD PARTY. The Examiner of San Francisco, claiming, and with consent of the party whose...

Just now the Examiner pulls the Democracy down upon its narrow-brows before the voters it fears General Weaver will entice, and with sighs and tears beseeches them not to desert the original...

The Examiner of yesterday said: General Weaver, in his speech at the Pavilion on Tuesday night declared that the right...

It then proceeds to declare that the Republican party is "not in it," that the People's party is essentially Democratic, but in the matter of anti-monopolistic...

Then this wiseacre, in its amusing attempt to cover the fact that the Democrats have created votes for the People's party, says: "It (the Republican party) is the common enemy."

The People's party gives predominance to the financial question, whereas the Democracy has preferred to direct its strength against the tariff intrenchments.

That is to say, as it further along explains, "we are fighting on the tariff line while the People's party conceive that their financial schemes, if successful, would have the incidental effect of destroying the protective system."

It then explains further why the Democracy has "subordinated all other issues" to the tariff question, but it is a lame and impotent explanation, confessing that the party is so divided and cut up about various financial questions, notably that of silver, that it cannot pull together, and, therefore, it was a sagacious and statesmanlike device to cover its head and divert attention from issues the People's party had the courage to declare upon.

But, after long and very involved special pleading of the Examiner to clear itself and the party in the eyes of its own, it comes to the California situation, having convinced itself that it has fully explained the cowardice of the Democracy to the full satisfaction of the voters Weaver is wearing from Democratic ranks. Now, in this State, exclaims this sage exponent of California Democracy, "especially there is no reason why a Democrat should abandon his own for the People's party. But there is every reason why all citizens here who are opposed to monopoly and are desirous of practical results should join the Democracy rather than follow General Weaver."

That is to say: "Don't follow after strange gods, good Democrats; just persevere on Fresno platform and observe that we are blooded anti-railroad howlers. Here are we upon our knees explaining why we could not face south by north, and were too cowardly to front either way on national issues; but on the anti-railroad line we are sound, and you have no reason therefore to stray after Weaver."

It is a ludicrous but a very significant situation. It is that of Democratic leadership crawling upon its belly before its file, and protesting that it is as good and a little better anti-railroad hater than the other fellow. More sedately stated the situation is this: There was an anti-monopoly party; the California Democracy with shameless disingenuousness sought to steal its thunder, and now that that party uncovers the deceit and exposes the hypocrisy, the exponent of Democracy in California discovers that the more sentiment its party creates against the railroad the fewer votes it is going to get.

It is a miserable, ludicrous hobble the Democrats have gotten themselves into, and the vain attempt to tack about and prevent desertion from the ranks is something that suggests a "plot" for a farce comedy.

The proposition of Mr. William H. Mills, presented before the State Board of Trade, concerning the market for California fruits in lesser communities than largest cities, is one that strikes the mind with great force. In various ways there have been strivings to get at the idea now advanced for several years, but Mr. Mills first suggests definite action. What the plan in detail is is not stated in the reports of the meeting, as it will necessitate a paper on the subject that is presently to be read to the board. But in brief the proposition suggests the questions: Is it wise to limit distribution of California fruits to a few large trade and population centers? Are we not now sending our fruits past 20,000,000 of people in order to reach about 5,000,000? Now the idea is instead of making the great cities of the North and East the only objective points for landing our fruits that California should provide and maintain a system of fruit distribution that will enable a larger number of people desiring to buy our horticultural products to obtain them direct. This would, as is apparent, be doubly beneficial; give the producer as good or better prices because the product would not be exposed to the hazard of a few large markets subject to being overstocked and thus liable to fluctuations; secondly by wider distribution it would give the business greater elasticity and thus conserve its steadiness. As the speaker put it, "as the measure of the market for early perishable products is the number of people to whom they can be delivered in good condition," it is to our interest to distribute such products widely and early. Thus, instead of shipping all fruits to Chicago and New York, the people of the States west of Lake Michigan, with their scores of market centers of from 3,000 to 30,000 population each, ought to be supplied if they want the fruit. That they will take it to be assumed, because the desire for it is not dependent upon congested population. If we can give these people outside the great cities as well as within them frequent quick and good delivery of our green fruits in advance of their own season we will find readiness to take them and a growing taste for them. The result of the inauguration of such distribution will be expansion of horticultural industry commensurate with the demand for our fruits, and that will in turn be stimulated by the wider distribution and the inevitable cultivation of taste for them. As to how these many speedy and certain deliveries are to be made and the goods handled at, and returns made from so many points business and transportation skill can be trusted to map out details. These are promised the Board of Trade by Mr. Mills at its meeting next month, and will be looked for with justifiable interest.

