

HOWLING WINDS, AND RAIN.

The Severest Storm Ever Experienced in This Vicinity.

Railroad Travel Interfered With—The Rivers Rising Fast—Folsom's Iron Bridge Gone.

From 1 o'clock until 9 yesterday morning occurred the fiercest storm ever experienced in this city and the country surrounding it. It was, in fact, but a continuation of the southeast gale which set in on Saturday morning last, but the fury of the wind exceeded that of the gales which prevailed on Saturday, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday mornings.

Indeed, the storm deserves to be classed as a hurricane, for at times the wind roared at a velocity of upward of seventy miles an hour, and "kept up its lick" so long that not a few persons feared it would sweep from the earth every structure short of brick buildings.

Trees were bent to the ground, fences torn down and sent flying in fragments through the air, windows blown in, sheds roofs carried away and stanch frame houses shaken as if in the throes of an earthquake.

And all the while the rain poured down as if the clouds above had been rent asunder by some monster explosive. Driven by the terrible force of the wind, the rain found its way into every crack and crevice; it ran down the sides of chimneys and through holes in roofs, destroying the plastering and papering of many houses, and flooded yards and lawns that had never before known even a small puddle of water.

As nobody makes it his duty, apparently, to look after such matters, the sewer-grates became choked with leaves and other debris, causing the water to stand almost knee-deep in gutters and at street intersections.

About noon yesterday the rain let up here, much to the relief of everybody in the city, but reports received from other places were to the effect that the storm still raged.

While the gale was at its height it blew down a number of trees in Capitol Park, but the big pines, cypresses and redwoods, although whipped by the wind until they bent and groaned under the punishing force of the wind, held their ground—or, rather the ground held them.

Many large and heavily-laden orange and lemon trees were uprooted, and others which were bent over, had their fruit scattered about the gardens.

The store of the Jos. Thibien Crocker Company was deluged yesterday forenoon in consequence of the roof-rains having become choked. About $100 damage was done.

A portion of the car stable at Oak Park was unroofed during the gale, but no other serious damage was done.

The schools were poorly attended in the morning, and in the afternoon no sessions were held.

During the height of the storm yesterday morning about daylight a flock of wild geese mistook the public street at Fourteenth and G for a water course and stream may get past here before that of the Upper Sacramento comes down; but the choking up at Carquinez Straits may, by backing the water up, cause the river to rise considerably more.

The logs from Folsom were passing here in great numbers late last night, and men were out gathering them.

Word came from Siletion yesterday that a dredger was needed to protect the levee of the islands below there, over which the water, backed up by the unusually high tides, was flowing. Which particular island was affected could not be ascertained.

The heavy and incessant rain and snowstorms had begun to tell severely on the rivers by Tuesday night, when the Sacramento, at this point—as stated in our weather report yesterday—reached a height of 16 feet. The American below rose to a much greater height in the narrow gorges beyond Folsom, where it is walled in by mountains of granite.

Down through the canyons turbulent waters rushed, and early yesterday morning the mighty volume struck and carried away the completed steel bridge opposite Folsom, together with the temporary bridge that had been used during the summer months.

The frame "water works" had not been detached from the iron and when the water came down against it the wood work gave way and carried the iron with it.

The bridge was to be completed by the 10th of next month, and it was only a week ago that the Supervisors inspected the work and were so well pleased with it that they paid the contractors (the San Francisco Bridge Company) $16,000, or one-half the whole cost of the structure.

CLEAN RECORDS.

Rev. J. B. Silcox Tells How Men May Make Them.

He Illustrates His Subject by Reviewing the Life and Character of John B. Gough.

Owing to the inclement weather the Congregational Church was only partially filled last evening to hear Rev. J. B. Silcox of Oakland in his lecture on John B. Gough, entitled "Keep Your Record Clean," but the audience was an appreciative one, and Mr. Silcox was frequently and heartily applauded.

He prefaced his lecture by a few words of greeting to his audience, and then said that he had to say something about the life of John B. Gough, of whom and what he was and did, and something of the cause for which he spoke.

No man, said Mr. Silcox, liveth to himself; souls touch and are touched and influenced by each other. Being dead, they yet speak and exist for good or evil. The good that men do lives after them, as well as the bad they do, and by speaking of men as men, women were also included in the term.

He then reviewed the life of John B. Gough, and said that he was not a man to be envied, but a man to be imitated. He was not a man of great wealth, but a man of great character. He was not a man of great power, but a man of great influence.

Gough spent most of his life in reclaiming men from the paths of sin, and his faith never faltered or waned. He spoke to more men than any other man of his time, and he was not a man of great wealth, but a man of great character.

AMUSEMENTS.

Another Evening at the Westminster Presbyterian Church.

The "Festival of Seasons," which closed last night (being its second night) at the Westminster Presbyterian Church, was favored with good attendance and patronage, and proved very satisfactory and successful to its promoters.

