THE PRICE OF WHEAT.
The San Francisco Call presents in its issue of August 12th two very interesting interviews on the subject of the future of wheat in the United States.

Mr. Friedlander declares that the reason for this reduction is that the cost of producing the wheat has declined. To use his language: "The cost of production and of transportation have been constantly lessening since 1873."

Commenting upon this the Call says: "Mr. Friedlander ascribes the decline in the value of wheat to the diminution of the cost of transportation, and he was himself probably nearer the truth than his views of over-production."

In all these statements of fact and expressions of opinion we find confirmation for the conclusion that a reduction in the cost of transportation inures to the benefit of the consumer and tends to lower the price of any commodity produced.

AN OLD, OLD STORY.
San Francisco's assessment roll in two years has fallen down nearly $85,000,000 according to her returns to the State Board of Equalization.

Real estate values in San Francisco are not to be denied, nor is it surprising. The press of the metropolis has done its level best to produce that result. It could not have done more had it been retained by a bitter enemy of the city.

comes to hand a San Francisco journal that assumes to be a watch dog of the treasury, and really is entitled to some credit of that kind, and declares that the street sweeping contractors have informed it and a citizens' economic committee, that the reason the streets are not properly cleaned is because the contractors have been forced to pay heavy sums to boosters and officials as the price of securing the contracts, leaving so little that the streets could not be swept for the sum without ruin to the sweepers.

One of the most pretentious journals of the city, one that hawls loudest about honesty and economy, turns in to the Assessor its worldly possessions as of but $30,000 value, when it has boasted that its several presses alone are worth from $15,000 to $20,000 each. It is avowed that several San Francisco papers receive more money each election year from the city treasury for a single advertisement than the sum of the assessment of such journals for taxation.

There is not a newspaper howler in the metropolis that is assessed for so much as any one of several of the country newspapers of the State. The Stockton Mail, which makes no pretension to wealth, declares, for instance, that the San Francisco Examiner's assessment of $13,000 is but slightly more than the assessment of the Mail.

It is notorious that personal property in San Francisco is not more than one-half discovered by the Assessor, and that even that is not rated at one-third the value prescribed by the law.

While, as we have said, there has been some decline in realty values in the metropolis, it has not been in two years $85,000,000, nor anywhere near that figure. On the contrary, it is claimed that building improvement and new investment during that period have probably nearly equalized any loss by reason of decline in real estate values.

The simple truth is, that if any fairly searching inquiry is made into the assessment roll it will be discovered that San Francisco is playing her old game of evading her just share of the burdens of maintaining a State Government. While the metropolis has steadily grown, building has gone on without startling interruption, the shrinkage of values has not been nearly so great as in the interior counties, which have undeniably greatly suffered in that direction.

The interior asks for no injustice towards San Francisco, but it does demand that it shall not be permitted to shirk from its full duty in the matter of tax-paying. It is not to be deceived by the railroad hue and cry of the press of that city has set up to withdraw attention from the city's evasion. The reassessment of the railroads, in which the metropolitan journals pretend to find cause for hysterical manifestations, the Board of Equalization we apprehend can not only justify from its standpoint, but the facts will show that it was to the gain of the State in a measure that gives just cause for complaint by the railroad companies that they have been assessed in excess of the demands of strict justice.

EMMA GOLDMAN, the anarchist, is to be released from prison in New York in a few days, and she and Mowbray, the English anarchist, are already announced to speak from the same platform in advocacy of anarchy on the 19th inst. Yet there are people who think there is too much restraint upon freedom in this country. Truth is, the Americans are the most patient, forbearing and tolerant people on the face of the globe. There is not on all this round earth another spot among civilized people where Mowbray and Goldman would be permitted to preach the destruction of the very system that protects them in their preaching.

If the anti-anarchist bill which passed the United States Senate by unanimous vote on the 6th inst. is concurred in by the House, where a similar bill had already been passed, and becomes a law, Goldman and Mowbray may find it impossible to hold their New York meeting and discreet to leave the country. Mowbray's filing of a declaration of intention to become a citizen will not save him, for the bill especially provides that such filing shall not operate to stay deportation of an anarchist if at any time such a one is arrested, tried and convicted of even a misdemeanor.

We are not disposed to believe the story sent to the London Times from Bluefields, to the effect that our marines refused to land and returned to their ship, and that the Americans in their anger tore down the stars and stripes and trampled upon the flag. In the first place the body of marines could not have exceeded two companies; the Nicaraguan troops are said to have numbered 2,000. It is not stated that the Americans were refused shelter upon our warship, nor does it appear that they were not participants in the local difficulty and therefore subject to the law of the place. Finally, the story is from a source not likely to put the Americans in a favorable light. We prefer to await further advice before believing that any American commander refused to protect American citizens, or that Americans in a foreign land insulted their own flag. The story is too English to be accepted out of hand.