THE MANAGERS OF THE "PEOPLE'S PARTY" whose Presidential candidate, General Weaver, is now making a canvass, ought to advise the General to dispense with the services of his assistant, Mrs. Lease, who follows him upon the platform in addresses that are inflammatory, largely untrue and certainly unwise, if we are to judge by her utterances in this city. Any orator with a cause worth pleading can afford to appeal to the reason of the hearers. The intelligence of the average audience is insulted when such declarations as Mrs. Lease indulged in are made by speakers posing as champions of a party asking that the administration of the affairs of the country be committed to it for the good of the republic and the correction of abuses. General Weaver's speech was fair, open and not inflammatory. It was argumentative in most part, embellished by wit and very well fortified by ingenious logic. It was the kind of a speech that is open to criticism, but not to denunciation. Unfortunately, the General closed by introducing and endorsing as his lieutenant in the campaign, Mrs. Lease, who from beginning to end her speech dealt in the most absurd hyperbole not to say incendiary statements, and towards her conclusion invoked sympathy for "the unfortunate train robbers of Visalia, driven by want to crime, and now pursued by hired bands, etc." She likewise inveighed by innuendo against the maintenance of the law and the preservation of order by the powers of sovereign States. General Weaver's cause will not be helped by any such balderdash. The audiences are few and far between that will be receptive of such oratorical pabulum about "unfortunate train robbers driven to crime." Those murderers and thieves were not unfortunate, but well backed by worldly goods; one of them, notably, is comparatively rich. All of them have long been engaged in robbery. The facts develop that they were the Goshen robbers, and a portion of them the Minnesota train robbers. They are murderers, also; brutal, coarse and utterly depraved and reckless. Yet these men are paraded for sympathy by an orator canvassing with a Presidential candidate. General Weaver certainly must feel disgust for all such indecent work. It is a pity that he lacks the courage to put a stop to this anarchic chatter by the emotional person who speaks from his platform and passes the hat for him.

NOTE AND COMMENT. When in the city yesterday Daniel Meyer, Sacramento's chief creditor, expressed a willingness to take $2,000,000 worth of the proposed issue of $100,000 in bonds for levee improvement. Mr. Meyer is also as liberal as the man who when handed $150 that he had lost, desired to display his appreciation by offering to go to the nearest saloon and shake the hinder for the drink. Since Mr. Meyer is a bond-buyer by profession, and has plenty of money, it wouldn't hurt him to take up the entire issue. He is doing pretty well on the old Sacramento bonds he now has, most of which cost him less than thirty cents on the dollar. That two-thousand-dollar offer of his should set Sacramento property-owners wild with delight.

The Sanitary Era, a Trojan in the work of bettering physical conditions and thus augmenting the sum of human happiness, in noting the retray of Dr. Drinkhouse from editorial labors in another direction, pays that distinguished gentleman deserved compliments for his devotion to sanitary science and his approval of the Era and its heroic work. The Era adds: "While on this subject we cannot refrain from thanks of peculiar fervor for peculiar favor, in season and out of season, from the editors of the Sacramento Record-Union, the Quincy (Ill.) Journal and the Morning Star of Boston; among a large number of others who have greeted our work, though less constantly, with superlative commendation."

THE PROPOSITION OF MR. WILLIAM H. MILLS, presented before the State Board of Trade, concerning the market for California fruits in lesser communities than largest cities, is one that strikes the mind with great force. In various ways there have been strivings to get at the idea now advanced for several years, but Mr. Mills first suggests definite action. What the plan in detail is is not stated in the reports of the meeting, as it will necessitate a paper on the subject that is presently to be read to the board. But in brief the proposition suggests the questions: Is it wise to limit distribution of California fruits to a few large trade and population centers? Are we not now sending our fruits past 20,000,000 of people in order to reach about 5,000,000? Now the idea is instead of making the great cities of the North and East the only objective points for landing our fruits that California should provide and maintain a system of fruit distribution that will enable a larger number of people desiring to buy our horticultural products to obtain them direct. This would, as is apparent, be doubly beneficial; give the producer as good or better prices because the product would not be exposed to the hazard of a few large markets subject to being overstocked and thus liable to fluctuations; secondly by wider distribution it would give the business greater elasticity and thus conserve its steadiness. As the speaker put it, "as the measure of the market for early perishable products is the number of people to whom they can be delivered in good condition," it is to our interest to distribute such products widely and early. Thus, instead of shipping all fruits to Chicago and New York, the people of the States west of Lake Michigan, with their scores of market centers of from 3,000 to 30,000 population each, ought to be supplied if they want the fruit. That they will take it to be assumed, because the desire for it is not dependent upon congested population. If we can give these people outside the great cities as well as within them frequent quick and good delivery of our green fruits in advance of their own season we will find readiness to take them and a growing taste for them. The result of the inauguration of such distribution will be expansion of horticultural industry commensurate with the demand for our fruits, and that will in turn be stimulated by the wider distribution and the inevitable cultivation of taste for them. As to how these many speedy and certain deliveries are to be made and the goods handled at, and returns made from so many points business and transportation skill can be trusted to map out details. These are promised the Board of Trade by Mr. Mills at its meeting next month, and will be looked for with justifiable interest.

