

CONCERNING THE WEBER MURDER.

How the Stolen Watch Was Found in San Francisco.

Secured in a Hole in the Wall by Someone Who Had Been Jailed and Released.

Someone who has access to the secrets of the police department has been giving the detectives away again. There are many things in criminal matters which should be given to the public, in the interest of justice, for it is often through this means that murderers and other criminals are landed in jail.

But there are frequently other facts that should not be divulged—facts that would not aid outsiders in identifying criminals, but which might enable shrewd detectives to lay their hands on them before they suspected they were in danger.

It will not aid anyone outside of police circles in ferreting out the murderers of Mr. and Mrs. Weber in this city to know that one of the fiends has been in the San Francisco jail, and that a broken watch which he left behind him was one taken from Mrs. Weber at the time of the murder.

But if the murderer—now at large here—has given away the fact that the watch had been found and identified it might be possible for the officers in this city to find him again.

The evidence showed that a bituminous surface had been removed from the planks and cement substituted without consent of the Trustees being obtained, and that, although notified to desist from the work, he persisted in completing it.

Mr. Smith did not appear in court and he was found guilty and his bond forfeited.

Justice Davis sends three more to the County Jail today.

Justice Davis yesterday sentenced F. C. Wells to ten days in the County Jail for being drunk.

S. Teague, D. Riordan, John O'Brien, H. Miller and G. Robinson, charged with vagrancy, made a fair showing and were given four hours to leave the city.

Frank Russell, charged with vagrancy, was sentenced to six months in the County Jail.

There are still other facts, however, in the possession of the San Francisco detectives which have not been made public, and which the Record-Union will not divulge for the mere gratification of curious people, because they are of such nature that their publicity would tend to the defeat of justice.

LOST HIS LIFE

Charles H. Huelsman a Victim of the Arcade Creek Freshet.

The recent heavy rains caused Arcade Creek, which runs through the Haggin Grant from near Roseville, to become a turbulent stream. Some days since Oscar Henley and his two sons came near being drowned while crossing the creek by the caving in of a bridge.

On Tuesday night Charles H. Huelsman, a farmer, undertook to ford the creek with a horse and cart, and has not since been seen. His horse and cart were found yesterday more than a mile below the spot where Huelsman entered the creek, and his body was recovered a couple of hundred yards from where the accident occurred. It was lying across a limb of a tree in the middle of the current.

Mr. Huelsman was well known in this city, where he once followed the business of wagon-making. Some years ago he purchased a farm on Greenback Lane, near Antelope, where he had since resided. He was the father-in-law of George W. Newman of this city.

Deceased was a charter member of Friendship Council, Chosen Friends. He was about 60 years of age.

What It Cost to Repair Figg's Sidewalk Without Permission.

The case of L. T. Smith, charged with removing the surface of a wooden sidewalk of E. P. Figg, in defiance of the ordinance, which has been hanging in the Police Court for some time, was called up by the City Attorney yesterday.

The evidence showed that a bituminous surface had been removed from the planks and cement substituted without consent of the Trustees being obtained, and that, although notified to desist from the work, he persisted in completing it.

Mr. Smith did not appear in court and he was found guilty and his bond forfeited.

Justice Davis yesterday sentenced F. C. Wells to ten days in the County Jail for being drunk.

S. Teague, D. Riordan, John O'Brien, H. Miller and G. Robinson, charged with vagrancy, made a fair showing and were given four hours to leave the city.

AN OLD RESIDENT GONE

Death of William Doyle, a Well-Known Capitalist.

William Doyle died at his home, 1730 P street, yesterday from a complication of ailments, one being an affection of the heart.

Mr. Doyle was a man of considerable wealth, and for some years had not been engaged in active business of any sort. He was formerly the owner of the present site of Oak Park, from the sale of which he realized a handsome sum.

He was a native of Ireland, and in his 60th year, he leaves a wife and one daughter, Mrs. Mary E. Doyle, a brother, John Doyle, who conducts a blacksmith shop on K street, between Tenth and Eleventh, died a few years ago.

The body of John W. McClure, the young man who went from this city to shoot ducks in the vicinity of Knight's Landing, has not yet been found.

The name of the gentleman who was chosen for History Clerk of the Senate is E. E. White, and he comes from Los Angeles.

Bassett & Minford's delivery team ran away on Front street yesterday, and brought up in a saloon. The entire outfit was considerably damaged.

Deputy sheriff George Kelly and J. J. Hinters yesterday took to the Folsom Prison Dick and Manuel Strybe, sentenced to ten years for manslaughter.

Sixteen cartons of tea went East yesterday morning. Six cars of Oregon hops also went East. Large quantities of Oregon hops and apples are arriving here at present.

A local clairvoyant, who is credited by a Connecticut paper with having described a murderer in that State who was afterward captured and convicted, has given a description of the ring-leader of the Weber murderers. He says the fellow is dark as a mulatto, that he wears a heavy mustache at the time the murder was committed, and that his feet are laid out on the plan of those of a Chicago bear.

He says there were three men engaged in the crime.

Goddard Gets His Place. Now that the office of County Clerk in San Francisco has been turned over to Curry, who was elected in November, Joseph Goddard, formerly of this city, has given notice of his resignation as Clerk of one of the Superior Courts.

Joe has a host of friends here who will be glad to learn of his good fortune.
