

JOHN Q. BROWN.

Death of Sacramento's Former Mayor in San Francisco.

Sudden Close of a Long and Honorable Career—A Man Loved and Respected by All.

The many friends in this city of ex-Mayor John Q. Brown were startled yesterday on learning of his unexpected death, which occurred in San Francisco at 10 o'clock on Tuesday night, caused by paralysis of the heart.

The sad news of her husband's death was telegraphed her, and she will return as speedily as possible. The remains will then be brought to this city for interment in the family plot in the cemetery here.

Mr. Brown, wife and son removed from this city to San Francisco about five years ago, and have since made their home there, the deceased having been elected Mayor of the State Board of Trade, which position he filled until a couple of years ago, when he accepted the place of Inspector of Gas Meters for the city of San Francisco, which office he filled at the time of his death.

He had been a resident of Sacramento continuously from 1850 up to 1888, and during that time held many positions of honor and trust in this city. For many years he was Superintendent of the local gas company, and subsequently was elected Mayor of the city for two terms. He was a stanch Democrat, but possessed such sterling worth that he was twice chosen to preside over the municipal affairs of Sacramento, although his party was in the minority by about a thousand votes.

His course while Mayor gained for him an enviable reputation at home and abroad, and his defeat for a third term was made possible only by the fact that the Republican party, as their candidate so popular, competent and honest a man as Eugene J. Gregory.

Mr. Brown was several times spoken of in connection with the Democratic nomination for Governor, and there is little doubt but that he could have secured that honor had he or his friends made the least exertion in that direction. He was not, however, much of a politician, and never engaged in party intrigues, although always an outspoken and ardent upholder of Democratic principles.

It was Mr. Brown's intention to resign his residence in Sacramento at the expiration of his term of office as Gas Inspector. He had considerable property interests here, including the Windsor Hotel, at Eighth and J streets, and a residence on H street. He was one of the Trustees of the Leland Stanford Jr. University, being among the first persons named by Senator Stanford in that connection.

A BUSY LIFE. The following detailed sketch of the life of the deceased appeared in a special edition of the Record-Union, which is in connection with those of the other Trustees of the Leland Stanford Jr. University:

John Q. Brown was born in Breckinridge County, Kentucky, on the 14th day of June, 1829. His father was a farmer, and at an early age he was initiated into the mysteries of agriculture. He received his early education at Mount Vernon Seminary, a well-known seat of learning, being a branch of Bowdoin College.

In 1844 the family removed to Lafayette County, Missouri, and here the young man continued his agricultural labors for about three years.

The plodding life of a farmer, however, was too monotonous for him, and with his ambitious views, and in 1847, having determined upon mercantile pursuits as his future vocation, he went to Lexington, Missouri, and secured a position as clerk in a store. Here he remained until the news of the discovery of gold in California reached him, and within him a desire to seek, on the shores of the Pacific, a new field of labor, and cast his lot with the ambitious adventurers who, incited by dreams of golden treasure, were destined to be the founders of a new and mighty State.

Early in 1850 he made the long, tedious and wearisome journey across the plains, arriving in Hangtown, now Placerville, on the 27th day of July, of that year. He commenced mining on what was then known as "Georgia," in El Dorado County, and continued the search for gold with varying success until October, 1850, when he decided to abandon mining and seek other business channels, and accordingly repaired to Sacramento and established himself in business in this city.

In May, 1852, he was appointed Deputy County Recorder of Sacramento County, and in the fall of that year was nominated by the Whig party for the position of Public Administrator and elected, and about the same time was appointed by the Democratic party to succeed to the position of County Treasurer, but failed to secure the election, and in 1857 took charge of the Sacramento Gas Company as Superintendent and Manager, and was connected and identified with the gas interests of Sacramento up to his departure from this city a few years ago.

In 1872 he was nominated by the Democratic party for the office of Mayor, but was not elected, and in 1875 he was again nominated and again defeated. Mr. Brown, however, was not one to be discouraged by reverses; he was elected Mayor of Sacramento, and in 1881 his ambition was gratified; the Democratic party again nominated him and he was endorsed by a committee of business men of the city, who were associated politically under the title of the "Independent People's Party." The endorsement secured his election, and in 1884 he was re-elected for a term of three years. In April of that year he was appointed one of the Directors of the State Asylum for the Insane, at Napa.

It is expected that Mr. Brown's remains will be brought to Sacramento to-day and here await the return of Mrs. Brown from Kansas City.

EVERYBODY'S COLUMN.

Correspondence of Interest to the General Public.

Under this heading the Record-Union will publish short letters from correspondents on topics of interest to the general public. The matter in these communications will be understood to represent only the views of the writers. All communications must be accompanied by the name of the writer, and for publication, unless so directed, by return of good faith.—Eds.

Our County Jail.