THE MANAGERS OF THE "PEOPLE'S PARTY" whose Presidential candidate, General Weaver, is now making a canvass, ought to advise the General to dispense with the services of his assistant, Mrs. Lease, who follows him upon the platform in addresses that are inflammatory, largely untrue and certainly unwise, if we are to judge by her utterances in this city. Any orator with a cause worth pleading can afford to appeal to the reason of the hearers. The intelligence of the average audience is insulted when such declarations as Mrs. Lease indulged in are made by speakers posing as champions of a party asking that the administration of the affairs of the country be committed to it for the good of the republic and the correction of abuses. General Weaver's speech was fair, open and not inflammatory. It was argumentative in most part, embellished by wit and very well fortified by ingenious logic. It was the kind of a speech that is open to criticism, but not to denunciation. Unfortunately, the General closed by introducing and endorsing as his lieutenant in the campaign, Mrs. Lease, who from beginning to end her speech dealt in the most absurd hyperbole not to say incendiary statements, and towards her conclusion invoked sympathy for "the unfortunate train robbers of Visalia, driven by want to crime, and now pursued by hired bands, etc." She likewise inveighed by innuendo against the maintenance of the law and the preservation of order by the powers of sovereign States. General Weaver's cause will not be helped by any such balderdash. The audiences are few and far between that will be receptive of such oratorical pabulum about "unfortunate train robbers driven to crime." Those murderers and thieves were not unfortunate, but well backed by worldly goods; one of them, notably, is comparatively rich. All of them have long been engaged in robbery. The facts develop that they were the Goshen robbers, and a portion of them the Minnesota train robbers. They are murderers, also; brutal, coarse and utterly depraved and reckless. Yet these men are paraded for sympathy by an orator canvassing with a Presidential candidate. General Weaver certainly must feel disgust for all such indecent work. It is a pity that he lacks the courage to put a stop to this anarchic chatter by the emotional person who speaks from his platform and passes the hat for him.

NOTE AND COMMENT. When in the city yesterday Daniel Meyer, Sacramento's chief creditor, expressed a willingness to take $2,000,000 worth of the proposed issue of $100,000 in bonds for levee improvement. Mr. Meyer is also as liberal as the man who when handed $150 that he had lost, desired to display his appreciation by offering to go to the nearest saloon and shake the hinder for the drink. Since Mr. Meyer is a bond-buyer by profession, and has plenty of money, it wouldn't hurt him to take up the entire issue. He is doing pretty well on the old Sacramento bonds he now has, most of which cost him less than thirty cents on the dollar. That two-thousand-dollar offer of his should set Sacramento property-owners wild with delight.

The Sanitary Era, a Trojan in the work of bettering physical conditions and thus augmenting the sum of human happiness, in noting the retray of Dr. Drinkhouse from editorial labors in another direction, pays that distinguished gentleman deserved compliments for his devotion to sanitary science and his approval of the Era and its heroic work. The Era adds: "While on this subject we cannot refrain from thanks of peculiar fervor for peculiar favor, in season and out of season, from the editors of the Sacramento Record-Union, the Quincy (Ill.) Journal and the Morning Star of Boston; among a large number of others who have greeted our work, though less constantly, with superlative commendation."