In 1876 Japan, by treaty, recognized Corea as a sovereign and independent State. Next the United States accorded Corea the same recognition and sent to her court a duly accredited Minister. Then came in order England, Germany, Austria, France and last Russia with like acknowledgment and recognition. It is possible now that these great powers will permit China to enforce her claim that Corea is her vassal? We all know that Chinese diplomatic craft long refused to acknowledge in all the world any other sovereignty than her own—indeed, until recently such was her policy. But we apprehend that she will never again attempt to maintain such an absurd position.

VOICE OF THE PRESS.
Some Frank Expressions plainly Made
By Papers at Home and Abroad on Topics of Living Interest to All.

Among the political signs of the times none are more pronounced than the decline of Populism, wherever an opportunity has been given to test public sentiment. The Populists fused with the Democrats in Oregon in the expectation of being able to overthrow the Republicans, and they were ignominiously defeated.

In Tennessee they fused with the Republicans and made great calculations on winning the victory, and their votes were counted they were hopelessly in the vantage.

They were sure they had a dead thing in Alabama, and their campaign was made with the Republicans, but there they lost, rather than gained, ground. And so it is everywhere, and so it will be.

Take the situation in Fresno County. When the Populists opened their convention here the whole atmosphere and the circumstances either were laden with the pre-election shouts of victory that they say are in a vision, but no sooner was the convention over than they found that their "pneumatic tires" were burst, and they have been beside their machine ever since. They are less hopeful now than ever before and their depression is progressive as the time for election approaches.

The fact is, the sober common sense of the people has been offended by the misguided efforts of Populist leaders to be taken into consideration, whether anarchist or socialist, everything he wanted, and to profess sympathy for the lawlessness and violence with which such people threaten to take everything alone and on their own account.

THE SYMPHY OF POPULIST DEMAGOGUES is now in order for the Omaha strikers, who have made it necessary to call out the State troops by beating the life out of other laboring men and defying the authorities. The rule of brute force would be defied by a class of political agitators if they thought it would bring leaves and fishes to their empty maws.

THE GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP OF RAILROADS.
[Antioch Ledger.]
The Government ownership of railroad agitators urge that it is just as consistent for the government to carry the people and their produce as it is to carry the people of the question, but "point with pride" to the knock-down argument that the government cannot carry the people, and hence it can carry and deliver freight. The Government charges the people thirty-two cents a pound to carry their produce, and the government, in return, carries their freight for one and one-half cents per pound. It stands to reason, therefore, that private enterprise should and could carry and deliver freight for a heap sight less than thirty-two cents per pound. If the Government ever carried a pound of freight, built a ship, erected a building, printed a letter, or carried any enterprise for less money than private enterprise could do the same work we would like to hear about it. The function of government is to protect people in their person and in their possessions. It certainly should not be diverted into channels of enterprise unless serious private enterprise is in danger, and the economy is so self-evident as to be protection to the possessions of the people.

THE ANTI-ANARCHIST BILL passed by the Senate Monday night to Congress with a favorable recommendation by Secretary Carlisle, ought to become a law and be enforced.

General Chipman announces that he will draft a bill and present it to the next Legislature making compulsory the adoption of the Australian ballot for voting in political elections. It is probable that the bill will become a law as easily as did that creating the purity-of-elections law, and the result cannot be but beneficial.

THE POSITION OF THE NEXT GOVERNOR of California on the copy-right bounty law is far more important than his position on the tariff, silver question, payment of the railroad debt or any other purely national question.

IF ANY reasons were lacking to convince the people of the United States that Senators should be chosen by direct vote, such reasons have been furnished to the fullest extent by the conduct of the Senate itself. If any arguments were needed to make clear the necessity of bringing the upper house of Congress closer to the people, such arguments have been more than supplied by the conduct of that body in regard to the tariff bill.

COOK HALF a can of tomatoes with a sprig of thyme, one stalk of celery, a slice of onion and a cup of milk. Boil for twenty minutes, and add a saltspoonful of soda and strain. Make a cupful of cream sauce by melting a tablespoonful of flour and a cupful of cream or milk, and before pouring combine with the tomato. Season with salt and cayenne to taste. The soda will make the sauce less liable to separate. This sauce will be found very good to serve with other things besides omelets, and differs somewhat from the usual tomato sauce.

THE FEET AND HANDS.
The feet should be kept clean as the hands, and if the nails are cut as often and attended to as carefully, it will be a means of warding off corns and bunions. The best time to bathe the feet is before going to bed. It will assist one's sleep, giving a quiet, restful feeling. Never take a bath just after a meal.

PAINE'S COMPOUND.
—MAKES—PEOPLE WELL.

the dictation of two or more of your striking employes, or be put outside the pale of protection of the United States courts and their officers! Arbitrate or be turned over to the mob, with full legislative grants them to pillage, wreck, burn, maim and murder! Was any such bill as this ever introduced in the American Congress since the Federal Legislature held its first session in this town in the spring and summer of 1789? The country will be far along the road to anarchy and the dissolution of our institutions before such a measure can pass either house of Congress.

