

THE CONVENTION OF FRUIT MEN.

It Will be Held in This City the Coming Week.

Subjects that will be Discussed During the Session—An Important Gathering.

Next week the members of the State Fruit-Growers' Association will be the guests of the people of this city for several days, during the progress of their eighteenth annual State Convention...

The session promises to be one of deep interest and importance to all persons concerned in the production, packing and shipping of fruit. L. W. Buck will preside in the absence of the President, Elwood Cooper.

On Tuesday Mr. Buck will deliver an address, reviewing the fruit season and giving a brief sketch of the work of the year. H. Weinstock of Sacramento will read an essay on "Marketing Fruits," by E. Walton of Yuba City on "Co-operation," Edward F. Adams on "Work of the Fruit Exchanges," J. S. Leeds will address the meeting on transportation of fruit, green and dried.

On Wednesday R. C. Kells of Yuba City will read an essay on "Fruiting"; W. E. Aiken of Yuba City will show the advantage of prunings by machine over dipping in lye. A. T. Hatch will read a paper on almonds.

On Thursday Professor A. J. Cook, entomologist of the Pomona College, and late of Lansing (Mich.) College, will read a paper on "Root-Knotting Insects," giving his observations on the work accomplished by them this year.

W. Egbert Smith of Napa will read a paper on "Root-Knotting Insects," giving the results of experiments conducted during the year. J. F. McIntyre, Horticultural Commissioner of Fillmore, Ventura County, will read "Fruiting Insects," Alexander Crow, entomologist of the State Board of Horticulture, will read an essay on "How to Keep Out Diseases and Pests Injurious to Orchards."

In the afternoon Frank H. Buck of Yacaville will read a paper on "How to Prune an Orchard," and a paper on "Irrigation," suggesting a modification of the Wright irrigation district law and showing its desirability.

The evening session will be devoted to flora and forest culture. Mrs. Elwood Cooper of Santa Barbara and Professor J. W. Wexson of Berkeley will read papers.

On Friday Dr. A. T. Perkins of Alameda will address the convention, giving the result of his process for transporting fruit East. It is also expected that G. M. Woorster of San Jose will be present to report the result of carrying fruit stored in carbonic acid.

Discussions will follow the reading of each paper. The convention will no doubt be very largely attended. Several hundred letters have been received from persons intending to be present.

SCIENCE AND EXPERIENCE concur in the judgment that Dr. Price's Iodine Powder is the purest and best ever made.

GLANDERED HORSES. A Suburban Breeding-Place for That Terrible Disease. On Friday a case of glanders was reported to Humane Society Officer Dan Healy. He says he found the horse at the place indicated, Thirtieth and W streets, in the stable of George Lawson.

The animal was clearly in the last stages of glanders. Three other horses in the stable were apparently starving and the officer says, had no water, and no food could be found on the premises for them. They were rack-of-bones specimens and were suffering cruelly from want of care.

Healy called on a veterinarian at county expense. Dr. Cutler came in response and pronounced all four horses suffering with glanders, due to the presence of the fungus and to general want of care. They were old, worn-out animals that Lawson had gathered up and tried to work.

Healy called on a veterinarian, Cookley and the two proceeded to kill the four suffering animals. It is charged that Lawson makes a practice of collecting old horses, and then selling them to him to have the cost of sending them to the bonnyard.

It is reported that Lawson's wife—to prove that she did not believe the horses had glanders—wiped the nose of one with her apron and then drew it over her face. It is the intention of the Humane Society to put a stop to the practice. Certain owners of large groups of horses turning over old and incapacitated animals to Chinese and to men who attempt to drive the poor creatures to work, Lawson was not arrested, as the officers could not see that any good would be accomplished thereby.

THE WAGNER CASE. In Will be Submitted to the Jury This Morning. At the trial of C. A. Wagner, charged with the larceny of 1500 lbs of hops from Joseph Gray, W. E. Gilbert, Cashier of the California State Bank, yesterday testified that Gray, the prosecuting witness, borrowed from the bank the money with which he purchased the hops from J. J. Glacken.

The testimony was then closed, and the opening argument for the prosecution was made by Deputy District Attorney J. C. Jones, followed by C. T. Jones for the defense. The closing argument for the prosecution was made by C. H. Dyer.

a good meal of us, while we can't return the compliment.

SUTTON HELD TO ANSWER.

He Acknowledges Having Burglarized the Japanese Cabin. J. W. Sutton was examined yesterday in the Police Court on a charge of burglary.

Goicha Kagawa, a Japanese, testified that he saw Sutton sitting outside his cabin on the Lovelock place, a short distance east of the house, and when he went home at noon he found the house topsy-turvy and that some clothes, checks, notes and money were gone. He identified a number of articles found in a valise which Sutton carried.

Officer Maley testified that he and Officer Fisher found Sutton at Fourth and K streets, and found some of the articles on his person. Sutton acknowledged the tawdry near by. Sutton acknowledged to him after he was brought into the courtroom that he took the things, and asked to have a lighter charge than burglary placed against him. Witness told him he did not think it could be done, as there was a suspicion that he had entered a Japanese cabin in Yolo County. Sutton threw away the checks in a flour sack, not knowing they were in it.

Officer Fisher testified to the same effect. Nishi Mako, also an inmate of the cabin, testified that he and his room-mate tried to arrest Sutton, who drew a knife, and ran some while men for protection and dodged in a flour sack, not knowing they were in it.

