

TRIBUTES TO THE DEAD.

Railroad Employees Give Expression to Their Sorrow.

Some of Sacramento's Floral Tributes For Leland Stanford's Grave—The Funeral.

Quite a number of Sacramentans have gone to the bay for the purpose of attending the funeral of the late Senator Leland Stanford, at Palo Alto, this afternoon. Many more will leave this morning on the same sad mission.

The City Trustees held a special meeting yesterday, and decided to attend the funeral in a body. Mayor Steinman received a telegram requesting him to act as one of the honorary pallbearers, and he will do so.

The board desired it stated that all citizens of the city are requested to display their flags at half-mast to-day as a mark of respect to the memory of one who had been such a firm and devoted friend to this community; also, that the church bells be tolled during the funeral hour, from 1 to 2 o'clock.

Among those who will attend the funeral from here will be many of the train and shop employees who had known the Senator for many years. Indeed, the feeling among the employees of the various departments over the death of their friend is very deep.

Yesterday a meeting was held at the shops, at which the following resolutions were adopted: "Whereas, Death has removed from this scene of action, ex-Governor, late United States Senator and for six years President of the great railroads of California, Leland Stanford, we, the employees in the Southern Pacific Company's shops and yards, who are so proud of the fact that it was here he began his brilliant career in connection with the wonderful achievements in transcontinental railroad building, which is such a marked feature of our day, and in which he played such an important part, in which the best years and most vital energies of his life were consumed, and in which we feel that we lay our humble tribute to his memory as a testimonial to his worth, the more especially it becomes us, during his long term of Presidency, he aimed to deal fairly with the employees. To all who, for any purpose, came in contact with him, his kind and generous manner and courteous treatment left an enduring impression, always remembered with pleasure. We can say, without impropriety, that his death is a great loss to the community, and for his noble impulses, is forever closed in death; therefore be it

Resolved, That in his death we lose a friend whose memory we should hold in respectful and lasting remembrance; and be it further

Resolved, That to Mrs. Stanford in this hour of her widow's sorrow, we extend our heartfelt sympathy, hoping that although her honored husband has crossed over the dark river and left her waiting on the hither shore, she may find heart and strength to finish the work he has left in her hands; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be transmitted to Mrs. Stanford, through Colonel C. F. Crocker.

SOME FLORAL OFFERINGS. Several very elaborate and beautiful floral pieces have been sent from here, and others will be sent to-day. It is added to those that will brighten the grave of the distinguished dead.

At the Hall Conservatory will be prepared—as the offering—two large and beautiful pieces, one of which is a scroll of white doves are perched. The arms of the cross bear the words, "Our Friend."

The employees of the shops also contribute, from the same place, a scroll of white doves are perched. A scroll contains the motto, "Labor's Tribute to Labor's Friend."

A third piece, representing the archway to the entrance of the Leland Stanford, Jr., University, was sent by the family of the late James McCallister.

A floral cross, composed of large and beautiful pieces, the offering of the municipality of Sacramento, and it will be taken to Palo Alto to-day. It is a floral cross seven feet high, resting on a four-foot base composed of ivy leaves. Diagonally across the center of the shaft is an anchor, and at the foot of the cross a crown and a heart. One arm of the cross bears a beautiful wreath of laurel.

Many other and smaller pieces have been sent by friends of the family here.

AFTER SOLDIERS

Captain Tisdall Takes Charge of the Recruiting Office. Captain William N. Tisdall of the United States Army arrived yesterday and is stopping temporarily at the Golden Eagle Hotel. He comes to establish a recruiting rendezvous, which will be at the International Hotel, where several assistant officers are located.

It was intended the custom of the army to rely upon its various recruiting depots, especially in the West, for recruits, but now certain regimental officers are sent out to advertise for, examine and enlist men for the service.

This course has been adopted for one reason, in the hope of securing the most desirable class of men possible, and the examination of applicants is made strict than formerly as to both moral and physical qualifications.

