

SUPERINTENDENTS IN COUNCIL.

Yesterday's Session Devoted to Committee Reports.

Governor Markham Addresses the Convention—Invitation to Visit the State Printing Office.

The second session of the biennial meeting of School Superintendents convened at 9 A. M. yesterday, but the hour proved a little early for many who had enjoyed the social gathering of the night before, as there were quite a number of vacant seats at first.

State Superintendent Anderson requested Vice-President Woods to take the chair.

On motion of Coffey, Professor Leroy D. Brown was added to the Committee on Reciprocity of Certificates.

Professor Jones of the State University was elected an honorary member.

Various Chairmen of committees called on their committees to meet outside with them.

Chairman moved that a recess of an hour be taken.

Superintendent Anderson announced that he had made arrangements for the Governor to be present this morning at such time as he should designate. He thought it would be unwise to take the recess.

Superintendent Seavey was added to the committee for consideration of the school law.

F. M. Fisher was made an honorary member of the convention.

The Committee on Reciprocity of Certificates reported in favor of uniformity in the requirements for examination in the several grades, they recommended that the standard be fixed at 80 per cent. on primary grades, with a proviso that those attaining 85 per cent. on primary certificates be granted grammar grades on passing an additional examination in the studies required for grammar grades.

That grammar grades be granted by county boards throughout the State, provided the holders be recommended by a majority of the board granting the certificate. That the Legislature be requested to authorize county boards to issue high school certificates on those of other counties having the same requirements, and also to hold annual examinations in place of semi-annual ones.

Superintendent Anderson introduced State Printer A. J. Johnson, who invited the members of the convention to visit the State Printing Office. The invitation was accepted and at 4 P. M. fixed as the hour for visiting it.

The report of the committee was then considered section by section.

Considerable discussion was had on the number of credits assigned for each study, one member favoring the reduction of the credits on methods of teaching from 25 to 100.

McClummond argued in favor of a high number of credits for drawing and literature.

Coffey said that Oakland had a special teacher in drawing. The report was made in the interest of the country schools, which do not enjoy such advantages and could not make drawing so prominent.

McClummond spoke in defense of his amendment, raising drawing from 25 credits to 100.

Gregory moved a substitute, fixing methods of teaching at 100, school law and music at 50 and drawing and literature at 100 each.

Molyneux said he was a devotee of music, but he did not believe that cranks on a special point could force their ideas on the convention. He thought the figures set by the committee were about right.

Wagner argued against adding more studies and thought spelling not important enough to demand 100 credits.

Linstock said that this discussion would be endless. He moved for a committee of five to be appointed to communicate with the several county boards and report to the State Teachers' Association at its meeting.

The question was raised that this body would not instruct a committee to report to another body.

Keays moved that the present committee be given time and bring the matter to the attention of the Department of Supervision of the Teachers' Association.

Superintendent Anderson opposed it and thought that now was the time to take action while the Superintendents were together. He moved as a substitute for all the motions that the county boards be requested to recognize certificates of other counties, when accompanied by recommendation of the board granting them, to the effect that the holders were successful teachers.

The motion was carried.

Superintendent Brown offered a resolution that two grades of kindergarten certificates be required in order to meet the needs of the kindergartens.

It was adopted.

Governor Markham was introduced by Superintendent Anderson in a few eloquent words and was received with acclamation by the convention.

Governor Markham thanked the convention for the privilege of meeting there this morning, for he considered it a great privilege. He should ask Professor Anderson to introduce him personally to each one. He then delivered a meeting that kindly invitation extended to him by the committee. He hoped their stay would be made pleasant and profitable to them, and tendered them the hospitalities of the Capitol.

He paid a high compliment to the people of the city, and regretted that he would not be able to spend much more time among them.

He considered that any person who was capable of holding the position of County Superintendent was a man of whom a school should be proud. A great responsibility rested upon them, and the future of the children of the State depended upon them largely. The cause of free education, he was satisfied, was the rock upon which our liberty and prosperity is founded. He would not detain them long, but he was proud of the fact that he was being done in the schools of the State, and had spoken of it to thousands of people here and abroad.

He spoke of the State University, the normal schools and the sixty-seven high schools, the 2,000 grammar schools and the 2,700 primary schools to the population of less than 1,000,000. We have the Stanford University, that splendid school, and also a number of lesser institutions in the State. We may well be proud of the standing of our State in educational matters. He hoped and trusted that in their deliberations they would put forth their best efforts and be successful. He assured them that they would always have his hearty cooperation.

The committee then took a recess till 1:30 P. M.

When the convention again assembled the Committee on County High Schools presented their report. It was discussed section by section and with several amendments, adopted by a large vote.

It makes no change in the first two subdivisions of the section relating to county high schools. Subdivision third is to be amended by directing the County Superintendent to locate the school if the Supervisors neglect or refuse to do so within thirty days.

Subdivision four makes two funds, instead of one—a building fund and one for the support of the schools.

To subdivision five is added a provision that, in case buildings are not rented, or are insufficient, the Supervisors may either levy a tax or issue bonds for the purchase of a lot, etc., to run for a period not longer than forty years.

The Committee on City, District and Union High Schools reported, favoring a provision that in cities having Boards of Education, such boards may be established and maintained by the Board of Education. It specifies that the Board of Supervisors, instead of "the proper authorities," as in the present law, shall

The Committee on Resolutions submitted its report as follows: It acknowledged its allegiance to the State and national prohibition parties, and reaffirms its allegiance to their platform; resolves that the prohibition of the manufacture of liquor as a beverage is the greatest economic and political question for the people to now settle, and that it can only be settled as a political issue; that, although the prohibition party has been in power almost thirty years, it has allowed the amount of intoxicating drink to increase steadily, and the Democratic party has ever expressed opposition to prohibition principles; they are, therefore, arraigned for neglect and opposition, that the thousands of idle men and the Industrial Army are the result of the prohibition party, if in power, is pledged to reform this; it denounces the Supervisors for disregarding the almost universal request of the citizens of Oak Park that no saloons be licensed there, as tyrannical and worthy of earnest condemnation, as well as the disposition to grant licenses when the saloons are already too numerous.

The convention then proceeded with the election of delegates to the State Convention, which meets in Oakland on the 16th inst.
