

GUARDING AGAINST CHOLERA.

The State Board of Health Appoints Inspectors for Duty.

French Immigrants En Route to Southern California to be Stopped—Other Precautions.

Dr. W. G. Cochran of Los Angeles, President of the State Board of Health, yesterday requested the Secretary, Dr. J. R. Laine, by wire to appoint an inspector for trains at Yuma, A. T., to guard against the entrance of cholera from Mexico and the south.

He again wired last evening that he would intercept at Colton a party of sixteen French immigrants that had just passed the quarantine officers at New York and were en route to Southern California. He said he would fumigate them all if necessary.

Dr. P. G. Cotter has been appointed inspector at Yuma, and Dr. J. P. Booth will probably be appointed for Needles in a few days.

The following is a copy of the instructions given Dr. Cotter by the State Board of Health. The Sheriff of San Diego has also been communicated with and asked to make Dr. Cotter a Deputy Sheriff and to appoint a number in blank, so the inspector's authority can be enforced:

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 16, 1892. P. G. Cotter, M. D., Yuma, A. T.—DEAR SIR: You are hereby appointed Medical Inspector for the California State Board of Health, to serve in compliance with an Act to prevent the introduction of contagious diseases into California, approved March 16, 1883, which Act is hereby made a part of your instructions, and reads as follows:

Section 1. Whenever there shall exist, in the opinion of the State Board of Health, imminent danger of the introduction of contagious or infectious diseases into the State of California by means of railroad communication with other States, the State Board of Health is authorized, and it is hereby made its duty, to make or cause to be made, by an accredited officer or inspector, at such point or points between such points as the State limits as may be selected for the purpose.

Section 2. Such inspection shall be made, where practicable, during the ordinary detention of a train at a station, or while in transit between stations, and the inspection shall be conducted as to the least possible delay, and shall be so conducted as to be consistent with the purpose of this act.

Section 3. Should the discovery be made of the existence among the passengers of any dangerous, contagious or infectious disease, the said Board of Health, shall have power to inspect, under rules and conditions prescribed by them as being applicable to the nature of the disease, shall have power to cause the side-tracking or detention of any car or cars so infected, to isolate the sick or to remove them to a suitable place for treatment, to establish a suitable station, to cause the passengers to be subjected to disinfection and cleansing before proceeding further into the State, and to cause the free vaccination to all persons exposed in any car or at any station.

You are hereby directed to take a position on the line of the railroad and to inspect all immigrants and other passengers coming into the State.

You will place you in communication with the Sheriff of the county where you are stationed and demand from him the necessary number of deputies to enforce the provisions of these instructions and to detain passengers held at the quarantine or refuge station as long as the public safety demands.

You are to establish telegraph communication with the Health Officials of El Paso and Nogales so as to ascertain if there are suspicious cases of disease on the trains destined for the interior. If you should discover cholera on any train you will cause the car in which it is found to be side tracked and the passengers quarantined and kept in a place suitable for the sick and convenient to the railroad companies. You will cause the car in which cholera was discovered to be cleaned and moistened with a solution of bicarbonate of mercury, when all clothes and personal effects of passengers that have been exposed to the disease are to be opened, hung up, or spread on the seats and thoroughly fumigated with sulphur.

The fumigation is to be performed in the following manner: Place a kettle of water on the car-stove and get it to boiling, for it is necessary that there should be steam or the fumigation will be of little benefit.

Then place an iron pan containing from four to eight pounds of sulphur, moistened with alcohol, supported by two bricks or stones, over a few inches of water in a tub. Let the windows and doors be tightly closed, the sulphur ignited and the fumigation process continued twelve hours. Let the doors then be opened and the car ventilated, when it is safe to allow passengers to enter.

All persons who have been in any way exposed to the infection must be compelled to bathe and have their clothes disinfected before being allowed to proceed.

All cases of suspicious diseases of a diathetic character are to be detained until the nature of their ailment shall have been fully determined by you. You will detain all persons sick with cholera in a hospital camp to be erected for the purpose, where you will supply them with necessary food, care and medical attendance.

You will keep a record of all the cases of cholera discovered, and all proceedings under the duties assigned you, and report them to the Secretary of the State Board of Health every day while you are on duty.

You are to conduct the necessary precautions to be taken in such a manner as to put passengers and the railroad companies to the least possible inconvenience.

While you are expected to be energetic and vigilant, you will avoid all arbitrary exhibition of authority of your duties, much is left to your discretion and good judgment; but you are charged by the State Board of Health not to exceed the authority vested in the board by the Act which appears in these instructions, and under which they are given.

It is believed that you will exercise your powers with prudence, dignity and courtesy.

By order of the State Board of Health, Secretary State Board of Health.

AVOIDING POLITICS The Miners Postpone their Annual Convention Until After the Election.