THE PROPOSITION OF MR. WILLIAM H. MILLS, presented before the State Board of Trade, concerning the market for California fruits in lesser communities than largest cities, is one that strikes the mind with great force. In various ways there have been strivings to get at the idea now advanced for several years, but Mr. Mills first suggests definite action. What the plan in detail is is not stated in the reports of the meeting, as it will necessitate a paper on the subject that is presently to be read to the board. But in brief the proposition suggests the questions: Is it wise to limit distribution of California fruits to a few large trade and population centers? Are we not now sending our fruits past 20,000,000 of people in order to reach about 5,000,000? Now the idea is instead of making the great cities of the North and East the only objective points for landing our fruits that California should provide and maintain a system of fruit distribution that will enable a larger number of people desiring to buy our horticultural products to obtain them direct. This would, as is apparent, be doubly beneficial; give the producer as good or better prices because the product would not be exposed to the hazard of a few large markets subject to being overstocked and thus liable to fluctuations; secondly by wider distribution it would give the business greater elasticity and thus conserve its steadiness. As the speaker put it, "as the measure of the market for early perishable products is the number of people to whom they can be delivered in good condition," it is to our interest to distribute such products widely and early. Thus, instead of shipping all fruits to Chicago and New York, the people of the States west of Lake Michigan, with their scores of market centers of from 3,000 to 30,000 population each, ought to be supplied if they want the fruit. That they will take it to be assumed, because the desire for it is not dependent upon congested population. If we can give these people outside the great cities as well as within them frequent quick and good delivery of our green fruits in advance of their own season we will find readiness to take them and a growing taste for them. The result of the inauguration of such distribution will be expansion of horticultural industry commensurate with the demand for our fruits, and that will in turn be stimulated by the wider distribution and the inevitable cultivation of taste for them. As to how these many speedy and certain deliveries are to be made and the goods handled at, and returns made from so many points business and transportation skill can be trusted to map out details. These are promised the Board of Trade by Mr. Mills at its meeting next month, and will be looked for with justifiable interest.

THE MANAGERS OF THE "PEOPLE'S PARTY" whose Presidential candidate, General Weaver, is now making a canvass, ought to advise the General to dispense with the services of his assistant, Mrs. Lease, who follows him upon the platform in addresses that are inflammatory, largely untrue and certainly unwise, if we are to judge by her utterances in this city. Any orator with a cause worth pleading can afford to appeal to the reason of the hearers. The intelligence of the average audience is insulted when such declarations as Mrs. Lease indulged in are made by speakers posing as champions of a party asking that the administration of the affairs of the country be committed to it for the good of the republic and the correction of abuses. General Weaver's speech was fair, open and not inflammatory. It was argumentative in most part, embellished by wit and very well fortified by ingenious logic. It was the kind of a speech that is open to criticism, but not to denunciation. Unfortunately, the General closed by introducing and endorsing as his lieutenant in the campaign, Mrs. Lease, who from beginning to end her speech dealt in the most absurd hyperbole not to say incendiary statements, and towards her conclusion invoked sympathy for "the unfortunate train robbers of Visalia, driven by want to crime, and now pursued by hired bands, etc." She likewise inveighed by innuendo against the maintenance of the law and the preservation of order by the powers of sovereign States. General Weaver's cause will not be helped by any such balderdash. The audiences are few and far between that will be receptive of such oratorical pabulum about "unfortunate train robbers driven to crime." Those murderers and thieves were not unfortunate, but well backed by worldly goods; one of them, notably, is comparatively rich. All of them have long been engaged in robbery. The facts develop that they were the Goshen robbers, and a portion of them the Minnesota train robbers. They are murderers, also; brutal, coarse and utterly depraved and reckless. Yet these men are paraded for sympathy by an orator canvassing with a Presidential candidate. General Weaver certainly must feel disgust for all such indecent work. It is a pity that he lacks the courage to put a stop to this anarchic chatter by the emotional person who speaks from his platform and passes the hat for him.

NOTE AND COMMENT. When in the city yesterday Daniel Meyer, Sacramento's chief creditor, expressed a willingness to take $2,000,000 worth of the proposed issue of $100,000 in bonds for levee improvement. Mr. Meyer is also as liberal as the man who when handed $150 that he had lost, desired to display his appreciation by offering to go to the nearest saloon and shake the hinder for the drink. Since Mr. Meyer is a bond-buyer by profession, and has plenty of money, it wouldn't hurt him to take up the entire issue. He is doing pretty well on the old Sacramento bonds he now has, most of which cost him less than thirty cents on the dollar. That two-thousand-dollar offer of his should set Sacramento property-owners wild with delight.

The Sanitary Era, a Trojan in the work of bettering physical conditions and thus augmenting the sum of human happiness, in noting the retray of Dr. Drinkhouse from editorial labors in another direction, pays that distinguished gentleman deserved compliments for his devotion to sanitary science and his approval of the Era and its heroic work. The Era adds: "While on this subject we cannot refrain from thanks of peculiar fervor for peculiar favor, in season and out of season, from the editors of the Sacramento Record-Union, the Quincy (Ill.) Journal and the Morning Star of Boston; among a large number of others who have greeted our work, though less constantly, with superlative commendation."