Eds. RECORD-UNION: Permit me through your paper to tender our heartfelt thanks to the officers of our County Jail for the way and manner we, the W. C. T. U. and the Florence Mission helpers, as also other Christians of the several churches, have been treated by every officer there, and for their kindness, also, in purchasing for our work a fine second-hand jail.

No better nor cleaner jail can be found in California. I wish our citizens could all see for themselves the cleanliness and good behavior of those they call the chaps, or tramps. Our churches have no more better-behaved audiences than we have before us for one hour every Sabbath afternoon.

Several have found Christ as their Savior, which, perhaps, they would not do had they not been caused to stop and think, and through their confinement. We prove to them by our faithfulness to their souls, both by the reading of God's holy word and our motherly talks, how we only seek their highest good, and also by the choice reading we place in their hands to help them grow strong and truly our dear Lord's best friends.

I have visited other County Jails in California, but I have failed to find the politeness of officers or the help to make the missionary feel to enjoy the work, such as making all filthy articles removed, chairs or benches for the prisoners, or a library, or a table with a large Bible. I come away saying: "Oh, how best are we in Sacramento to what others are!"

We are hoping for good times in the future for Sacramento mission work, for truly our dear Lord is with us in helping us and blessing others.

Mrs. E. M. Carley.

HELD TO ANSWER.

Jack Hudson Must Stand Trial for Grand Larceny.

Jack Hudson, alias "Hobo Jack," appeared before Judge Craven in the Police Court yesterday in the case of grand larceny brought against him by one Noiman, of whom Hudson claims he bought a horse for twenty-five cents.

Hudson was examined in the Police Court on the 14th inst., and his case was taken under advisement until yesterday. Judge Craven held that, in his opinion, Hudson was guilty of grand larceny, as charged, and held him to answer to the Superior Court, which had fixed at $1,000. He also made an order restoring the horse to Noiman.

In rendering his decision, Judge Craven made a long opinion reviewing the evidence and citing a number of cases in support of his finding. Hudson secured bail and was released.

Henry Hogle, arraigned for being drunk, was discharged.

Jim Sellers, a drunk, was sentenced to three days in the city jail.

The following Notaries Public were commissioned by the Governor yesterday: Mrs. M. E. Smith, San Francisco; John P. Wright, Inyo, Shasta County; W. M. Peery, Ukiah; Mendocino County; S. F. Zambro and J. A. Bidwell, San Bernardino County; Frank C. Prescott, Redlands, San Bernardino County; Charles L. Cass, Baldhead, Stanislaus County; John Hanna, Hornitos, Mariposa County; J. E. Williamson, Acampo, San Joaquin County; R. O. Williams, Ukiah, Mendocino County; and Oscar F. Redfield of Scotia, Humboldt County.

The Weather Bureau reports show the highest and lowest temperatures yesterday to have been 51 and 32, with fresh southerly breezes and a cloudy sky.

The barometrical readings at 5 A. M. and 5 P. M. were 30.01 and 30.02 inches.

The highest and lowest temperatures one year ago yesterday were 51 and 39, and one year ago to-day 52 and 27.

A low barometer prevailed in Washington and Oregon yesterday, with snow at Humboldt and on the Siskiyou range of mountains.

A man named John Kohner created a disturbance at the Western Hotel yesterday morning, and an officer was telephoned for.

The patrol wagon responded and took Kohner to the County Jail, where it was decided that he was demented, and he was held for examination.

Together with other eccentric notions the patrol wagon took Kohner, which took a violent form, and he appeared to be crazed with religious notions.

Articles of Incorporation. The following articles of incorporation were filed in the Secretary of State's office yesterday:

The following real estate transfers have been recorded since our last report: Mrs. M. J. Ansden to C. P. Ansden—North quarter of lot 4, G. H. Eighth and Ninth streets.

E. P. Ansden, trustee of Mrs. M. J. Ansden, to same—North quarter of lot 4, G. H. Eighth and Ninth streets.

Lansing Ranch sale. At 11 A. M. to-day, at the Courthouse door, W. H. Sherburn will sell at auction, by order of the administrator of the Lansing estate, the well-known Lansing ranch on the upper Stockton road, near the city. The property is choice.

Will Probably Recover. The 7-year-old son of Surveyor-General Reicher, who met with a terrible fall in San Francisco recently, and who it was feared would not recover, is doing quite well and has been removed from San Francisco to the home of his parents.

ANOTHER PIONEER GONE.

Apoplexy Ends the Life of Livingston Low Baker.

The Attack Came as He Was Preparing to Retire—One of the Argonauts of Forty-Nine.

The reaper of death was busy with his scythe in the ranks of leading citizens of San Francisco on Tuesday night. In addition to the deaths of E. H. Miller and John Q. Brown, referred to elsewhere, there was received yesterday the announcement that another prominent Californian and former Sacramento, Livingston Low Baker, of the firm of Baker & Hamilton, had also died suddenly at his home in San Francisco from a stroke of apoplexy.

