

STOCKTON'S BICYCLE WINNERS.

Oak Leafs Beat the Capital City in the Relay Race.

The Sacramento Men Encounter a Series of Accidents, One Causing a Loss of Twenty Minutes.

The Stockton Oak Leaf Wheelmen were very happy last night, and it is doubtful if their town was big enough to hold them.

Yesterday they had satisfaction for the defeat they suffered last year at the hands of the Capital City Wheelmen, by winning the big relay race covering the round trip between Sacramento and Stockton, a distance of 104 miles, which they did in six hours, eight and one-half minutes, the time of the Sacramento team being six hours, twenty-three and one-half minutes—seventeen minutes behind the winners.

The start was made simultaneously from the Capital Hotel in this city and the Yosemite Hotel in Stockton at 10 o'clock sharp, and large crowds were present in both cities to see the riders get away.

The arrangements were very complete. Outside the Capital Hotel a program was placed on wire with the Postal Telegraph's instrument within. There was a like going at the Yosemite Hotel, the line, and just as the hour of 10 was reached the two gongs sounded, and away sped the first of the relay riders of each club amid the cheers of the crowd at either starting point.

Horace Vincent and F. J. Vielbrock of the Stockton Club were here to act as judges for their team at the start, while at Stockton Messrs. Ripley and Martin did like service for the Capital City. Mr. Scott Ennis, President of the latter club, officiated as starter at this end of the route.

THE START. The first nine miles out from this city were assigned to Captain W. Hubert, who carried with him a copy of the Record-Union, to be delivered to the next man and finally to be carried throughout the race and returned at the finish.

Hubert got off in good shape. He passed down Seventh street and turned into P in almost a twinkling and was lost to the sight of the first "accident" to militate against the Sacramento team occurred at the end of Hubert's nine-mile run, where he was to have before he found Morrill, who by some mistake had got that far out of the way. Of course there was some time lost in this way, but not that much.

George Redman took up the run at the end of Morrill's station, and after going six and a half miles gave the paper to W. Elliott, who had come to the station before he found Morrill, who by some mistake had got that far out of the way. Of course there was some time lost in this way, but not that much.

After leaving Reading he was bowling along at a good gait when he encountered a drove of cattle in the roadway, and as they showed no disposition to leave it he was obliged to stop and dismount, and they passed by. Several minutes were thus lost, and it was 1:22 o'clock when Hamlin reached the Yosemite House in Stockton, making the time for the two miles three hours and twenty-two minutes.

But the Stockton men had made the distance from the city to Sacramento in the surprisingly fast time of two hours forty-eight and one-half minutes, or thirty-three and one-half minutes faster than the Capital City men. The Stockton men were: First relay, Charles Patterson, ten miles; second, George Swain, ten miles; third, T. Little, nine miles; fourth, F. Chas. six miles; fifth, F. McLean, eight miles; sixth, T. McCuen, nine miles.

ON THE RETURN TRIP H. Crocker made the first relay from Stockton for the Capital City team, starting the moment Hamlin reached the Yosemite House in Stockton, and after going six and a half miles gave the paper to W. Elliott, who had come to the station before he found Morrill, who by some mistake had got that far out of the way. Of course there was some time lost in this way, but not that much.

HOW IT ALL HAPPENED. In the first place, the wind was dead from the south in the forenoon, and the Sacramento men had it full in their faces. This added to Hubert's eleven-mile run and Elliott's encounter with the drove of cattle, really accounts for the better time made by the Stocktons in the first half of the race.

While the Capital City men make no claim that the wind was against them, such, however, was the case, for during the last half of the race it veered around to the west and northwest, and again they had to breast it coming home.

But the real cause of their defeat was a second accident that happened to Elliott on the return trip. He had ridden just one mile on the third relay when the man ahead of him was "setting the pace" for him, but the latter could not hear him, and there was nothing for Elliott to do but throw his machine to the side of the road. Then he ran back the mile he had just covered, where he found upon him, and borrowing his machine, took a fresh start.

The time lost by this mishap is thought to have been fully 21 minutes, as follows: Time of the relay when called to the man ahead, or 6 minutes; time of the man lost in covering the mile on foot and side-tracking the broken wheel, etc., 15 minutes, making a total of 21 minutes.

As the Sacramento men were beaten out on the whole run by 17 minutes, it is safe to assume that, but for the series of mishaps that occurred they would have won by several minutes.

However, the boys are not finding any fault, and cheerfully accord to their Stockton competitors full credit for their victory and the splendid time they made on the first 52 miles—2 hours, 45 minutes and 30 seconds, which beats the time made by the winners last year—three hours and 9 minutes.

ANOTHER TEAM RACE. The Capital City Club intends soon to send the Oak Leafs of Stockton and the Marysville, Woodland and other clubs to invite teams of five men to this city for a five-mile race over Agricultural Park at an early day, say sometime next month. Here is a chance for the Capital City and Driving Club to add a great special attraction to its June horse-racing meeting. By simply offering a suitable trophy for such a contest, hundreds of people would be attracted to the park who would not otherwise attend.

Another team race, in which the Sacramento and Stockton would be competitors, would be a great drawing card.

A MOTHER'S SORROW. Caused by Her Son Turning Footpad and Going to Prison.

Mrs. Crawford, mother of Joseph Crawford, who was recently sentenced to Folsom prison, together with one Bradley and another man, for robbing M. Magher, came up from Tulare on Saturday to see her son, having heard that he was in some sort of trouble here.

that her son was a convict at Folsom, and learned the nature of the crime that sent him there, the poor woman was prostrated with grief and shame. She departed in the afternoon for Folsom to see her son.

COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION.

Renewal of Certificates—Promotions in the County Schools.

At the meeting of the County Board of Education on Saturday the Grammar Grade certificates of Mrs. M. L. Bassett and Mrs. Julia Foy were renewed. Miss Alice Dippel was granted a recommendation for a life diploma and Miss Edith Leimbach for an educational diploma.

The national game was revived at Snowflake Park yesterday afternoon, when the amateur talent of the printing fraternity tried their skill at swatting out one, two and three baggers. It was on the tapis for several days past that one of our evening contemporaries had a nine that could simply "do up" the best of them, and were very anxious to have a "try-out" with local talent before venturing abroad to win easy honors on the diamond.

Contrary to the general rule, that a free show always draws, only about a hundred people had gathered at the grounds to witness the contest. However, those who did venture out were well repaid for their time and trouble, heartily enjoying the many laughable features of the game.

Promptly at 2 o'clock the Bee team made their appearance on the field, followed shortly after by the News, which themselves the News, but which was in reality a picked nine from the News and Record-Union. The game started off in true championship style, with the News team at bat. The first inning was of short duration, the News securing one run, while the Bee team were credited with a goose egg. The second was even of shorter duration, the first six men going out in one, two, three orders, the Bee half only being with a total of 3 to 1 in favor of the picked nine.