THE PROPOSITION OF MR. WILLIAM H. MILLS, presented before the State Board of Trade, concerning the market for California fruits in lesser communities than largest cities, is one that strikes the mind with great force. In various ways there have been strivings to get at the idea now advanced for several years, but Mr. Mills first suggests definite action. What the plan in detail is is not stated in the reports of the meeting, as it will necessitate a paper on the subject that is presently to be read to the board. But in brief the proposition suggests the questions: Is it wise to limit distribution of California fruits to a few large trade and population centers? Are we not now sending our fruits past 20,000,000 of people in order to reach about 5,000,000? Now the idea is instead of making the great cities of the North and East the only objective points for landing our fruits that California should provide and maintain a system of fruit distribution that will enable a larger number of people desiring to buy our horticultural products to obtain them direct. This would, as is apparent, be doubly beneficial; give the producer as good or better prices because the product would not be exposed to the hazard of a few large markets subject to being overstocked and thus liable to fluctuations; secondly by wider distribution it would give the business greater elasticity and thus conserve its steadiness. As the speaker put it, "as the measure of the market for early perishable products is the number of people to whom they can be delivered in good condition," it is to our interest to distribute such products widely and early. Thus, instead of shipping all fruits to Chicago and New York, the people of the States west of Lake Michigan, with their scores of market centers of from 3,000 to 30,000 population each, ought to be supplied if they want the fruit. That they will take it to be assumed, because the desire for it is not dependent upon congested population. If we can give these people outside the great cities as well as within them frequent quick and good delivery of our green fruits in advance of their own season we will find readiness to take them and a growing taste for them. The result of the inauguration of such distribution will be expansion of horticultural industry commensurate with the demand for our fruits, and that will in turn be stimulated by the wider distribution and the inevitable cultivation of taste for them. As to how these many speedy and certain deliveries are to be made and the goods handled at, and returns made from so many points business and transportation skill can be trusted to map out details. These are promised the Board of Trade by Mr. Mills at its meeting next month, and will be looked for with justifiable interest.

THE MANAGERS OF THE "PEOPLE'S PARTY" whose Presidential candidate, General Weaver, is now making a canvass, ought to advise the General to dispense with the services of his assistant, Mrs. Lease, who follows him upon the platform in addresses that are inflammatory, largely untrue and certainly unwise, if we are to judge by her utterances in this city. Any orator with a cause worth pleading can afford to appeal to the reason of the hearers. The intelligence of the average audience is insulted when such declarations as Mrs. Lease indulged in are made by speakers posing as champions of a party asking that the administration of the affairs of the country be committed to it for the good of the republic and the correction of abuses. General Weaver's speech was fair, open and not inflammatory. It was argumentative in most part, embellished by wit and very well fortified by ingenious logic. It was the kind of a speech that is open to criticism, but not to denunciation. Unfortunately, the General closed by introducing and endorsing as his lieutenant in the campaign, Mrs. Lease, who from beginning to end her speech dealt in the most absurd hyperbole not to say incendiary statements, and towards her conclusion invoked sympathy for "the unfortunate train robbers of Visalia, driven by want to crime, and now pursued by hired bands, etc." She likewise inveighed by innuendo against the maintenance of the law and the preservation of order by the powers of sovereign States. General Weaver's cause will not be helped by any such balderdash. The audiences are few and far between that will be receptive of such oratorical pabulum about "unfortunate train robbers driven to crime." Those murderers and thieves were not unfortunate, but well backed by worldly goods; one of them, notably, is comparatively rich. All of them have long been engaged in robbery. The facts develop that they were the Goshen robbers, and a portion of them the Minnesota train robbers. They are murderers, also; brutal, coarse and utterly depraved and reckless. Yet these men are paraded for sympathy by an orator canvassing with a Presidential candidate. General Weaver certainly must feel disgust for all such indecent work. It is a pity that he lacks the courage to put a stop to this anarchic chatter by the emotional person who speaks from his platform and passes the hat for him.

NOTE AND COMMENT. When in the city yesterday Daniel Meyer, Sacramento's chief creditor, expressed a willingness to take $2,000,000 worth of the proposed issue of $100,000 in bonds for levee improvement. Mr. Meyer is also as liberal as the man who when handed $150 that he had lost, desired to display his appreciation by offering to go to the nearest saloon and shake the hinder for the drink. Since Mr. Meyer is a bond-buyer by profession, and has plenty of money, it wouldn't hurt him to take up the entire issue. He is doing pretty well on the old Sacramento bonds he now has, most of which cost him less than thirty cents on the dollar. That two-thousand-dollar offer of his should set Sacramento property-owners wild with delight.