Recruits, to be accepted, must be under 30 years of age and have a pretty clear record, be physically in good condition and not dissipated.

After being accepted, the recruits must enlist for five years, under previous rules which under certain conditions permit them to quit the service any time after one year's service.

A recruiting rendezvous is also to be established at Woodland and at other towns, depending upon the number of recruits obtained as to the length of time they will be kept open for applicants.

Captain Tisdall conducts the examinations himself, and then the accepted applicants are sent to the residence at San Francisco, where they undergo physical training and drill.

TO-DAY'S ROADSTER RACE.

An Interesting Event Billed for This Afternoon. At Agricultural Park to-day there will be a roadster race, under the management of Lessee Willard Gardner, which is expected to prove a very interesting if not an exciting event.

The race will take place at 2 o'clock, and will be for a purse of $50. The contest will be between Dr. Pinkham's mare, Lillian, and the pacer, George Sherman's pacer, Elkus' mare and child's horse. Admission to the park will be free.

OCEAN TO OCEAN.

Two Californians Crossing the Continent on Bicycles. They Expect to Break the Record to New York, or Break Their Wheels in the Attempt. It was stated a few days ago that T. R. Lillie and C. E. Henry, well-known wheelmen, were to start from Stockton on their wheels to make the journey to Chicago, and the Sacramento bicyclists have been on the lookout for them ever since.

It appears, however, that the young gentlemen intend to start from Stockton, but from San Francisco, the western rim of the republic, where Tom Fitch said he loved to sit "and watch the burning sunsets kiss the drowsy sea." And their journey is not to end at Chicago, either, for the plucky wheelmen do not intend to quit until they ride their "cycles down upon the wave-washed shores of the Atlantic Ocean."

They started from San Francisco on Thursday, coming by way of Livermore Pass and Stockton, and arrived in this city yesterday afternoon. Here they were met and entertained by several of the local wheelmen, who made their stay as pleasant as possible for them.

The tourists will depart at 7 o'clock this morning on their long and wearisome journey across the mountains and deserts and broad plains. They will follow the line of the railroad much of the way, but where possible will travel the wagon roads.

They will go by way of Auburn, Truckee and Reno, and across the sagebrush country to Ogden, thence by way of Cheyenne and Denver to Chicago, where they hope to fetch up in about forty-five days from the time of starting.

It is their intention not to tarry long at the World's Fair until their return, as they have started out with the purpose of breaking the "cross-country record to New York City."

Mr. Lillie is mounted on a Cleveland wheel and carries about thirty pounds of luggage, his outfit including a camera, with which he will break the monotony of the journey by taking snap-shot pictures of scenery along the way.

Mr. Henry rides a Phoenix wheel and carries about thirty pounds of luggage. Both men are well equipped for the journey. When possible they will make over-night stops at towns along the route, but they expect to put in a considerable number of nights at the railroad section-houses in crossing the Nevada desert.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Convention of the Young People's Societies of the County.

A Pleasant Evening at the Westminster Church—Instructive Address by Rev. Mr. Koehne.

The quarterly convention of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor was held at the Westminster Presbyterian Church, at Sixth and L streets, last evening.

There was a representative gathering of young people present and many church people interested in the work of the society.

The proceedings opened with singing and a prayer by Rev. J. B. Koehne, pastor of the Congregational Church. A praise service and scriptural reading followed, after which reports were received from Secretaries of different branches of the society.

Miss Lida Clinch favored the convention with a vocal solo, singing excellently, and Miss Demerit also sang a solo later in the evening.

Rev. J. B. Koehne delivered an earnest and instructive address, which was the occasion, full of good counsel and encouraging words for the work of the society, and reviewing its progress in general.

Mr. Koehne made his address very interesting by introducing many practical and entertaining examples, illustrative of success achieved by earnest work, patient endeavor, perseverance and discipline in all the walks and affairs of life.

He defined "endeavor" to imply waiting and waiting he said, was one of the things necessary to success in almost every undertaking; waiting and firmness of purpose.