At a called meeting of the Executive Committee of the California Miners' Association held at the San Francisco headquarters on Monday, September 12th, the following resolution was adopted:

WHEREAS, The California Miners' Association is a non-partisan and non-political body and whereas a general election of Presidential Electors, as well as Congressional and State officers, takes place in the beginning of November, and whereas it would be difficult to prevent politics from entering into the deliberations of the annual convention, and whereas the object of this association is to assist in every way the mining industry of this State, and to assist in what way it can to the rehabilitation of the industry of hydraulic mining, without doing damage to the navigable streams or to the lands adjacent thereto, therefore be it resolved, That the annual convention of the California Miners' Association be deferred from October 10, 1892, to Tuesday, November 15, 1892.

ATTORNEY DEVLIN'S MEMORY.

Judge Van Fleet Rules That it Was Somewhat at Fault.

A Contention Over the Appeal Papers in the Suit of M. M. Drew vs. Chief Rodgers.

For several days the attorneys on both sides of the case of M. M. Drew vs. Chief of Police Rodgers, have been endeavoring to reach an agreement on a statement or appeal to the Supreme Court, but as they differed as to some points in the evidence, the matter hung fire until yesterday.

This is the case in which Drew proved that Rodgers was not a citizen of the United States and therefore not eligible to office—and Judge Van Fleet so declared in his decision. Rodgers now proposes to appeal to the Supreme Court.

The obstacle which was encountered in the preparation of the appeal statement was the contention of R. T. Devlin, counsel for Rodgers, that it had not been proved by the other side that Thomas H. Baxter and Mary Baxter, Rodgers' step-father and mother, had ever been married.

Charles T. Jones and Grove L. Johnson, attorneys for Drew, held that an admission was made by Mr. Devlin during the trial that the parties named had been wedded.

Attorney Devlin repudiated this. He produced an affidavit sworn to by Official Stenographer Davis, to the effect that there was nothing concerning such admission in his records. But the other side produced affidavits made by attorneys and others, stating that Mr. Devlin had, after Judge Van Fleet's adverse decision, spoken of the excellence of his point on appeal.

Messrs. Jones and Johnson, M. M. Drew and Warren drew the sworn evidence that Devlin had made the admission.

After arguments, Judge Van Fleet held that there was not a suspicion of doubt but that Mr. Devlin believed that he was speaking truthfully, yet human memory is not infallible. But that the reporter's record, Judge Van Fleet said that a shorthand reporter is merely an assistant to the court, and his notes are not accepted as evidence. The latter was the case, the reporter would be above and greater than the court. A reporter sometimes fails to hear everything said, and frequently makes his own judgment as to what should be put down when attorneys are talking back and forth.

The amendment, including the admission, was ordered made and the statement engrossed. Attorney Devlin had an exception noted, and will, it is understood, appeal to the Supreme Court on this point, too.

FOUND GUILTY. But "Whitesides," the Detective, Makes a Foretable Appeal.

"Mr. Whitesides" was tried in the Police Court yesterday for vagrancy and found guilty, sentence being deferred until today.

Whitesides is the young man who represented that he was a detective, and who, having visited a faro game and lost some money, wanted Officer Talbot to recover it by a little scheme that was very crooked.

He was also charged with having threatened a Second and L street dance's life and with making other disturbances.

During the examination of the witness, Whitesides conducted his case with considerable shrewdness and ability, and at its close made a very earnest and intelligent plea.

He stated that he was a Kentuckian and imbued with the principles of chivalry and honor. He said that he had been in the dark and bloody ground that he scorned the charge of vagrancy, and told how he had endeavored to secure employment in various places. He has but one hand, and claims to have lost the other in railroad work, and that his detective propensities led him into all sorts of company.

ANOTHER BURGLARY. T. J. Stewart's Saloon Entered Yesterday Morning.

Between the hours of 3 o'clock and 4 o'clock yesterday morning burglars entered T. J. Stewart's saloon, at 724 K street, and ransacked the place thoroughly.

They entered by a window in the rear, which they smashed in with a sledge. They then proceeded to the bar, over-looked quite a sum of money, two gold watches and a diamond pin lying in a nook on the sideboard.

While in the saloon the thieves evidently held high carnival, opening several bottles of champagne, strewed the floor with cigars and cigar-boxes, broke open the money drawer and made selections from the silver and plated spoons on the bar.

After playing a social game of pedro the visitors departed, leaving no clue as to who they were or when Mr. Stewart might look for another visit from them.

CRAVENS REVERSED. Judge Catlin Declares a Police Court Judgment Illegal.

Superior Judge Catlin yesterday reversed the judgment of Police Judge Cravens in the cases of Ah Sheung and Ah Fong, who were arrested by Captain Bradley and charged with advertising a lottery.

The evidence in the Police Court disclosed that the Chinamen were copying the winning numbers of a lottery which had taken place, when arrested, but Judge Cravens found the Mongolians guilty, all the same, and sentenced them to pay a fine of $100 each or serve fifty days in jail.

Major W. A. Anderson, counsel for the Chinese, took an appeal to the Superior Court. After hearing the evidence read, Judge Catlin held that there is no advertising in advertising the result of a drawing, and the judgment of the Police Court was ordered reversed.