The Sanitary Era, a Trojan in the work of bettering physical conditions and thus augmenting the sum of human happiness, in noting the retray of Dr. Drinkhouse from editorial labors in another direction, pays that distinguished gentleman deserved compliments for his devotion to sanitary science and his approval of the Era and its heroic work. The Era adds: "While on this subject we cannot refrain from thanks of peculiar fervor for peculiar favor, in season and out of season, from the editors of the Sacramento Record-Union, the Quincy (Ill.) Journal and the Morning Star of Boston; among a large number of others who have greeted our work, though less constantly, with superlative commendation."

THE PROPOSITION OF MR. WILLIAM H. MILLS, presented before the State Board of Trade, concerning the market for California fruits in lesser communities than largest cities, is one that strikes the mind with great force. In various ways there have been strivings to get at the idea now advanced for several years, but Mr. Mills first suggests definite action. What the plan in detail is is not stated in the reports of the meeting, as it will necessitate a paper on the subject that is presently to be read to the board. But in brief the proposition suggests the questions: Is it wise to limit distribution of California fruits to a few large trade and population centers? Are we not now sending our fruits past 20,000,000 of people in order to reach about 5,000,000? Now the idea is instead of making the great cities of the North and East the only objective points for landing our fruits that California should provide and maintain a system of fruit distribution that will enable a larger number of people desiring to buy our horticultural products to obtain them direct. This would, as is apparent, be doubly beneficial; give the producer as good or better prices because the product would not be exposed to the hazard of a few large markets subject to being overstocked and thus liable to fluctuations; secondly by wider distribution it would give the business greater elasticity and thus conserve its steadiness. As the speaker put it, "as the measure of the market for early perishable products is the number of people to whom they can be delivered in good condition," it is to our interest to distribute such products widely and early. Thus, instead of shipping all fruits to Chicago and New York, the people of the States west of Lake Michigan, with their scores of market centers of from 3,000 to 30,000 population each, ought to be supplied if they want the fruit. That they will take it to be assumed, because the desire for it is not dependent upon congested population. If we can give these people outside the great cities as well as within them frequent quick and good delivery of our green fruits in advance of their own season we will find readiness to take them and a growing taste for them. The result of the inauguration of such distribution will be expansion of horticultural industry commensurate with the demand for our fruits, and that will in turn be stimulated by the wider distribution and the inevitable cultivation of taste for them. As to how these many speedy and certain deliveries are to be made and the goods handled at, and returns made from so many points business and transportation skill can be trusted to map out details. These are promised the Board of Trade by Mr. Mills at its meeting next month, and will be looked for with justifiable interest.

Special Notices. PAINLESS EXTRACTION OF TEETH by one local anesthetics. DR. WELDON, Dentist, Eighth and J streets. A WITTY CUSTOMER Went to a drug store and asked for SOZODONT. The storekeeper said, "We're out of that, but here is something just as good. It's a practical customer said, "No you don't," and walked out to a neighboring store and got a bottle of SOZODONT.

FAST TIME TO THE EAST.—The Atlantic and Pacific Railroad (Santa Fe route) is now twelve hours shorter to Kansas City and St. Louis, and twenty-four hours shorter to Chicago than formerly. Pullman Tourist Sleeping Cars to Chicago every day without change. Personally conducted excursions every Wednesday with tourist sleepers. Routes: GEORGE W. RALSTON, Agent, 1004 Fourth Street, Sacramento. M.W.F.

MRS. WINSLOW'S "SOOTHING SYRUP" has been in use over fifty years by millions of mothers for their children while teething, with perfect success. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays pain, cures wind colic, regulates the bowels, and is the best remedy for diarrhea, whether arising from teething or other causes. For sale by druggists in every part of the world. Be sure and ask for Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup. Twenty-five cents a bottle. M.W.F.