HENRY NEUHAUS' ACCIDENT.

He Thinks McGillivray Should be Made to Pay Therefor. Justice of the Peace Henry has taken under advisement until this morning the case of Henry Neuhaus against James McGillivray for the recovery of $75 damages alleged to have been sustained by the plaintiff driving into an obstruction on Seventh street, between M and N, which he claims was maintained there by the defendant.

Neuhaus claims that McGillivray failed to place a lantern on the obstruction, and the happy result during all these years in every city and hamlet is that poverty and impurity of the blood or to an undried state of the nerves.

This most progressive remedy of this century soon made its way into hospitals, homes of physicians and into countless modest households in the large cities, and the happy result during all these years in every city and hamlet is that poverty and impurity of the blood or to an undried state of the nerves.

SUIT FOR DAMAGES.

It is the Result of a Boy Being Bitten by a Vicious Dog. Yesterday afternoon D. E. Alexander and F. C. Castellan, attorneys for G. W. E. Murphy, a sixteen-year-old son of James Murphy, commenced a suit before Justice Henry for damages occasioned to the youth by the bite of a dog. The amount claimed is $250.

The suit is against L. Decker and W. H. Verhulst, who it is alleged, have harbored the dog, known to be vicious and accustomed to bite mankind. Although there have recently been several cases of dogs biting people this is the first suit which has been brought against the owners for damages, and will doubtless have a good effect in suggesting to people who keep vicious brutes the necessity of keeping them under proper restraint.

FOR THE PLAIN PEOPLE.

Paine's Celery Compound Makes Men and Women Well Again.

Dr. Shradly, in the Forum, gives some of the big fees that physicians receive from wealthy patients. For four weeks' attendance during typhoid fever the physician to the Prince of Wales received $50,000.

It is the countless homes in moderate circumstances, however, that find it so hard to pay for the frequent doctor's visits. What the plain people want is the very best medicine, yet not beyond their means. They have it in Paine's celery compound.

To prepare such a great, popular remedy, that should embody the most advanced ideas regarding disease, and yet be easily within the reach of the thousand modest homes where sickness exists, was the life-long ambition of that eminent Dartmouth professor, the greatest physician America has produced, Edward E. Phelps, M. D., LL. D. Paine's celery compound, that remarkable nerve regulator and blood purifier, was first prepared by Professor Phelps in the laboratory of the Dartmouth Medical School.

Paine's celery compound embodied the sound theory of Professor Phelps, that only by feeding and rebuilding worn-out, diseased nerve tissues could firm health be restored. This greatest of remedies sets to work at once to store the nerve tissues and muscular tissues with the means of their rapid growth. It urges the extortory organs to cleanse the blood, and fills it with new red corpuscles. There is but one thing like Paine's celery compound for building up the system when tired out, weak and bloodless. It has shown its marvelous power in permanently curing nervous debility and exhaustion, neuralgia, sleeplessness, melancholia, headaches, dyspepsia, rheumatism and many other ailments being due to poverty and impurity of the blood or to an undried state of the nerves.

It has spent thousands of dollars in hospitals and different springs in trying to cure sciatic rheumatism. Almost every known remedy, both internal and external, was tried, but results were not satisfactory; no cure was effected. Early in 1884 (after I had some temporary relief), I was again taken with very violent suffering, pain night and day. I tried various remedies for two months, but with no help. As another experiment, I commenced taking Paine's celery compound. I began to improve at once before using up one bottle. The pains grew less, my appetite grew better, and I began to get sound and refreshing sleep, and have gained in three months 15 pounds. I have only taken six bottles, but am nearly well. It has done for me in three months what other medicines did not do in years. The example is plain.

AN ANCIENT TRICK.

But One That is Often Played With Little Success. A man who gives the name of Samuel Brown was arrested yesterday for attempting to play a moss-grown practical joke on W. R. Knights & Co., the hide dealers.

He went to their place of business at Front and L streets and offered to sell three hides. One of the firm's employes, A. P. Coombs, suspected that the hides had been stolen from the Front and L street drying yard, so he told Brown he would buy them, but wanted him to wait till the bookkeeper arrived to get his money.

In the meantime Coombs took the hides to the other warehouse, where he found they had gone stolen. The men had fifty of the cigars on their persons, and Ash found seven boxes containing 100 each and four boxes containing 50 each for two months, but with no help.

Concerning Vested Rights. The land of this State shall not be divided up into game preserves, while the poor citizen is drawn the bar sinister of the poaching laws of England.

The land of the State—presumably State lands—cannot be "divided up into game preserves," nor fruit ranches, nor anything else until the State sells it to private citizens. It is now, always has been and always will be open to everyone who chooses to hunt over it.

It should be. Whose lands are all lands that are not inclosed for use shall also be free to those who may choose to hunt thereon. This is just as it should be.

Is it proposed to change this law, and throw open to poachers all lands owned by individuals and inclosed for their own use and profit? Whose business is it whether a farmer rents his inclosed land to one man for a cow pasture or to someone else who wants to hunt thereon?

The Romany Folk. Edgar L. Wakeman's perfect knowledge of the innermost secrets of gypsy life and character always assured the reader the keenest entertainment and interest whenever the Romany folk are touched upon by his pen. "Three Bachelors' Court," printed elsewhere in this issue, is a pretty picture of unique conditions and characters among English gypsies, while the entire story, in its simple simplicity of telling, possesses a quaint and tender charm.