As illustrating these qualities, he spoke of the characters of men who have stood up firmly for principles against all odds and achieved success.

Strength, he said, was not always in numbers. A church or a society might have throngs crowd to its standard, but unless there were such a earnest and thoughtful workers imbued in their souls with character and principle, they were not an additional strength.

He said the "endeavor" is nearly everything in life was the thinker, and people should not merely think they were performing their whole duty in exercising merely the muscles of their hands, but they must put thought and heart into their efforts.

As an instance of a proper feeling of discipline, determination and faith in his being right, he told of a captain of militia who with a small squad of men protected the depot at Hicksville, during a riot. The furious mob entered the street and threatened to destroy the depot, when the officer at the head of a handful of men marched directly through the disorderly crowd to the threatened point.

He was knocked down by missiles, hooded and ridiculed, but he ordered his men to the depot, ordered the mob to face him, present their arms and fire. The disorderly crowd retreated at once, although numbering thousands and his soldiers but twenty.

The officer represented law and order; he knew it, and had faith in his cause; on his hand the mob represented chaos and confusion.

So it was in most things; one should know his duty, have faith in his cause and be faithful, persevering and patient. His great undertakings were accomplished.

He believed the society was accomplishing great good and making remarkable progress everywhere. His address was brief, but full of thoughts forcibly expressed.

Miss Maybell Mackay of Roseville read a carefully prepared paper in the form of an essay entitled "Voices of Christ," which showed her earnest zeal in the work of the society and careful study of systematic effort and endeavor.

The convention closed with consecration services, prayer and benediction, generally by those present, the roll-call, mishap and benediction.

SIDEWALK NUISANCES.

Efforts of the City Engineer to Enforce the Ordinance. A warrant was sworn to by J. C. Boyd, City Engineer, yesterday for the arrest of J. D. Tate for violating the sidewalk ordinance, in maintaining a defective walk on I street.

persons for neglecting, or constructing faulty or dangerous sidewalks, and violating Ordinance No. 312. There are many plank walks in the city that are especially aggravating and dangerous on account of loose planks, broken planks or protruding spikes and nails.

Last evening Police Officer Dole received a bad fall at the north-west corner of Second and I streets by catching his shoe upon a spike that stuck up fully two inches above the planking.

The walk at that corner is full of these dangerous spikes, and a great deal of annoyance has been caused to pedestrians there. The walk is undergoing repairs—but so is the moral law—by slow gradations.

BRIEF NOTES.

The Pacific Sportsmen's Club will have a shooting match at live birds at Gerber's Ranch to-morrow. The heavy wind on Wednesday night blew down a fine, large walnut tree on the California place, two miles this side of Freerport, breaking the telephone wire.

Yesterday afternoon an unknown drunken man broke a large plate-glass window in William Smith's furnishing goods store on J street. It is not known whether he broke the glass intentionally or whether he fell through it.

Order of the Eastern Star.

Mrs. Mary G. Dunn, Worthy Matron of Columbus Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, tendered an informal reception and card party to the officers of her chapter last night, at her residence on D street. The informality of the affair rendered it most thoroughly enjoyable, and music and refreshments added to the attractions of the occasion, and the guests separated a little before midnight, feeling that such occasions were few and far between.

The Coming Battle.

The Monitor is a very able and influential representative of the Catholic Church. In a recent editorial denouncing an uncompromising attitude against its vicious instrumentalities, it concludes as follows: "It is therefore fitting at this season when we survey the field of life's battle stretching out before us—let every man stand up boldly against the one great enemy of humanity—the cursed vice of intemperance." It is useless to preach to men unless they are prepared to form part of the crusade; a vigorous, determined, unyielding crusade against alcohol, which freedom and justice are the coil of the distiller until it eats away the vitality of men, it carries with it poison, disease and death. The vile stuff ruins the home, seizes the life of the man, ruins men, women and children, fills our asylums, poor houses and jails, outrages decency and murders the innocent and helpless—in the devil's best friend and God's worst enemy."