REWARD—THE ABOVE REWARD will be paid by the Sacramento Tribune, No. 14, Imp'd O. K. M., for the recovery of the body of J. M. SIMON, who was drowned at midnight on last Sunday. M. J. LAMB, Schem. EDGAR H. RIVETT, C. of R. (B. & N. C.) a12-2t

BASEBALL Sunday, August 14th, AGRICULTURAL PARK. BETWEEN THE SUGARS AND SCOTT & GILBERTS. 7-9 Game called at 2:15 P.M. Admission, 25 cents. Ladies free. a12-2t

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS. SEALED PROPOSALS WILL BE RECEIVED at Perkins Station, Sacramento County, California, by the Trustees of Washington School District, until 1 o'clock on the 20th DAY OF AUGUST, 1892, for the erection and completion of a one-story and one class school room in accordance with plans and specifications on file with the Board of Trustees. Plans and specifications may be seen at Perkins Station, where they may be left. The Board of Trustees reserves the right to reject any or all bids. W. E. BOWLES, S. J. ROONEY, J. HARLOW, Trustees. Sacramento, August 11, 1892. a12, 16, 18, 20

NOTICE OF SALE OF BONDS —OF THE Anaheim Irrigation District. NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT until the 8TH DAY OF SEPTEMBER, 1892, at 11 o'clock A. M. of that day, sealed proposals will be received by the Board of Directors of the Anaheim Irrigation District, at their office in the County of Orange, California, at the office of the Board of Trustees of the County of Orange, State of California, in accordance with the provisions of an Act of the Legislature known as the "Wright Act," as amended by an Act approved March 20, 1891, the entire issue in that act consisting of seven hundred bonds of the denomination of $500 each, and five hundred bonds of the par value of $100 each, dated January 1, 1892, and payable in ten series as provided in said Act. Interest and principal payable at the office of the Sacramento Trust Company, New York. Said proposals should be addressed to said board and endorsed "Proposals for purchase of bonds," and will be opened by said board on the day and at the hour above mentioned and the purchase awarded to the highest bidder, but the board reserves the right to reject any and all bids. Said proposals to be accompanied by a certified check payable to the order of said board in the amount of one cent of each and all bids. By order of the said board. E. V. GAIWOOD, Secretary. Dated August 10, 1892. a12-2t

Savings Houses. NATIONAL BANK OF D. O. MILLS & CO. Sacramento, Cal.—Founded 1850. DIRECTORS: EDGAR MILLS, President; S. PRENTISS SMITH, Vice-President; FRANK MILLER, Cashier; CHARLES F. DILLMAN, Assistant Cashier; D. O. MILLS.

CALIFORNIA STATE BANK AND SAFE DEPOSIT VAULTS SACRAMENTO, CAL. Draws Drafts on Principal Cities of the World. SATURDAY HOURS, 10 A. M. TO 1 P. M. OFFICERS: President, N. D. RIBBOUT; Vice-President, F. E. COX; Cashier, A. A. ABBOTT; Assistant Cashier, W. E. GERBER. DIRECTORS: C. W. CLARK, JOS. STEFFENS, G. C. PEKINS, FRED'K COX, N. D. RIBBOUT, NORMAN RIBBOUT, E. GERBER.

FARMERS' AND MECHANICS' SAVINGS BANK Southwest corner Fourth and J Streets, Sacramento, Cal. Guaranteed Capital, $500,000. LOANS MADE ON REAL ESTATE. Interest paid semi-annually on Term and Ordinary Deposits. President, B. U. STEVENSON; Vice-President, EDWIN K. ALSIP; Cashier, D. D. WHITEBECK; Secretary, JAMES M. STEVENSON; Surveyor, J. M. STEVENSON; Directors, W. E. STEINMAN, EDWIN K. ALSIP, S. H. CUMMINGS, W. E. TERRY, SOL. RIVINGTON, JAMES M. STEVENSON, JAS. M. STEVENSON.

PEOPLE'S SAVINGS BANK $100,000. THE PEOPLE'S SAVINGS BANK HAVE a surplus on hand of $150,000 to loan in sums to suit on either city or country real estate security. Current rates of interest. WM. BECKMAN, President. GEO. W. LORENZ, Cashier.

CROCKER-WOOLWORTH NATIONAL BANK, Crocker Building, Market and Post Streets, San Francisco. PAID UP CAPITAL, $1,000,000. SURPLUS, $300,000. DIRECTORS: CHARLES F. CROCKER, E. H. MILLER, JR., R. C. WOOLWORTH, President; W. E. BROWN, Vice-President; WM. H. CROCKER, Cashier.

CITY BREWERY, CORNER TWELFTH AND H STREETS, SACRAMENTO. The finest equipped Steam Beer and Porter Brewery on the coast. FRANK RUSHSTALLER, Prop.

W. H. LUELLING, PLUMBER, STEAM and Gas-Fitting, General Jobbing done. Stoves and Tilers, Agent for Acme Water Mills, Wash Tubing, Daniel Best Gas Engines, Horse Powers, Tanks and Pumps, a specialty. Work done in Tank and Pump Building, 1119 J Street, Sacramento.