The fatal stroke came without warning of any kind. On Tuesday Mr. Baker was at his office on Pine and Market streets attending to business. Owing to a stroke of paralysis, with which he was stricken some weeks ago, Mr. Hamilton has not been able to be at the store, and the burden of the entire business has devolved upon his partner, who worked early and late.

Mr. Baker seemed in very jovial spirits during the day. He remained in the office until 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon, when he went to his home on the corner of Franklin and Third streets. After dinner he and his wife went out and returned home between 10 and 11 o'clock.

Up to this time Mr. Baker had no symptoms of illness or premonition of death. Suddenly, as he was about to prepare to retire, he was struck with a fit of dizziness, the first signs of apoplexy. He reeled over and his face assumed a livid tint.

He almost immediately became unconscious, and Drs. Freytag and Palmer were summoned. They immediately pronounced the case one of apoplexy and applied the proper remedies. The patient seemed to rally and was progressing nicely, when at 2 o'clock a second attack took place, which culminated in death at 2:30 yesterday.

An examination showed that a blood vessel had burst in the back of the head near the base of the brain.

The sad thing, as it is told Mr. Hamilton, as it was feared the shock would aggravate his present serious illness. He is lying in a helpless condition at his residence, under advisement until yesterday. Mr. Baker had not called upon him as usual, he was informed that he was very sick. James Carroll, the brother-in-law of Mr. Hamilton, when he learned that the business of Baker & Hamilton until other arrangements could be made.

Deceased was one of the foremost and wisest-known merchants in the State, having lived here since 1849, in which year he arrived from Boston, coming by way of the Panama isthmus.

Very soon after his arrival Mr. Baker went to the mines and tried his fortune as a gold-seeker at Mormon Island, on the American River. He soon forsook the mine for a more certain and profitable one, and, returning to the then booming canvas city of Sacramento, entered the employ of Colonel Warren, proprietor of a seed store in the same locality where Baker & Hamilton's store now stands.

Four years later Mr. Baker entered into partnership with Robert M. Hamilton, which relation existed between them ever since. Up to 187 Mr. Baker made his home in Sacramento, but in that year he removed to San Francisco to personally conduct a branch of the firm's warehouse house in that city. Mr. Hamilton remaining here until ten or twelve years since, when he returned to San Francisco, leaving the management of the company's extensive business here in the hands of C. H. Hubbard. The firm also conducted a large agricultural implement factory at Benicia.

Deceased was born in Portland, Me., August 22, 1827, and was therefore 65 years of age. He was married to Caroline Wakefield of Boston, and their only son, Wakelind Baker, aged 23 years, now lives in San Francisco. His wife died a few years later, and Mr. Baker married a daughter of the late Rev. Dr. A. L. Stone, of the five children resulting from this union, three are living, and Mrs. Baker also has a son.

Mr. Baker was Captain of one of the first military companies organized in this city. He never held any political office, though often solicited to do so. He had, however, been President of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, of the Society of Honors and of the San Francisco A. T. Association. All old-time acquaintances speak of the deceased as one of the most upright and generous of men, and his sudden death is widely deplored.

It is thought that Mr. Baker left an estate worth at least a million and a half dollars as the result of forty years of close application to business.

WILLIS VS. RAY.

Yesterday Arthur M. Seymour, referee in the case of O. P. Willis vs. E. E. Ray, submitted to Judge Catlin his report concerning the affairs of the firm of which the plaintiff and defendant were members from April, 1884, to March, 1891. The report was ordered filed and the further hearing of the case continued till the 20th inst.

In March, 1891, the parties to the suit, who had been engaged in the drug business, dissolved their partnership, and afterward O. P. Willis brought suit against E. E. Ray for an accounting. In his complaint plaintiff asked that an account be ordered to be taken of the partnership transactions and business between April 1, 1880, and March 3, 1891, that out of the cash balance, if any when ascertained, plaintiff be paid $1,000, and such sum as may be found due him upon account; that if no cash balance remains, or if the same is not sufficient to pay said sums to plaintiff, then, in that event, the court order and direct that both of said copartners contribute to a fund, in equal proportion, money sufficient to pay said amounts due plaintiff.

The defendant in his answer also asked for an accounting and for the appointment of a referee in the matter.

ANOTHER COMING TURFMAN.

A Real Estate Magnate Investing Money in Horses.

L. F. Myers of Highland Park fame, but now a resident of Oakland, is going into the business of breeding—and of course racing—fine horses. For a couple of years past he has been quietly buying up choice stock, chiefly through Eastern agents, and has already quite a number.

On Tuesday night Mr. Myers was in this city, on his way East, to bring two carloads of young stock, purchased from the East.