SOME NEWSPAPER FACTS.
The Country Newspaper Will be Published for Business.
[From the Bakersfield Californian.]
It seems to be a common impression that the newspaper is a public utility in every country where everybody has a claim, some right to say in its management or a kick if its policy does not suit them. For that reason a newspaper is constantly subjected to demands that are unreasonable and unjust.

Few people have any adequate idea what it costs to run a newspaper in the country where everybody has a claim, some right to say in its management or a kick if its policy does not suit them. For that reason a newspaper is constantly subjected to demands that are unreasonable and unjust.

When the time comes, the man who wants a notice printed in the newspaper for his personal benefit or to advance his private interests will pay for it just as he pays the merchant for his goods.

The boarding-house keeper who wants the paper to notify the public that he has removed to the next street will be charged regular rates for the notice, just as he charges the boarders for their meals.

The subscriber who pays for one copy of the paper regularly will occasionally find a few extra copies free occasionally when something nice has been said about him, any more than he would expect his milkman, from whom he buys a quart of milk every morning, to send him a half gallon of cream free of charge every time he entertains his friends at a select dinner.

POPULISM LEADS TO ANARCHY.
An Editor's Eyes Opened—He Leaves the Party of Lawlessness.
[Seattle Post-Intelligencer.]
F. F. Lischke, formerly editor of the Sprague Populist, and an officer of the local Free Press and Silver Federation, delivered the following address at the murder of Gloydstein and other lawless acts have opened his eyes. He has changed the name of his paper to the Democrat, and in his issue of August 5th says:

"In the eternal things of things, an explanation is in order, for the benefit of those whose mental caliber does not permit of their realizing why a person should drop a hot stove poker which he has accidentally grasped, remove a shoe that pinches or retreat from the brink of a precipice, and so forth. In this case, months, sailed far out in the sea of Populism, and gazed into the seething vortex which in the very nature of things will be the result of the rule of the Populist party. On the voyage I discovered bloody billows of anarchy outlined on the horizon. I saw the angry breakers of prejudice, injustice, and wrong, and democracy beat against the bulwarks of the social fabric that surrounds all that which is held dear by the American people and happiness."

"Having become thoroughly convinced that the Populist party is a menace to the perpetuity of our Republic—a Republic that is the only one of our kind in the world—I have steered my bark away from the treacherous seas of Populism and anchored in the harbor of Democracy, where the beacon lights of Americanism cast their rays of conservatism, statesmanship and loyalty over the heads of the lawless and guide them up the incline of material and social progression. Hereafter I shall advocate the pure and unadorned principles of justice, patriotism, equality and progress in the interests of the masses."

THE CIVIL WAR.
Increasing Demand for the Serial—The First Twelve Ready.
A few weeks ago the RECORD-UNION made arrangements with the publishers of Harper's Pictorial History of the Civil War, whereby its subscribers might purchase each part of the series of twenty-six numbers at eight cents per part. Many hundreds of the numbers have been purchased by subscribers, and the remarkably low price at which the publication is sold has become a matter of general comment.

The history is an excellent one, very accurate, and written by the foremost historians of the day. It is very freely illustrated, and the detailed story of the war is told in most interesting style. The RECORD-UNION might have sold these parts at a figure considerably in advance of eight cents, but it has taken a rich profit on the sales, but it entered into the matter solely for the benefit of its subscribers, and is offering each part at exact cost—eight cents.

The first twelve of these parts have arrived and can be seen or purchased at the office.

Now it is all cut up and everybody is getting it and being surprised.

It is made into 26 big parts, 32 big pages in each, and printed on nice supercalendered paper—better than ever before—and has a handsome buff cover with emblematic design on each part.

The parts have sold as high as $1 each, but can be got for only 8 cents each if you know how. The pictures alone are worth more than that, but the story and copies of many official documents and state papers of priceless historic value, all go in with the pictures.

Now it is all cut up and everybody is getting it and being surprised.

Given to all subscribers of the Record-Union and Weekly Union for 8 cents per number. Only $2 08 for the complete work.

A File
OF
Harper's Weekly
(During the War)
is worth $100.

Over 1,000 of the stirring Harper Weekly war pictures, by Thos. Nast and other famous Harper war artists, taken right on the field, were used to illustrate

HARPER'S Pictorial History
OF THE Civil War.

This great book has sold for years at $16 to $20 in two big volumes. The pages are 16x11 1/2 inches. There are 832 pages. Lots of maps and sketches, and one big colored map 23x33 inches.

People wanted them, but couldn't afford $16 and kept asking for the old Harper's Weekly during the War. After the pictures had been put into this big, new, complete history, the old Weekly parts were destroyed and now those files are scarce.

But the big history was so interesting, and, being compiled from all the official records, was so complete and valuable that thousands bought it.

Now it is all cut up and everybody is getting it and being surprised.

It is made into 26 big parts, 32 big pages in each, and printed on nice supercalendered paper—better than ever before—and has a handsome buff cover with emblematic design on each part.