THE ROSY FRESHNESS, And velvet softness of the skin is invariably obtained by those who use Pozzoni's Complexion Powder.

IT PAYS TO ANTICIPATE YOUR WANTS. When by so doing A GREAT SAVING SHOES. Is made, and the Chances THIS WEEK

More than justify such a course. Come, Examine And you will Surely Buy.

Sale Prices in Shoe Dept. MEN'S SHOES. One lot Men's Fine Dress Shoes, neat round toe with tip, reduced from $6 to $3 50 per pair.

HALE BROS. & CO. HALE BROS. & CO. Lauenson's.

HALE BROS. & CO. HALE BROS. & CO. Lauenson's.

HALE BROS. & CO. HALE BROS. & CO. Lauenson's.

HALE BROS. & CO. HALE BROS. & CO. Lauenson's.

HALE BROS. & CO. HALE BROS. & CO. Lauenson's.

HALE BROS. & CO. HALE BROS. & CO. Lauenson's.

HALE BROS. & CO. HALE BROS. & CO. Lauenson's.

HALE BROS. & CO. HALE BROS. & CO. Lauenson's.

HALE BROS. & CO. HALE BROS. & CO. Lauenson's.

HALE BROS. & CO. HALE BROS. & CO. Lauenson's.

FRIDAY AUG 12 1892

On August 12, 1876, the Great Queensland was destroyed at sea. She carried over five hundred passengers and a large quantity of patent gunpowder. Not a soul on board survived to tell the story of the awful disaster. Floating fragments of the ill-fated ship furnished the only clue to her fate ever discovered.

One lot MEN'S SHOES, large sizes only. Sale price, $1 per pair.

LADIES' KID OXFORD TIES, patent leather tips; small sizes only. Reduced to 85c per pair.

MISSES' BEST FRENCH DONGOLA KID SHOES, hand-turned, spring heels; all sizes. On sale at $2 25 per pair. Worth $3 50.

LADIES' FINE FRENCH KID BUTTON SHOES, square or opera toe, worth $5 regular. Sale price, $2 75 per pair.

MEN'S FINE FINISHED MEDIUM WEIGHT GRAY MERINO UNDERWEAR, on sale this week at 25c per garment.

LACE FRONT, FANCY COLORED, OVERSHIRTS, worth 90c, reduced to 55c each.

BARGAINS IN EVERY DEPARTMENT.

HALE BROS. & CO. HALE BROS. & CO. Lauenson's.

HALE BROS. & CO. HALE BROS. & CO. Lauenson's.

HALE BROS. & CO. HALE BROS. & CO. Lauenson's.

HALE BROS. & CO. HALE BROS. & CO. Lauenson's.

Notice to Voters! The Board of Supervisors of Sacramento County having made an order directing a RE-REGISTRATION

Of all the voters in said county, it will be necessary for all electors, in order to vote at the next general election, to be held November 8, 1892, to make application in person to be registered.

Said registration will commence JULY 30, 1892, and end OCTOBER 24, 1892. Registration rooms are on the third floor of the Court-house.

NAMES WILL NOT BE TRANSFERRED FROM THE OLD REGISTER. LET EVERY VOTER TAKE NOTICE AND GET REGISTERED. W. W. RHOADS, County Clerk.

NOTICE. THE GOOD WILL OF THE BUSINESS OF the late firm of GEO. W. CHESLEY & CO. has not been sold by me. It still belongs to the undersigned as Trustee of Geo. W. Chesley & Co., and is for sale at my office on Second street, between J and K, at the office of the Fetter Company. Dated Sacramento, July 30, 1892. L. ELKUS, Trustee for Geo. W. Chesley & Co.

Baker & Hamilton, IMPORTERS AND JOBBERS OF HARDWARE, IRON, STEEL, COAL, POWDER, Agricultural Implements and Machines. BARBED WIRE, CORDAGE, BELTING. Sacramento, California.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS. BIDS WILL BE RECEIVED BY THE Board of Sutter Fort Trustees for the restoration of certain portions of Sutter's Fort, in accordance with drawings and specifications, which can be obtained at office of Jas. Sculler, Architect, 218 Fifth street, Sacramento, Cal. Bids must be tendered on blanks furnished by the architect on or before THURSDAY, August 13th, 2 P. M., at the office of the Hon. Eugene J. Gregory, 3rd street, No. 126, accompanied by a certified check of 5 per cent. of amount of bid. The trustees reserve the right to reject any or all the bids. P. D. RYAN, President Board of Trustees.