During the evening the following selections were given: Piano duo, Misses Stella Cady and May Hickman; recitation, Miss Edith Renwick; piano solo, Miss Florence Williams; piano and violin trio, Miss Cady, Miss Hickman and H. C. Host; recitation, Miss Renwick; duet, Miss Belle Carrington and Mr. Best.

By an oversight two of the important characters in Tuesday night's entertainment were omitted from yesterday's report of the festival—Lord Fauntleroy, by Clifton Fisher, in marvelous costume, and "The Circulating Library," both were features of the entertainment and deserving of great credit for their admirable character.

The books, as on Tuesday night, were in excellent trim, and their managers were the recipients of liberal admiration, as well as patronage.

The box sheet of the Metropolitan Theater for the Julia Marlowe engagement will open at the Clunie Opera-house at 9:30 this morning. Seats may be reserved to-day for either Friday or Saturday nights. There is every reason to believe that the Clunie Opera-house and Shakespearean student will have full houses to witness her art in personating two of the loveliest female characters of Shakespeare's genius.

The Sacramento Military Social Club will hold its second social party at Armory Hall on Tuesday evening, December 7. The Committee of Arrangements will spare no efforts whatever to make the occasion one of the most successful of the season. Admission will be by invitation.

The third annual ball of Sutter Lodge, No. 340, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, takes place to-night at Turner Hall. Good music will be engaged, and it promises to be a pleasant affair.

The Ladies' Mission Society will give a pumpkin social at the German Lutheran Church this evening.

Owing to the inclemency of the weather the performance of "Damon and Pythias," announced for last night, has been postponed until Monday evening next.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL. Railroad Commissioner Beckman and wife returned from San Francisco yesterday.

Creed Raymond is ill and confined to his apartments at the Grand Hotel, San Francisco.

C. N. Crittenton, founder of the Florence Mission, is again in the city, and will remain for a while in evangelical work.

W. T. Goss, of the Goss Printing Press Company of Chicago, is in the city. He is on the coast to put up more presses, and called to see "Bossie," the lightning perfecting press which he put up in this office two years ago.

Arrivals at the Golden Eagle Hotel yesterday: I. Dessan, Buffalo, N. Y.; L. Soumeirah, H. V. Reeves, C. N. Crittenton, L. A. Sallid, N. S. Jones, J. L. Hallock and wife, Tacoma; James Steiner, Chicago; C. A. Duly, Napa; A. H. Leighton, Napa; E. Brown and wife, Berkeley; William Beckman and wife, City; H. Posener, H. Meyerstein, A. Hamburger, C. P. Heninger, James H. Jones, C. G. Clark, Mrs. A. Waters, M. A. Hayward, Mrs. Jackson, P. B. Hicks, N. M. Kenally and H. Rogers, San Francisco.

Miss May E. Norris, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Norris, was yesterday married by Rev. A. C. Herick, married to Edward Pitt of New York. The bright and happy young couple received many presents, and after a short stay in the city, they departed for the southern portion of the State, and on their wedding tour will visit Los Angeles, San Diego, Monterey and other points of interest, when they will return to the place of their many friends and make Sacramento their home. The bride is a very highly-esteemed native daughter of Sacramento.

Funeral of Patrick Lyman. Many of the friends of the veteran fireman, the late Patrick Lyman, attended his funeral yesterday. The deceased was held in high esteem by his old associates.

Low Firm Dissolved. The law firm of Johnson, Johnson & Johnson has been dissolved, Albert M. Johnson retiring.

Extraordinary Liberality. During the holiday season, as an extra Christmas to their patrons, the Great American Importing Tea Company, 617 J street, will present their customers with extra presents on each order, and give their usual presents. Their teas and coffees have no superior in quality, purity and cheapness. Their china and crockery department is replete with new goods of new designs. Prices one-half off during the season. Special Christmas bargains in dinner, tea and toilet sets.

MAILED. PIT-NORRIS—In this city, November 30th, by Rev. A. C. Herick, Edward Pitt of New York to Miss May E. Norris (youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Norris) of Sacramento.

CLARK-HUNT—In this city, November 30th, by Rev. Couly, at the residence of the bride's parents, Charles H. Clark to Nellie A. Hunt of Sacramento.

There's danger in a cough—more than ever when your head is "bad." It makes things easy for Consumption. But there's a cure for it in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. A positive cure—not only for Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Bronchitis, Asthma and all lingering Coughs, but for Consumption itself in all its earlier stages. It's reasonable. All these diseases depend on tainted blood. Consumption is simply Lung-scrofula. And for every form of scrofula and blood-taint, "The Discovery" is a certain remedy. It's so certain, that its makers guarantee it to be a cure, in every case, or the money is refunded. With a medicine that is certain, this can be done.

There's a cure for Catarrh, too, no matter what you've been led to believe. If there isn't, in your case, you'll get $500 cash. It's a bona fide offer that's made by the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. They are willing to take the risk—you ought to be glad to take the medicine.
