

THE ARMY'S MASTERLY INACTIVITY.

Stockton's Contingent Are Still in Our Midst.

The Leaders Waiting to See Governor Markham, and He is Very Far Away.

Yesterday the 250 men camped at Agricultural Park did not receive any fresh supplies of provisions from the city, but they had enough to last them through the day.

A delegation called at the Governor's office to appeal for assistance, but Governor Markham had not returned from San Francisco. Private Secretary Ely was there, and Major Williams and the others addressed their remarks to him.

Secretary Ely told them, however, that they would have to see the Governor personally, and they withdrew.

The men told about the same story previously reported in these columns—that most of the "army" came to the coast during the winter with the expectation of obtaining employment, and that their chief desire now is to return to their homes east of the Rocky Mountains.

They said that, if necessary, they would submit to arrest, but that they did not intend to leave here unless transportation was provided in some way.

When Williams and Captain Savage came here last Monday from Stockton they had just 100 men in their ranks, all told. It was then suggested to them that the sooner they consulted with the authorities concerning transportation out of the city the better it would be.

Major Williams said that, on the contrary, he wanted to get more recruits from the surrounding country; that a body of only 100 men would not make much of an impression on any community, while one of several hundred would command more attention and have greater influence.

Now he has collected 250 or more, and begins to realize the seriousness of his situation. These additional 150 men came from all parts of the surrounding country in the hope of receiving free transportation out of the State, and they were "recruited" into the army in the face of the fact that the leaders had no money and no provisions—nothing in prospect but to live off this community for an indefinite period.

Major Williams and two of his Captains went down to the Sutter Club last night to see if the Governor had arrived, as he did not come, they said they would wait on him to-day, if he arrived, and endeavor to persuade him to furnish rations and transportation for them to the East.

"It is utterly useless," said Williams, "for anyone to tell us we must get out of the city. Where are we to go? We have nothing to eat, and cannot get any more food. There is no place east of here that can feed us, and there is a long desert to cross before we can strike civilization. How are we to get across?"

In reply to a question, he stated that food was served to them this morning, but nothing had been given since then, and they had only a little bread left. The men, he said, were enduring their hunger without a murmur, hoping for aid from the Governor.

They are determined not to start out from here on foot and without provisions, as they say it would simply result in their perishing on the way.

NERVE AND SKILL.

How Young Halsey Smith Stopped a Runaway Team.

Halsey, the young son of Ed F. Smith, Secretary of the State Agricultural Society, displayed his nerve and horsemanship a couple of days ago in a manner that would have done credit to an experienced vaquero.

Tony Lovdal's spirited buggy team ran away from Will Haulon's store at Twelfth and P streets and dashed off up P street with the empty buggy. They turned into Sixteenth street at full speed, going northward, and passed a group of boys playing ball in a vacant lot.

Young Smith, who was among the number, had his saddle-horse hitched close by, and to release the animal and mount it was the work of but a few moments. Away he flew after the runaways, and overtook them at K street just in time to turn them aside and prevent a collision with a buggy in which a lady was riding.

The little fellow ran his horse alongside the runaway team and grasped the reins. It was a hard task to check the speed of the runaways, but by guiding them into the open square about the Grammar School at J street he succeeded in bringing them to a stop. Not a bit of injury resulted to the horses or buggy, and more fortunately still—none to the plucky young horseman.

TOM'S CONSOLATION.

He Administered It to a Brute in Blocks of Fives.

Thomas Consolation, who does business at Third and L streets, yesterday heard screams coming from the house of an Italian on L street. He ran inside and found a Chinaman in the act of criminally assaulting a little girl.

He gave the Mongolian all the consolation possible with his fists, and then sent him to the police station. The yellow-skinned brute gave the name of Ah Leong. The Italian residents in the neighborhood of where the assault was made were very indignant over the Chinaman's act, and had the fellow fallen into their hands he would have fared badly.

CONCERNING STATE TEXT-BOOKS.

Arithmetic, History and Grammar Will Be Revised.

Life and Educational Diplomas Granted—Educational Institutions Recognized.

At the recent meeting of the State Board of Education, held in Los Angeles, all the members were present except Governor Markham, and Professor Robert F. Pennell of the Chico Normal School was elected President pro tem.

Le Roy D. Brown was granted a high grade life diploma and James H. Simmons a grammar grade life diploma. The application of Emma Sovereign for a diploma to accompany her Normal School diploma was again laid over on account of failure to file affidavit.

The committee appointed to draft rules for the revocation of diplomas and certificates was discharged.

A report was received from the Editor-in-Chief of the State text-books, with regard to progress in the work.

It stated that the drawings and script for the First Reader are complete and engraved, the text has been revised and the book is now ready for the final work of the printing office.

The Second Reader has been reviewed by a number of the most competent teachers of the State, who, while expressing the most cordial approval, have made valuable suggestions. The drawings are completed and twenty of them engraved, the whole being under contract for completion by May 1st, at which time the book will be ready for the final work of the printing office.

New and beautiful type for both books has been procured and the proofs will be made to have the books out by July 1st.

Due to the serious illness of her husband, which compelled Mrs. George to discontinue work January 28th, the text of the Third Reader has not been fully prepared. She had expected to finish it about March 1st.

One hundred and forty-four pages of the Fourth Reader were submitted to the printer, and all the copy is in the hands of the printer, and the complete book will be in type and ready for review immediately. It is not intended to illustrate this reader as liberally as the others.

As two of the readers will be finally issued before the next meeting of the board, he suggests that the board take action with regard to the announcement of authorship on the title page, which has been somewhat discussed at former meetings, and he suggests that the authorship of all books hereafter issued by the board be so announced.

He speaks of the importance of making such a disposition of the Language books and the elementary and large History as will permit work to be commenced on them with the least possible delay. Only about 5,000 copies of the History remain, and more ought to be printed in its present incomplete state.

The report of the Editor-in-Chief before the board, Superintendent Anderson, moved that the board appoint a compiler or reviewer of the several State books to be placed upon the title page of each book, in about the following form: "Compiled by _____, under the direction and supervision of the State Board of Education."

The board decided to revise the present History and have an Elementary History prepared, $4,000 being appropriated for that purpose, and Professor C. H. Keyes, President of Throop University, was requested to prepare a scheme for the accomplishment of it, with a view to his employment on the work. He is allowed $800 on the acceptance of his scheme for the preparation of the Elementary History and revision of the present one, and payments on the work thereafter until the $4,000 shall have been paid.

The revision of the Arithmetic was assigned to Professor Pennell, to be done without expense to the board. The revision of the grammar was referred to the parties who are at present employed on the readers.

Ell F. Brown, Mrs. M. H. Swift, B. W. Kaufman, Frank P. Davidson and Windfall S. Hall were granted high grade life diplomas.
